Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service

7 CFR Part 301

[Docket No. 87-138]

Oriental Fruit Fly; Addition to the Quarantined Areas

AGENCY: Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, USDA.

ACTION: Interim rule and request for comments.

SUMMARY: We are amending the Oriental Fruit fly regulations by adding an additional portion of Orange Country in California to the list of areas designated as quarantined areas. This action is necessary as an emergency measure in order to prevent the artificial spread of the Oriental fruit fly into noninfested areas of the United States. The effect of this action is to impose certain restrictions on the interstate movement of regulated articles from the quarantined areas.

DATES: Interim rule effective October 20, 1987. Consideration will be given only to comments postmarked or received on or before December 28, 1987.

ADDRESSES: Send an original and two copies of written comments to Steven B. Farbman, Assistant Director, Regulatory Coordination, APHIS, USDA, Room 728, Federal Building, 6505 Belcrest Road, Hyattsville, MD 20782. Please state that your comments refer to Docket Number 87-138. Comments received may be inspected at Room 728 of the Federal Building between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, except holidays.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Eddie Elder, Chief Operations Officer, Domestic and Emergency Operations, Plant Protection and Quarantine, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 661 Federal Building, 6505 Belcrest Road, Hyattsville, MD 20782, 301-436-6365.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

The Oriental fruit fly, Dacus dorsalis (Hendel), is an extremely destructive pest of numerous fruits (especially citrus fruits), nuts, vegetables, and berries. Heavy infestation of this pest can result in complete loss of these crops. The short life cycle of the Oriental fruit fly permits the rapid development of serious outbreaks.

A document published in the Federal Register on July 22, 1987, (52 FR 27529-27536, Docket Number 87-095) and effective on July 17, 1987, established the Oriental fruit fly regulations (7 CFR 301.93 et seq.; referred to below as the regulations). The regulations impose restrictions on the interstate movement of regulated articles from quarantined areas in order to prevent the artificial spread of the Oriental fruit fly to noninfested areas of the United States.

The regulations, among other things, designated portions of Los Angeles County and Orange County as a quarantined area. This area remains infested with Oriental fruit fly.

However, the Oriental fruit fly has now been found in other areas of Orange County, as a result of trapping surveys conducted by inspectors of Plant Protection and Quarantine, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, United States Department of Agriculture and state agencies of California. The regulations in § 301.93-3 provide that the Deputy Administrator for Plant Protection and Quarantine shall list as a quarantined area each state, or each portion of a state, in which the Oriental fruit fly has been found by an inspector. Accordingly, we are amending the regulations by adding the following area in Orange County in California as a quarantined area:

That portion of Orange county bounded by a line beginning at the intersection of Brookhurst Street and Ball Road, then east along Ball Road to its intersection with Taft Avenue, then east along Taft Avenue to its intersection with Tustin Avenue, then north along Tustin Avenue to its intersection with Taft Avenue, then east along Taft Avenue to its intersection with State Highway 55, then south along State Highway 55 to its intersection with Collins Avenue, then east along Collins Avenue to its intersection with Prospect Avenue, then south along Prospect Avenue to its intersection with Bond Avenue, then east along Bond Avenue to its intersection with Hewes Street, then south along Hewes Street to its intersection with Old Foothill Boulevard, then southeast along Old Foothill Boulevard to its intersection with Foothill Boulevard, then southeast along Foothill Boulevard to its intersection with Heathcliff Drive, then southwest along Heathcliff Drive to its intersection with La Loma Drive, then southeast along La Loma Drive to its intersection with Red Hill Avenue, then southwest along Red Hill Avenue to its intersection with Interstate Highway 405, then northwest along Interstate Highway 405 to its intersection with Brookhurst Street, then north along Brookhurst Street to the point of beginning.

Emergency Action

William F. Helms, Deputy Administrator of the Animal and plant Health Inspection Service for Plant Protection and Quarantine, has determined that an emergency situation exists, which warrants publication of this interim rule without prior opportunity for public comment. Due to the possibility that the Oriental fruit fly could be spread artificially to noninfested areas of the United States, a situation exists requiring immediate action to help control the spread of this pest. Since prior notice and other public procedures with respect to this interim rule are impracticable and contrary to the public interest under these emergency conditions, there is good cause under 5 U.S.C. 553 to make this interim rule effective upon signature. We will consider comments on this interim rule that are postmarked or received within 60 days of publication. As soon as possible after the comment period closes, we will publish another document in the Federal Register discussing the comments we received and any amendments we are making to the rule as a result of the comments.

Executive Order 12291 and Regulatory Flexibility Act

We are issuing this rule in conformance with Executive Order 12291, and we have determined that it is not a "major rule." Based on information compiled by the Department, we have determined that this rule will have an effect on the economy of less than 100 million dollars; will not cause a major increase in cost or prices for consumers, individuals industries, federal, state, or local government agencies, or geographic regions; and will not cause a significant adverse effect on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

For this action, the Office of Management and Budget has waived the review process required by Executive Order 12291.

Within the part of Orange County that is being added to the quarantined area, there are approximately 80 small entities that may be affected. These include approximately 60 nurseries, 10 roadside stands and flea markets, 6 fruit and vegetable growers, 2 packing houses, 1 processor, and 1 farmers' market. The vegetable growers have a total of 23 acres in production, including 3 acres of avocados, 10 acres of tomatoes, and 10 acres of peppers and cucumbers. The packing houses package citrus fruits and vegetables for both intrastate and interstate markets, but most of the sales by these entities are local intrastate sales and will not be affected by this rule. Also, the treatments authorized and the conditions listed in the Oriental fruit fly regulations and the treatments in the Plant Protection and Quarantine Treatment Manual, incorporated by reference in the regulations, allow interstate movement of most articles without significant added costs.

Based on these circumstances, the Administrator of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entitles.

Paperwork Reduction Act

This interim rule contains no information collection or recordkeeping requirements under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.)

Executive Order 12372

This program/activity is listed in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance under No. 10.025 and is subject to the provisions of Executive Order 12372, which requires intergovernmental consultation with state and local officials. (See 7 CFR Part 3015, Subpart V.)

BILLING CODE 3410–34–M

Agricultural Marketing Service

7 CFR Part 981

Almonds Grown in California; Salable, Reserve, and Export Percentages for 1987–88 Crop Year

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action establishes salable, reserve, and export percentages of 82 percent, 18 percent, and 0 percent, respectively, for marketable California almonds delivered to handlers during the 1987–88 crop year, which began July 1, 1987. This action is taken under the marketing order for almonds grown in California and is intended to avoid unreasonable fluctuations in supplies and prices in view of a projected record large 1987 almond crop.

EFFECTIVE DATES: July 1, 1987, through June 30, 1988.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ronald L. Cioffi, Chief, Marketing Order Administration Branch, F&V, AMS, USDA, Room 2523, South Building, P.O. Box 96456, Washington, DC 20090–6456; telephone: (202) 447–5697.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1512–1 and has been determined to be a "non-major" rule under criteria contained therein.

Pursuant to requirements set forth in the Regulatory FlexibilityAct (RFA), the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) has considered the economic impact of this action on small entities.

The purpose of the RFA is to fit regulatory actions to the scale of business subject to such actions in order that small businesses will not be unduly or disproportionately burdened. Marketing orders issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act (the "Act," 7 U.S.C. 601–674), as amended, and rules issued thereunder, are unique in that they are brought about through group action of essentially small entities acting on their own behalf. Thus, both statutes have small entity orientation and compatibility.

There are approximately 105 handlers of almonds who are subject to regulation under the marketing order for California almonds during the current season. There are approximately 7,500 producers in the regulated area. Small agricultural producers have been defined by the Small business Administration (13 CFR 121.2) as those having average annual gross revenues for the last three years of less than $100,000, and small agricultural service firms, which would include handlers, have been defined as those whose gross annual receipts are less than $3,500,000. The majority of handlers and producers of California almonds may be classified as small entities.

This final rule will require handlers of California almonds to withhold, as a reserve, from normal domestic and export markets 18 percent of merchantable almonds received from growers during the 1987–88 crop year. The remaining 82 percent of the crop may be sold by handlers in any market. Total 1987 crop marketable production is expected to be 570 million kernelweight pounds—the largest crop in history. This compares with a 359 million kernelweight pound average annual production for the last five years (1982 through 1986). Worldwide production for 1987 is also expected to be a record high. Domestic and export trade demand for 1987–88 is estimated at 480 million kernelweight pounds.

Reserve almonds could be transferred to the salable category at a later date if it is found that the salable percentage is insufficient to satisfy 1987–88 trade demand, including desirable carryover requirements for use during the 1988–89 crop year (if it appears that the 1988 crop will be insufficient to meet 1988–89 trade demand needs). Otherwise, reserve almonds will be diverted to secondary outlets such as almond oil or animal feed.

While this rule may restrict the amount of almonds which handlers may sell in normal domestic and export markets, the salable and reserve percentages are needed to lessen the impact of the oversupply situation facing the industry and to promote stronger marketing conditions, thus avoiding unreasonable fluctuations in prices and supplies and improving grower returns. Further, this action will provide market stability during the 1988–89 crop year in the event that 1988 production is below market needs. Given the cyclical tendency of almond production, this is a likely possibility.

Based on the above, the Administrator of the AMS has determined that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Notice of this action was published in the Federal Register (52 FR 32107) on August 25, 1987. Comments were invited from interested persons until September 9, 1987. Six comments were received.

The authority to establish salable, reserve, and export percentages is pursuant to § 981.47 of the marketing agreement and Order No. 981, both as amended (7 CFR Part 981), regulating the handling of almonds grown in California and hereinafter referred to collectively as the "order." The order is effective under the Act. This action is based on a unanimous recommendation of the Almond Board of California, hereinafter referred to as the "Board," which was established under the order for the purpose of administering the program.

Pursuant to §§ 981.47 and 981.49 of the order, the Board based its recommendation for salable, reserve and export percentages of 82 percent, 18 percent, and 0 percent, respectively, on estimates of marketable supply and combined domestic and export trade demand for the 1987–88 crop year. The Board's 1987 marketable production estimate of 570 million kernelweight pounds is based on its 1987 crop estimate of 600 million kernelweight pounds, minus an estimated weight loss of 30 million kernelweight pounds resulting from the removal of inedible kernels by handlers and losses during manufacturing.

Trade demand is estimated at 480 million kernelweight pounds—160 million pounds for domestic needs and 320 million kernelweight pounds for export needs. An inventory adjustment is made to account for supplies of almonds carried in from the 1986–87 marketing year and for supplies deemed desirable to be carried out on June 30, 1988, for early season shipment during the 1988–89 crop year, until the 1988 crop is available for market. After adjusting for inventory, the trade demand was calculated at 467.4 million kernelweight pounds, the quantity of almonds from the estimated 1987 marketable production deemed necessary for trade demand needs. The salable percentage of 82 percent will meet those needs.

The remaining 18 percent (102.6 million kernelweight pounds) of the 1987 crop marketable production will be withheld by handlers to meet their reserve obligations. All or part of these almonds could be transferred to the salable category if it is found that the salable supply made available by the 82 percent salable percentage is insufficient to satisfy 1987–88 trade demand, including desirable carryover requirements for use during the 1988–89 crop year. The Board is required to make any recommendation to the Secretary to increase the salable percentage prior to May 15, 1988. Alternatively, reserve almonds will be sold by the Board, or by handlers under agreement with the Board, to governmental agencies or charitable institutions or for diversion into almond oil, almond butter, animal feed, or other outlets which the Board finds are noncompetitive with existing normal markets for almonds.

The order permits the Board to include normal export requirements with domestic requirements in its estimate of trade demand when recommending the establishment of salable, reserve, and export percentages for any crop year. For the 1987–88 crop year, estimated exports are included in trade demand, thereby making export only a salable outlet rather than a reserve outlet. Thus, an export percentage of 0 percent is established. Because of this action, no portion of the reserve will be eligible for export to normal export outlets.

MARKETING POLICY ESTIMATES—1987 CROP

	Million pounds	Percent
Estimated production:
1. 1987 Production	600.0
2. Loss and Exempt—5.0%	30.0
3. Marketable Production	570.0
Estimated trade demand:
4. Domestic	160.0
5. Export	320.0
6. Total	480.0
Inventory adjustment:
7. Carryin 7/1/87	76.2
8. Desirable Carryover 6/30/88	63.6
9. Adjustment	(12.6)
Salable/Reserve:
10. Adjusted Trade Demand (Item 6 plus Item 9)	467.4
11. Reserve (Item 3 minus item 10)	102.6
12. Salable % (Item 10÷item 3 x 100)		82
13. Reserve % (100% minus item 12)		18

This action will help avoid unreasonable fluctuations in supplies and prices as the industry faces its largest crop in history. The projected 1987 crop of 570 million marketable kernelweight pounds will be 141.8 percent larger than last year's 235.7 million kernelweight pound crop and 1.1 percent larger than the 1984 previous record crop of 563.6 million kernelweight pounds. World production is forecast at 819.1 million kernelweight pounds—7.0 percent larger than the 1984 previous record of 765.4 million kernelweight pounds.

This action will provide an estimated 543.6 million kernelweight pounds of California almonds for unrestricted sales (1987 crop salable production plus carryin from the 1986 crop). This amount is 112.7 percent of the actual 1984–85 record for delivered sales of California almonds. Thus, this action meets the requirements of the "Guidelines for Fruit, Vegetable, and Speciality Crop Marketing Orders" that primary markets have available a quantity equal to 110 percent of recent years' sales.

One comment received from Peggy M. Leong, manager of the Board, requested clarification of a statement in the proposed rule that reserve almonds "would be diverted to secondary outlets such as almond oil or animal feed." The commenter states that disposition to non-human consumption outlets is only one option the Board has in considering the disposition of the 1987 crop reserve, and that it is not the intent of the Board that reserve almonds necessarily be used solely for those two non-human consumption outlets.

The commenter quotes the paragraph in question from the proposed rule in its entirety as follows:

> Reserve almonds could be released to salable at a later date if it is found that the salable percentage is insufficient to satisfy 1987–88 trade demand, including desirable carryover requirements for use during the 1988–89 crop year (if it appears that the 1988 crop will be insufficient to meet 1988–89 trade demand needs). Otherwise, reserve almonds would be diverted to secondary outlets such as almond oil or animal feed.

In clarification, this paragraph prescribes two alternative options for reserve almonds depending on trade demand needs. Reserve almonds may be released to salable categories, or, if the reserve is not released to salable, disposition of the reserve would be governed by § 981.66 of the order. Paragraph (c) of that section provides that no reserve almonds shall be sold in the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Canal Zone other than to governmental agencies or to charitable institutions except for diversion into almond oil, almond butter, poultry or animal feed, or other channels which the Board finds are noncompetitive with existing normal markets for almonds. Thus, handlers are not necessarily required to divert their reserve into oil or animal feed. The Board may also add additional outlets to the list of noncompetitive outlets for the disposition of reserve.

The second commenter, Duane Jardine of Jardine Organic Ranch, a handler located in Paso Robles, California, generally supports the proposed percentages as a means of maintaining prices and quality. However, this commenter believes that organically grown almonds should be exempt from reserve requirements because the organic market is undersupplied and is not competitive with the conventional almond market. The almond marketing order, however, does not contain authority to exempt organically grown almonds. In order to include this authority, the order would need to be amended, which is beyond the scope of this action.

A third commenter, Steven W. Easter of the California Almond Growers Exchange of Sacramento, California, supports the proposed percentages unequivocally.

A fourth commenter, Brian C. Leighton, attorney for Saulsbury Orchards and Almond Processing Inc., a Madera, California, handler, objects to the proposed percentages for a number of different reasons, as discussed below.

This commenter was not convinced that the statement in the proposed rule that the 1987 almond crop will be the largest in history is correct. The commenter contends that the 1984 almond crop, at 586.9 million kernelweight pounds, was larger than the 1987 crop will be. However, the proposed rule states that 1987 crop production is estimated at 600 million kernelweight pounds, and that the marketable 1987 production will be 570 million kernelweight pounds. This is approximately 6 million kernelweight pounds higher than the 1984 marketable production of 563.6 million pounds.

The commenter also objects to the statement in the proposed rule that the 1987–88 crop year world production is expected to be a record high. However, the Board's 819.1 million kernelweight pound estimate is based on the Gill & Duffus 1987 "Edible Nut Market Report," which is widely regarded as an accurate and impartial source of world crop production forecasts.

The commenter also believes that the trade demand for the 1987 almond crop should be higher than what is estimated in the proposal, because the commenter believes the 1987 hazelnut crop will be extremely short, thereby creating added demand for almonds. However, Gill & Duffus estimates 1987 hazelnut production at 450,000 metric tons, which is 17,200 metric tons higher than the 1977–86 ten-year average, and slightly higher than the 1986 crop.

The next two objections raised by the commenter concern a new program initiated by the California Almond Growers Exchange (CAGE). This program allows CAGE growers to defer delivery of 1987 crop almonds to CAGE until the 1988–89 crop year. One objection stated is that the proposal does not make allowance for this deferral in its estimation of 1987 crop-year marketable almond production. The extent to which CAGE growers will participate in this program is not known. However, should deliveries to handlers be significantly affected, the salable percentage could be increased as provided for in § 981.48 of the order.

The commenter is also concerned that CAGE may be able to use deferred almonds to meet their 18 percent reserve holding requirement. Handlers are required to set aside as reserve, only those almonds received by them. Deferred almonds would not be received under the terms of the order. Accordingly, if the deferral program is utilized, almonds deferred under the program could not be used to satisfy the reserve requirement.

This same commenter further objects to including almond butter as a disposition outlet for reserve almonds as mentioned in the proposal. However, § 981.66(c) of the order specifically includes almond butter as a disposition outlet for reserve almonds, and changes in the order itself, such as disallowing almond butter as a disposition outlet, would require formal rulemaking procedures beyond the scope of this current action. All handlers, should they be required to dispose of reserve almonds, have the opportunity to meet their disposition obligation by permitted means, including making almond butter themselves or selling almonds to an almond butter manufacturer.

Another objection is raised concerning brand advertising assessments on the 18 percent almond crop reserve held by handlers. The commenter feels the assessment should not be placed on that 18 percent of the almond crop which cannot be sold immediately at market prices. The order, however, provides for assessments on all almonds received by handlers whether they are salable or reserve almonds.

The commenter believes that growers should be entitled to sell in-shell and in-hull almonds directly to non-competitive outlets, so that they might avoid the cost of shelling and hulling almonds that may be held as part of handlers' 18 percent reserve obligations. However, in doing so growers would be considered handlers subject to order requirements including those relating to percentages.

Another suggestion by this commenter would be to have all handlers vote on whether or not to establish a reserve. The order does not authorize a procedure by which all handlers could vote on such matters. However, the Almond Board of California represents both growers and handlers and is comprised of five grower members and five handler members who are nominated to these positions by the growers and handlers themselves. Thus, industry handlers are represented in Board decisions and recommendations concerning such matters.

This commenter's final suggestion concerns including a formula as part of this action, to determine if and when reserve almonds would be transferred to the salable category or alternatively disposed of through reserve outlets. To provide for such a formula would require amending the marketing order itself, which is beyond the scope and authority of this present action. In addition, § 981.48 of the order prescribes procedures for increasing salable percentages.

The fifth and sixth commenters, George K. Noga of Maitland, Florida, and John D. Curtis of Longwood, Florida, both growers, suggest that the reserve, at 18 percent, is too large. These commenters believe that the 18 percent reserve will hurt consumption; the commenters are willing to withstand somewhat lower prices in return for a higher level of consumption. However, an oversupply of almonds could result in market instability and a downward spiral in prices, whereby buyers would be reluctant to purchase almonds until they were convinced that a bottom price had been reached. This could result in both decreased consumption and sharply lower prices.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including the Board's recommendation and other available information, it is found that the changes hereinafter set forth will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act.

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553, it is hereby found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this action until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register because: (1) This action applies to all almonds received by handlers during the 1987–88 crop year, which began July 1, 1987; (2) handlers are currently receiving and processing 1987–88 crop year almonds; and (3) handlers are aware of this action, which was recommended by the Board at a public meeting, and need no additional time to comply with the requirements.

[Airspace Docket Number 87–ACE–07]

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The nature of this Federal action is to alter the 700-foot transition area at Millard, Nebraska, to provide additional controlled airspace for aircraft executing a new instrument approach procedure to the Millard, Nebraska, Municipal Airport, utilizing the Omaha VORTAC as a navigational aid. The intended effect of this action is to ensure segregation of aircraft using the new approach procedure under Instrument Flight Rules (IFR) and other aircraft operating under Visual Flight Rules (VFR).

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 14, 1988.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: To enhance airport usage, an additional approach procedure is being developed for the Millard, Nebraska, Municipal Airport, utilizing the Omaha VORTAC as a navigational aid. The establishment of an instrument approach procedure based on this approach aid entails alteration of the transition area at Millard, Nebraska, at or above 700 feet above the ground, within which aircraft are provided air traffic control service. The intended effect of this action is to ensure segregation of aircraft, using the new approach procedure under Instrument Flight Rules (IFR) and other aircraft operating under Visual Flight Rules (VFR). Section 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations was republished in Handbook 7400.6C, dated January 2, 1987.

Discussion of Comments

On pages 31411 and 31412 of the Federal Register, dated August 20, 1987, the Federal Aviation Administration published a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking which would amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, so as to alter the transition area at Millard, Nebraska. Interested persons were invited to participate in this rulemaking proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA. No negative responses were received as a result of the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

The FAA has determined that this regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore—(1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Amendment of Transition Area; Watonga, OK

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment will alter the transition at Watonga, OK. The intended effect of this action is to provide adequate controlled airspace for aircraft executing a new standard instrument approach procedure (SIAP) to the Watonga Airport, Watonga, OK, utilizing the new Watonga nondirectional radio beacon (NDB). This action is necessary in order to ensure segregation of aircraft operating to and from the airport under instrument flight rules (IFR) and other aircraft operating under visual flight rules (VFR).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

History

On April 9, 1987, the FAA proposed to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to alter the transition area at Watonga, OK (52 FR 13713).

Interested persons were invited to participate in this rulemaking proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA. The only comments received objecting to this action came from the United States Air Force. Their objections centered around the following issue:

- The alteration of the transition area would impact military aircraft flying Military Training Routes (MTR) in the Watonga, OK area.

The FAA does not agree with this objection. The anticipated number of IFR arrivals to or departures from Watonga Airport is not expected to have an adverse effect on military aircraft flying MTR's in the area. Standard IFR separation will be provided between aircraft on an IFR clearance to/from Watonga Airport and military aircraft operating along IFR MTR's in the area.

Except for editorial changes, this amendment is that proposed in the notice. Section 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations was republished in Handbook 7400.6C, dated January 2, 1987.

The Rule

This amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations alters the existing 700-foot transition area at Watonga, OK. The development of a new NDB Rwy 17 SIAP to the Watonga Airport utilizing the new Watonga NDB necessitated this action. The alteration of the existing transition area will consist of a 6-mile wide extension approximately 3.5 miles north from the edge of the present transition area. The intended effect of this action is to ensure segregation of aircraft using the approach procedures under IFR and other aircraft operating under VFR.

The FAA has determined that this regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore—(1) Is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. [Airspace Docket No. 87-AWA-32]

Alteration of VOR Federal Airways and Jet Routes; New York

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: These amendments alter the descriptions of Federal Airways V-203, V-91 and Jet Routes J-567 and J-228 located in the vicinity of Massena, NY. The Canadian Government requested segments of these airways/routes that cross the United States/Canada boundary be amended to coincide with reorganized terminal airspace in the Montreal/Mirabel, Canada, areas. This action supports that request.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

History

On August 14, 1987, the FAA proposed to amend Parts 71 and 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Parts 71 and 75) to alter the descriptions of VOR Federal Airways V-203, V-91 and J-567 and J-228 located in the vicinity of Massena, NY (52 FR 30381). Transport Canada is reorganizing the terminal airspace associated with the Montreal/Dorval and Montreal/Mirabel Airports. Interested parties were invited to participate in this rulemaking proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA. No comments objecting to the proposal were received. Except for editorial changes, these amendments are the same as those proposed in the notice. Sections 71.123 and 75.100 of Parts 71 and 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations were republished in Handbook 7400.6C dated January 2, 1987.

The Rule

These amendments to Parts 71 and 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations alter the descriptions of VOR Federal Airways V–203, V–91 and Jet Routes J–567 and J–228 located in the vicinity of Messena, NY. The Montreal, Quebec, Canada Regional Office of Transport Canada is reorganizing the terminal airspace associated with the Montreal/Dorval and Montreal/Mirabel Airports. The result to trans-border airspace is the relocation of two air route intersections which will require the realignment of low and high level route segments formed by radials from the Massena, NY, and Plattsburgh, NY, VORTAC's. This action supports Transport Canada's request.

The FAA has determined that this regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore—(1) Is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Interpretation of Comprehensive Plans Under Section 3 of the Electric Consumers Protection Act

Issued: October 20, 1987.

AGENCY: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, DOE.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission is stating its interpretation of state and Federal comprehensive plans under section 3(b)(4) of the Electric Consumers Protection Act of 1986 (Act). The Act requires the Commission to require, in issuing a hydroelectric license, the extent to which the proposed project is consistent with an existing Federal or state comprehensive plan for "improving, developing, or conserving a waterway or waterways affected by the project".

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 25, 1987.

I. Introduction

On October 16, 1986, the President signed the Electric Consumers Protection Act of 1986 (ECPA). [1] Section 3(b)(4) of the Act amends section 10(a) of the Federal Power Act (FPA) [2] to require the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) to consider, in issuing a hydroelectric license, the extent to which the proposed project is consistent with an existing Federal or state comprehensive plan for "improving, developing, or conserving a waterway or waterways affected by the project." In this rule, the Commission is defining a "comprehensive plan" and establishing guidelines for developing these plans.

II. Background and Discussion

A. Comprehensive Plans Under Sections 10(a)(1) and 10(a)(2)(A) of the FPA

The Commission has always been required to ensure that under section 10(a) of the FPA:

> The [hydroelectric] project adopted * * * be such as in the judgment of the Commission will be best adapted to a comprehensive plan for improving or developing a waterway or waterways for the use or benefit of interstate or foreign commerce, for the improvement and utilization of waterpower development, and for other beneficial public uses * * *. [3]

The Supreme Court has interpreted section 10(a) as requiring the Commission to explore "all issues relevant to the 'public interest.' " [4]

[4] Udall v. Federal Power Commission, 387 U.S. 428, 450 (1967).

When the Commission acts on a license application, the entire record developed in the proceeding by which the Commission judges the application constitutes the section 10(a) comprehensive plan. This record is developed by the applicant, Commission staff, intervenors, commenting Federal, state, and local agencies, and other concerned parties. The Commission integrates and balances the various public interest issues thus identified to ensure that any project it licenses will serve to optimize the improvement and utilization of the waterway for beneficial public purposes. Any licensing decision of the Commission must be supported by "substantial evidence," pursuant to section 313(b) of the FPA. [5]

ECPA amended the FPA to redesignate section 10(a) as section 10(a)(1) and to specify certain of the public interest factors that the Commission is to consider in issuing licenses,[6] including, in new section 10(a)(2)(A), the extent to which the proposed project complies with any existing Federal or state comprehensive plan. Specifically, section 10(a)(2)(A) requires the Commission to consider:

> [T]he extent to which the project is consistent with a comprehensive plan (where one exists) for improving, developing or conserving a waterway or waterways affected by the project that is prepared by—
> (i) An agency established pursuant to Federal law that has the authority to prepare such a plan; or > (ii) The State in which the facility is or will be located.

The legislative history of section 10(a)(2)(A) indicates that state plans are within the scope of section 10(a)(2)(A) only if they were prepared and adopted pursuant to a specific act of the state legislature and developed, implemented, and managed by the appropriate state agency.[7] The Commission therefore adopted this interpretation in Fieldcrest Mills Inc.,[8] and further stated that plans would be within the scope of section 10(a)(2)(A) only if they "reflect the preparers' own balancing of the competing uses of a waterway, based on their data and applicable policy considerations (i.e., consider and balance all relevant public use considerations)." This reflects the Commission's conclusion that comprehensive planning under section 10(a)(2)(A) should, like comprehensive planning under section 10(a)(1), take into account all uses relevant to the public interest.

Many of the plans currently submitted to the Commission consider only one or a few uses of the waterway. They do not provide conclusions based on balancing of power needs, potential economic growth and other issues that the Commission considers as part of its FPA section 10(a)(1) analysis. Nor are these plans accompanied by the substantial facts, studies, and technical evidence necessary to allow the Commission to fully understand or independently confirm the state's conclusions. Consequently, the Commission must often derive its own conclusion without the benefit of the state's views on all of the aspects included in the Commission's analysis.

If a state or regional plan does not qualify as a comprehensive plan under section 10(a)(2)(A), however, the Commission will consider the plan, as it considers all relevant studies and recommendations, in its public interest analysis pursuant to section 10(a)(1). Further, the weight to be accorded any information or recommended action, whether or not it is contained in a comprehensive plan, depends on the documentation that supports it, since Commission findings must be based on substantial evidence pursuant to section 313(b) of the FPA. The Commission's definition of a comprehensive plan does not, therefore, serve to include in Commission deliberations some plans and exclude others, since all such plans are taken into account. Rather, the Commission wishes to provide guidelines with respect to what type of plan will carry the most weight in the Commission's licensing decisions.

B. Elements of an FPA Section 10(a)(2)(A) Comprehensive Plan

The Commission recognizes that, since each waterway is unique, it is difficult to establish specific criteria to follow in developing a comprehensive plan. However, based on its experience and a review of plans submitted by a number of entities, the Commission does believe it is possible to establish general guidelines for developing these plans. The more closely a plan conforms to these guidelines, the more weight it will have on the Commission's decisions.

A comprehensive plan should contain the following: (1) A description of the waterway [9] or waterways that are the subject of the plan, including pertinent maps detailing the geographic area of the plan; (2) a description of the significant resources of the waterway or waterways; (3) a description of the various existing and planned uses for these resources; and (4) a discussion of goals, objectives, and recommendations for improving, developing, or conserving the waterway or waterways in relation to these resources.

The description of the significant resources in the area should contain, among other things: (1) Navigation; (2) power development; (3) energy conservation; (4) fish and wildlife; (5) recreational opportunities; (6) irrigation; (7) flood control; (8) water supply; and (9) other aspects of environmental quality.

The description of existing and planned uses of the waterway or waterways should include the items listed above as well as a description of currently unused areas of the waterway and any future plans for these areas. The plan should also address the advantages and disadvantages associated with each planned use.

In establishing goals, objectives, and recommendations for improving, developing, or conserving the waterway or waterways, the plan should contain an examination of how the different uses will promote the overall public interest, a statement as to the goals the plan expects to achieve, and an analysis of how any specific recommendations of the plan further those goals. A description of the methodology used in developing the plan should also be included.

III. Paperwork Reduction Act

The information collection provisions in this final rule are being submitted to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for its approval under the Paperwork Reduction Act [10] and OMB's regulations.[11] Interested persons can obtain information on the proposed information collection provisions by contacting the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Washington, DC 20426 (Attention: Ellen Brown, Division of Organization and Management Analysis, (202) 357–5311). Comments on the information collection provisions in this rule may be sent to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs of OMB, New Executive Office Building, Washington, DC 20503 (Attention: Desk Officer for the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission).

IV. Effective Date

The Administrative Procedure Act exempts interpretative rules from both the notice and comment requirements of section 4(b) of the Administrative Procedure Act [12] and the requirement that publication be made 30 days before the effective date of the rule.[13] Since this rule states the Commission's interpretation of a Federal or state comprehensive plan under ECPA, it is properly characterized as an interpretative rule. In order to allow OMB sufficient time to review the reporting requirements in this final rule, however, it will become effective November 25, 1987. If OMB has not approved this rule by that date, the Commission will issue a notice temporarily suspending the effective date until OMB has approved the requirements.

Order No. 475–A, Denying Rehearing

I. Introduction

The Commission is denying rehearing of its final rule[1] that established a voluntary filing procedure to reduce utilities' rates to reflect a change in the Federal corporate income tax rate.

II. Background and Discussion

On June 26, 1987, the Commission issued a final rule establishing an abbreviated rate filing procedure that electric public utilities may use to reduce their rates to reflect the decrease in the Federal corporate income tax rate under the Tax Reform Act of 1986.[2] Under the Act, the corporate income tax rate was reduced from 46 percent to 34 percent effective July 1, 1987. On July 24, 1987, Coast Electric Power Association, et al., (Coast Electric)[3] filed a request for rehearing.[4] For the reasons discussed below, the Commission denies rehearing.

Coast Electric states that the final rule fails to adequately address its comments with regard to the Commission's authority to act under section 206 of the Federal Power Act (FPA).[5] In its comments, Coast Electric requested the Commission to exercise its authority to require utilities to file revised rates to reflect the reduction in the corporate tax rate. Coast Electric had argued in its comments to the NOPR that the Commission should have made the filing procedure mandatory. If the Commission declined to make the filing mandatory, Coast Electric had argued that the Commission should make clear that it would institute expedited FPA section 206 show cause proceedings against non-filing utilities. It restated this argument in its request for rehearing.

The Commission considered these arguments in the final rule and declined to adopt Coast Electric's suggestions. The Commission stated in the final rule that it lacked the legal authority to require rate filings under FPA section 205. In the final rule, the Commission established a voluntary, rather than mandatory, filing procedure. The Commission believes that this procedure is the most efficient and expedient method for generically reducing rates to reflect the reduction in the corporate tax rate. The Commission has no reason to believe utilities will not use the filing procedure. However, it retains its authority to act under FPA section 206 to ensure that a utility's rates reflect the changes in the tax law under the Tax Reform Act of 1986.

Coast Electric also states that the Commission failed to consider the price squeeze implications of the rulemaking. It argues that the Commission's failure to order reductions in utility rates places wholesale customers in a price squeeze, since some state public service commissions have reduced retail rates to reflect both the reduced tax rate and current lower capital costs experienced by utilities.

The Commission does not believe that the rule has any adverse price squeeze effects. In fact, in the situations cited by Coast Electric, if a utility uses the abbreviated filing procedure to reduce rates, price squeeze relating to differing treatments of the tax rate will be eliminated. As for utilities that do not file under abbreviated filing procedure, the Commission has the authority, on its own initiative or by complaint, to address price squeeze situations. If a customer believes that price squeeze exists, either due to different treatment in tax rates at the wholesale and retail levels, or because of any other factor, it may file an FPA section 206 complaint.

By the Commission.

On June 25, 1987 Iowa Power filed a Motion for Waiver of Rule requesting that it be excused from the mandatory filing requirements in the rule and that the Commission accept in lieu thereof a Stipulation Agreement between Iowa Power and its customers. The Commission is dismissing this request, since consideration of such a motion is not appropriate in a rulemaking proceeding, but notes that the final rule did not promulgate any mandatory filing requirements.

Generic Determination of Rate of Return on Common Equity for Public Utilities

Issued: October 19, 1987.

AGENCY: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, DOE.

ACTION: Final rule; notice of benchmark rate of return on common equity for public utilities.

SUMMARY: In accordance with 18 CFR 37.5, the Commission issues the update to the "advisory" benchmark rate of return on common equity applicable to rate filings made during the period November 1987 through January 1988. This rate is set at 12.27 percent.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Benchmark Rate of Return on Common Equity for Public Utilities

On December 24, 1986, the Commission issued a final rule which amended the quarterly indexing procedure for establishing and updating the benchmark rate of return on common equity applicable to electric rate filings.[1] Based on this amended procedure, the Commission determines that the benchmark rate of return on common equity applicable to rate filings made during the period November 1, 1987 through January 31, 1988 is 12.27 percent.

According to the amended § 37.9 each quarterly benchmark rate of return is set equal to the average cost of common equity for the jurisdictional operations of public utilities. This average cost is based on the average of the median dividend yields for the two most recent calendar quarters for a sample of 100 utilities. The average yield is used in the following formula with fixed adjustment factors (determined in the annual proceeding) to determine the cost rate:

where k_t is the average cost of common equity and y_t is the average dividend yield.

The median dividend yield for the sample of utilities for the second and third quarter of 1987 are 7.40 and 7.58 percent, respectively. The average is 7.49 percent. Using the latter yield produces an average cost of common equity of 12.27 percent. The attached appendix provides the supporting data for the latest quarter used in this update.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Food and Drug Administration

21 CFR Parts 510 and 558

Animal Drugs, Feeds, and Related Products; Ammonium Chloride

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is amending the animal drug regulations by removing the regulation reflecting approval of a new animal drug application (NADA) sponsored by Allied-Signal, Inc., by removing the entry for the product covered by the NADA, and by removing the firm from the list of sponsors of approved NADA's. The NADA provides for the use of Cal-Bar (ammonium chloride) Type A article to make Type C cattle and sheep feeds. In a notice published elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register, the agency is withdrawing approval of the NADA at the sponsor's request.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 5, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mohammad I. Sharar, Center for Veterinary Medicine (HFV-214), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-3183.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In a notice published elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register, the agency is withdrawing approval of NADA 34-253 sponsored by Allied-Signal, Inc. (formerly Allied Chemical Corp.), P.O. Box 2245R, Morristown, NJ 07960-2245.

The firm's NADA provides for the use of Cal-Bar (ammonium chloride) Type A article in making cattle and sheep feeds. The feeds are used to reduce the incidence of urinary calculi. This document removes from 21 CFR 558.4 the entry for ammonium chloride and removes 21 CFR 558.45, which reflects approval of the NADA, in its entirety. In addition, because the firm is no longer the sponsor of any approved NADA's, the regulation in 21 CFR 510.600(c) (1) and (2) is amended to remove the firm from the list of sponsors of approved NADA's. The firm is currently listed in 21 CFR 510.600(c) (1) and (2) under its former name Allied Chemical Corp.

PENSION BENEFIT GUARANTY CORPORATION

Allocating Unfunded Vested Benefits

AGENCY: Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This revision of the Interim Regulation on Allocating Unfunded Vested Benefits (29 CFR Part 2642) amends the rules under which a multiemployer pension plan may change the method by which it allocates unfunded vested benefits to withdrawing employers under section 4211 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended. Generally, plans may adopt any of the statutory allocation methods described in section 4211 subject to the approval of the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation. In addition, section 4211(c)(5) of ERISA authorizes the PBGC to prescribe regulations under which plans may adopt other allocation methods or modifications to the statutory methods either with or without the PBGC's approval. The PBGC's regulation implementing these provisions has been in effect since January 1981. Since then, the PBGC has identified a number of ways in which the PBGC might simplify the regulation, as well as areas in which the PBGC needs either to broaden or to limit the rules. Accordingly, the effect of this revision is to make clarifications and corrections in the regulation, to simplify the process for requesting PBGC approval of amendments, and to prohibit certain types of alternative allocation methods.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 25, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Deborah C. Murphy, Attorney, Corporate Policy and Regulations Department (35400), Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, 2020 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20006; 202–778–8850 (202–778–8859 for TTY and TDD). (These are not toll-free numbers.)

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Under section 4201 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"), an employer that withdraws from a multiemployer pension plan may incur withdrawal liability to the plan. Withdrawal liability represents the employer's allocable share of the plan's unfunded vested benefits determined under section 4211 and adjusted in accordance with other provisions in sections 4201–4225. Section 4211 prescribes four methods that a plan may use to allocate a share of unfunded vested benefits to a withdrawing employer, and also provides for possible modifications of those methods and for the use of allocation methods other than those prescribed. All changes to a plan's allocation rules are subject to the approval of the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation ("PBGC").

This final regulation, which was issued in proposed form on September 9, 1985 (50 FR 36603), prescribes rules for changing a plan's allocation method under section 4211 of ERISA. It replaces the PBGC's Interim Regulation on Allocating Unfunded Vested Benefits (29 CFR Part 2642), which was published on January 19, 1981.

The interim regulation was amended on December 3, 1985 (50 FR 49540), to add provisions dealing with modifications to plans' allocation rules to accommodate the change in the effective date of section 4211 made by the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 ("DEFRA"). The PBGC believes that virtually all plans that might have wanted to adopt modifications under those provisions have already done so. Accordingly, those provisions are not included in this final regulation. Any plan desiring to adopt DEFRA modifications after the effective date of this final regulation may submit them for PBGC approval under subpart C of the regulation.

The proposed version of this regulation included a "restart provision" dealing with the application of ERISA section 4211 to plans with no unfunded vested benefits. That provision has been omitted from this final regulation because of the PBGC's reconsideration of Opinion Letter 83–19 (August 11, 1983). In that letter, the PBGC stated its opinion that a withdrawing employer may incur withdrawal liability to a plan even though the plan has no unfunded vested benefits. On September 6, 1985 (50 FR 36504), the PBGC published a notice that it was reconsidering Opinion Letter 83–19. On December 31, 1986 (51 FR 47342), the PBGC published a notice reversing its earlier position and stating its opinion that no amount is allocable to an employer under ERISA section 4211 where a plan has no unfunded vested benefits as of the end of the plan year preceding the employer's withdrawal.

The PBGC's reversal of the statutory interpretation in Opinion Letter 83–19 makes it necessary to restructure the restart provision and to provide other related rules. These will be added to Part 2642 at a later date after a new notice of proposed rulemaking and public comment thereon.

Comments on the Proposed Regulation

Five commenters submitted comments on the proposed regulation. However, three commenters addressed only the restart provision. The comments on the restart provision have not been considered because the restart provision is not part of the final regulation and will, as noted above, be the subject of a separate rulemaking proceeding.

One commenter questioned the consistency of allowing construction industry plans to adopt modifications to the denominators of fractions used in the presumptive method under § 2642.6, but not allowing them to make other changes. Section 4211(c)(1) of ERISA prohibits the adoption of any allocation method other than the presumptive method by a construction industry plan. However, § 2642.6 allows plans generally, including construction plans, to adopt alternative definitions of certain phrases that appear in the description of the denominators of allocation fractions in section 4211 (b), (c)(2) and (c)(3), and to adopt a special rule to correct for contributions of withdrawn employers in computing those denominators. The PBGC believes that there are special circumstances that make the denominator adjustments in § 2642.6 permissible for construction industry plans but that do not apply to the other modifications described in the regulation.

Section 2642.6(a) states the PBGC's preferred interpretation of the statutory phrases "the sum of all contributions made" and "total amount contributed," which appear in section 4211 (b), (c)(2), and (c)(3). However, the PBGC does not believe that Congress, in using those phrases, intended to prescribe any single precise method of determining the quantities they refer to. Rather, the PBGC believes that any one of several methods of determining "the sum of all contributions made" and "total amount contributed" would be consistent with the three allocation methods described in section 4211 (b), (c)(2) and (c)(3), including, in particular, the presumptive method. Thus, § 2642.6(b) lists four permissible alternative interpretations or definitions of these phrases. Since the use of any one of these alternative definitions is, in the PBGC's view, within the intent of the statutory description of the presumptive allocation method, construction plans are allowed to adopt any of these definitions instead of the definition given in § 2642.6(a).

Section 2642.6(c) deals with the requirement that contributions of certain withdrawn employers be excluded from the denominators of the fractions used to determine a withdrawing employer's share of unfunded vested benefits under each of the statutory allocation methods described in section 4211 (b), (c)(2) and (c)(3). (For this purpose, § 2640.4 defines a withdrawn employer generally as one that has discontinued contributions to or covered operations under the plan.) Section 2642.6(c) incorporates the statutory language, which, on its face, seems to require that the plan sponsor promptly identify all withdrawn employers as they withdraw in order to compute other withdrawing employers' withdrawal liability. For many plans, however, and particularly for construction industry plans, the prompt identification of all withdrawn employers would be an overwhelming, if not impossible, task. Section 2642.6(c)(1), therefore, allows plans to adopt a less rigorous and more practicable definition of those employers whose contributions are to be excluded from the relevant fraction denominators, i.e., "significant withdrawn employers." The PBGC concedes that it is not as clear in this situation that Congress intended to give plans (including construction plans) flexibility in defining the relevant group of employers. Nevertheless, the PBGC believes that the need to alleviate what, in some cases, may be an impossible administrative burden militates in favor of a broad reading of the pertinent statutory provisions in this case.

Another commenter disputed the PBGC's authority to promulgate § 2642.11(c), prohibiting any change in a plan's allocation method that would result in a systematic and substantial overallocation of unfunded vested benefits, including specifically a method that would allocate to an employer the greater of two amounts of liability determined under two allocation rules.

The commenter first asserted that section 4211(c)(5)(A) of ERISA gives the PBGC no authority to prohibit allocation methods that create no risk to the insurance system. As pointed out in the preamble to the proposed regulation, however, the PBGC has concluded that systematic overallocation, except when rendered necessary by compelling administrative considerations, is contrary to the intent of ERISA. The four statutory allocation methods are uniform in allocating, to the extent feasible, 100% of total unfunded vested benefits. Similarly, the legislative history of the Multiemployer Pension Plan Amendments Act indicates that Congress sought through withdrawal liability to achieve an equitable allocation of plan liabilities among all employers. Accordingly, the PBGC believes that a custom allocation method that imposes an artificially high liability on early-withdrawing employers is inconsistent with the requirements of ERISA.

The commenter next stated that section 4211(c)(5)(A) requires case-by-case determinations, and that some methods that allocate the greater of two amounts would not result in "an unreasonable overcharge." The PBGC considers this point well taken. Accordingly, the PBGC has deleted from the prohibition on systematic and substantial overallocation (§ 2642.11(c)) the words suggesting that methods allocating the greater of two amounts necessarily have an improper result. Such methods that do not result in a systematic and substantial overallocation may be approved by the PBGC if they satisfy the standards in § 2642.13.

The same commenter urged the PBGC to revise § 2642.14, which prohibits the continued use of an allocation method previously adopted by a plan if it allocates to an employer the greater of the amounts of unfunded vested benefits determined under two different allocation rules. The commenter said that § 2642.14 should state expressly that its effect is prospective only and that it does not inhibit the collection of withdrawal liability from employers that have already withdrawn. The PBGC believes that § 2642.14 makes this point clear by providing explicitly that it affects only allocation methods applied "to any employer withdrawing on or after" the effective date of the section.

The PBGC has made a change in § 2642.14 to reflect the change in § 2642.11(c), discussed above. As drafted, proposed § 2642.14 would have prohibited the future use of all "greater-of-two" allocation methods and assumed that the PBGC would no longer approve any such method. However, to be consistent with the final version of § 2642.11(c), § 2642.14 has been changed to apply only to "greater-of-two" allocation methods previously approved by the PBGC; i.e., those methods approved when the PBGC's review procedure did not include a determination of whether a method would result in systematic and substantial overallocation.

If a plan that had adopted such a method wishes to continue using that method, the plan must readopt the method and submit it for PBGC approval in the same manner as for any other amendment for which approval is required under Subpart C. Thus, for example, the plan would have to give notice to employers of the adoption of the method under section 4214(b) of ERISA and observe the requirements of § 2642.11(d)(1) regarding the amount that may be assessed to a withdrawing employer pending PBGC approval of an allocation method.

Other Changes from the Proposed Regulation

One other change has been made in § 2642.6(c), which describes employers whose contributions are excluded from the denominators of fractions used to determine withdrawing employers' shares of unfunded vested benefits under section 4211 (b), (c)(2) and (c)(3) of ERISA. The employers in question are those "that permanently cease to have an obligation to contribute to the plan or permanently cease covered operations" within a time period described in § 2642.6(c). The PBGC has revised the language describing these employers by adding the word "permanently" in two places.

Section 2642.11(d)(1) deals with demands for withdrawal liability while PBGC action is pending on a plan's request for approval of an amendment to its allocation method. During this period, a plan may not demand an amount greater than the amount determined under the amendment, or the amount determined without the amendment, whichever is smaller. The PBGC has added a requirement that employers be informed of both amounts and of the fact that the larger amount may become payable depending on the PBGC's action on the approval request. This will enable employers to make more informed decisions about whether to challenge withdrawal liability assessments. The additional administrative burden to the plan is negligible, because both amounts must be calculated in any event to determine which is the smaller.

Section 2642.13(b) describes criteria for PBGC approval of alternative allocation methods or modifications to methods. As proposed, § 2642.13(b)(2) required that allocations be based on either an employer's share of plan contributions or the unfunded vested benefits "directly attributable" to each employer. That phrase was carried over from the interim regulation. The PBGC is concerned that the word "directly" may be given a narrower interpretation than the PBGC intended. For example, the PBGC did not mean to imply that an allocation method based on unfunded vested benefits attributable to each employer would be unacceptable unless the attribution were based on hours of service actually worked for each employer. In fact, the interim regulation has not been so applied. Accordingly, the PBGC has deleted the word "directly" from the phrase in question.

Compliance With Rulemaking Guidelines

The PBGC has determined that this regulation is not a "major rule" for the purposes of Executive Order 12291, because it will not have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; or create a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, or geographic regions; or have significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, innovation, or the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets. ERISA requires the PBGC to establish, by regulation, rules for the adoption of modifications and alternatives to the allocation methods under section 4211 of ERISA. This regulation simply revises an existing regulation fulfilling that requirement.

Under section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, the PBGC certifies that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Pension plans with fewer than 100 participants have traditionally been treated as small plans. The regulation affects only multiemployer plans covered by the PBGC. Small multiemployer plans represent only .4% of all small plans covered by the PBGC (346 out of 84,288). The regulation will affect only those plans that choose to change their allocation methods. The PBGC estimates, based on its experience to date, that no more than 16 multiemployer plan sponsors per year will amend their plans under ERISA section 4211 in a manner requiring PBGC approval. Thus, the PBGC expects there to be very few small plans that will need to file amendment approval requests under these rules. Therefore, the PBGC waives compliance with sections 603 and 604 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

The collection of information requirements contained in this proposed regulation have been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980.

Subpart A—General

§ 2642.1 Purpose and scope.

(a) Purpose. Section 4211 of the Act provides four methods for allocating unfunded vested benefits to employers that withdraw from a multiemployer plan: The presumptive method (section 4211(b)); the modified presumptive method (section 4211(c)(2)); the rolling-5 method (section 4211(c)(3)); and the direct attribution method (section 4211(c)(4)). With the minor exceptions covered in § 2642.2, a plan determines the amount of unfunded vested benefits allocable to a withdrawing employer in accordance with the presumptive method, unless the plan is amended to adopt an alternative allocation method. Generally, the PBGC must approve the adoption of an alternative allocation method. On September 25, 1984, 49 FR 37686, the PBGC granted a class approval of all plan amendments adopting one of the statutory alternative allocation methods. Subpart C of this regulation sets forth the criteria and procedures for PBGC approval of non-statutory alternative allocation methods. Section 4211(c)(5) of the Act also permits certain modifications to the statutory allocation methods. The PBGC is to prescribe these modifications in a regulation, and plans may adopt them without PBGC approval. Subpart B of this regulation contains the permissible modifications to the statutory methods. Plans may adopt other modifications subject to PBGC approval under Subpart C.

(b) Scope. This part applies to all multiemployer plans covered by section 4021(a) of ERISA and not excluded by section 4021(b).

§ 2642.2 Special rules for construction industry and IRC section 404(c) plans.

(a) Construction plans. Except as provided in the next sentence, a plan that primarily covers employees in the building and construction industry shall use the presumptive method for allocating unfunded vested benefits. However, the plan may, with respect to employers that are not construction industry employers within the meaning of section 4203(b)(1)(A) of the Act, adopt, by amendment, one of the statutory alternative methods or a non-statutory allocation method. Any such amendment is subject to PBGC approval under Subpart C of this part. A construction plan may, without the PBGC's approval, adopt by amendment any of the modifications to the presumptive method set forth in § 2642.6.

(b) Section 404(c) plans. A plan described in section 404(c) of the Internal Revenue Code (a plan established before January 1, 1954, as a result of agreement between employee representatives and the United States during a period of government operation, under seizure powers, of a major part of the productive facilities of an industry) or a continuation of such a plan shall allocate unfunded vested benefits under the rolling-5 method unless the plan, by amendment, adopts an alternative method. The plan may adopt one of the statutory allocation methods without PBGC approval; adoption of any other allocation method is subject to PBGC approval under Subpart C of this part. A section 404(c) plan may, without the PBGC's approval, adopt by amendment any of the modifications set forth in Subpart B.

Subpart B—Changes Not Subject to PBGC Approval

§ 2642.5 Changes not subject to PBGC approval.

(a) General rule. A plan, other than a plan that primarily covers employees in the building and construction industry, may adopt, by amendment, any of the statutory allocation methods and any of the modifications set forth in §§ 2642.6 and 2642.7, without the approval of the PBGC.

(b) Building and construction industry plans. A multiemployer plan that primarily covers employees in the building and construction industry may adopt, by amendment, any of the modifications to the presumptive rule set forth in § 2642.6 without the approval of the PBGC.

§ 2642.6 Modifications to the presumptive, modified presumptive and rolling-5 methods.

(a) "Contributions made" and "total amount contributed". Each of the allocation fractions used in the presumptive, modified presumptive and rolling-5 methods is based on contributions that certain employers have made to the plan for a five-year period. For purposes of these methods, and except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, "the sum of all contributions made" or "total amount contributed" by employers for a plan year means the amounts (other than withdrawal liability payments) considered contributed to the plan for the plan year for purposes of section 412(b)(3)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code. For plan years before section 412 applies to the plan, "the sum of all contributions made" or "total amount contributed" means the amount reported to the Internal Revenue Service or the Department of Labor as total contributions for the plan year; for example, for plan years in which the plan filed the Form 5500, the amount reported as total contributions on line 14(c) of that form. Employee contributions, if any, shall be excluded from the totals.

(b) Changing the period for counting contributions. A plan sponsor may amend a plan to modify the denominators in the presumptive, modified presumptive and rolling-5 methods in accordance with one of the alternatives described in this paragraph. Except as provided in paragraph (b)(4) of this section, any amendment adopted under this paragraph shall be applied consistently to all plan years. Contributions counted for one plan year may be not counted for any other plan year. If a contribution is counted as part of the "total amount contributed" for any plan year used to determine a denominator, that contribution may not also be counted as a contribution owed with respect to an earlier year used to determine the same denominator, regardless of when the plan collected that contribution.

(1) A plan sponsor may amend a plan to provide that "the sum of all contributions made" or "total amount contributed" for a plan year means the amount of contributions that the plan actually received during the plan year, without regard to whether the contributions are treated as made for that plan year under section 412(b)(3)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(2) A plan sponsor may amend a plan to provide that "the sum of all contributions made" or "total amount contributed" for a plan year means the amount of contributions actually received during the plan year, increased by the amount of contributions received during a specified period of time after the close of the plan year not to exceed the period described in section 412(c)(10) of the Internal Revenue Code and regulations thereunder.

(3) A plan sponsor may amend a plan to provide that "the sum of all contributions made" or "total amount contributed" for a plan year means the amount of contributions actually received during the plan year, increased by the amount of contributions accrued during the plan year and received during a specified period of time after the close of the plan year not to exceed the period described in section 412(c)(10) of the Internal Revenue Code and regulations thereunder.

(4) A plan sponsor may amend a plan to provide that—

(i) For plan years ending before September 26, 1980, "the sum of all contributions made" or "total amount contributed" means the amount reported on line 14(c) of Form 5500 and, for years before the plan was required to file Form 5500, the amount of total contributions reported on any predecessor reporting form required by the Department of Labor or the Internal Revenue Service; and

(ii) For subsequent plan years, "the sum of all contributions made" or "total amount contributed" means the amount described in paragraph (a) of this section, or the amount described in paragraphs (b)(1), (b)(2) or (b)(3) of this section.

(c) Excluding contributions of significant withdrawn employers. Contributions of certain withdrawn employers are excluded from the denominator in each of the fractions used to determine a withdrawing employer's share of unfunded vested benefits under the presumptive, modified presumptive and rolling-5 methods. Except as provided in paragraph (c)(1) of this section, contributions of all employers that permanently cease to have an obligation to contribute to the plan or permanently cease covered operations before the end of the period of plan years used to determine the fractions for allocating unfunded vested benefits under each of those methods (and contributions of all employers that withdrew before September 26, 1980) are excluded from the denominators of the fractions.

(1) The plan sponsor of a plan using the presumptive, modified presumptive or rolling-5 method may amend the plan to provide that only the contributions of significant withdrawn employers shall be excluded from the denominators of the fractions used in those methods.

(2) For purposes of this paragraph (c), "significant withdrawn employer" means—

(i) An employer to which the plan has sent a notice of withdrawal liability under section 4219 of the Act; or

(ii) A withdrawn employer that in any plan year used to determine the denominator of a fraction contributed at least $250,000 or, if less, 1% of all contributions made by employers for that year.

(3) If a group of employers withdraw in a concerted withdrawal, the plan shall treat the group as a single employer in determining whether the members are significant withdrawn employers under paragraph (c)(2) of this section. A "concerted withdrawal" means a cessation of contributions to the plan during a single plan year—

(i) By an employer association;

(ii) By all or substantially all of the employers covered by a single collective bargaining agreement; or

(iii) by all or substantially all of the employers covered by agreements with a single labor organization.

§ 2642.7 Modifications to the direct attribution method.

(a) Error in direct attribution method. The unfunded vested benefits allocated to a withdrawing employer under the direct attribution method are the sum of the employer's attributable liability, determined under section 4211 (c)(4)(A)(i) and (c)(4)(B) of the Act, and the employer's share of the plan's unattributable liability, determined under section 4211(c)(4)(E) and allocated to the employer under section 4211(c)(4)(F). Plan sponsors should allocate unattributable liabilities on the basis of the employer's share of the attributable liabilities. However, section 4211(c)(4)(F) of the Act, which describes the allocation of unattributable liabilities, contains a typographical error. Therefore, plans adopting the direct attribution method shall modify the phrase "as the amount determined under subparagraph (C) for the employer bears to the sum of the amounts determined under subparagraph (C) for all employers under the plan" in section 4211(c)(4)(F) by substituting "subparagraph (B)" for "subparagraph (C)" in both places it appears.

(b) Allocating unattributable liability based on contributions in period before withdrawal. A plan that is amended to adopt the direct attribution method may provide that instead of allocating the unattributable liability in accordance with section 4211(c)(4)(F) of the Act, the employer's share of the plan's unattributable liability shall be determined by multiplying the plan's unattributable liability determined under section 4211(c)(4)(E) by a fraction—

(1) The numerator of which is the total amount of contributions required to be made by the withdrawing employer over a period of consecutive plan years (not fewer than five) ending before the withdrawal; and

(2) The denominator of which is the total amount contributed under the plan by all employers for the same period of years used in paragraph (b)(1) of this section, decreased by any amount contributed by an employer that withdrew from the plan during those plan years.

Subpart C—Changes Subject to PBGC Approval

§ 2642.11 Changes subject to PBGC approval.

(a) General rule. Subject to the approval of the PBGC pursuant to this subpart, a plan, other than a plan that primarily covers employees in the building and construction industry, may adopt, by amendment, any allocation method or modification to an allocation method that is not permitted under Subpart B of this part.

(b) Building and construction industry plans. Subject to the approval of the PBGC pursuant to this subpart, a plan that primarily covers employees in the building and construction industry may adopt, by amendment, any allocation method or modification to an allocation method that is not permitted under § 2642.6 if the method or modification is applicable only to its employers that are not construction industry employers within the meaning of section 4203(b)(1)(A) of the Act.

(c) Substantial overallocation not allowed. No plan may adopt an allocation method or modification to an allocation method that results in a systematic and substantial overallocation of the plan's unfunded vested benefits.

(d) Use of method prior to approval. A plan may implement an alternative allocation method or modification to an allocation method that requires PBGC approval before that approval is given. However, the plan sponsor shall assess liability in accordance with this paragraph.

(1) Demand for payment. Until the PBGC approves the allocation method or modification, a plan may not demand withdrawal liability under section 4219 of the Act in an amount that exceeds the lesser of the amount calculated under the amendment or the amount calculated under the allocation method that the plan would be required to use if the PBGC did not approve the amendment. The plan must inform each withdrawing employer of both amounts and explain that the higher amount may become payable depending on the PBGC's decision on the amendment.

(2) Adjustment of liability. When necessary because of the PBGC decision on the amendment, the plan shall adjust the amount demanded from each employer under paragraph (c)(1) of this section and the employer's withdrawal liability payment schedule. The length of the payment schedule shall be increased, as necessary. The plan shall notify each affected employer of the adjusted liability and payment schedule and shall collect the adjusted amount in accordance with the adjusted schedule.

§ 2642.12 Requests for PBGC approval.

(a) General. A plan shall submit a request for approval of an alternative allocation method or modification to an allocation method to the PBGC in accordance with the requirements of this section as soon as practicable after the adoption of the amendment.

(b) Who shall submit. The plan sponsor, or a duly authorized representative acting on behalf of the plan sponsor, shall sign the request.

(c) Where to submit. The plan shall submit the request by first class mail or courier service to the Insurance Operations Department, Control Branch (Code 25420), Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, 2020 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20006, or by hand to Room 5300A at that address.

(d) Content. Each request shall contain the following information:

(1) The name, address and telephone number of the plan sponsor, and of the duly authorized representative, if any, of the plan sponsor.

(2) The name of the plan.

(3) The nine-digit Employer Identification Number (EIN) that the Internal Revenue Service assigned to the plan sponsor and the three-digit Plan Identification Number (PIN) that the plan sponsor assigned to the plan, and, if different, also the EIN–PIN that the plan last filed with the PBGC. If the plan has no EIN–PIN, the request shall so indicate.

(4) The date the amendment was adopted.

(5) A copy of the amendment, setting forth the full text of the alternative allocation method or modification.

(6) The allocation method that the plan currently uses and a copy of the plan amendment (if any) that adopted the method.

(7) A statement certifying that notice of the adoption of the amendment has been given to all employers that have an obligation to contribute under the plan and to all employee organizations that represent employees covered by the plan.

(e) Additional information. In addition to the information listed in paragraph (d) of this section, the PBGC may require the plan sponsor to submit any other information that the PBGC determines is necessary for the review of an alternative allocation method or modification to an allocation method.

(Approved by the Office of Management and Budget under control number 1212–0035.)

§ 2642.13 Approval of alternative method.

(a) General. The PBGC shall approve an alternative allocation method or modification to an allocation method if the PBGC determines that adoption of the method or modification would not significantly increase the risk of loss to plan participants and beneficiaries or to the PBGC.

(b) Criteria. An alternative allocation method or modification to an allocation method satisfies the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section if it meets the following three conditions:

(1) The method or modification allocates a plan's unfunded vested benefits, both for the adoption year and for the five subsequent plan years, to the same extent as any of the statutory allocation methods, or any modification to a statutory allocation method permitted under Subpart B.

(2) The method or modification allocates unfunded vested benefits to each employer on the basis of either the employer's share of contributions to the plan or the unfunded vested benefits attributable to each employer. The method or modification may take into account differences in contribution rates paid by different employers and differences in benefits of different employers' employees.

(3) The method or modification fully reallocates among employers that have not withdrawn from the plan all unfunded vested benefits that the plan sponsor has determined cannot be collected from withdrawn employers, or that are not assessed against withdrawn employers because of sections 4209, 4219(c)(1)(B) or 4225 of the Act.

(c) PBGC action on request. The PBGC's decision on a request for approval shall be in writing. If the PBGC disapproves the request, the decision shall state the reasons for the disapproval and shall include a statement of the sponsor's right to request a reconsideration of the decision pursuant to Part 2606 of this chapter.

§ 2642.14 Special rule for certain alternative methods previously approved.

A plan may not apply to any employer withdrawing on or after November 25, 1987, an allocation method approved by the PBGC before that date that allocates to the employer the greater of the amounts of unfunded vested benefits determined under two different allocation rules. Until a plan that has been using such a method is amended to adopt a valid allocation method, its allocation method shall be deemed to be the statutory allocation method that would apply if it had never been amended.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In the Federal Register of August 26, 1987 (52 FR 32128), EPA issued a document that amended its interim policy for use of sulfiting agents on grapes. That document superseded a previous document which was published in the Federal Register of December 31, 1986 (51 FR 47240). The original action was prompted by an announcement by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in the Federal Register of July 9, 1986, that the use of sulfiting agents as preservatives on raw fruits and vegetables served or sold to consumers was no longer deemed to be generally recognized as safe (GRAS) because some individuals experience severe allergic reactions to sulfite residues on food (51 FR 25021). FDA's action did not affect the use of sulfiting agents as pesticides on grapes, a use that historically has been treated as if it were GRAS, because the pesticidal use is within EPA's jurisdiction.

In light of FDA's action, EPA decided to adopt certain interim measures to inform and protect sulfite sensitive individuals until a tolerance or some other appropriate clearance could be established. These interim measures—requiring that shippers certify that sulfite-treated grapes will not have detectable sulfite residues—were issued December 31, 1986 (51 FR 47240), and permitted shipment of sulfite-treated grapes for 1 year.

On August 26, 1987 (52 FR 32128), EPA determined that there are two other acceptable measures that are adequate to protect the public health while allowing the marketing of sulfited grapes of domestic or foreign origin. These alternative measures are placarding at the retail level or tagging individual bunches of grapes. Public comment was invited on the interim policy. Comments were due by October 26, 1987.

Recently, the California Grape and Tree Fruit League and the California Table Grape Commission requested that EPA extend the comment period on the interim policy by 14 days to enable these and other groups to more fully discuss the issues and to review data collected from the state certification program.

In order to give all parties an opportunity to respond more fully to the interim policy, EPA is extending the comment period 14 days. The new deadline is November 9, 1987. Comments should be submitted to the address given earlier in this document.

Dated: October 19, 1987.

Acting Director, Office of Pesticide Programs.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Reclamation

43 CFR Part 426

Acreage Limitation Rule and Regulations

AGENCY: Bureau of Reclamation, Interior.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: On April 13, 1987, the Department of the Interior (DOI) promulgated final rules for the administration of the Reclamation Reform Act of 1982 (RRA) (52 FR 11954), replacing the rules that were published in the Federal Register on December 6, 1983 (48 FR 54768). Since the April 13th rules were published, the DOI has determined that several provisions relating to the involuntary acquisition of land require correction or clarification. This rule revises the applicable provisions.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 25, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Phillip T. Doe, Chief, Acreage Limitation Branch; Bureau of Reclamation; E&R Center, Code D-410; P.O. Box 25007; Denver, CO 80225, (303) 236-8065.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Rationale for Changes

Sections 426.11(h)(2) and 426.16(a) of the April 13th rules provide that when irrigable or irrigation land is gifted to a landlord, the land is considered to be involuntarily acquired. As such, the land (1) is exempt from the 10-year deed covenant restricting the resale value during that 10-year period to a Secretarially approved price if the land is to retain its eligibility to receive irrigation water and (2) is entitled to receive irrigation water for a grace period of 5 years if it becomes excess in the new ownership. Upon further review of the RRA, the DOI has determined that these provisions exceed the authority of the Secretary.

Regarding the application of a deed covenant requiring Secretarial sale price approval, section 224(e) of the RRA provides that, "Any nonexcess land which is acquired into excess status pursuant to involuntary foreclosure or similar involuntary process of law, conveyance in satisfaction of a debt (including, but not limited to, a mortgage, real estate contract, or deed of trust), inheritance, or devise, may be sold at its fair market value without regard to any other provision of this title * * *" Regarding the 5-year grace period for receiving irrigation water, section 216 of the RRA provides that land acquired into excess status is eligible for a temporary water supply if it is acquired by "involuntary foreclosure, or similar involuntary process of law, by bona fide conveyance in satisfaction of a debt (including, but not limited to, a mortgage, real estate contract, or deed of trust), by inheritance, or by devise * * *" It can be seen from these quotations that the term "gift" is never used in the provisions addressing involuntary processes of law. It should be noted that the definition of "devise", as defined in Black's Law Dictionary, is "a testamentary disposition of land or reality; a gift of real property by the last will and testament of the donor." Clearly, "devise" does not include "gifts" other than those made through the testamentary process, and that form of involuntary acquisition is specifically addressed in section 224(e) by use of the term "inheritance."

For these reasons, the term "gift" has been deleted from §§ 426.11(h)(2) and 426.16(a) of the rules. But, as in the April 13th rules, the rules will continue to provide for the 5-year eligibility period and the removal of the deed covenant when land is acquired through involuntary foreclosure or similar involuntary process of law, conveyance in satisfaction of a debt (including, but not limited to, a mortgage, real estate contract, or deed of trust), inheritance, and devise.

Comments on the Proposed Rule

The Bureau of Reclamation published a notice of proposed rulemaking on the revisions to the gift provisions in the Federal Register on Friday, June 26, 1987. During the public comment period, we received no comments on the proposed rule.

Executive Order 12291

The DOI has determined that the revised rule does not constitute a major rule under Executive Order 12291; therefore, a Regulatory Impact Analysis is not required and has not been prepared.

National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) Compliance

We have determined that this action meets the criteria for an action categorically excluded from the provisions of NEPA (40 CFR 1508.4) under Departmental Manual part 516 DM 6, Appendix 9, section 9.4.A.1—"Changes in regulations or policy directives and legislative proposals where the impacts are limited to economic and/or social effects."

Small Entity Flexibility Analysis

The revised rule will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities. Gifted land will continue to be subject to the deed covenant provisions and if it becomes excess in the new ownership, such land will not be eligible to receive irrigation water for a 5-year grace period. While these factors could affect the resale value of such land and the level of income associated with any irrigated production, the financial status of a landholder will improve, nevertheless, as a result of being a recipient of gifted land.

Paperwork Reduction Act

The revised rule does not contain information collection requirements that require approval by the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

44 CFR Part 64

[Docket No. FEMA 6766]

Suspension of Community Eligibility

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency, FEMA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule lists communities, where the sale of flood insurance has been authorized under the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), that are suspended on the effective dates listed within this rule because of noncompliance with the floodplain management requirements of the program. If FEMA receives documentation that the community has adopted the required floodplain management measures prior to the effective suspension date given in this rule, the suspension will be withdrawn by publication in the Federal Register.

EFFECTIVE DATES: The third date ("Susp.") listed in the third column.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Frank H. Thomas, Assistant Administrator, Office of Loss Reduction, Federal Insurance Administration, (202) 646–2717, Federal Center Plaza, 500 C Street, Southwest, Room 416, Washington, DC 20472.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), enables property owners to purchase flood insurance at rates made reasonable through a Federal subsidy. In return, communities agree to adopt and administer local floodplain management measures aimed at protecting lives and new construction from future flooding. Section 1315 of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended (42 U.S.C. 4022), prohibits flood insurance coverage as authorized under the National Flood Insurance Program (42 U.S.C. 4001 through 4128) unless an appropriate public body shall have adopted adequate floodplain management measures with effective enforcement measures. The communities listed in this notice no longer meet that statutory requirement for compliance with program regulations (44 CFR Part 59 et seq.). Accordingly, the communities will be suspended on the effective date in the third column. As of that date, flood insurance will no longer be available in the community. However, some of these communities may adopt and submit the required documentation of legally enforceable floodplain management measures after this rule is published but prior to the actual suspension date. These communities will not be suspended and will continue their eligibility for the sale of insurance. A notice withdrawing the suspension of the communities will be published in the Federal Register. In the interim, if you wish to determine if a particular community was suspended on the suspension date, contact the appropriate FEMA Regional Office or the NFIP servicing contractor.

In addition, the Federal Emergency Management Agency has identified the special flood hazard areas in these communities by publishing a Flood Hazard Boundary Map. The date of the flood map, if one has been published, is indicated in the fourth column of the table. No direct Federal financial assistance (except assistance pursuant to the Disaster Relief Act of 1974 not in connection with a flood) may legally be provided for construction or acquisition of buildings in the identified special flood hazard area of communities not participating in the NFIP and identified for more than a year, on the Federal Emergency Management Agency's initial flood insurance map of the community as having flood-prone areas (section 202(a) of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93–234), as amended). This prohibition against certain types of Federal assistance becomes effective for the communities listed on the date shown in the last column.

The Administrator finds that notice and public procedure under 5 U.S.C. 553(b) are impracticable and unnecessary because communities listed in this final rule have been adequately notified. Each community receives a 6-month, 90-day, and 30-day notification addressed to the Chief Executive Officer that the community will be suspended unless the required floodplain management measures are met prior to the effective suspension date. For the same reasons, this final rule may take effect within less than 30 days.

Pursuant to the provision of 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the Administrator, Federal Insurance Administration, FEMA, hereby certifies that this rule, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. As stated in section 2 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, the establishment of local floodplain management together with the availability of flood insurance decreases the economic impact of future flood losses to both the particular community and the nation as a whole. This rule in and of itself does not have a significant economic impact. Any economic impact results from the community's decision not to (adopt) (enforce) adequate floodplain management, thus placing itself in noncompliance of the Federal standards required for community participation. In each entry, a complete chronology of effective dates appears for each listed community.

Atlantic Surf Clam and Ocean Quahog Fisheries

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), NOAA, Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of adjustment of surf clam fishing time.

SUMMARY: NOAA issues this notice to establish the allowable fishing time for surf clams at 42 hours for the fourth quarter of 1987 for vessels harvesting surf clams in the Mid-Atlantic Area of the exclusive economic zone. This action will provide flexibility to operators in the use of fishing time during the period. The intended effect is to match fishing effort to the available quota for the area.

EFFECTIVE DATES: October 3, 1987, through December 31, 1987. Fishing trips must be scheduled with 10 days' advance written notice.

ADDRESSES: Send request for fishing time to the Surf Clam Coordinator, NMFS, 2 State Fish Pier, Gloucester, MA 01930.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Salvatore A. Testaverde, 617-281-3600, ext. 273.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Regulations implementing the Fishery Management Plan for the Atlantic Surf Clam and Ocean Quahog Fisheries contain at § 652.22(a)(3) a provision allowing the Regional Director to revise allowable fishing time to promote fishing for surf clams throughout the year with a minimum of changes. The Regional Director during the first quarter of 1987 decided, with the unanimous support of the Mid-Atlantic Fishery Management Council, to exercise his authority under § 652.22(a)(3) to allocate fishing time by quarter and allow each operator the maximum flexibility possible to schedule that time to best advantage.

Based on the rate of harvest and utilization of available quota during the third quarter, the Regional Director decided to allocate the fishing time at 42 hours per permitted fishing vessel for the fourth quarter. That time must be scheduled 10 days in advance in seven fishing trips of six hours duration each, which may be taken on any seven separate days during the normal daily and weekly fishing times established in § 652.22(a) (1), (2), and (3) (see ADDRESSES).

Other Matters

The action is taken under the authority of 50 CFR Part 652 and is taken in compliance with Executive Order 12291.

Proposed Amendments to Implementing Regulations; Bank Secrecy Act

AGENCY: Departmental Offices, Treasury.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: Treasury proposes two amendments to 31 CFR 103.25, which provides for reporting under the Bank Secrecy Act by designated financial institutions of prescribed transactions with foreign financial agencies. First, the Secretary would be able to require the reporting of completed as well as future transactions. Reporting of completed transactions would be limited to information that financial institutions are required by law to maintain, or that they otherwise maintain in the ordinary course of business. Second, the Secretary would be able to direct financial institutions not to inform customers or any other parties of the existence of a reporting requirement imposed under § 103.25.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before December 28, 1987.

ADDRESS: Address written comments to Jonathan J. Rusch, Director, Office of Financial Enforcement, Department of the Treasury, Room 4320, 1500 Pennsylvania Avenue., NW., Washington, DC 20220.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On July 8, 1985 (50 FR 27821), the Department of the Treasury published a final rule which added § 103.25 to 31 CFR Part 103, the regulations implementing the Bank Secrecy Act, 31 U.S.C. 5311-5324. Pursuant to the authority set forth in 31 U.S.C. 5314, 31 CFR 103.25 establishes a procedure under which the Secretary may issue a regulation requiring designated financial institutions to report limited numbers of financial transactions with designated foreign finanical agencies. Notice of such reporting requirements may be published in the Federal Register or may be served personally upon the affected financial institutions in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 553. The purpose of this limited reporting procedure is to enhance the government's ability to monitor international transactions for tax, regulatory, and law enforcement purposes.

Treasury proposes to amend § 103.25 in two respects. First, § 103.25(e)(3) currently provides that the Secretary may not require a financial institution to report transactions completed before it receives notice of a reporting regulation under § 103.25(a). Treasury has determined that in many cases it would be useful to require reporting on completed transactions. Therefore, Treasury proposes to amend § 103.25(e)(3) to provide that financial institutions may be required to report on completed transactions with foreign financial agencies. However, with respect to completed transactions, the financial institution would be required to provide only information from records that it otherwise is required to maintain under Subpart C of Part 103 of any other provision of State or Federal law, or otherwise keeps in the normal course of business. Consequently, this extension of § 103.25 reporting to past transactions would impose no new recordkeeping requirement on any financial institution.

Second, Treasury proposes that in cases where the regulation requiring reporting under § 103.25 is not published in the Federal Register, Treasury may require a financial institution subject to reporting not to disclose the existence or provisions of the regulation to any party, including the foreign financial agency to which the reporting is related. Notice of the reporting requirement to the foreign financial agency or its customers can seriously impair its usefulness by allowing a person or institution to conceal or change transactions for the duration of the reporting period, thus distorting the information reported under § 103.25. This delay on disclosure is authorized by 31 U.S.C. 5314, which provides that the Secretary may prescribe "other matters * * * necessary to carry out" section 5314 or the regulations thereunder. 31 U.S.C. 5314(b)(5). The Right to Financial Privacy Act of 1978, Pub. L. 95–630 (Nov. 10, 1978), as amended (12 U.S.C. 3401 et seq.), does not require that notice of § 103.25 reporting be given to any party. The customer notice provisions of the Right to Financial Privacy Act do not apply to information "required to be reported in accordance with any Federal statute or rule promulgated thereunder." 12 U.S.C. 3413(d).

These amendments are not designed or intended to obtain information for an existing investigation focused on a particular individual or organization. In such cases, there are established information collection procedures that strike a more appropriate balance between the rights due an individual who is involved in a dispute with the government and the legitimate demands of society that its laws be enforced. Examples include search warrants, judicial subpoenas, administrative subpoenas and summonses, and the formal written request created by the Right to Financial Privacy Act. Accordingly, the existing restriction in § 103.25 prohibiting the use of reporting requirements in such circumstances shall also restrict these proposed amendments. However, information reported under these amendments will be treated the same as any other information collected under the Bank Secrecy Act, and may serve as the basis for initiating an investigation.

This proposed rule is not a major rule for purposes of Executive Order 12291. It is not anticipated to have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more. It will not result in a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies, or geographical regions. It will not have any significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or foreign markets. A Regulatory Impact Analysis therefore is not required.

Regulatory Flexibility Analysis

NATIONAL ARCHIVES AND RECORDS ADMINISTRATION

36 CFR Part 1256

Statistical Research in Archival Records Containing Personal Information

AGENCY: National Archives and Records Administration.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This proposed rule establishes procedures for granting access to persons doing biomedical research who wish to perform statistical or quantitative research using records in the National Archives of the United States that contain information of a highly personal nature.

DATE: Comments must be received by November 25, 1987.

ADDRESS: Comments should be sent to Director, Program Policy and Evaluation Division, National Archives and Records Administration (NAA), Washington, DC 20408.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Adrienne C. Thomas or Nancy Allard at, 202-523-3214 (FTS 523-3214).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The use of some records transferred to the National Archives of the United States, especially those of recent date, is subject to restrictions prescribed by statute or Executive Order, or imposed by the Archivist of the United States. The Archivist has, in 36 CFR 1256.16, imposed restrictions on the use of records containing information about a living person which reveal details of a highly personal nature when: (1) The personal information contained in the records is not known to have been previously made public and (2) the records relate to events less that 75 years old.

The restriction in 36 CFR 1256.16 allows disclosure under limited conditions of this type of record for the purpose of statistical or quantitative research. However, restricted census and survey records of the Bureau of the Census which are less than 72 years old and which contain data identifying individual enumerated in the population censuses are not eligible for disclosure under this provision.

Access to restricted records under the provisions of 36 CFR 1256.16 has been granted very sparingly. For the most part, NARA's obligation to protect individual privacy rights outweighs the desire of researchers to conduct statistical or quantitative research in these records. In some instances, the records can be stripped of personal identifiers and can be made available to researchers without revealing any confidential information. In other instances, it may be physically impossible to delete the confidential information. NARA must then balance the protection of individual privacy interests against the potential value of the research product if access is granted. The current restriction recognizes that the sensitivity of highly personal information about individuals diminishes with time. Accordingly, the more recent the information, the more sensitive it is likely to be to those individuals identified in the records.

We have thoroughly evaluated the National Archives' policy on access to records containing information about a living person which reveal details of a highly personal nature and have decided that the current policy should be altered. We have concluded that access to these records can be justified only when the likely outcome of the research will benefit society in a significant way. Therefore, we have determined that access to such records should be limited to persons who are conducting biomedical statistical research, e.g., epidemological or genetic studies.

This proposed rule establishes procedures for those doing biomedical research to request permission to use records restricted only for reasons of personal privacy and for NARA to evaluate their requests. If NARA is able to make available copies of the records in which all personal identifiers have been masked or deleted, NARA will do so without requiring compliance with the conditions of access outlined in this rule. However, if NARA is not able to mask or delete all personal identifiers from the records to permit routine research use of the records, evaluation of requests to use such records containing personal identifiers will consider such factors as whether the administrative, technical and physical safeguards proposed by the researcher to prevent unauthorized disclosure of the records are adequate; whether the researcher's methodology will permit the researcher to publish the research results without revealing personally identifying information; and whether NARA has resources available to accomodate the research project.

The researcher must provide written assurance that he or she will abide by the conditions that NARA places on the use of records restricted for reasons of personal privacy. The conditions that NARA imposes on the use of these records will depend on how the records are used in an approved research project. For some research projects, the researcher will be able to use the records at NARA facilities under NARA supervision and will not need to include personally identifiable information in the research notes. In such cases, NARA will impose fewer conditions on access; e.g., records will be used only for the purpose of the described research proposal; persons who are identified in the records will not be contacted by or on behalf of the researcher; and NARA must review the research notes before they are removed from the NARA facility to ensure that the notes do not include personally identifiable information.

For projects where the researcher will need to manipulate data containing personal identifiers and seeks to remove copies of the records or notes containing personally identifying information to another research site, additional conditions of access will apply. For such projects, the conditions include: (1) The records will be used only for the purpose of the approved research proposal; (2) the researcher will not transfer the data or a copy of the data to any person or institution not directly involved with the research project; (3) the researcher will not reveal to any unauthorized person any information obtained from the records which identifies any individual or which permits the identification of any individual; (4) persons who are identified on the records will not be contacted by or on behalf of the researcher; (5) any individually identifiable information in the researcher's notes or in authorized copies of the records will be rendered anonymous by the researcher at the earliest possible time consistent with the purpose of the research project; (6) upon completion of the research project, any data which contains information on individuals (either by name or identifying particulars) must be returned to NARA or destroyed; and (7) prior to publication or public presentation of the research findings, the researcher will send NARA a free copy of the publication or presentation for review to ensure that there is no possible identification of individuals. Additional conditions may be placed on the use of specific records or on specific projects.

The researcher must also obtain and provide to NARA written assurance from all persons associated with the research project that they will abide by the conditions that NARA places on the use of the records. For projects where the records are on magnetic tape or where ADP is used to manipulate data elements containing personal identifiers, the researcher must also obtain the written assurance of the manager of the ADP facility that its ADP personnel will follow the conditions of use imposed by NARA.

If NARA discovers that a researcher has violated any condition of use, NARA will take steps to revoke research privileges at all NARA facilities and will attempt to prevent any further disclosure of the personal information. NARA will also inform the sponsoring institution of the research project, any organization which provided grant funds for the project, appropriate professional organizations, and persons serving as references for the researcher of the researcher's failure to follow the conditions of use.

NARA presently receives about five requests per year that would be covered by this proposed rule. NARA does not expect the number of such requests to increase with the implementation of these procedures. The collection of information requirements contained in this proposed rule have been submitted to OMB for review under section 3504(h) of the Paperwork Reduction Act. Comments may be submitted to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Attention: Desk Officer for NARA, Washington, DC 20503.

This rule is not a major rule for the purposes of Executive Order 12291 of February 17, 1981. As required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act, it is hereby certified that this proposed rule will not have a significant impact on small business entities.

List of Subject in 36 CFR Part 1256

Archives and records.

PART 1256—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for Part 1256 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 44 U.S.C. 2108.

2. Section 1256.4 is added to read as follows:

§ 1256.4 Access to records containing personal information.

(a) NARA policy. Access to archival records containing information access to which would invade the privacy of an individual is restricted by § 1256.16.

(1) NARA may authorize access to such records for the purpose of statistical or quantitative research to qualified persons doing biomedical research under the conditions outlined in this section.

(2) If NARA is able to make a copy of such records with all personal identifiers masked or deleted, NARA will make such a "sanitized" copy of the record available to all researchers in accordance with Part 1254 of this Chapter.

(3) NARA will not grant access to restricted census and survey records of the Bureau of the Census less than 72 years old containing data identifying individuals enumerated in population censuses in accordance with 44 U.S.C. 2108(b).

(b) Request for access. Researchers who wish to have access to records the use of which is restricted by § 1256.16 to conduct biomedical research must submit a written request to the Assistant Archivist for the National Archives (NN), National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, DC 20408. Researchers are encouraged to informally consult NARA prior to submitting the formal request. The request must include the following information:

(1) Name and mailing address;

(2) Institutional affiliation and position, if applicable;

(3) List of published research;

(4) References from two persons who have first-hand knowledge of the requester's qualifications to perform the research;

(5) A statement of the nature of the research to be conducted and any plans for publication or presentation of the research findings;

(6) A listing of all sources of grants funds supporting the research project or its publication;

(7) A statement of the methodolgy to be used;

(8) A statement of the administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to be employed by the researcher to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the records;

(9) A listing of the record groups and series titles to be used; and

(10) A statement that the researcher will abide by the conditions of access to be prescribed by NARA and that the researcher will assume responsibility for the actions of all persons working with the researcher on the project.

(c) Access Review Committee. Requests made under paragraph (b) of this section will be reviewed by the Access Review Committee, which is composed of the Deputy Archivist of the United States, the Assistant Archivist for the National Archives, and the director(s) of the NARA division(s) which has custody of the requested records. The Committee may consult other persons within and outside the Federal Government who are knowledgeable in the research field for assistance in evaluating a request.

(1) The Committee will examine the request to determine:

(i) Whether the requested information is of such a highly sensitive personal nature that disclosure should not be permitted even for biomedical statistical or quantitative research;

(ii) Whether the methodology proposed by the requester will permit the researcher to obtain the projected research results without revealing personally identifying information;

(iii) Whether the research results will be published or presented at an academic or research conference;

(iv) Whether the requester is a bona-fide biomedical research and has previous experience in conducting statistical research projects and publishing articles or books on such research;

(v) Whether the safeguards proposed by the requester will adequately protect the personal information; and

(vi) Whether NARA has sufficient staff and space available to safeguard privacy interests necessary to accomodate the research project.

(2) The decision of the Committee will be made in writing to the requester within 15 workdays after receipt of a completed request. At the discretion of the Committee, the researcher may meet with the Committee to discuss the project or to discuss revising the research proposal to meet possible objections of the Committee.

(d) Conditions of access. Researchers who are granted access to restricted records, all others associated with the research project who will have access to personally identifiable information from the records, and the manager of any ADP facility handling the records or data elements containing personal identifiers shall agree in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the information and to adhere to the conditions of access imposed by NARA. NARA may impose some or all of the following conditions of access on any project; additional conditions may be imposed on the use of specific records or on specific projects:

(1) The records may be used only for the purpose of the statistical research and for the statistical reporting of research findings as described in the approved research project. The records may not be used for additional research projects without NARA approval;

(2) The records and copies of any data elements which permit the identification of an individual or which can be identified with an individual may not be transferred to any person or institution not directly involved with the approved research project;

(3) Reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards, as approved by NARA, to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the records shall be established by the researcher and followed by all persons associated with the research project;

(4) When required by NARA, the records shall be consulted at the NARA facility where the records are located;

(5) Any individually identifiable information in the researcher's notes or in authorized copies of the records shall be rendered anonymous by the researcher at the earliest possible time consistent with the purpose of the research project;

(6) Persons who are identified in the records may not be contacted by or on behalf of the researcher;

(7) Prior to publication or public presentation of the data, the final research product(s) shall be provided to the Assistant Archivist for the National Archives for review. NARA's review shall be limited to ensuring that there is no possible identification of individuals in the research findings. NARA will not evaluate the validity of the research findings;

(8) All research notes containing personally identifiable information from privacy-restricted records and/or copies of such records shall, upon completion of the project, be destroyed or returned to NARA, whichever condition NARA has imposed as a condition of access. If the notes and/or copies are destroyed, the researcher shall verify in writing to the Assistant Archivist for the National Archives that the research notes and/or copies have been destroyed.

(e) Noncompliance with conditions of access. If NARA discovers that a researcher has violated any of the conditions of access imposed on an approved research project, NARA shall take steps to revoke the NARA research privileges of that person and shall consult with the NARA legal counsel to determine any other steps to be taken to prevent any further disclosure of the personal information concerned. NARA may also inform the following persons and organizations of the researcher's failure to follow the conditions of use:

(1) The institution with which the researcher is affiliated, if applicable;

(2) Persons who served as references in the application for access;

(3) Organizations which provided grant funds for the project;

(4) The sponsor of the publication or public presentation; and/or

(5) Appropriate professional organizations.

Medicare and Medicaid Programs; Revaluation of Assets

AGENCY: Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), HHS.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: This proposed rule would implement changes to our current regulations that are affected by section 2314 of the Deficit, Reduction Act of 1984 (Pub. L. 98-369), enacted on July 18, 1984 and sections 9110 and 9509 of the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (Pub. L. 99-272), enacted on April 7, 1986. Those provisions amended sections 1861(v)(1)(0) and 1902(a)(13) of the Social Security Act. Under this rule, we would describe new limitations on the valuation of assets acquired as the result of changes in ownership occurring on or after July 18, 1984. These changes would affect hospitals and skilled nursing facilities under the Medicare program and hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, intermediate care facilities, and intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded under the Medicaid program. We intend the changes to promote economy in the Medicare and Medicaid programs.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

A. Deficit Reduction Act of 1984

Section 2314 of the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 (Pub. L. 98-369), enacted on July 18, 1984, amended sections 1861(v)(1) and 1902(a)(13) of the Social Security Act (the Act) by adding new provisions applicable to hospitals, skilled nursing facilities (SNFs), intermediate care facilities (ICFs), and intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded (ICFs/MR) that undergo a change of ownership on or after July 18, 1984.

Section 1861(v)(1) of the Act was amended by the addition of a new subparagraph (O), which provides for the following:

- In establishing an appropriate allowance under Medicare for reimbursement of providers for depreciation expense, interest on capital indebtedness, and (if applicable) a return on equity capital for an asset of a hospital or SNF that undergoes a change of ownership, the value of the asset after the change of ownership is the lesser of the allowable acquisition cost of the asset to the owner of record as of July 18, 1984 (or, in the case of an asset not in existence as of July 18, 1984, the first owner of record after that date), or the acquisition cost of the asset to the new owner.
- Recapture of depreciation in the manner as provided in regulations in effect on June 1, 1984.
- The costs (for example, legal fees, accounting and administrative costs, travel costs, and the costs of feasibility studies) attributable to the negotiation and settlement of the sale or purchase of any capital asset (by acquisition or merger) for which payment has previously been made by the Medicare program may not be recognized as reasonable cost in the provision of health care services.

The amendment to section 1902(a)(13) of the Act requires that a State must provide assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that the payment methodology utilized by the State for payments to hospitals, SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR can reasonably be expected not to increase these payments, solely as a result of a change of ownership, in excess of the increase that would result from the application of the Medicare requirements of section 1861(v)(1)(O) of the Act.

B. Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985

Section 9110 of the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (Pub. L. 99-272), enacted on April 7, 1986, amended section 1861(v)(1)(O) of the Act by adding a new provision applicable to changes in ownership of State hospitals to nonprofit corporations without monetary consideration. This new provision provides that in the case of a transfer of ownership of a State hospital to a nonprofit corporation for which there was no monetary consideration, the basis of the assets to the new owner (the nonprofit corporation) that is to be used for the purpose of computing capital allowances is the book value of the assets as shown on the State s books at the time of the transfer.

Section 9509 of Pub. L. 99-272 amended section 1902(a)(13) of the Act by adding a new subparagraph (C). The new subparagraph reguires a State to provide assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that the valuation of capital assets for purposes of determining payment rates for SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR will not be increased beyond certain levels. The valuation of the asset may not increase (as measured from the date of acquisition by the seller to the date of the change of ownership), solely as a result of a change of ownership, by more than the lesser of—

- One-half of the percentage increase (as measured over the same period of time specified above, or if necessary, as extrapolated retrospectively by the Secretary) in the Dodge construction index applied in the aggregate with respect to those facilities that have undergone a change of ownership during the Federal fiscal year; or
- One half of the percentage increase (as measured using the same period of time stated above) in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (United States city average) applied in the aggregate to those facilities that have undergone a change of ownership.

Section 1902(a)(13)(C) of the Act is intended to impose a statutory ceiling on the revaluation of assets as the result of a change in ownership. This section does not set any specific payment level for capital costs. States are free to continue to apply payment rates and standards that are consistent with the more stringent payment ceiling imposed by section 1902(a)(13)(B) of the Act. States may also require the recapture of depreciation, as is authorized by the reference to section 1861(v)(1)(o) of the Act in section 1902(a)(13)(B).of the Act, in order to assure that the Medicaid program pays for an asset only once.

Both Pub. L. 98–369 and Pub. L. 99–272 impose specific effective dates for the provisions contained in sections 2314, 9110 and 9509, which we discuss in section IV.A of this preamble. In the discussion that follows, we describe our policies concerning patient-care-related capital costs prior to the enactment of Pub. L. 98–369 and Pub. L. 99–272 and the changes to the regulations that we are proposing in order to implement the new provisions. We.are also proposing several chances that are program initiatives and are not directly related to the legislation.

C. Medicare

1. General Information

Under the Medicare principles of reimbursement, patient-care-related capital costs of providers are reimbursed on a reasonable cost basis. The Medicare prospective payment system for inpatient hospital services currently treats patient-care-related capital costs as an "additional payment amount." Regulations at 42 CFR 412.2(d)(1) explain that patient-care-related capital costs are not reimbursed under the prospective payment system. Under that system, hospitals are paid for patient-care-related capital costs on a reasonable cost basis.

Section 1861(v)(1)(A) of the Act (42 U.S.C. 1395x(v)(1)(A)) defines reasonable cost as the cost actually incurred, excluding any cost unnecessary in the efficient delivery of needed health services. The law directs that reasonable cost be determined in accordance with regulations establishing the items to be included. The types of costs that are taken into account in determining a provider s reasonable cost of health care services are referred to in our provider reimbursement regulations which were recently redesignated on September 30, 1986 (51 FR 34790) to a new 42 CFR Part 413 (formerly Subpart D of 42 CFR Part 405), as being "allowable".

Allowable costs are categories of costs that have been determined to be necessary and proper in the provision of health care services, as well as individual cost items within those categories. Included in allowable costs are patient-care-related capital costs such as depreciation, interest on capital indebtedness, and rental expenses. Also, a reasonable return on equity capital is paid as an allowance in addition to allowable cost for certain proprietary providers.

2. Policy Prior to Enactment of Pub. L. 98–369 and Pub. L. 99–272

a. Cost basis of a purchased asset. In the section of our regulations that governs allowances for depreciation based on asset costs, we define the historical cost of a purchased asset as the cost incurred by the present owner in acquiring the asset (§ 413.134(b)(1)). However, the definition of reasonable cost contained in § 413.9, which deals generally with costs related to patient care, implicitly limits the historical cost of an asset to its fair market value. In addition, § 413.134(b)(1) provided that for depreciable assets acquired after July 31, 1970, the historical cost may not exceed the lower of current reproduction cost, adjusted for straight line depreciation over the life of the asset to the time of purchase, or fair market value at the time of purchase.

The cost basis of a facility purchased as an ongoing operation is defined in § 413.134(g). This section provides that for depreciable assets acquired after July 1, 1966 and before August 1, 1970, the cost basis is the lower of the purchase price of an asset or its fair market value. For depreciable assets acquired after July 31, 1970, the cost basis was the lowest of the purchase price, fair market value, or the current reproduction cost depreciated on a straight-line basis over the life of the asset to the time of sale.

b. Cost basis of a donated asset. Section 413.134(a)(2) sets forth a general rule that the depreciable basis of a donated asset is the fair market value of the asset at the time of the donation. In § 413.134(i) we provide a special rule that governs assets that have been used or depreciated under the Medicare program and are donated to a provider. Section 413.134(i) provides that the depreciable basis for these used donated assets is the lesser of the fair market value at the time of the donation or the net book value of the asset in the hands of the owner last participating in the Medicare program. Net book value of an asset is defined as the depreciable basis used under the Medicare program by the asset's last participating owner less depreciation recognized by the Medicare program. Although we do not define the term "donation" in our regulations, § 104.15 of the Provider Reimbursement Manual (HCFA Pub. 15–1) states that an asset is considered donated when the provider acquires the asset without making any payment for it in the form of cash, property or services. This section of the Provider Reimbursement Manual specifies that when a provider makes any payment in acquiring an asset, then the payment, and not the fair market value of the asset, is considered to be the historical cost of the asset for depreciation purposes.

c. Costs attributable to the sale or purchase of an asset. Our policy with respect to the costs (that is, legal fees, accounting and administrative costs, travel costs, and the costs of feasibility studies) attributable to the negotiation or settlement of the sale or purchase of any capital asset (including mergers and consolidations) was, generally, to include these costs to the extent they are reasonable as part of the historical cost of the depreciable asset in accordance with § 413.134(b)(1), as explained above. The inclusion of these costs in the historical cost basis of a depreciable asset allows them to be reimbursed over the useful life of an asset. There was no limitation (other than the reasonable cost limitation) as to the reimbursement of these costs generated by sales or purchases of assets subsequent to the initial purchase.

d. Depreciation. Depreciation of assets (other than land) used to provide patient care is an allowable capital cost. Land is never depreciable nor amortizable (even, for example, if title to the land passes to another entity at some determinable future time) because land is viewed as a permanent asset, not subject to physical wear and tear.

technological obsolescence, etc. Our policy governing depreciation is described in § 413.134. In general, with respect to the methods of depreciation, our current rules essentially limit providers to using straight-line depreciation for assets acquired on or after August 1, 1970. In limited situations, an exception is permitted that allows providers to use accelerated depreciation, not to exceed 150 percent of the straight-line rate. With respect to useful lives of assets, current useful life guidelines make no distinction between new and used assets. A purchaser of a used asset must assume a useful life as permitted by current guidelines for new assets, but is permitted to reduce the useful life, when justified to the intermediary, based on currently accepted factors that affect the establishment of a shorter useful life (for example, physical wear and tear, and technological obsolescence).

e. Adjustment for gain or loss on disposition of an asset. Section 413.134(f) governs the adjustment for gain or loss on disposal of an asset. Although the specific mechanics for adjusting for gains and losses vary depending upon the method of asset disposal and the magnitude of the gain or loss, the general rule is that the amount of the gain adjustment is limited to the amount of depreciation previously included in Medicare allowable costs, and the amount of loss adjustment is limited to the undepreciated basis of the asset permitted under the Medicare program. Section 413.134(f)(4) provides that gains or losses realized from the exchange or trade-in of depreciable assets are not included in the determination of allowable costs. In section 132.A.2 of the Provider Reimbursement Manual, we state that gains or losses realized from the donation of assets are not included in the determination of allowable costs.

In addition, we note that our policy has been and, continues to be, that there is no retroactive effect on a proprietary provider's equity capital for the years prior to the disposition as the result of a gain or loss on the disposal of depreciable assets. This policy is found in section 130 of the Provider Reimbursement Manual.

f. Sale and leaseback transactions. Section 413.130(b)(2) governs sale and leaseback transactions by setting forth three criteria aimed at assuring the reasonableness of rental/lease costs. These criteria are as follows:

- The rental charges must be reasonable, based on consideration of rental charges of comparable facilities and market conditions in the area; the type, expected life, condition and value of the facilities or equipment rented; and other provisions of the rental agreement;
- Adequate alternate facilities or equipment that would serve the purpose are not or were not available at lower cost; and
- The leasing was based on economic and technical considerations.

If these criteria are met, the rental/lease costs are allowable for reimbursement. If these criteria are not met, then under § 413.130(b)(3) the allowable rental/lease costs may not exceed the ownership costs that a provider would have incurred had it retained legal title to the asset. Section 110A of the Provider Reimbursement Manual expresses the same rules.

g. Lease purchase transactions. Section 413.130(b) (4) and (5) governs lease purchase transactions. Section 413.130(b)(4) sets forth three criteria that, if met, generally establish that a lease is a virtual purchase. These criteria are as follows:

- The rental charge exceeds rental charges of comparable facilities or equipment in the area.
- The term of the lease is less than the useful life of the facilities or equipment.
- The provider has the option to renew the lease at a significantly reduced rental, or the provider has the right to purchase the facilities or equipment at a price that appears to be significantly less than what the fair market value of the facilities or equipment would be at the time acquisition by the provider is permitted.

Section 413.130(b)(5) details the treatment of the costs incurred under a lease purchase transaction and provides that the allowable rental costs incurred under a lease purchase transaction may not exceed the amount that the provider would have included in allowable cost if it had legal title to the asset. The difference between the rent paid and the amount of rent allowed is considered a deferred charge and is capitalized as part of the historical cost of the asset at the time the asset is purchased. Section 110B of the Provider Reimbursement Manual expresses the same rules.

h. Interest expense. Section 413.153 provides that necessary and proper interest expense on both current and capital indebtedness is an allowable cost. Necessary interest is defined in § 413.153(b)(2). This section requires that, to be considered necessary, the interest expense must (1) be incurred on a loan made to satisfy a financial need of the provider, (2) be incurred on a loan made for a purpose reasonably related to patient care; and (3) be reduced by investment income, except for a few special circumstances specifically described in § 413.153(b)(2)(iii).

Section 413.153(b)(3) defines proper interest. To be proper, interest must be (1) incurred at a rate not in excess of what a prudent borrower would have had to pay in the money market existing at the time the loan was made; and (2) paid to a lender not related through control or ownership or personal relationship to the borrowing orqanization. Types of loans not reasonably related to patient care are specifically described in § 413.153(d)(1).

i. Return on equity capital for proprietary providers. A reasonable return on equity capital invested and used in the provision of patient care is paid as an allowance in addition to the reasonable cost of covered services furnished to beneficiaries by proprietary providers. Section 413.157, as amended by a final rule published in the Federal Register on June 4, 1987 (52 FR 21216) and as subsequently corrected on June 19, 1987 (52 FR 23397) and July 13, 1987 (52 FR 26152) describes in detail the computation of the allowable amount. Generally, § 413.157(c)(1)(i) states that a provider's equity capital means, in part, the provider's investment in plant, property and equipment that is related to patient care (net of depreciation and net of noncurrent debt related to the investment). Included also are fund deposits required to be made by the terms of a lease under which a provider leases plant, property, or equipment related to patient care. The fund deposits are included at net value, that is, net of noncurrent debt related to the deposits. Limitations on the historical cost of certain asset acquisitions (and related noncurrent debt) that are recognized for purposes of the computation of equity capital are described in § 413.157(c) (2) and (3). For a further explanation of our policies concerninq equity capital please refer to the June 4, 1987 final rule as cited above.

3. Effect of Section 1861(v)(1)(O) of the Act on Existing Regulations

Section 1861(v)(1)(O) of the Act (hereinafter referred to as section 1861(v)(1)(O)) changes the limitation on historical cost for purposes of establishing an appropriate allowance under Medicare for depreciation, interest on capital indebtedness, and (if applicable) a return on equity capital for a hospital or SNF that changes ownership on or after July 18, 1984. As noted above, historical cost had been limited to the lowest of (1) the purchase price, (2) the fair market value, or (3) depreciated reproduction cost. Section 1861(v)(1)(O) changes this limitation to the lower of (1) the allowable acquisition cost of the asset to the owner of record as of July 18, 1984, or (2) the acquisition cost of the asset to the new owner. In the case of an asset not in existence on July 18, 1984, the historical cost limitation is the allowable acquisition cost to the first owner of record after July 18, 1984. Although the fair market value of an asset was not described in the language of section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369, we believe that, if Medicare pays more than the fair market value for an asset, such payment would violate the general reasonable cost principle expressed in section 1861(v)(1)(A) of the Act. Therefore, in those instances when the fair market value of an asset is less than both the allowable acquisition cost of the asset to the owner of record as of July 18, 1984, and the acquisition cost of the asset to the new owner, we would apply the regulations contained in §§ 413.134(g)(4) and 413.9 to limit the historical cost of the asset to the new owner to the fair market value for purposes of establishing an appropriate allowance under Medicare for depreciation, interest on capital indebtedness, and (if applicable) a return on equity capital.

Payment for costs attributable to the negotiation and settlement of the sale or purchase of an asset for which any payment has previously been made under Medicare is prohibited under section 1861(v)(1)(O)(iii). These costs include, but are not limited to, appraisal costs, legal fees, accounting and administrative costs, travel costs and the costs of feasibility studies. Prior to enactment of Pub. L. 98–369, these costs, to the extent reasonable, were allowable not only on an initial sale or purchase of an asset under Medicare, but on all subsequent sales or purchases as well.

The conference committee report on Pub. L. 98–369 (H. R. Rep. 98–861, 98th Cong., 2d. Sess. 1339 (1984)) states that it is the intent of Congress that we take into account the limitation on the revaluation of assets, imposed by section 1861(v)(1)(O), in determining the reasonableness of lease or rental costs involving a depreciable asset that has undergone a change in ownership. Congress reasoned that without extending the revaluation limit of section 1861(v)(1)(O) to lease or rental costs of facilities that have undergone a change in ownership, hospitals and SNFs could circumvent the provisions of section 1861(v)(1)(O) through the use of certain sale/leaseback or sale/rental agreements. Therefore, in order to meet the intent of Congress in enacting section 1861(v)(1)(O), we are proposing to change our regulations relating to sale and leaseback transactions and lease purchase transactions by hospitals and SNFs.

Regarding sale and leaseback transactions, we are proposing that reimbursement of rental or lease payments for all sale and leaseback transactions by hospitals and SNFs would be limited to the costs of ownership (for example, straight-line depreciation and interest) for which the hospital or SNF would have been reimbursed had it retained legal title to the assets. We are proposing to apply this limitation on an annual basis, as well as over the useful life of the asset, so that, in the aggregate, the amount of rental or lease expense included in patient-care-related capital costs does not exceed the total amount the hospital or SNF would have included in patient-care related capital costs had it retained legal title to the facilities or equipment.

For lease purchase transactions, we are proposing new criteria that would redefine a lease purchase transaction. In addition, as a program initiative not directly related to the implementation of section 1861(v)(1)(O), we are proposing that, for lease purchase transactions, if the lessee becomes the owner of the leased asset and subsequently disposes of the asset, the total amount considered as depreciation for the purpose of computing the limitation on allowable rental costs (as required by § 413.130(b)(5)(i)) must be included in calculating the limitation on adjustments to depreciation for the purpose of determining any gain or loss realized upon disposal of the asset.

The conference committee report states that in implementing section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369, it is the intent of Congress that we establish appropriate policy with respect to the useful life of an asset and the allowable methods of depreciation. We have reviewed our current rules on methods of depreciation and useful lives of depreciable assets, and we believe that the current policy with respect to methods of depreciation and useful lives of used assets adequately fulfills the requirements of the new legislation. Therefore, at this time, we are not proposing any changes to the regulations governing useful life or the allowable methods of depreciation.

We have also reviewed our current rules on the adjustment for gain or loss on disposition of a depreciable asset and believe they are adequate for implementing section 1861(v)(1)(O). Therefore, we are not proposing any changes to these rules at this time to implement section 1861(v)(1)(O). However, as a program initiative not directly related to the implementation of section 1861(v)(1)(O), we are proposing a clarification to § 413.134(f)(1) to state that the gain or loss realized on the disposition of a depreciable asset has no retroactive effect on a proprietary provider's equity capital for years prior to the disposition of the asset. In addition, we are proposing to clarify § 413.134(f)(4) to specify that donations are included in the types of asset dispositions for which gain or loss will not be included in allowable costs. This clarification will make our regulations consistent with section 132.A2 of the Provider Reimbursement Manual.

Section 1861(v)(1)(O), as amended by section 9110 of Pub. L. 99–272, adds a new provision applicable to transfers of State hospitals to nonprofit corporations without monetary consideration. Section 1861(v)(1)(O)(iv) provides that, in the case of a transfer of a State hospital to a nonprofit corporation for which there was no monetary consideration, the basis that is to be used by the new owner (the nonprofit corporation) for the purpose of calculating capital allowances is the book value of the assets as reflected on the State hospital's books at the time of the transfer. This new provision is effective on the same date as the other provisions of section 1861(v)(1)(O) that apply to changes of ownership occurring on or after July 18, 1984.

C. Medicaid

1. General Information

Section 1902(a)(13)(A) of the Act (42 U.S.C. 1396a(a)(13)(A)) requires that a State must find, and provide satisfactory assurances to HCFA, that Medicaid payments for inpatient hospital and long-term care facility services provided under a State plan are made through the use of rates that are reasonable and adequate to meet the costs that must be incurred by efficiently and economically operated facilities in order to provide care and services in conformity with applicable State and Federal laws, regulations, and quality and safety standards, and to assure that individuals eligible for medical assistance have reasonable access to inpatient hospital services of adequate quality. In enacting this provision, Congress intended to reduce previous burdensome requirements that the regulations imposed on States, and to allow States greater flexibility in establishing payment rates. Prior to the enactment of section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369 and section 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272, the only upper payment limit restriction imposed on States in establishing payment rates was the application of section 1902(a)(30) of the Act (42 U.S.C. 1396a(a)(30)). This section required that State plan methods and standards used to determine payment rates result in payments that are consistent with efficiency, economy and quality of care. Currently § 447.253 of our regulations, as explained below, imposes a Medicare upper payment limit on States in establishing payment rates.

2. Current Policy

Current Medicaid regulations do not establish specific limits on the revaluation of assets. However, § 447.253 imposes a general Medicare upper payment limit on State payments. This section requires that a State agency assure that, under the proposed average payment rate, the State agency will not pay more in the aggregate for inpatient hospital services or long-term care facility services than the amount that it reasonably estimated would have been paid for the services under the Medicare principles of reimbursement. The State agency submits this assurance at the time it requests approval of its payment methodology. Section 447.253 applies an overall limit on institutional reimbursement and, therefore, has no direct impact on any specific cost item.

3. Effect of the Section 1902(a)(13) (B) and (C) of the Act on Current Regulations

Section 1902(a)(13)(B) of the Act, as originally enacted by section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369, imposed specific Federal requirements for the Medicaid program on the revaluation of assets of hospitals, SNFs, ICFs, and ICFs/MR that change ownership. Under this statutory amendment, a State Medicaid agency was reqired to submit a specific assurance regarding its State plan methodology as it pertained to reimbursement for patient-care related capital costs resulting from a change in ownership. The State agency was required to assure and demonstrate generally that, as a result of a change in ownership, the State plan would not result in an increase in payments to hospitals, SNFs, ICFs, and ICFs/MR in excess of the increase that would be recognized under section 1861(v)(1)(O), which governs Medicare payments.

The Conference Committee Report (H. R. Rep. No. 98–861, 98th Cong., 2d. Sess. 1339 (1984)) states that Congress, in enacting section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369, intended that States must demonstrate generally that the statutory standard will be met in the aggregate. However, the Conference Report further notes that it is not the intent of Congress that States be required to supply a detailed accounting of how that aggregate is achieved.

Furthermore, the Conference Report states that, in evaluating a State's assurances, we may require the State to demonstrate the application of its methodology in a limited number of instances.

The reference to section 1861(v)(1)(O) in section 1902(a)(13)(B) of the Act, requires that the increase in Medicaid payments may not exceed the increase that would be recognized from application of all the provisions specified in section 1861(v)(1)(O). Therefore, States assurances must consider Medicare payments for depreciation, interest on capital indebtedness, return on equity capital (if applicable), recapture of depreciation in the manner as provided by Medicare regulations in effect on June 1, 1984, and the costs attributable to the negotiation or settlement of a sale or purchase of any capital asset for which payment has previously been made. Thus, the methodology used by the State must not result in payments in the aggregate, that exceed the increase that would be allowable under Medicare in accordance with section 1861(v)(1)(O) and the implementing regulations.

If the State plan methodology references and adopts the Medicare principles for determining asset valuation, and the State continues to use Medicare methodology, the State would be required to follow the Medicare provisions in effect at the time. Accordingly, the State would be required to submit the assurance, required by section 1902(a)(13)(B) of the Act beginning July 18, 1984, based upon the allowable acquisition costs of providers of record as of July 18, 1984.

If the State plan methodology does not reference and adopt the Medicare principles for determining asset valuation, the State must submit the assurance as it applies to medical assistance beginning October 1, 1984, based on the allowable acguisition costs of providers of record as of July 18, 1984.

If a change to the existing State plan methodology cannot be effectuated without a State legislative change, the State agency will not be held out of compliance solely on the basis of its failure to meet the assurance requirement of section 1902(a)(13)(B) prior to the first day of the first calendar quarter beginning after the close of the first regular session of the State legislature that begins after July 18, 1984. In these cases, the provisions of section 1902(a)(13)(B) must thereafter be applied to payment for services based on the acquisition costs of owners of record on or after July 18, 1984.

The Conference Report a discussion of section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369 notes that, under current law, States have broad discretion in designing reimbursement methods and standards for hospital, SNF, ICF, and ICF/MR services, and have used that discretion to implement a wide variety of payment methodologies. The Report goes on to state that Congress does not intend to limit that discretion and expresses the opinion that, in many States, current or planned methodologies would not be affected by the mandated legislative changes. The Conference Report goes on to indicate that States that use the Medicare capital payment methodologies would be able to continue to do so, and States that wish to adopt alternative methods would not be discouraged from doing so.

Section 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272 amended section 1902(a)(13)(B) by making this section applicable to hospitals only. Section 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272 also added a new section 1902(a)(13)(C) to the Social Security Act that is applicable to SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR for changes in ownership occurring on or after October 1, 1985. Under section 1902(a)(13)(C) of the Act the State Medicaid Agency must provide assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that the valuation of capital assets for purposes of determining payment rates for SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR will not be increased solely as a result of a change of ownership by more than the lesser of—

- One half of the percentage increase (as measured from the date of acquisition by the seller to the date of the change of ownership, or if necessary, as extrapolated retrospectively by the Secretary) in the Dodge Construction Systems Costs for Nursing Homes applied in the aggregate to those facilities that have undergone a change in ownership during the fiscal year; or
- One-half of the percentage increase (as measured from the date of acquisition by the seller to the date of the change in ownership) in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI–U) (United States city average).

Section 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272 further provides that if a change to the existing State plan methodology is necessary in order for the plan to meet the requirements of section 1902(a)(13)(C), and this methodology change cannot be effectuated without a State legislative change, the State agency will not be regarded as failing to comply with the requirements of section 1902(a)(13)(C) solely on the basis of its failure to meet these section 1902(a)(13)(C) requirements before the first day of the first calendar quarter beginning after the close of the first regular session of the State legislature that begins after April 7, 1986.

The provisions in section 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272 are applicable to medical assistance furnished on or after October 1, 1985 with respect to changes of ownership occurring on or after October 1, 1985 that were not subject to an enforceable agreement entered into before that date.

II. Proposed Changes

A. Medicare

1. Changes Resulting From Section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369

a. We are proposing to amend § 413.130(b), concerning lease and rent payments in order to prevent, as discussed above, possible circumvention of the revaluation of asset limit imposed by section 1861(v)(1)(O). We would add a new § 413.130(b)(4) that would be applicable to sale and leaseback arrangements entered into on or after the effective date of the final rule following this proposed rule. We are proposing to limit the amount providers may include as patient-care related capital costs for rental or lease expense to the amount a provider would have included in patient care-related capital costs had the provider retained legal title to the asset.

We would also add a new § 413.130(b)(7) and (8) that would be applicable to lease purchase transactions entered into on or after the effective date of the final rule following this proposed rule. These proposed additions to the regulations are intended to prevent possible circumvention of the revaluation of assets limitations imposed by section 1861(v)(1)(O). We are proposing new criteria that would redefine lease purchase transactions. In addition, as a program initiative not directly related to the implementation of section 1861(v)(1)(O), we are also proposing that, for lease purchase transactions in which the lessee becomes the owner of the leased asset and subsequently disposes of the asset, the total amount considered as depreciation for the purpose of computing the limitation on allowable rental costs (as required by the new paragraph (b)(8)(i) of § 413.130) must be included in calculating the limitation on adjustments to depreciation for the purpose of determining any gain or loss realized upon disposal of the asset. We believe that without this change providers that obtained assets through lease purchase transactions would, upon disposition of the asset, be unfairly advantaged over providers that bought assets outright.

b. Congress enacted section 1861(v)(1)(O) in order to assure that the Medicare program does not pay for the same capital asset more than once. This provision is intended to limit the revaluation of an asset for purposes of determining depreciation, interest expense on capital indebtedness, and (if applicable) return on equity capital to the allowable acquisition cost to the individual or entity who was the owner for Medicare purposes on July 18, 1984. The purchasing entity's valuation would be the lesser of its own acquisition cost or the allowable acquisition of the previous owner (not reduced by accumulated depreciation). We are proposing to amend § 413.134 of the regulations to conform them to the section 1861(v)(1)(O) limitation on revaluation of assets.

- Section 413.134(b), which describes historical cost, would be revised by adding a new paragraph (b)(1)(ii) to apply a limitation, applicable to hospitals and SNFs for assets acquired on or after July 18, 1984 and not subject to an enforceable agreement entered into before that date. For purposes of calculating the limitation expressed above, the new § 413.134(b)(1)(ii)(C) would specify that the acquisition cost to the owner of record (the previous owner) for Medicare purposes on July 18, 1984, is the historical cost (that is, the acquisition cost subject to the prior limitation imposed by Medicare), and is not reduced by any depreciation taken by that owner of record. Our decision not to reduce the previous owner's historical cost by depreciation taken is supported by the Conference Committee Report accompanying Pub. L. 99–272 (H. R. Rep. 98–861, 98th Cong., 2d. Sess., 1338–39 (1984).) This report shows that the Senate amendment would have limited the revaluation under Medicare to "the acquisition cost of the asset * * * less depreciation." However, the Conference agreement revised the limitation to the "historical cost (the cost to the original owner)." We also explain in § 413.134(b)(1)(ii)(C), that the purchase of land, which is neither depreciable nor amortizable under any circumstances, would be subject to the historical cost limitation for the purpose of determining allowable interest expense for both proprietary and nonproprietary providers, and return on equity capital for proprietary providers only. The proposed revision adds a new § 413.134(b)(1)(ii)(E) that would describe what would be included in the acquisition costs to the owner of record and also would state that, for assets acquired prior to a provider's entrance into the Medicare program, the acquisition cost to the owner of record would be the historical cost of the asset when acquired, rather than when the provider entered the program. The acquisition cost to the owner of record for assets that were subject to the optional allowance for depreciation described in § 413.139 would further be explained in the proposed new § 413.134(b)(1)(ii)(F). Our proposed revision also explains in a new § 413.134(b)(1)(ii)(B), that the term "asset not in existence as of July 18, 1984" includes any asset that physically existed, but was not owned by a provider participating in the Medicare or Medicaid programs as of July 18, 1984. Because this limitation applies only to hospitals and SNFs, a proposed new § 413.134(b)(1)(iii) would specify that if a change of ownership occurs that involves assets of a hospital-based provider other than a SNF, (to which section 1861(v)(1)(O) of the Act does not apply), a reasonable allocation of the purchase price must be made so that the hospital-based provider would not be affected by the limitation imposed by section 1861(v)(1)(O) of the Act, but rather, would be subject to the limitations imposed prior to the implementation of that section that continue to control changes of ownership involving nonhospital and non-SNF providers. Finally, in a new § 413.134(b)(1)(ii)(G), we would exclude from historical cost, the costs attributable to the negotiation or settlement of the sale or purchase (including mergers and consolidations) of any capital asset for which any payment was previously made by the Medicare program.

- We would add a new paragraph to § 413.134(g), which governs the establishment of the cost basis for assets obtained in the purchase of a facility as an ongoing operation, to limit the historical cost of assets of hospitals and SNFs acquired on or after July 18, 1984 and not subject to an enforceable agreement entered into before that date. We are proposing to limit the historical cost of these assets to the lower of the allowable acquisition cost of the asset to the owner of record as of July 18, 1984, or the acquisition cost to the new owner.

- We are proposing to provide a new § 413.134(h) to establish the amount of incurred rental charges that may be included in a provider's allowable costs in sale and leaseback transactions and lease purchase transactions. This new paragraph generally reflects the same rules described in § 413.130(b).

c. In section 9110 of Pub. L. 99–272, Congress enacted section 1861(v)(1)(O)(iv) of the Act in order to provide a special rule for valuing assets for Medicare purposes for State hospitals that are transferred without monetary consideration to nonprofit corporations. We are proposing several changes to implement this section.

• First, we would add a definition to § 413.134(b) that would define a donated asset. This proposed new definition would be consistent with the definition contained in section 104.15 of the Provider Reimbursement Manual. We would also clarify that, if an asset is exchanged for new debt or the assumption of debt, then the transaction would be considered a sale and not a donation. Thus, for purposes of section 9110 of Pub. L. 99–272, the assumption or acceptance of debt in exchange for the receipt of a facility is equivalent to the payment of monetary consideration.

• Secondly, we are proposing to revise and redesignate § 413.134(i) to § 413.134(j) in order to consolidate the regulations governing donations. The revised § 413.134(j) would include: (1) The general rule that currently appears in § 413.134(a)(2); (2) the special rule governing donations of assets that were previously used or depreciated under the Medicare program, which appears in § 413.134(i); and (3) a special rule to implement the new section 1861(v)(1)(O)(iv) of the Act that would govern the transfer of a State hospital to a nonprofit corporation without monetary consideration. This special rule would provide that, in the case of a transfer of ownership of a State hospital to a nonprofit corporation for which there was no monetary consideration, the new owner's depreciable basis would be the net book value of the assets as recorded on the State's books at the time of the transfer. In expressing this special rule, the legislative language states that the new owner's depreciable basis would be the "book value" of the assets. However, we have interpreted this to mean "net book value" based on the Conference Committee language, which states in pertinent part, "* * * the basis from which capital-related costs to the donee is calculated would be the donor's historical cost (net of depreciation)." (H. R. Rep. No. 453, 99th Cong., 1st Sess., 465 (1985).)

2. Other Changes

We are proposing a clarification to § 413.134(f)(1), because in some cases providers and intermediaries have misinterpreted this section by allowing retroactive adjustments to a proprietary provider's equity capital for years prior to the disposition to reflect a gain or loss on the disposal of depreciable assets. We are proposing to clarify that the gain or loss on the disposition of depreciable assets has no retroactive effect on a proprietary provider's equity capital for years prior to the disposition. This clarification would include in the regulations explicit language to conform to our consistent policy that was also enunciated in a recent revision to section 130 of the Provider Reimbursement Manual. We are also proposing to clarify § 413.134(f)(4) to include donations in the category of asset dispositions for which gains or losses will not be included in allowable costs. This proposed change would conform our regulations to section 132.A.2 of the Provider Reimbursement Manual.

B. Medicaid Changes Resulting From Section 1902(a)(13) (B) and (C)

Sections 1902(a)(13) (B) and (C) limit State Medicaid reimbursement for the patient-care-related capital costs associated with the sale or transfer of hospitals or nursing homes. Under section 1902(a)(13)(B) as originally enacted by section 2314(b) of Pub. L. 98–369, a State must provide an assurance to HCFA that the methodology used by the State to establish payment rates for hospitals, SNFs, ICFs or ICFs/MR is reasonably expected not to result in increased payments, solely as the result of changes in ownership, that exceed the increase permitted under the Medicare program. This provision was applicable for changes in ownership occurring on or after July 18, 1984. Section 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272 added a new section 1902(a)(13)(C) to the Act that is applicable to transfers of ownership of SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR that change ownership on or after October 1, 1985. This section of the law requires a State to provide an assurance to HCFA that the valuation of capital assets for purposes of determining payment rates for SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR will not be increased solely as a result of a change of ownership by more than the lesser of a specified allowable percentage tied to the Dodge construction index and the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers based on the United States City Average (CPI–U). Section 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272 also amended section 1902(a)(13)(B) of the Act by making this section applicable beginning October 1, 1985 to hospitals only.

Section 1902(a)(13)(C) of the Act, as revised by Pub. L. 99–272, limits the revaluation of assets that results from a change of ownership to the lesser of—

• One half of the percentage increase (as measured over the same period of time, or if necessary, as extrapolated retrospectively by the Secretary) in the Dodge Construction Systems Costs for Nursing Homes applied in the aggregate with respect to those facilities that have undergone a change of ownership during the fiscal year; or

• One-half the percentage increase (as measured over the same period of time) in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (United States city average).

Although the statute cites a specific index entitled the "Dodge Construction Systems Costs for Nursing Homes," it is our understanding that this does not identify an index that is currently published and that can readily be applied to nursing homes. Rather, it would involve the application of a number of indexes and adjustments that generally apply to health care facilities and are also applicable for nursing homes. In addition, the rate would be dependent on a number of variables including specific location, age, construction material.

Accordingly, in drafting this proposed rule rather than citing a specific index entitled the "Dodge Construction Systems Costs for Nursing Homes," we would require States to consider the more general Dodge construction index. A State would have the flexibility, consistent with the flexibility it currently has in adopting alternative reimbursement methodologies, to provide the assurance as it applies to the Dodge construction index as reasonably determined by the State. Therefore, the State would be required to assure that its payment methodology does not increase the revaluation of assets that results from changes of ownership, by more than one-half the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers or one-half the Dodge construction index, as reasonably determined by the State.

Therefore, in order to implement this limitation, we are proposing the following amendments to 42 CFR Part 447, Subpart C, which governs payment for inpatient hospital and long-term care facility services.

• We are proposing to amend § 447.250, which describes the basis and purpose of subpart C, by adding a new paragraph that explains that § 447.253 (c) and (d), which are discussed below, implement sections 1902(a)(13)(B) and 1902(a)(13)(C) of the Act.

• Section 447.253, which describes other requirements concerning State assurances, would be amended to include the assurances required by sections 1902(a)(13)(B) and 1902(a)(13)(C) of the Act for changes in ownership.

The assurances are intended to apply to increases that are due solely as a result of a change in ownership. The term "solely," as used in this context, is meant to specify that the increase in the payment rate has been directly generated by a change in ownership and that the increase in the rate would not have been in excess of the increase that would have occurred under Medicare had there not been a change in ownership. Therefore, if a State plan provides for increases to the payment rate for patient-care-related capital costs that are generated independently of a facility's change in ownership, the State agency could readily assure that any increases in the payment rate, solely as a result of a change in ownership do not exceed these limits.

The Conference Committee Report (H. R. Rep. No. 98–861, 98th Cong. 2d Sess., 1339 (1984)) states that, "States would be required to assure the Secretary that the methodologies used to establish rates paid to hospitals, SNFs or ICFs can reasonably be expected not to increase those rates more than they would increase under Medicare policy as a result of a change of ownership of a facility." This Conference Report further states that, in determining whether a State has exceeded the increase that would result from application of the Medicare requirements at section 1861(v)(1)(O) the State must demonstrate generally that the statutory standard will be met in the aggregate. We are proposing that the assurance for each level of care (that is, hospital, SNF, ICF, and ICF/MR) be based on the increase in payments to all facilities within that class of facilities that have a change in ownership during a specified period. We have concluded that since the statute specifies that the increase in payments under Medicaid may not exceed the increase that would result from applying Medicare principles, the statute only allows States to increase Medicaid reimbursement by the amount that Medicare would allow the payments to increase.

The assurance would be based on payments for depreciation, interest on capital indebtedness, return on equity capital (if applicable), acquisition costs for which Medicare payments have previously been made to the prior owner, and the recapture of depreciation, as determined in the aggregate for all facilities that change ownership, as determined, for each level of care (that is, hospitals, SNFs, ICFs or ICFs/MR). It is our belief that applying the test to each level of care is consistent with the legislative intent expressed in the conference report cited above. The conference report specifies that States will be required to submit an assurance applicable to the methodologies used to establish rates paid to hospitals, SNFs or ICFs. Therefore, States must submit the assurance as it affects each type of provider. In addition, this proposed policy is also consistent with our current administrative policies and practices for determining payment rates and payment ceilings.

• We also considered alternatives for implementing the effective date of these provisions. Section 2314(b) of Pub. L. 98–369 states that the Medicaid provision shall apply to medical assistance furnished on or after October 1, 1984. It has been suggested that the provision should not apply to changes of ownership that occurred prior to October 1, 1984. However, the statute limits the increase in Medicaid payments to the increase that would result from application of section 1861(v)(1)(O). That section clearly applies to changes in ownership on or after July 18, 1984. It is, therefore, clear that the Medicaid statute would also apply to changes of ownership occurring on or after July 18, 1984, affecting payments for medical assistance provided on or after October 1, 1984.

Section 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272 specifically states that the amendments mandated by this section shall apply to medical assistance furnished on or after October 1, 1985, but only with respect to changes of ownership occurring on or after such date that were not subject to an enforceable agreement entered into prior to October 1, 1985.

III. Other Considerations

We are considering applying the limitations on asset valuations expressed in section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369 to all providers under the Medicare program, and we are requesting public comments on this proposal. Congress expressly mandated application of the legislation only to hospitals and SNFs under Medicare because those types of providers are the most capital intensive. However, it is our belief that, if the revaluation of asset limits are not applied to all types of providers, the lack of consistency among provider types would create problems for those provider complexes that consist of both the provider types covered by the legislation and those not covered by the legislation. For example, if a hospital and a hospital-based home health agency (HHA) under Medicare occupy the same building, Medicare's share of capital-related costs pertaining to the building would have to be calculated applying one limitation to the hospital portion of the building and another limitation to the HHA portion of the building. This would be administratively burdensome to both providers and fiscal intermediaries and would create an inappropriate incentive to providers to shift costs to the portion of the complex that has the higher asset basis. Because the asset basis limitation that existed for all providers prior to Pub. L. 98–369 was imposed by regulation, under general statutory authority, we believe that we can extend application of the revaluation of asset limits to all types of providers without additional legislation. However, we believe that such an extension ought to be made prospectively. Due to the significant questions raised by this proposal we are soliciting public comments about this approach. We may incorporate this approach into the final rule with a prospective effective date. We wish to note that, although this proposal is under consideration, we have not included proposed regulation text in this document since this proposal is still under consideration.

IV. Regulatory Impact Analysis

A. Introduction

Executive Order 12291 requires us to prepare and publish a regulatory impact analysis for any proposed regulations that are likely to meet criteria for a "major rule." A major rule is one that would result in:

1. An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more;

2. A major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State or local government agencies, or any geographic regions; or;

3. Significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation or on the ability of United States based-enterprises to compete in domestic or export markets.

In addition, consistently with the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) (5 U.S.C. 601–612), we prepare and publish an initial regulatory flexibility analysis for proposed regulations unless the Secretary certifies that the regulations would not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. For purposes of the RFA, we consider all providers as small entities.

In sections II.A and B of this preamble, we discuss the proposed changes to our current Medicare and Medicaid regulations implementing section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369 and sections 9110 and 9509 of Pub. L. 99–272.

We believe that the provisions of the statute are clear and require little interpretation in the regulations. However, consistently with sections 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369 and 9509 and 9110 of Pub. L. 99–272, the provisions in these proposed regulations specify limitations and classifications on revaluation of assets.

Even though we believe that these proposed amendments to the regulations flow necessarily from the law, particularly section 1861(v)(1)(O), the provisions in the law are significantly less detailed than these proposed rules. For example, although discussed in the conference committee report, the law itself does not explicitly address sale and leaseback arrangements. There is also reason to expect the publication of these proposals to be controversial to many providers. Therefore, we have voluntarily decided to furnish the following analysis describing the expected effect of these proposed regulations, even though we have determined that the impact resulting solely from these proposals, as distinguished from the applicable provisions of Pub. L. 98–369 and Pub. L. 99–272, would not meet the criteria for identifying a major rule, or have a significant impact on small entities. Over approximately two years since the date of enactment of section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369, there have been the following changes of ownership of active providers by facility type:

	Hospital	SNF	ICFs	ICFs/MR
Total No. of providers	6,730	8,973	5,678	3,281
Change of ownership:
Medicare only		14
Medicaid only		176	625	50
Medicare/Medicaid	223	371
Total No. of changes of ownership	223	561	625	50

B. Background

During the past few years, providers have been involved in a significant number of mergers and acquisitions. These transactions involved both chain organizations and single facilities. We believe that mergers and acquisitions, under current payment rules, may result in unjustified and inappropriate levels of Medicare and Medicaid payments. The changes in this proposed rule are intended to promote economy in these programs. We have also gathered information on several of the recent major multifacility acquisitions. We are examining this information for the potential consequences of these mergers and acquisitions on Medicare and Medicaid program costs.

Patient-care-related capital costs for hospitals are excluded from the Medicare prospective payment system. We reimburse hospitals for their patient-care-related capital costs on a reasonable cost basis. SNFs are also reimbursed for their patient-care related capital costs on a reasonable cost basis. For both hospitals and SNFs, Medicare generally pays the percentage of capital costs that reflect the ratio of Medicare utilization to total utilization.

Available data indicate a great variation among hospitals in terms of the ratio of capital costs to total operating costs. For about one quarter of the hospitals, capital costs are less than four percent of operating costs. Slightly over one half of the hospitals claim capital costs between four and ten percent. The remaining number of hospitals have capital cost to operating cost ratios of between ten and twenty percent.

Currently, States have broad discretion in designing reimbursement methods and standards for hospital, SNF, ICF, and ICF/MR services. States have used that discretion to implement a wide variety of payment methodologies and policies to account for providers capital expenditures. Only a few States reference and adopt Medicare principles in accounting for capital costs for long-term care reimbursement. Some States have established their own limits on the reimbursement for these costs. Due to this variation in State practices and the absence of data about Medicaid capital expenditures, we are not able to estimate current Federal or State Medicaid expenditures for capital expenses.

C. Provider Impact

It is clear that Congress intends to restrict reimbursement for capital upon a change of ownership of a hospital, SNF, ICF or an ICF/MR. Thus, these entities would be affected by these provisions in several ways.

First, we do not expect this provision to have a significant impact on provider decisions regarding future mergers and acquisitions. Mergers and acquisitions evolve from a pro-merger environment that is caused by factors such as excess bed capacity, new technologies and changes in social demographics (for example, changes in the composition of the service area's population that, in turn, would effect utilization and have an impact on revenues). Consequently, the hospital and long-term care facility industries are restructuring themselves primarily to take advantage of the current pro-merger environment.

Economics is often the driving force in mergers and acquisitions. For many providers facing financial difficulties and looking for sources of funding for the needs of operations and capital formation, mergers and acquisitions offer an attractive alternative to prolonged financial difficulty. Thus, we believe that the weight of factors like tax incentives, increased buying power and market entry initiatives for corporate expansion, which are influences that would not be affected by this proposal, would offset in good measure any disincentives that might be created with respect to decisions to merge or acquire. Therefore, we believe that this proposed rule would not inhibit current levels of merger or acquisition activities.

Providers would, however, be affected by the reduction of Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement for capital expenses. However, we are not able to estimate the impact this provision could have on Medicare payments to providers because we do not have data that would indicate the number of future transactions requiring revaluation of assets. Absent this information, we could not predict the value of the transactions, with the result that information concerning the original cost of each acquisition to determine depreciation costs is not available. Therefore, a detailed analysis of the impact of this proposed rule on the Medicare and Medicaid program expenditures is not possible at this time. Nonetheless, despite this limitation, program experience allows us to analyze and rank the potential effects of several of the key provisions of this rule, as follows:

- Depreciation and Interest Expense

This proposal would have the most significant impact on the Medicare and Medicaid programs. Our experience indicates that many provider acquisitions are for amounts as much as two to five times the cost to the previous owner, who may not have been the owner of record under the proposed historical cost definitions. Eliminating the upward revaluation of assets in these acquisitions would reduce the historical cost basis of the assets for purposes of computing depreciation and interest expense. This change, coupled with the exclusion of costs attributable to the negotiation or settlement of the purchase or sale of any capital asset for which any Medicare payment has previously been made, we believe would result in significant savings.

• Sale and Leaseback Arrangements and Lease Purchase Transactions

We believe that these proposals rank second in terms of potential program savings and could affect many providers. The proposals would avoid possible provider circumvention of the revaluation of assets limit that restricts reimbursement of patient-care related capital costs. Beginning with the effective date of a final rule, we would limit allowable costs under sale and leaseback arrangements to the amount the provider would have included in its allowable costs had the provider retained legal title to the facilities or equipment. We are also proposing new criteria for defining lease purchase agreements. In addition, we explain that the limitation on adjustments to depreciation for the purpose of determining any gain or loss upon the disposal of lease purchase assets includes any amount considered as depreciation for the purposes of having computed the limitation on allowable rental costs. It is our belief that savings would increase under these provisions.

• Return on Equity Capital of Proprietary Providers

Nonprofit providers are not subject to the proposed return on equity changes, and, therefore, would not be affected by them. However, with respect to proprietary providers, limiting the historical cost of assets by prohibiting upward revaluations of assets would reduce the basis of the assets used in the computation of the return on equity capital. Moreover, we would continue our existing policy that any loan, or portion thereof, that is made to finance the excess of the total acquisition cost over the allowable acquisition cost of a facility, or of any tangible assets of a facility, would be excluded from the equity capital computation, because such excess would not be considered related to patient care. Thus, we would avoid reimbursement for increased financial liability incurred by providers in their mergers and acquisitions of other facilities and assets.

• Medicaid Provisions

We do not have a basis on which to estimate or rank the impact of the Medicaid proposals. Most States have initiated a variety of actions to control provider reimbursement, including reimbursement for capital costs. We believe there would be Federal and State savings resulting from these actions, but due to the variation in State practices, and because of the absence of good data about the effect of State reimbursement policies, we can not estimate the budgetary impact on the Medicaid program.

D. Summary

In summary, we expect that this proposal would restrict reimbursement for capital costs upon change of ownership of a hospital, SNF, ICF, or ICF/MR. We have noted our limitations in estimating the impact of this proposal, but we are certain that both Medicare and Medicaid program savings would result from the implementation of this proposal.

E. Paperwork Reduction Act

Sections 447.253(a) and 447.255 contain information collection requirements that are subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3511).

A notice will be published in the Federal Register when approval is obtained. An individual or organization desiring to submit comments on the information collection requirements should direct them to the agency official whose name appears in the preamble and to the Desk Officer for HCFA at the following address: Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, OMB, New Executive Office Building (Room 3208), Washington, DC 20503, Attention: HCFA/Desk Officer.

IV. Other Required Information

A. Effective Dates

Section 2314(c) of Pub. L. 98–369 as well as sections 9110(b) and 9509(b) of Pub. L. 99–272 impose specific effective dates for the sections 1861(v)(1)(O) and 1902(a)(13) (B) and (C).

• The effective date for changes of ownership of assets of hospitals and SNFs under the Medicare program is July 18, 1984. This date is also applicable to transfers of hospitals without monetary consideration by State governments to nonprofit corporations.

• Generally, for payments for medical assistance, Pub. L. 98–369 imposed an effective date of October 1, 1984 for changes of ownership of assets of hospitals, SNFs, ICFs, and ICFs/MR under the Medicaid program. Section 2314 of Pub. L. 98–369 states that the Medicaid provision shall apply to medical assistance furnished on or after October 1, 1984. To comply with the statutory assurance as specified at section 1902(a)(13)(B), as originally enacted by Pub. L. 98–369, a State Medicaid agency must submit an assurance that in paying for medical assistance furnished on or after October 1, 1984 the State plan methodology will not increase payments to facilities as a result of a change in ownership in excess of the amount of the increase payable under Medicare that would occur under section 1861(v)(1)(O). The amount of the increase allowable under Medicare is based on the lower of the acquisition cost to the first owner of record on or after July 18, 1984, or the purchase price of the asset to the new owner. Therefore, the Medicaid provision is effective for medical assistance beginning October 1, 1984 for all changes of ownership of hospitals and for changes of ownership of SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR that occur on or after July 18, 1984 but prior to October 1, 1985. For changes of ownership of SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR that occur on or after October 1, 1985 the Medicaid provisions described in section 1902(a)(13)(C) are effective on that date.

Because the proposed changes to §§ 413.130 (b)(4), (b)(7), and (b)(8) and §§ 413.134 (h)(3), (h)(6), and (h)(7) are not mandated by statute, they would be applicable to costs incurred on or after the effective date of the final rule.

Finally, we point out that section 9321 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986 (Pub. L. 99–502), enacted on October 21, 1986, prohibits the issuance of certain capital related regulations in final form before September 1, 1987. Therefore, this proposed rule, at least as it affects hospitals, will not be published in final form until on or after that date.

B. Public Comment

Because of the large number of pieces of correspondence we normally receive on a proposed rule, we are not able to acknowledge or respond to them individually. However, in preparing the final rule, we will consider all comments contained in correspondence that we receive by the date specified in the "Dates" section of this preamble, and we will respond to the comments in the preamble of that rule.

Section 413.130 is amended by revising paragraphs (b)(1) and (b)(2), redesignating paragraph (b)(4) as (b)(5) and revising (b)(5), adding a new paragraph (b)(4), redesignating paragraph (b)(5) as (b)(6), and amending the newly redesignated (b)(6)(i) by revising the cross reference "(b)(4)" to read "(b)(5)," and adding new paragraphs (b)(7) and (b)(8), to read as follows:

§ 413.130 Introduction to capital-related costs.

(b) Leases and rentals. (1) Subject to the qualifications of paragraphs (b) (2), (4), (5), and (7) of this section, leases and rentals, including licenses and royalty fees, are includable in capital-related costs if they relate to the use of assets that would be depreciable if the provider owned them outright. The terms "leases" and "rentals of assets" signify that a provider has possession, use, and enjoyment of the assets.

(2) For sale and leaseback agreements entered into before [30 days following publication of the final rule], a provider may include incurred rental charges in its capital-related costs, as specified in a sale and leaseback agreement with a nonrelated purchaser (including shared service organizations not related within the meaning of § 413.17) involving plant facilities or equipment only if the following conditions are met:

(i) The rental charges are reasonable based on—

(A) Consideration of rental charges of comparable facilities and market conditions in the area;

(B) The type expected life, condition, and value of the facilities or equipment rented; and

(C) Other provisions of the rental agreements.

(ii) Adequate alternative facilities or equipment that would serve the purpose are not or were not available at lower cost.

(iii) The leasing was based on economic and technical considerations.

(3) * * *

(4) For sale and leaseback agreements entered into on or after [30 days following publication of the final rule], the amount a provider may include in its capital-related costs as rental or lease expense may not exceed the amount that the provider would have included in capital-related costs had the provider retained legal title to the facilities or eguipment. This limitation applies on an annual basis, as well as over the useful life of the asset, so that, in the aggregate, the amount of rental or lease expense included in capital-related costs does not exceed the total amount that the provider would have included in capital-related costs had the provider retained legal title to the facilities or equipment. Capital-related costs include, but are not limited to, interest expense on mortgages, taxes, depreciation, and insurance costs.

(5) For lease purchase transactions entered into before [30 days following publication of a final rule], a lease that meets the following conditions generally establishes a virtual purchase:

(i) The rental charge exceeds rental charges of comparable facilities or equipment in the area.

(ii) The term of the lease is less than the useful life of the facilities or equipment.

(iii) The provider has the option to renew the lease at a significantly reduced rental, or the provider has the right to purchase the facilities or equipment at a price that appears to be significantly less than what the fair market value of the facilities or equipment would be at the time acquisition by the provider is permitted.

(6) * * *

(7) For lease purchase transactions entered into on or after [30 days following publication of a final rule], a lease that meets any one of the following conditions will establish a virtual purchase:

(i) The lease transfers title of the facilities or equipment to the lessee during the lease term.

(ii) The lease contains a bargain purchase option.

(iii) The lease term is 75% or more of the useful life of the facilities or equipment. This provision is not applicable if the lease begins in the last 25% of the useful life of the facilities or equipment.

(iv) The present value of the minimum lease payments (that is, payments to be made during the lease term, including bargain purchase option, guaranteed residual value, or penalties for failure to renew) equals 90% or more of the fair market value of the leased property. This provision is not applicable if the lease begins in the last 25% of the useful life of the facilities or equipment. The present value is computed using the lessee's incremental borrowing rate, unless the lessor's implicit rate is known and is less than the lessee's incremental borrowing rate, in which case, the lessor's implicit rate is to be used.

(8)(i) If a lease is a virtual purchase under paragraph (b)(7) of this section, the rental charge is includable in capital-related costs only to the extent that it does not exceed the amount that the provider would have included in capital related costs if it had legal title to the asset (the cost of ownership), such as straight line depreciation, insurance, and interest. A provider may not include in its capital-related costs accelerated depreciation.

(ii) The difference between the amount of rent paid and the amount of rent allowed as capital related costs is considered a deferred charge and is capitalized as part of the historical cost of the asset when the asset is purchased.

(iii) If an asset is returned to the owner, instead of being purchased, the deferred charge may be included in capital-related costs in the year the asset is returned.

(iv) If the term of the lease is extended for an additional period of time at a reduced lease cost and the option to purchase still exists, the deferred charge may be included in capital-related costs to the extent of increasing the reduced rental to an amount not in excess of the cost of ownership.

(v) If the term of the lease is extended for an additional period of time at a reduced lease cost and the option to purchase no longer exists, the deferred charge may be included in capital related costs to the extent of increasing the reduced rental to a fair rental value.

(vi) If the lessee becomes the owner of the leased asset (either by operation of the lease or by other means), the amount considered as depreciation, for the purpose of having computed the limitation expressed in paragraph (b)(8)(i) of this section, must be used in calculating the limitation on adjustments for the purpose of determining any gain or loss under § 413.134(f) upon disposal of an asset.

3. In § 413.134, the introductory language of paragraph (a) is reprinted unchanged for the convenience of the reader, paragraphs (a)(2), the heading of paragraph (b), and (b)(1) are revised, new paragraphs (b)(8) and (b)(9) are added, paragraphs (f)(1), (f)(4) and (g)(2) are revised, the existing paragraph (g)(3) is redesignated as (g)(4) and revised, a new paragraph (g)(3) is added, current paragraphs (h) through (k) are redesignated, as paragraphs (i) through (l), a new paragraph (h) is added and the newly redesignated paragraph (j) is revised to read as follows:

§ 413.134 Depreciation: Allowance for depreciation based on asset costs.

(a) Principle. An appropriate allowance for depreciation on buildings and equipment used in the provision of patient care is an allowable cost. The depreciation must be—

(1) * * *

(2) Based on the historical cost of the asset, except as specified in paragraph (j) of this section regarding donated assets; and

(b) General rules—(1) Historical costs. Historical cost is the cost incurred by the present owner in acquiring the asset.

(i) All providers. For depreciable assets acquired after July 31, 1970, and for hospitals and SNFs only, before July 18, 1984 the historical cost may not exceed the lower of current reproduction cost adjusted for straight-line depreciation over the life of the asset to the time of the purchase or the fair market value of the asset at the time of its purchase.

(ii) Hospitals and SNFs only.

(A) For assets acquired on or after July 18, 1984 and not subject to an enforceable agreement entered into before that date, historical cost may not exceed the lower of the allowable acquisition cost of the asset to the owner of record as of July 18, 1984 (or, in the case of an asset not in existence as of July 18, 1984, the first owner of record of the asset after that date), or the acquisition cost of the asset to the new owner.

(B) For purposes of applying paragraph (b)(1)(ii)(A) of this section, an asset not in existence as of July 18, 1984 includes any asset that physically existed, but was not owned by a hospital or SNF participating in the Medicare or Medicaid programs as of July 18, 1984.

(C) The acquisition cost to the owner of record is subject to any limitation on historical costs described in paragraphs (b)(1)(i) or (g) (1) and (2) of this section, and is not reduced by any depreciation taken by the owner of record. This limitation on historical cost is also applied to the purchase of land, a capital asset that is neither depreciable nor amortizable under any circumstances. (See §§ 413.153(d) and 413.157(b) for application of the limitation to the cost of land for purposes of determining allowable interest expense and return on equity capital of proprietary providers.)

(D) Acquisition cost to the owner of record includes the costs of betterments or improvements that extend the estimated useful life of an asset at least two years beyond its original estimated useful life, or increases the productivity of an asset significantly over its original productivity.

(E) For assets acquired prior to a hospital's or SNF's entrance into the Medicare program, the acquisition cost to the owner of record is the historical cost of the asset when acquired, rather than when the hospital or SNF entered the program.

(F) For assets subject to the optional depreciation allowance as described in § 413.139, the acquisition cost to the owner of record is the historical cost established for those assets when the hospital or SNF changed to actual depreciation as described in § 413.139(e). If the hospital or SNF did not change to actual depreciation, as described in § 413.139(e), for optional allowance assets, the acquisition cost to the owner of record is established by reference to the hospital's or SNF's recorded historical cost of the asset when acquired. If the hospital or SNF has no historical cost records for optional allowance assets, the acquisition cost to the owner of record is established by appraisal.

(G) The historical cost of an asset acquired on or after July 18, 1984 may not include costs attributable to the negotiation or settlement of the sale or purchase (including mergers and consolidations) of any capital asset for which any payment was previously made under the Medicare program. The costs to be excluded include, but are not limited to, appraisal costs, legal fees, accounting and administrative costs, travel costs, and the costs of feasibility studies.

(iii) Hospital based providers other than SNFs. For changes of ownership that involve assets of hospital-based providers other than SNFs (hospital based providers other than SNFs are not subject to paragraph (b)(1)(ii) of this section), a reasonable allocation of the purchase price must be made, so that the hospital based provider is not affected by the limitations described in paragraph (b)(1)(ii) of this section. The historical cost of assets of providers other than hospitals and SNFs is governed by paragraph (b)(1)(i) of this section.

(8) Donated asset. An asset is considered donated when the provider acquires the asset without making payment in the form of cash, new debt, assumed debt, property or services. Except as provided in paragraph (j)(3) of this section if a provider makes payment in any form to acquire an asset, the payment is considered the purchase price for the purpose of determining allowable historical cost.

(9) Net book value. The net book value of an asset is the depreciable basis used for the Medicare program by the asset's last participating owner less depreciation recognized under the Medicare program.

* * * * *

(f) Gains and losses on disposal of assets—(1) General. Depreciable assets may be disposed of through sale, scrapping, trade-in, exchange, demolition, abandonment, condemnation, fire, theft, or other casualty. If disposal of a depreciable asset results in a gain or loss, an adjustment is necessary in the provider's allowable cost. The amount of a gain included in the determinatiaon of allowable cost is limited to the amount of depreciation previously included in Medicare allowable costs. The amount of a loss to be included is limited to the undepreciated basis of the asset permitted under the program. The treatment of the gain or loss depends upon the manner of dispostion of the asset, as specified in paragraphs (f) (2) through (6) of this section.

The gain or loss on the disposition of depreciable assets has no retroactive effect on a proprietary provider's equity capital for years prior to the year of disposition.

(4) Exchange, trade-in or donation. Gains or losses realized from the exchange, trade-in or donation of depreciable assets are not included in the determination of allowable cost. When the disposition of an asset is by means of exchange, trade-in or donation, the historical cost of the new asset is the sum of the undepreciated cost of the asset disposed of and the additional cash or other assets transferred or to be transferred to acquire the new asset. However, if the asset disposed of was acquired by the provider before its participation in the Medicare program and the sum of the indepreciated cost and the cash or other assets transferred or to be transferred exceed the list price or fair market value of the new asset, the historical cost of the new asset is limited to the lower of its list price or fair market value.

* * * * *

(g) Establishment of cost basis on purchase of facility as an ongoing operation.

(2) Assets acquired after July 31, 1970 and, for hospitals and SNFs only, before July 18, 1984. For depreciable assets acquired after July 31, 1970 and, for hospitals and SNFs only, before July 18, 1984, in addition to the limitations specified in paragraph (g)(1) of this section, the cost basis of the depreciable assets may not exceed the current reproduction cost depreciated on a straight-line basis over the life of the asset to the time of the sale.

(3) Assets acquired by hospitals and SNFs on or after July 18, 1984 and not subject to an enforceable agreement entered into before that date. Subject to paragraphs (b)(1)(ii) (B) through (G) and (iii) of this section, historical cost may not exceed the lower of the allowable acquisition cost of the asset to the owner of record as of July 18, 1984 (or, in the case of an asset not in existence as of July 18, 1984, the first owner of record of the asset after that date), or the acquisition cost to the new owner.

(4) Transactions other than bona fide. If the purchaser cannot demonstrate that the sale was bona fide, in addition to the limitations specified in paragraphs (g) (1), (2), and (3) of this section, the purchaser's cost basis may not exceed the seller's cost basis, less accumulated depreciation.

(h) Sale and leaseback agreements and other lease transactions. (1) For sale and leaseback agreements for all providers, and for sale and leaseback agreements for hospitals and SNFs entered into before [30 days following publication of a final rule], a provider may include in its allowable costs incurred rental charges, as specified in a sale and leaseback agreement with a nonrelated purchaser involving plant facilities or eguipment, only if—

(i) The rental charges are reasonable based on consideration of rental charges of comparable facilities and market conditions in the area; the type, expected life, condition, and value of the facilities or equipment rented; and other provisions of the rental agreement;

(ii) Adequate alternate facilities or equipment that would serve the purpose are not available at lower cost; and

(iii) The leasing was based on economic and technical considerations.

(2) If the conditions of paragraph (h)(1) of this section are not met, the amount a provider may include in its allowable costs as rental or lease expense under a sale and leaseback agreement may not exceed the amount that the provider would have included in its allowable costs had the provider retained legal title to the facilities or equipment. These amounts may consist of interest expense on mortgages, taxes, depreciation, and insurance costs.

(3) For hospitals and SNFs entering into sale and leaseback agreements on or after [30 days following publication of a final rule], the amount a provider may include in its allowable costs as rental or lease expense may not exceed the amount that the provider would have included in its allowable costs had the provider retained legal title to the facilities or equipment. This limitation applies on an annual basis, as well as over the useful life of the asset, so that, in the aggregate, the amount of rental or lease expense included in allowable costs may not exceed the total amount that the provider would have included in allowable costs had the provider retained legal title to the facilities or equipment. These amounts may consist of interest expense on mortgages, taxes, depreciation, and insurance costs.

(4) For lease transactions of all providers entered into before [30 days following publication of the final rule], a lease that meets the following conditions will establish a virtual purchase:

(i) The rental charge exceeds rental charges of comparable facilities or equipment in the area.

(ii) The term of the lease is less than the useful life of the facilities or equipment.

(iii) The provider has the option to renew the lease at a significantly reduced rental, or the provider has the right to purchase the facilities or equipment at a price that appears to be significantly less than what the fair market value of the facilities or equipment would be at the time acquisition by the provider is permitted.

(5)(i) If a lease is a virtual purchase under paragraph (h)(4) of this section, the rental charge is includable in allowable costs only to the extent that it does not exceed the amount that the provider would have included in allowable costs if it had legal title to the asset (the cost of ownership), such as straight line depreciation, insurance, and interest. For purposes of computing the limitation on allowable rental cost expressed in this paragraph, a provider may not include accelerated depreciation.

(ii) The difference between the amount of rent paid and the amount of rent allowed as rental expense is considered a deferred charge and must be capitalized as part of the historical cost of the asset when the asset is purchased.

(iii) If an asset is returned to the owner, instead of being purchased, the deferred charge may be expense in the year the asset is returned.

(iv) If the term of the lease is extended for an additional period of time at a reduced lease cost and the option to purchase still exists, the deferred charge may be expense to the extent of increasing the reduced rental to an amount not in excess of the cost of ownership.

(v) If the term of the lease is extended for an additional period of time at a reduced lease cost and the option to purchase no longer exists, the deferred charge may be expense to the extent of increasing the reduced rental to a fair rental value.

(6) For hospitals and SNFs entering into lease transactions on or after [30 days following publication of the final rule], a lease that meets any one of the following conditions will establish a virtual purchase:

(i) The lease transfers title of the facilities or equipment to the lessee during the lease term.

(ii) The lease contains a bargain purchase option.

(iii) The lease term is 75% or more of the useful life of the facilities or equipment. This provision is not applicable if the lease begins in the last 25% of the useful life of the facilities or equipment.

(iv) The present value of the minimum lease payments (that is, payments to be made during the lease term, including bargain purchase option, guaranteed residual value, or penalties for failure to renew) equals 90% or more of the fair market value of the leased property. This provision is not applicable if the lease begins in the last 25% of the useful life of the facilities or equipment. The present value is computed using the lessee's incremental borrowing rate, unless the lessor's implicit rate is known and is less than the lessee's incremental borrowing rate, in which case, the lessor's implicit rate is to be used.

(7)(i) If a lease is a virtual purchase under paragraph (h)(6) of this section, the rental charge is includable in allowable costs only to the extent that it does not exceed the amount that the provider would have included in allowable costs if it had legal title to the asset (the cost of ownership), such as straight line depreciation, insurance, and interest. For purposes of computing the limitation on allowable rental cost as described in this paragraph, a provider may not include accelerated depreciation in its allowable costs.

(ii) The difference between the amount of rent paid and the amount of rent allowed as rental expense is considered a deferred charge and is capitalized as part of the historical cost of the asset when the asset is purchased.

(iii) If an asset is returned to the owner, instead of being purchased, the deferred charge may be expensed in the year the asset is returned.

(iv) If the term of the lease is extended for an additional period of time at a reduced lease cost and the option to purchase still exists, the deferred charge may be expensed to the extent of increasing the reduced rental to an amount not in excess of the cost of ownership.

(v) If the term of the lease is extended for an additional period of time at a reduced lease cost and the option to purchase no longer exists, the deferred charge may be expensed to the extent of increasing the reduced rental to a fair rental value.

(vi) If the lessee becomes the owner of the leased asset (either by operation of the lease or by other means), the amount considered as depreciation, for the purpose of having computed the limitation expressed in paragraph (h)(7)(i) of this section, must be used in calculating the limitation on adjustments to depreciation for the purpose of determining any gain or loss under paragraph (f) of this section upon disposal of an asset.

(j) Basis of assets donated to a provider— (1) Assets not previously used or depreciated under the Medicare program. If an asset has never been used or depreciated under the Medicare program and is donated to a provider, the basis for the purpose of calculating depreciation and equity capital (if applicable) is the fair market value of the asset at the time of donation.

(2) Assets previously used or depreciated under the Medicare program. If an asset has been used or depreciated under the Medicare program and is donated to a provider, the basis for the purpose of calculating depreciation and equity capital (if applicable) is the lesser of—

(i) The fair market value at the time of donation; or

(ii) The net book value in the hands of the owner last participating in the Medicare program.

(3) Transfers of State hospitals to nonprofit corporations without monetary consideration. If a State transfers a hospital to a nonprofit corporation without monetary consideration on or after July 18, 1984, the depreciable basis of the assets to the new owner is the net book value of the assets as recorded on the State's books at the time of the transfer. For purposes of this section, monetary consideration includes cash, new debt and assumed debt.

B. Part 447, Subpart C is amended as set forth below:

PART 447—PAYMENTS FOR SERVICES

Subpart C—Payment for Inpatient Hospital and Long-Term Care Facility Services

1. The authority citation for Part 447 continues to read as follows:

Authority: Sec. 1102 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1302), unless otherwise noted.

2. Section 447.250 is amended by redesignating paragraphs (c) and (d) as paragraphs (d) and (e) and by adding a new paragraph (c), to read as follows:

§ 447.250 Basis and purpose.

(c) Sections 447.253 (c) and (d) implement Sections 1902(a)(13)(B) and 1902(a)(13)(C) of the Act, which require a State Medicaid agency to make certain assurances to the Secretary regarding increases in payments resulting solely from changes in ownerships of hospitals, SNFs, ICFs and ICFs for the mentally retarded (ICFs/MR).

3. In § 447.253, paragraph (a) is amended by revising the citation "paragraphs (b) through (g)" to read "paragraphs (b) through (i)," redesignating paragraphs (c) through (g) as paragraphs (e) through (i), and by adding new paragraphs (c) and (d), to read as follows:

§ 447.253 Other requirements.

(c) Changes in ownership of hospitals. In determining reimbursement when there has been a sale or transfer of the assets of a hospital, the State's methods and standards must provide that payment rates can reasonably be expected not to increase, in the aggregate, solely as a result of changes of ownership, more than the payments would increase under Medicare under §§ 413.130, 413.134, 413.153, and 413.157 of this chapter, insofar as these sections affect payments for depreciation, interest on capital indebtedness, return on equity capital (if applicable), acquisition costs for which payments were previously made to prior owners, and the recapture of depreciation.

(d) Changes in ownership of SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR. In determining reimbursement when there has been a sale or transfer of assets of a SNF, ICF, or ICF/MR, the State's methods and standards must provide the following depending upon the date of the transfer.

(1) For transfers on or after July 18, 1984 but prior to October 1, 1985 the State's methods and standards must provide that payment rates, solely as the result of a change in ownership, can reasonably be expected not to increase, in the aggregate, more than the payments would increase under Medicare under §§ 413.130, 413.134, 413.153 and 413.157 of this chapter, insofar as these sections affect payment for depreciation, interest on capital indebtedness, return on equity capital (if applicable), acquisition costs for which payments were previously made to prior owners, and the recapture of depreciation.

(2) For transfers on or after October 1, 1985 the State's methods and standards must provide that the valuation of capital assets for purposes of determining payment rates for SNFs, ICFs and ICFs/MR will not be increased (as measured from the date of acquisition by the seller to the date of the change of ownership), solely as a result of a change of ownership, by more than the lesser of—

(i) One-half of the percentage increase (as measured from the date of acquisition by the seller to the date of the change of ownership, or, if necessary, as extrapolated retrospectively by the Secretary) in the Dodge construction index applied in the aggregate with respect to those facilities that have undergone a change of ownership during the fiscal year; or

(ii) One-half of the percentage increase (as measured from the date of acquisition by the seller to the date of the change of ownership) in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) (United States city average) applied in the aggregate with respect to those facilities that have undergone a change of ownership during the fiscal year.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[Ex Parte No. MC-111 (Sub. No. 1)]

AGENCY: Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Commission proposes to revise its regulations at 49 CFR Part 1181 governing applications under 49 U.S.C. 10321 and 10926 to transfer operating rights of motor common and contract carriers, water common and contract carriers, holders of Certificates of Registration, household goods freight forwarders, and brokers of property. Transfers of motor property authority under 49 U.S.C. 10926, now governed by regulations at 49 CFR Part 1186, are included in this proposal. Conforming changes in Part 1186 are proposed. However, procedures for water carrier transactions governed by 49 U.S.C. 11343 that are now codified at 49 CFR 1181.11 will be revised in a separate rulemaking proceeding. We also propose to eliminate our oversight of changes in control of property brokers and pertinent regulations at 49 CFR 1181.32, and to revise the procedures for changing the name of a carrier under 49 CFR Part 1181, Subpart E. Finally, the Commission proposes explicitly to consider safety fitness as a substantive issue in transfer proceedings. Under section 10926 and in motor property transactions subject to 49 U.S.C. 11343 involving the purchase of authority that will continue to be governed by the regulations at 49 CFR Part 1186.

Consolidation of the transfer procedures into a single set of rules will expedite the administrative process for the small carriers generally affected. The recommended revisions, particularly elimination of the provision at 49 CFR 1181.3(b) involving duplicative or improperly divided authority, will ensure that the Commission's regulations remain fully responsive to recent developments, including the Bus Regulatory Reform Act of 1982. These changes are reflected in this proposal. Corresponding revisions to application Form OP-FC-1 used to effect such transfers also are proposed (see appendix), and are reflected in the proposed revisions to the List of Forms at 49 CFR Part 1003.

DATE: Comments are due on December 10, 1987.

ADDRESS: Send comments [an original and 10 copies], referring to Ex Parte No. MC-111 (Sub-No. 1), to Case Control Branch, Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, DC 20423.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Andrew L. Lyon, (202) 275-7291 or Warren C. Wood, (202) 275-7977 (TDD for hearing impaired: (202) 275-1721).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Commission's decision contains additional informnation. To obtain a copy of the decision, write to Office of the Secretary, Room 2215, Interstate Commerce Commission, 12th Street and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, DC 20423, or call (202) 275-7428 (assistance for the hearing impaired is available through TDD services (202) 275-1721) or by pickup from Dynamic Concepts, Inc., in Room 2229 at Commission headquarters.

The proposed rules do not appear to affect significantly the quality of the human environment or the conservation of energy resources. However, we specifically invite the comments of interested parties on these issues.

In accordacne with the purpose and intent of the 49 U.S.C. 10926 transfer provisions, to exempt small carriers from the more stringent procedural requirements and decisional standards of 49 U.S.C. 11343, we have proposed a comprehensive revision and simplification of the "small carrier" transfer regulations at 49 CFR Part 1181 and conforming changes to 49 CFR Part 1186. We preliminarily certify that the regulatory revisions proposed here will have significant positive economic impact on a substantial number of small motor carriers, water carriers, property brokers, and household goods freight forwarders and, indirectly, upon the public they serve, by reducing regulatory burdens.

The new procedural format will expedite small carrier transfer proceedings and, in turn, will hasten availability of improved competitive service to shippers. Elimination of regulatory provisions, which in the past delayed or precluded authorization of transfers of authority, will enhance restructuring among motor carriers by lowering regulatory barriers to entry and exit from the industry and will accord such entities greater latitude to pursue operating efficiencies in response to the demands of the transportation marketplace. Corresponding benefits are expected to inure to water carrier, property broker, and household goods freight forwarder transfer applicants.

The rules proposed will not impose additional reporting, recordkeeping, or compliance requirements on small entities. Conversely, the informational requirements for all involved entities are proposed to be appreciabley reduced. Moreover, the revised rules will not duplicate, overlap, or conflict with any existing Federal rule.

§ 1181.0 Scope of rules.

These rules define the procedures that enable motor passenger and property carriers, water carriers, property brokers, and household goods freight forwarders to obtain approval from the Interstate Commerce Commission to merge, transfer, or lease their operating rights in financial transactions not subject to 49 U.S.C. 11343. Transactions covered by these rules are governed by 49 U.S.C. 10321 and 10926. The filing fee is set forth at 49 CFR 1002.2(f)(25).

§ 1181.1 Definitions.

For the purposes of this part, the following definitions apply:

(a) Transfer. Transfers include all transactions (i.e., the sale or lease of interstate operating rights,[1] or the merger of two or more carriers or a carrier into a noncarrier) subject to 49 U.S.C. 10926, as well as the sale of property brokers' licenses under 49 U.S.C. 10321.

(b) Operating rights. Operating rights include:

(1) Certificates and permits issued to motor and water carriers;

(2) Permits issued to household goods freight forwarders;

(3) Licenses issued to property brokers; and

(4) Certificates of Registration issued to motor carriers.

The term also includes authority held by virtue of the gateway elimination regulations published in the Federal Register as letter-notices.

(c) Certificate of registration. The evidence of a motor carrier's right to engage in interstate or foreign commerce within a single State as established by a corresponding State certificate.

(d) Person. An individual, partnership, corporation, company, association, or other form of business, or a trustee, receiver, assignee, or personal representative of any of these.

[1] The execution of a chattel mortgage, deed of trust, or other similar document does not constitute a transfer or require the Commission's approval. However, a foreclosure for the purpose of transferring an operating right to satisfy a judgment or claim against the record holder may not be effected without approval of the Commission.

(e) Record holder. The person shown on the records of the Commission as the legal owner of the operating rights.

(f) Control. A relationship between persons that includes actual control, legal control, and the power to exercise control, through or by common directors, officers, stockholders, a voting trust, a holding or investment company, or any other means.

(g) Category 1 transfers. Transactions in which the person to whom the operating rights would be transferred is not an ICC carrier and is not affiliated with any ICC carrier.

(h) Category 2 transfers. Transactions in which the person to whom the operating rights would be transferred is an ICC carrier and/or is affiliated with an ICC carrier.

§ 1181.2 Applications.

(a) Procedural requirements. (1) At least 10 days before consummation, an original and two copies of a properly completed Form OP–FC–1 and any attachments [see paragraph (b)(1)(viii) of this section must be filed with the Office of the Secretary, Applications and Fees Unit, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, DC 20423. The original must show that an additional copy has been furnished to the Commission's Regional Director for the Region(s) in which the applicants' headquarters are located. The nonrefundable filing fee prescribed by 49 CFR 1002.2(f)(25) must accompany the application.

(2) At any time after the expiration of the 10-day waiting period, applicants may consummate the transaction, subject to the subsequent approval of the application by the Commission, as described below. The transferee may commence operations under the rights acquired from the transferor upon its compliance with the Commission's regulations governing insurance, tariffs (if applicable), and process agents. See 49 CFR Parts 1043, 1312 and 1044, respectively. In addition, contract carriers must comply with the Commission's regulations concerning contracts at 49 CFR Part 1053. In the alternative, applicants may wait until the Commission has issued a decision on their application before transferring the operating rights. If the transferee wants the transferor's operating authority to be reissued in its name, it should furnish the Commission with a statement executed by both transferor and transferee indicating that the transaction has been consummated. Authority will not be reissued until after the Commission has approved the transaction.

(b) Information required. (1) In category 1 and category 2 transfers, applicants must furnish the following information:

(i) Full name, address, and signatures of the transferee and transferor.

(ii) A copy of that portion of the transferor's operating authority involved in the transfer proceeding.

(iii) A short summary of the essential terms of the transaction.

(iv) If relevant, the status of proceedings for the transfer of State certificate(s) corresponding to the Certificates of Registration being transferred.

(v) A statement as to whether the transfer will or will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment.

(vi) Certification by transferor and transferee of their current respective safety ratings by the United States Department of Transportation (i.e., Satisfactory, conditional, unsatisfactory or unrated).

(viii) Certification by the transferee that it has sufficient insurance coverage under 49 U.S.C. 10927 for the service it intends to provide.

(viii) Information to demonstrate that the proposed transaction is consistent with the national transportation policy and satisfies the criteria for approval set forth at § 1181.4 of this part. (Such information may be appended to the application form and, if provided, would be embraced by the oath and verfication contained on that form).

(2) Category 2 applicants must also submit the following additional information:

(i) Name(s) of the carrier(s), if any, with which the transferee is affiliated.

(ii) Aggregate revenues of the transferor, transferee and their carrier affiliates from interstate transportation sources for a 1 year period ending not earlier than six months before the date of the agreement of the parties concerning the transaction. If revenues exceed $2 million, the transfer may be subject to 49 U.S.C. 11343 rather than these rules.

§ 1181.3 Notice.

The Commission will give notice of approved transfer applications through publication in the ICC Register.

§ 1181.4 Commission action and criteria for approval.

A transfer will be approved under this section if:

(a) The transaction is not subject to 49 U.S.C. 11343;

(b) The transaction is consistent with the public interest; and

(c) If the transferor or transferee has less than a satisfactory safety rating, the transfer may be conditioned or may be disapproved.

If an application is denied, the Commission will serve a decision on the parties setting forth the basis for its action. Transactions that have been consummated but are later denied by the Commission are null and void and must be rescinded.

§ 1181.5 Responsive pleadings.

(a) Protests must be filed within 20 days after the date of publication of an approved transfer application in the ICC Register. Protests received prior to the notice will be rejected. Applicants may respond within 20 days after the due date of protests. Petitions for reconsideration of decisions denying applications must be filed within 20 days after the date of service of such decisions.

(b) Protests and petitions for reconsideration must be filed with the Office of the Secretary, Case Control Branch, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, DC 20423 and be served on appropriate parties.

§ 1181.6 Procedures for changing the name or business form of a motor or water carrier, household goods freight forwarder, or property broker.

(a) Scope. These procedures (and not the transfer rules at 49 CFR Parts 1181, 1182, 1183 and 1186) apply in the following circumstances:

(1) A change in the form of a business, such as the incorporation of a partnership or sole proprietorship;

(2) A change in the legal name of a partnership or change in the trade name or assumed name of any entity;

(3) A transfer of operating rights from a deceased or incapacitated spouse to the other spouse;

(4) A reincorporation and merger for the purpose of effecting a name change;

(5) An amalgamation or consolidation of a carrier and noncarrier into a new carrier having a different name from either of the predecessor entities; and

(6) A change in the State of incorporation accomplished by dissolving the corporation in one State and reincorporating in another State.

(b) Procedures. To accomplish these changes, a letter must be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Applications and Fees Unit, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, DC 20423. The envelope should be marked "NAME CHANGE". The applicant must provide:

(1) The docket number(s) and name of the carrier requesting the change;

(2) A copy of the articles of incorporation and the State certificate reflecting the incorporation;

(3) The name(s) of the owner(s) of the stock and the distribution of the shares;

(4) The names of the officers and directors of the corporation; and

(5) A statement that there is no change in the ownership, management, or control of the business.

When this procedure is being used to transfer operating rights from a deceased on incapacitated spouse to the other spouse, documentation that the other spouse has the legal right to effect such change must be included with the request. The fee for filing a name change request is in 49 CFR 1002.2(f)(11).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

On July 22, 1987, the President approved the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act (Pub. L. 100-77) ("McKinney Act"). Title IV of the McKinney Act contains a number of assistance programs to be administered by HUD. Subtitle C authorizes the Supportive Housing Demonstration program ("SHD program"). Under this program, HUD is directed to carry out a program to develop innovative approaches to providing housing and supportive services to the homeless. The purposes of the program are to determine:

—The cost of acquisition, rehabilitation, acquisition and rehabilitation, or leasing of existing structures for the provision of supportive housing;

—The cost of operating such housing and providing supportive services to the residents of the housing;

—The social, financial and other advantages of such housing as a means of assisting homeless individuals; and

—The lessons that the provision of supportive housing might have for the design and implementation of housing programs that serve homeless individuals and families with special needs.

The SHD program has two components—a reauthorization (with amendments) of the Transitional Housing Demonstration program originally authorized in Part B of the Homeless Housing Act of 1986,[1] and a new program of permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons.

II. Procedural Matters

Section 426(a) of the McKinney Act contains the following requirements regarding implementation of the SHD program:

> Not later than 90 days following the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall by notice establish such requirements as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this subtitle. Until final regulations are issued under this subtitle, the regulations established by the Secretary implementing the provisions made effective by section 101(g) of Public Law 99-500 or Public Law 99-591 shall govern the transitional housing provisions of this subtitle.

Consistent with this provision, this document serves three purposes. First, it proposes regulations to govern the SHD program both transitional and permanent housing components—and seeks public comment on the proposed provisions. This implements the two-step "notice" and "final regulations" language in section 426(a).

It should be noted that on September 3, 1987 (52 FR 33536), HUD published a notice announcing that the Guidelines issued for the original Transitional Housing Demonstration program (THDP) (52 FR 21743, June 9, 1987) and certain McKinney Act provisions, would govern the use of $65 million of the $80 million appropriated for the SHD program by the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1987. That notice carried out section 426(a)'s directive that until final rules take effect, the transitional housing component is to be governed by the original program's requirements.

Second, today's document establishes requirements that govern the permanent housing component of the SHD program for funds appropriated by the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1987. Section 426(a) provides that HUD is to publish a notice establishing requirements for the SHD program. Although the statute specifies the requirements that will govern the transitional housing element of the program pending issuance of final SHD program regulations, it is silent on the permanent housing component. The Department interpreted substantially similar language in section 525(a) of the Emergency Shelter Grants Program in the Homeless Housing Act of 1986 as authorizing a proposed rule that served two functions: establishing guidelines that would govern the program until issuance of a final rule, and soliciting public comment to assist in the development of a final rule (See 51 FR 45278, December 17, 1986.)

The Department will use the same approach for the permanent housing program—i.e. today's proposed rule will: (1) Establish requirements for the program to permit its immediate implementation with amounts provided in the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1987; and (2) solicit public comment that will form the basis for a final rulemaking. The Department believes that this approach is responsive not only to section 426(a), but also to the Congressional concern—expressed in both the McKinney Act and the supplemental appropriation—that SHD program funds be committed as quickly as possible to assist their intended beneficiaries.

Finally, today's document announces the availability of $15 million in funds for permanent housing appropriated by the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1987, and solicits the submission of applicants for the progam. Requirements governing the submission of applications are discussed at section IV, below.

[1] Section 101(g), Pub. L. 99-500 (approved October 18, 1986) and Pub. L. 99-591 (approved October 30, 1986) making appropriations as provided for in Title V of H.R. 5313, 99th Cong., 2d Sess. (1986) (as passed by the House of Representatives and by the Senate), to the extent and in the manner provided for in H. Rep. No. 977, 99th Cong., 2d Sess. (1986).

III. Program Description

A. Overview

As noted above, supportive housing under Subtitle C of Title IV of the McKinney Act includes both transitional housing and permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons. Each of these two components of the SHD program would be implemented by the addition of a new part. The major features of each of these programs are discussed below.

1. Transitional Housing. Part 840 of the proposed rule would govern the transitional housing component of the program.

(a) Projects assisted. The proposed rule at § 840.5 defines transitional housing as an assisted project that provides housing and supportive services to homeless persons and that has as its purpose facilitating the movement of homeless individuals to independent living within a reasonable amount of time, as determined by the Secretary. Consistent with the THDP Guidelines, HUD has set 18 months as the maximum stay limitation in transitional housing.

All or part of the supportive services provided in connection with the housing may be provided directly by the recipient or by arrangement with public or private service providers. The supportive services that may be provided to residents of transitional housing projects are defined at § 840.5. Under this section, supportive services would include those services that are proposed by an applicant in its application and approved by HUD, that address the special needs of the homeless persons to be served by the project, and that assist in accomplishing the goals of the transitional housing program. The definition lists various services that may be supportive services. The cited services are derived from the list of supportive services originally contained in the THDP guidelines.

(b) Applicants and recipients. In accordance with section 422(1) of the McKinney Act, the proposed rule would limit eligible applicants under the transitional housing program to States, metropolitan cities, urban counties, tribes, and private nonprofit organizations. Eligible applicants would also include two or more of these entities that submit a joint application.

The universe of eligible governmental applicants is more restrictive under the McKinney Act than under the THDP guidelines. Applicants under the THDP guidelines included all governmental entities, including those that have general governmental powers (such as cities, counties, or States), as well as those that have limtied or special powers (such as public housing agencies). HUD is concerned that the proposed definition may exclude many units of local government that have a long-term commitment to serving the needs of the homeless. While the statutory definition prohibits direct assistance to such governmental entities, HUD is considering the addition of express regulatory language permitting eligible governmental recipients to contract with other governmental entities to operate transitional housing assisted under the program. HUD may also extend this contracting to other types of entities. Public comment is expressly requested on this proposal.

Under sections 422(4) and (14) of the McKinney Act, the terms "metropolitan city" and "urban county" are given the same meaning as contained in section 102 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The definitions of these two terms in the proposed rule reflect this requirement. Additionally, the definitions provide guidance that urban counties and metropolitan cities are generally those counties and cities that are eligible for an entitlement grant under 24 CFR Part 570, Subpart D.

The definition of "private nonprofit organization" contained in section 422(6) of the McKinney Act also differs from the definition contained in the THDP guidelines. The McKinney Act: (1) Eliminated the requirement that the organization must be a secular or religious organization described in section 501 of the Internal revenue Code and must be exempt from taxation under subtitle A of the Code; (2) added a requirement that no part of the net earnings of the organization may inure to the benefit of any member, founder, contributor or individual; and (3) modified requirements governing the organization's accounting system. The proposed definition of private nonprofit organization reflects these changes.

In accordance with the McKinney Act, "recipient" is defined to include any applicant that HUD approves as to financial responsibility and that executes a grant agreement with HUD to provide transitional housing. (For purposes of the program, HUD has made a determination that all States, metropolitan cities, urban counties, and tribes requesting assistance are financially responsible. See proposed § 840.210(b)(2)(ii)(A).) All recipients under the proposed rule would be required to operate transitional housing and to provide or coordinate the provision of supportive services to the residents of the housing.

(c) Eligible participants. Transitional housing under the proposed rule must serve homeless persons. Section 103 of the McKinney Act defines homeless to include: (1) An individual who lacks a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence; and (2) an individual who has a primary nighttime residence that is (A) a supervised publicly or privately operated shelter designed to provide temporary living accommodations; (B) an institution that provides a temporary residence for individuals intended to be institutionalized; or (C) a public or private place not designed for, or ordinarily use as, a regular sleeping accommodation for human beings. Homeless does not include any individual imprisoned or otherwise detained under an Act of Congress or a State law.

The McKinney Act definition is broader than the definition of homeless persons under THDP guidelines, which limited participation to homeless persons who are capable, within a reasonable period of time, of living independently. The McKinney Act definition of homeless has been incorporated in the proposed rule at § 840.5 with clarifying language indicating that the term includes homeless families.

The McKinney Act emphasizes that various homeless populations are to be served by transitional housing. For example, section 422(12)(A) specifically defines "transitional housing" as housing that is primarily designed to serve deinstitutionalized homeless individuals and other homeless individuals with mental disabilities, and homeless families with children; and section 428(b)(1) provides a funding set aside for transitional housing projects that serve homeless families with children. Such targeting of specific homeless populations is not incorporated in the THDP guidelines.

In order to implement these statutory provisions, § 840.5 of the proposed rule would include the following definitions for transitional housing:

Handicapped or handicapped person. Section 422(2) of the McKinney Act provides that the term handicapped means an individual that is handicapped within the meaning of section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959. The definition in the proposed rule is similar to the definition of handicapped person that will be contained in FR-1761—Loans for Housing for the Elderly or Handicapped—Housing Assistance Payments Contract and Project Management, a proposed rule revising 24 CFR Part 885 that will be published shortly. Proposed Part 840 contains two modifications. First, this proposed rule clarifies that a handicapped person who also suffers from alcoholism or drug addiction is included within the definition of handicapped person. Second, unlike the Part 885 definition, the proposed rule does not limit the definition of handicapped persons to adults.

Homeless individual with mental disabilities. This term would be defined as a homeless individual who is a handicapped person and whose handicap is wholly or partially attributable to a mental or emotional impairment. This term would also include a homeless family, if the head of the family (or the spouse of the head of the family) is a homeless individual with mental disabilities.

Deinstitutionalized homeless individual. This term would be defined as a homeless individual with mental disabilities who has been discharged or released from a mental institution or hospital, a halfway house, transitional housing or a similar facilities providing housing and supportive services to its residents. This term would also include a homeless family, if the head of the family (or the spouse of the head of the family) is a deinstitutionalized homeless person.

Homeless family with children. This term means a homeless family that includes at least one parent and one child under the age of 18.

To recognize the priorities and set asides in the McKinney Act, and to provide regulatory flexibility for future changes to these priorities and set asides, § 840.207(b) would provide that HUD may establish separate funding competitions for specified categories of transitional housing projects, and would announce the funding categories and the amounts set aside for each category in the notice of fund availability under § 840.200.

2. Permanent housing. Part 841 would govern permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons.

(a) Projects assisted. The proposed rule at § 841.5 defines "permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons" as a project that provides community-based, long-term housing and supportive services for not more than eight handicapped homeless persons, and that is carried out by a project sponsor (see discussion of project sponsor below). The project must be either a group home designed solely for housing handicapped homeless persons, or dwelling units in a rental apartment building, a condominium project or a cooperative project. Like transitional housing, all or part of the supportive services may be provided directly by the recipient (or the project sponsor) or by arrangement with public or private service providers. The definition of supportive services would be similar for the permanent housing and transitional housing programs.

(b) Applicants, recipients and project sponsors. Under section 422(1) of the McKinney Act, the applicant for permanent housing must be the State in which the project is to be located. In accordance with section 422(9), the proposed rule would provide that recipient means an applicant that HUD approves as to financial responsibility and that executes the grant agreement with HUD. Like the transitional housing program, HUD has determined that the State-applicants are financially responsible (see § 841.210(b)(2)(ii)(A)).

Recipient responsibilities under the permanent housing component would be limited to the provision of funding assistance to a project sponsor for the operation of the permanent housing and the facilitation of the provision of supportive services to the residents of the housing. The project sponsor must operate the permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons, and provide (or coordinate the provision of) supportive services to the residents of the housing. Section 422(8) of the McKinney Act defines "project sponsor" as a private nonprofit organization that the Governor or other chief executive official of the State approves as to financial responsibility. The proposed rule incorporates this requirement in the definition of project sponsor. "Private nonprofit organization" would have the same definition as proposed for transitional housing.

(c) Program participants. While transitional housing projects may serve any individual or family meeting the definition of homeless individual, permanent housing is limited to projects that serve handicapped homeless persons. In accordance with section 422(3) of the McKinney Act, § 841.5 of the proposed rule would provide that handicapped homeless person means a handicapped person who: (a) Is a homeless individual; (b) who is currently not a homeless individual but who is at risk of becoming a homeless individual; or (c) has been a resident of a transitional housing project assisted under the THDP Guidelines. (While the proposed regulation would not expressly provide that a handicapped person who has been a resident of transitional housing assisted under the SHD program is a "handicapped homeless person," these individuals would be considered to be "at risk" of becoming homeless and, thus, would qualify for admission to permanent housing.)

The definitions of handicapped person and homeless are the same for the transitional and permanent housing programs.

B. Assistance Provided Under the Programs

Assistance available under the transitional housing and permanent housing programs would include: (1) Advances to cover the cost of acquisition, substantial rehabilitation, or acquisition and rehabilitation of existing structures, (2) grants for moderate rehabilitation, (3) funding for operating costs (available for transitional housing only), and (4) technical assistance. HUD would not provide both an acquisition/rehabilitation advance and a moderate rehabilitation grant to a project, and would provide technical assistance only in connection with other types of assistance. The types of assistance are discussed below.

1. Acquisition/rehabilitation advances. Acquisition/rehabilitation advances would be available for both transitional housing and permanent housing. Advances would be limited to the lesser of $200,000 or 50 percent of the cost of acquisition, substantial rehabilitation, or acquisition and rehabilitation. These limitations on the size of the advance are the same as those prescribed in the THDP guidelines. The provisions governing advances are contained in the proposed rules at §§ 840.105 and 841.105.

2. Moderate rehabilitation grants. The SHD program would offer one type of assistance not available under the THDP guidelines: A grant for moderate rehabilitation. This assistance would be available for both transitional housing and permanent housing.

The Conference Report accompanying the McKinney Act stated "the conferees believe that moderate rehabilitation should be limited to modest rehabilitation activity the cost of which the Secretary determines is too low to necessitate an advance." (H. Rep. No. 174, 100th Cong., 1st Sess. 73 (1987)). The proposed rule would limit moderate rehabilitation grants to the lowest of: (1) $100,000; (2) an overall project limit based on the number of units of each type and unit costs applicable to each unit type; and (3) 50 percent of the aggregate cost of the rehabilitation. The proposed moderate rehabilitation grant provisions are contained at §§ 840.110 and 841.110 of the proposed rule.

(Section 841.110 does not include the $100,000 limitation for moderate rehabilitation grants because the overall project limit based on the unit cost and the maximum number of units that may be provided in permanent housing would never exceed this limit.)

3. Funding for annual operating costs. The third type of assistance is funding for annual operating costs. In accordance with the statute, this type of assistance is only available for transitional housing projects (see section 423(a)(4) of the McKinney Act). The propsed provisions governing the provision of operating cost assistance are similar to the THDP guidlines and are contained at §§ 840.115.

Like the THDP guidelines, the propsed rules provide the HUD will provide operating cost assistance for a maximum of five years of operating costs. While recipients of transitional housing assistance under the SHD program are required to provide housing and supportive services for a minimum of 10 years, rather than five years as required under the THDP guidelines, HUD continues to believe that the five-year limitation on operating cost funding is appropriate. The obligation of funds for a period in excess of five years would inapproprately constrict the number of projects funded and, thus, the number of homeless persons that may be served. Because the SHD program is a demonstration program, a limited number of funded projects could also result in a demonstration of an inadequate size to yield meaningful results to determine the utility of the program. The five-year term, on the other hand, would ensure a larger number of funded entities. In addition, individual recipients would be assured of a steady stream of income to meet their responsibilities under the program during the initial stages of operation—the time when, without a proven track record, attracting new funding would generally be most difficult. The Department believes that five years' operating subsidy should provide adequate time for recipients to develop a record of success and the private-sector financial contacts necessary for the continued operation of assisted programs.

4. Technical assistance. Technical assistance would be offered through HUD field offices. Proposed regulations, based on the technical assistance provisions contained in the THDP guidelines, are contained at §§ 840.120 and 841.115

5. Limitations on the use of assistance. Sections 840.125 (transitional housing) and 841.120 (permanent housing) would incorporate limitations on the use of assistance. These include: (1) Limitations on funding of existing housing facilities and programs; (2) maintenance of effort provisions; (3) provisions governing leased property and newly constructed properties; (4) limitations applicable to primarily religious organizations; (5) provisions governing the use of structures for multiple purposes; and (6) limitations on administrative costs. Except as noted below, the limitations on the use of assistance reflect similar limitations contained in the THDP Guidelines.

(a) Maintenance of effort. Sections 840.125(b) and 841.120(b) implement section 426(b) of the McKinney Act. The regulations would provide that no assistance received under the program (or State or local government funds used to supplement this assistance) may be used to replace funds provided in the area to be served by the applicant under any State or local government assistance program, if the funds provided under that assistance program:

—Were used to assist handicapped persons, homeless individuals, or handciapped homeless persons during the calendar year preceding the date of the application; or —Were designated for such use through an official action of the applicable governmental entity during the calendar year preceding the date of the application.

Requirements for certification of compliance with this maintenance of effort provisions are imposed at §§ 840.205(b)(7) and 841.205(b)(7) and as threshold requirements at §§ 840.210(b)(5) and 841.210(b)(5).

For the purposes of the transitional housing program, the area to be served by the applicant is defined as: (1) The State, if the applicant is a State; (2) the metropolitan city, if the applicant is a metropolitan city; (3) the urban county, if the applicant is an urban county; (4) the tribal jurisdiction, if the applicant is a tribe; (5) cities and counties to be served by the project, if the applicant is a private nonprofit organization. For the purposes of the permanent housing program, the area to be served by the applicant is the State.

(b) Primarily religious organizations. The Conference report accompanying the McKinney Act stated,

> It is the intent of Congress that in creating programs administered by the Department * * * and in providing further assistance to the homeless under this Act, religious organizations and organizations with religious affiliations may receive federal funds if constitutional guidelines are followed and those funds are provided for secular purposes and kept separate from sectarian activities * * *" (H. Rep No. 174, 100 Cong., 1st Sess. 82–83 (1987).

The First Amendment of the Constitution provides that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion." In accordance with this constitutional mandate, the United States Supreme Court has adopted certain principles, in the form of a three-pronged analysis, to be used when passing on the constitutionality of Federal assistance. First, the statute under which the assistance is to be provided must reflect a clearly secular purpose. Second, the statute must have a primary effect that neither advances nor inhibits religion. Third, the statute and its administration must avoid excessive governmental entanglement with religion. Lemon v. Kurtzman, 403 U.S. 602 (1971). Application of these principles sometimes has been extraordinarily difficult. Chief Justice Burger noted in the majority opinion in Lemon that the language in the First Amendment is "at best opaque." 403 U.S. 612.

The first prong—that the statute reflect a clearly secular purpose—generally is not problematic and does not pose a problem here. As enacted, the SHD program is designed to provide housing and supportive services to homeless individuals, clearly a secular purpose.

In constructing the reach of the second prong of the Lemon test, the Court in Hunt v. McNair, 413 U.S. 734 (1973) stated:

> Aid normally may be thought to have a primary effect of advancing religion when it flows to an institution in which religion is so pervasive that a substantial portion of its functions are subsumed in the religious mission or when it funds a specifically religious activity in an otherwise substantially secular setting. Id. at 742.

Government assistance to a "pervasively sectarian" organization for any purpose, secular or religious, or the funding of a religious activity in secular surroundings, is thus generally viewed as "advancing religion" in violation of First Amendment principles.

The determination for constitutional compliance requires an examination of the extent to which religion pervades the functions of an institution. In considering the nature of "pervasively sectarian organizations," Justice Blackmun, a speaking for the majority in Roemer v. Maryland Board of Education, 426 U.S. 736 (1976) declared:

> To answer the question whether an institution is so 'pervasively sectarian' that it may receive no direct State aid of any kind, it is necessary to paint a general picture of the institution. Id. at 758.

Unquestionably, churches are "pervasively sectarian." Additionally, there are other fundamentally religious organizations that conform to the profile of a sectarian or substantially religious institution.

Having stated the above, we are of the opinion that direct assistance under the SHD program to churches and other primarily religious organizations to rehabilitate structures owned by them would be constitutionally impermissible under the second prong of the Lemon test—notwithstanding the secular use to which the structures would be put by such institutions under the program.

Even if this were not the case, the administrative oversight necessary to avoid impermissible religious influences in the use of such structures would most certainly involve an "excessive government entanglement" with religion in violation of the third prong of the test. As the Court stated in Walz v. Tax Commission, 397 U.S. 664 (1970), "a direct money subsidy would be a relationship pregnant with involvement and, as with most governmental grant programs, could encompass sustained and detailed administrative relationships for enforcement of statutory or administrative standards * * *" 397 U.S. at 675.

In 1983, in order to confirm the Department's understanding with respect to constitutional limitations (particularly with respect to the second and third prongs of the Lemon test), the Department requested guidance from the Department of Justice (DOJ) concerning the effect of Supreme Court Church/State decisions on HUD programs—specifically the section 202 Direct Loan Program and the Community Development Block Grant Program.

Under section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959, 12 U.S.C. 1701q, loans may be made to private nonprofit corporations, limited profit sponsors, consumer cooperatives, public bodies or agencies to develop housing for the elderly or handicapped. To allow religious organizations to participate as sponsors of 202 projects, HUD requirements provide that religious sponsors must establish private, secular nonprofit borrower corporations to obtain the loan and execute the mortgage as the legal owner of the project. The question posed to DOJ was whether the HUD requirements in this regard were constitutionally mandated. (In the context of issues raised in the SHD program, it is important to note that the section 202 housing program is an entirely secular activity in nature and purpose.)

DOG ruled that the creation of a separate secular borrowing entity in the section 202 program is constitutionally required. In reaching this result, DOJ concluded that if separate secular borrower entities were not established, direct and substantial aid would flow to churches, in violation of the Establishment Clause. The DOJ opinion states, "were section 202 loans given directly to churches or other fundamentally religious organizations, the principle that no aid at all go to institutions that are so 'pervasively sectarian' that secular activities cannot be separated from sectarian ones, see Roemer v. Maryland Public Works Board, 426 U.S. at 755, would by definition be violated."

The Community Development Block Grant Program was enacted in 1974 to consolidate a number of community development categorical grant programs. Over the course of the block grant program, a question was presented whether churches and church-owned property could be rehabilitated with block grant funds. Departmental advice was that such assistance could not be provided. This conclusion was based in part on Committee for Public Education v. Nyquist, 413 U.S. 756, 777 (1973), which states that "if the State may not erect buildings in which religious activities are to take place, it may not maintain such buildings or renovate them when they fall into disrepair."

The DOJ opinion concluded that HUD's longstanding policy of prohibiting CDBG funds to rehabilitate, maintain or restore churches reflects constitutional requirements and, further, that "any structure used to promote religious interests, regardless whether constructed for educational, charitable or whatever purposes, may not * * * receive federal assistance." (A subsequent DOJ opinion also confirmed the HUD position that the prohibition applies notwithstanding the fact that the structure has historic significance.)

In addressing the Church/State issue in the THDP Guidelines, HUD imposed certain requirements in response to the constitutional limitations discussed above. The requirements: (1) Provide that HUD will not select an application for funding for acquisition or rehabilitation of a structure to be owned or leased by a pervasively sectarian organization; (2) permit the funding of annual operating costs to a pervasively sectarian organization only if the organization provides housing and supportive services in a manner free from religious influences and in accordance with conditions described in the grant agreement; and (3) permit a pervasively sectarian organization to establish, and to apply for assistance on behalf of, an independent private nonprofit entity, and permit the provision of all forms of assistance to such an independent nonprofit entity.

In reviewing this matter, the Department has particularly been struck by the vital and unique role religious organizations play in providing help to homeless individuals in need of housing and supportive services. In view of this, every attempt has been made further to explore mechanisms to facilitate that role within the framework of the First Amendment Church/State principles outlined above. After thorough consideration, the Department believes that the THDP guidelines, with some additional clarification regarding the circumstances under which the Department will permit the rehabilitation of a structure that is owned or leased by a primarily religious organization, appropriately reflect these principles. The proposed rule at § 840.125(e) reflects the THDP Guidelines with these modifications. The proposed rule at §841.120(e) reflects the same principles, as modified to reflect the requirements of the permanent housing program.

(c) Administrative costs. Proposed §§ 840.125(g) and 841.120(g) would implement section 426(c) of the McKinney Act, which prohibits recipients from using more than five percent of an advance or a grant for administrative purposes. The THDP Guidelines do not address the use of assistance for such costs.

6. Matching requirements. Section 425 of the McKinney Act addresses matching funds requirements for the SHD program. The Act imposes substantially different matching requirements for transitional housing and permanent housing.

(a) Transitional housing. While the transitional housing demonstration program originally authorized in the Homeless Housing Act of 1986 imposed no matching requirements, the THDP Guidelines administratively imposed dollar-for-dollar matching requirements on all applicants. Section 425(a) of the McKinney Act codified requirements that transitional housing recipients must match the acquisition/rehabilitation advance and the moderate rehabilitation grant with an equal amount of funds from sources other than the SHD program. Except as noted below, the requirements of the THDP Guidelines are consistent with section 425(a), and would be retained in the proposed rule at § 840.130. While section 425(a) does not require a match for funding of annual operating costs, the proposed rule, like the THDP Guidelines, imposes an administrative requirement for such a match.

Under the THDP Guidelines, "in-kind" contributions, except for leasehold and ownership interests in structures, were generally excluded from the matching computation. Section 425(a) of the McKinney Act expressly provides that a recipient may include the value of any donated material or building and the value of any lease on a building in calculating the amount of funds contributed by the recipient. Consistent with these provisions, the proposed rule addresses "in-kind" contributions at § 840.130(c).

(b) Permanent housing. Under section 425(b) of the McKinney Act, applicants seeking assistance for permanent housing (i.e., States) must certify that they will supplement the assistant provided under the SHD program with at least an equal amount of State or local government funds. The State must certify that the State and local government funds are to be used solely for acquisition or rehabilitation, and that not more than 50 percent of these funds are local funds. The statute permits a waiver of this requirement if the State demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary that the State is experiencing a severe financial hardship that makes it unable to provide an equal amount of funds, and that local governments in the area to be served by the project will contribute funds from other non-Federal sources in an aggregate amount equal to the amount of the State contribution that is waived. These matching requirements are included in the proposed rule at § 841.125.

7. Assistance under other HUD programs. Sections 840.135 and 841.130 discuss the assistance that is available under other HUD programs. The proposed sections would provide that:

—HUD will permit the use of additional assistance for supportive housing in connection with the program contained in Subtitle D of Title IV of the McKinney Act—Supplemental Assistance to Facilities to Assist the Homeless. (HUD published a notice implementing this program on October 19, 1987, 52 FR 38880.).

—HUD will not assist a project under the SHD program if the project involves a structure that is assisted, or if residents of the structure will receive assistance, under the United States Housing Act of 1937; section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959; section 221(d)(3)(BMIR) or section 236 of the National Housing Act; or section 101 of the Housing and Urban Development Act.

—HUD-owned properties will be made available to applicants under described circumstances. (Similar provisions governing the availability of HUD-owned properties were included in the THDP Guidelines).

The THDP Guidelines indicated that HUD would provide Housing Vouchers under section 8(o) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 to eligible persons upon their departures from transitional housing. The original appropriation for the transitional housing demonstration program was $5 million. The appropriation for the SHD program in the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1987 was increased to $80 million (including $65 million for transitional housing and $15 million for permanent housing). Funding for vouchers, by contrast, has remained relatively constant. Due to the increased size of the SHD program and the limited resources available for vouchers, this rule proposes the deletion of the voucher provision. The proposed rule does not preclude a PHA from providing vouchers under such circumstances, if the provision of the vouchers is consistent with the final rule on preferences for persons involuntarily displaced, living in substandard housing, or paying more than 50 percent of income for rent (FR–1597). (HUD anticipates that the final rule on preferences will be issued shortly.

C. Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plans

Subtitle A of Title IV of the McKinney Act contains requirements for Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plans (Plans or CHAPs). Section 401(a) states that no assistance may be made available under Title IV (including the SHD program) to, or within the jurisdiction of, States or metropolitan cities or urban counties that are eligible for a formula grant under the Emergency Shelter Grants program (Subtitle B of Title IV), unless the jurisdiction has a HUD-approved Plan. Under sections 401(f) and 424(a)(2)(E) of the McKinney Act, applications for assistance under the SHD program must contain a certification by the public official responsible for submitting the Plan for the State or formula grant city or county in which the proposed activities are to be carried out, stating that the proposed activities are consistent with the Plan.

On August 14, 1987 (52 FR 30628), the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development published a notice addressing CHAP requirements. This notice contained the requirements for submission and approval of CHAPs, and listed the headquarters contact for futher information, assistance and guidance. The notice announced that the deadline for submitting CHAPs to HUD for approval was September 28, 1987 and announced that HUD's statutory deadline for CHAP approval is November 27, 1987. CHAP review, processing and approval is handled by HUD's Community Planning and Development (CPD) offices in the field. CHAP information is also available from those offices.

In accordance with these CHAP-related requirements, the proposed rule at §§ 840.150 and 841.150: (1) States that HUD will publish requirements for the submission and approval of Plans in the Federal Register; (2) contains prohibitions against the provision of assistance, unless there is a HUD-approved Plan for the appropriate jurisdiction; and (3) explains which jurisdiction must have a HUD-approved Plan for each type of eligible applicant. For permanent housing, the proposed rule would provide that assistance may be made available only if the State has an approved Plan. The proposed rule for transitional housing reflects the jurisdictional requirements contained in the September 3, 1987 notice of fund availability (52 FR 33537–38). Requirements for the submission of an appropriate certification with the application are contained at §§ 840.205(b)(4) and 841.205(b)(4). (Also see §§ 840.210(b)(4)(v)(B) and 841.210(b)(4)(vi)(B)—Threshold requirements.)

D. Application and Selection Process

1. Notice of fund availability. Proposed §§ 840.200 and 841.200 state that HUD will publish a notice of fund availability when funds are made available for assistance under the programs. These sections also contain content requirements for the notice. (As noted in section II above, HUD has already published a notice announcing the availability of funds under the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1987 for the transitional housing component of the SHD program and has provided that today's notice announces the availability of funds under the appropriations act for the permanent housing component of the program.)

2. Application requirements. Under §§ 840.205 and 841.205, applicants would be required to submit applications in the form and within the time periods established by HUD. These proposed sections also describe the minimum requirements that HUD will impose.

3. Selection process. Under the THDP Guidelines, HUD used a four-stage selection process. The proposed rules for the SHD program would retain this four-stage process. The selection process consists of the following stages:

(a) Threshold stage. HUD would review all applications to determine if they meet stated threshold criteria.

The threshold criteria for transitional housing (§ 840.210) are:

—The appliction must be on the application form prescribed by HUD and filed within the time periods established in the notice of fund availability.

—The applicant must demonstate that it is eligible to receive assistance, is financially responsible, has the capacity to carry out proposed activities within a reasonable time after grant execution and in a successful manner, and has appropriate legal authority to participate in the program.

—The application must be on the requirements for matching contributions and provide appropriate documentation of the sources and amounts of the matching funds.

—The applicant must demonstrate that: (1) There is an unment need for the proposed transitional housing, (2) the proposed supportive services appropriately address the needs of the homeless population to be served, (3) the proposed structures and sites are appropriate for the provision of housing and supportive services, (4) the applicant has site control, the use of the site is permissible under applicable zoning ordinances and regulations (or the required zoning actions will be completed successfully within 4 months following the submission of the application), and the site meets described floodplain requirements, (5) the use of the site is consistent with local governmental plans and the proposed project is consistent with the applicable Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan, and (6) the proposed activities will not result in the temporary or permanent displacement of any person or entity.

—The applicant has provided a maintenance of effort certification.

—The proposal, when viewed as a whole, is operationally feasible and provides adequate housing and supportive services to serve the purposes of the program.

The threshold criteria for the transitional housing program are based on the THDP Guidelines with modifications necessary to reflect the changes contained in the McKinney Act. There has been one additional major change, addressing historic preservation requirements. Under the THDP Guidelines, as modified on July 13, 1987 (52 FR 26137), applicants were required to provide a letter from the State Historic Preservation Officer indicating that no project funded under the program would involve an historic property as defined in 36 CFR 800.2(e), or would involve a structure that is immediately adjacent to a historic property that is listed on the Register of Historic Places. In HUD's September 3, 1987 notice of fund availability (52 FR 33536), HUD deleted this threshold criterion and stated that it would meet its responsibilities under the National Historic Preservation Act and related authorities as part of its environmental review performed in the third stage of the selection process (see discussion below). The proposed rule reflects the changes contained in the September 3, 1987 notice.

The threshold criteria for the permanent housing program (§ 841.210) are substantially identical to the transitional housing threshold criteria with modifications necessary to determine the eligibility, financial responsibility, operating capacity, and legal authority of the project sponsor, the duty of the state-recipient to transmit assistance to the project sponsor and to facilitate the provision of necessary supportive services, the different matching requirements imposed in the permanent housing program, and limitations on the number of residents in permanent housing projects.

(b) Ranking stage. In the second stage of the selection process, HUD would evaluate the applications that meet the threshold criteria and place these applications in priority order based on stated ranking criteria.

The ranking criteria for the transitional housing program address the applicants relative capacity to carry out program activities; the innovative quality of the proposal; the extent to which the applicant will coordinate the provision of supportive services through other public or private entities; the extent to which the applicant will exceed the 50 percent matching requirement; and the relative cost reasonableness and effectiveness of the proposal. (See § 840.215.)

These ranking criteria are the same as the ranking criteria contained in the THDP Guidelines, with three exceptions. First, HUD has eliminated the consideration of the applicant's relative ability to establish and operate the proposed transitional housing for the term of the commitment to HUD with the finances that are or are reasonably expected to be available to it. HUD believes that such capacity is more appropriately considered under the feasibility of the project under the threshold criteria. Second, in accordance with section 424(b)(5), HUD has added the consideration of cost effectiveness as a ranking criterion. Third, HUD has revised one of the factors that it will consider in determining the innovative quality of the proposal. Under the THDP Guidelines, HUD reviewed the proposal to determine the degree to which it uses an approach to transitional housing that is new or unusual in the area to be served by the applicant. Under the proposed rule, HUD would merely determine the degree to which the proposal uses an approach to transitional housing this is new or unusual, without the limitation that it must be new or unusual in the area to be served by the applicant.

The ranking criteria under the permanent housing program are: The relative ability of the project sponsor to carry out activities under the program; the innovative quality of the proposal; the extent to which the applicant will exceed its 50 percent matching requirement; the relative cost reasonableness and cost effectiveness of the proposal; and the extent to which the project will meet the needs of handicapped homeless persons in the State. (See § 841.215.)

The permanent housing ranking criteria are based on the transitional housing ranking criteria, with modifications appropriate to reflect the goals of the permanent housing program. For example, in accordance with section 424(b)(6) of the McKinney Act, HUD would rank the applications based on the extent to which the proposed project would meet the needs of handicapped homeless persons in the State, as described in the State assessment of this need.

The permanent housing ranking criteria also exclude the consideration of the extent to which the applicant will coordinate the provision of supportive services through other public or private entities. This criterion was imposed in the transitional housing program to ensure that, to the maximum extent possible, applicants would provide supportive services without using HUD funds provided under the program. Since HUD will not provide any operating costs under the permanent housing program, and therefore will not pay for any supportive services, this ranking criterion is unnecessary.

(c) Environmental review. In the third stage of the selection process, HUD will perform a review in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act and HUD's environmental regulations at 24 CFR Part 50 on a number of highly ranked applications. Additionally, HUD may revise the rating scores awarded during the ranking stage to reflect facts that are disclosed during environmental review. Environmental review is the same for transitional and permanent housing. (See §§ 840.220 and 841.220.)

(d) Final selection. HUD would select for funding the highest-rated applications that advance from the environmental review (with any rating adjustments), but reserves the right to fund other applications that successfully completed the environmental review, if such funding is necessary to ensure reasonable diversity in the demonstration. Final selection procedures are substantially the same for the transitional and permanent housing programs, except that HUD would not consider project size in the permanent housing final selection process. (Under § 841.325, the range of project sizes for permanent housing would be limited.) The final selection procedures are contained at §§ 840.225 and 841.225.

E. Program Requirements

1. Grant agreement. The duty to provide supportive housing in accordance with the program requirements would be incorporated in a grant agreement executed by HUD and the recipient. HUD would enforce the obligations in the grant agreement through actions on the contract. Additionally, restrictions regarding the use of structures would be contained in covenants recorded in the land records of the jurisdiction where the structure is located. (See §§ 840.300 and 841.300)

2. Required agreements. Section 840.305 and 841.305 would require each recipient of transitional housing assistance to agree, and each State in the permanent housing program to require the project sponsor to agree: (1) To operate a project providing supportive housing; (2) to assess the supportive services required by residents on an ongoing basis; (3) to provide residential supervision; (4) to provide supportive housing for not less than 10 years; (5) to provide safe and sanitary housing and to comply with all State and local housing codes, licensing requirements, and related requirements; (6) to keep records and reports that HUD may require.

As noted above, all recipient (or project sponsors) must agree to provide safe and sanitary housing and to comply with all State and local housing codes, licensing requirements and related requirements. Section 422(12) of the statute permits HUD to preempt State or local housing codes or licensing requirements "when appropriate." HUD is currently unaware of a situation in which it would be "appropriate" to permit a violation of such State or local housing codes or licensing requirements. Accordingly, HUD has declined to preempt any code or requirement in this document. HUD will, however, consider the desirability of preemption action if circumstances in individual States and localities warrant it. The grant agreement would contain appropriate language regarding possible future HUD preemption action. (The rule would, however, retain the provision in the THDP Guidelines preempting State and local laws that have the effect of prohibiting recipients from discharging residents from transitional housing at the end of the HUD-approved limit on the stay of residents in the housing.)

3. Term of commitment. Section 840.310(a) and 841.310(a) address the term of the recipient's commitment to HUD. These sections require that all projects must be operated as supportive housing for a term of at least 10 years. Under related provisions §§ 840.205(b)(6) and 841.205(b)(6), applicants would be required to provide assurances that the project assisted will be operated for not less than 10 years. By contrast, the Homeless Housing Act of 1986 and the THDP guidelines required all recipients to agree to operate housing for only a five year period following the date of occupancy.

Section 840.310(c) and 841.310(c) would govern HUD approval of successor operators. Paragraph (d) of these sections would address the calculation of the term of the commitment.

4. Repayment of advance. Sections 840.310(b) and 841.310(b) implement requirements for the repayment of acquisition/rehabilitation advances. Under section 423(b) of the McKinney Act, recipients must repay the entire advance if the project is used as supportive housing for less than 10 years. The Act provides for a 10 percent reduction in the amount of the advance for each year that the project is used for supportive housing beyond this initial 10-year period. For the purposes of the repayment provision, a project would be treated as supportive housing if HUD determines that the project is no longer needed for use as supportive housing and approves the use of the project for the direct benefit of lower income persons. (There repayment provisions differ from the requirements under the THDP Guidelines. Under the Guidelines, repayment of advances is required if the structure is not used as transitional housing, or for a HUD-approved charitable use, for 10 years after initial occupancy. There is no repayment obligation after 10 years.)

5. Prevention of undue benefits. Section 423(c) provides that upon the disposition of a project acquired or rehabilitated with assistance provided under the SHD program, the Secretary must take steps to prevent the recipient from unduly benefitting from the disposition. An exception is made for a disposition resulting in the use of the project for the direct benefit of lower income persons or where all of the proceeds are used to provide supportive housing. These requirements are included in the proposed rule at §§ 840.315 and §§ 841.315 (The THDP Guidelines do not have similar provisions.)

6. Number of residents. Under the permanent housing program, the number of handicapped homeless persons that may be assisted in a project is limited to eight. Proposed § 841.324 provides that projects consisting of dwelling units in a rental building, a condominium, or a cooperative may not serve more than eight handicapped homeless persons, and the families of the eight homeless persons. Groups homes would not be permitted to serve more than eight handicapped homeless persons and may not serve the families of the handicapped homeless persons. The proposed rule would not place any limitation on the number of residents that may be assisted in transitional housing.

7. Miscellaneous program requirements. The proposed rules for transitional housing and permanent housing contain several provisions governing program requirements that are similar to the THDP Guidelines. These include provisions that govern: Casualty insurance (§§ 840.312 and 841.312); eminent domain (§§ 840.313 and 841.313); resident rent (§§ 840.320 and 841.320); resident discharge from transitional housing (§§ 840.325); and the applicability of other civil rights and Federal requirements (§ 840.330 and 841.330). The requirements implementing the Lead Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act (42 U.S.C 4821–4846) (contained in §§ 840.330(d) and 841.330(d)) reflect the Section 8 Existing Housing regulations (24 CFR 882.109) (published in the Federal Register on January 15, 1987, 52 FR 1876, 1893–94), and the Lead Based Paint requirements contained in the THDP Guidelines.

F. Administration

Subpart F of the proposed rule would govern the obligation of funds, increases to the amount obligated, and deobligation of funds. These provisions parallel similar provisions contained in the THDP Guidelines, with one major exception. Under §§ 840.440(c)(5) and 841.400(c)(4), when funds are deobligated, HUD would be permitted to readvertise the availability of funds under §§ 840.200 or 841.200, or to reconsider applications that were submitted for the program under the most recently published notice of fund availability and select applications for funding with the deobligated funds.

IV. Application Process—Permanent Housing

As described in section II., above, one of the purpose of this notice is to announce that the requirements contained in the proposed rule will govern the permanent housing program until final regulations are issued, and to announce the availability of $15 million in funds for permanent housing appropriated under the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1987.

HUD will develop an application package prescribing the information that permanent housing applicants must submit. On or after December 1, 1987, the application package will be provided upon the written or oral request of any party made to the Office of Elderly and Assisted Housing at the address set forth in the beginning of this document, or by calling (202) 755–8232. Hearing or speech impaired individuals may call HUDs TDD number (202) 426–0015. (These telephone numbers are not toll-free.) Applications must be on the form prescribed by HUD and must be received at that address by 5:15 p.m. (E.S.T.) March 31, 1988. Late-filed applications will be rejected.

Following the expiration of the March 31, 1988 deadline, HUD headquarters will review, rate and rank the applications consistent with the selection procedures described at §§ 841.207–841.225. HUD will make its final selections as soon as possible following the submission of applications. No information regarding the status of applications will be released until final selections are made.

V. Findings and Certifications

A Finding of No Significant Impact with respect to the environment has been made in accordance with HUD regulations at 24 CFR Part 50, which implement section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. The Finding of No Significant Impact is available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of the General Counsel, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Room 10276, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410.

This rule does not constitute a "major rule" as that term is defined in section 1(d) of the Executive Order on Federal Regulations issued by the President on February 17, 1981. An analysis of the rule indicates that it does not (1) have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; (2) cause a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies, or geographic regions; or (3) have a significant adverse effect on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 605(b) (the Regulatory Flexibility Act), the undersigned hereby certifies that this rule does not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The program should have little impact on small government entities since only larger government entities (i.e., urban counties, metropolitan cities or States) are eligible recipients. To the extent that small private nonprofit organizations may participate as recipients or project sponsors, HUD believes that the overall number of affected small entities will be insubstantial, based on the limited amount of authority budgeted for the program and the aniticipated level of participation by larger governmental and private nonprofit entities.

This rule was not listed in the Department's Semiannual Agenda of Regulations published on April 27, 1987 (52 FR 14362) under Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance program number is 14.178.

The information collection requirements contained in this rule have been submitted to the Office of Management and Budget for review under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3520). No person may be subjected to penalty for failure to comply with these information collection requirements until they have been approved and assigned an OMB control number. The OMB control number, when assigned, will be announced in the Federal Register.

Subpart A—General

§ 840.1 Applicability and scope.

(a) General. The Supportive Housing Demonstration program contained in Subtitle C of Title IV of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act is designed to develop innovative approaches for providing supportive housing, especially to deinstitutionalized homeless individuals, homeless families with children, and homeless individuals with mental disabilities and other handicapped homeless persons. It is designed to determine:

(1) The cost of acquisition, rehabilitation, acquisition and rehabilitation, or leasing of existing structures for the provision of supportive housing;

(2) The cost of operating such housing and providing supportive services to the residents of such housing;

(3) The social, financial, and other advantages of such housing as a means of assisting homeless individuals; and

(4) The lessons that the provision of supportive housing might have for the design and implementation of housing programs that serve homeless individuals and families with special needs, particularly deinstitutionalized homeless individuals, homeless families with children, and homeless individuals with mental disabilities and other handicapped homeless persons.

A central purpose of the Supportive Housing Demonstration program is to provide supportive housing for deinstitutionalized homeless individuals and other homeless individuals with mental disabilities.

(b) The Supportive Housing Demonstration program consist of two components: Permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons and transitional housing. This part implements the transitional housing component of the program. Part 841 provides for a program to assist in providing permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons.

Subpart B—Assistance Provided

§ 840.100 Types of assistance.

(a) Assistance available. Four types of assistance are available for transitional housing: Acquisition/rehabilitation advances, moderate rehabilitation grants, funding for annual operating costs, and technical assistance.

(b) Eligibility for more than one type of assistance. Applicants may be eligible for one or any combination of the types of assistance, except that HUD will not award both a moderate rehabilitation grant and an acquisition/rehabilitation advance to a recipient, and will offer technical assistance only in connection with other assistance under this part.

§ 840.105 Acquisition/rehabilitation advances.

(a) Use. HUD will advance sums to recipients to defray the cost of the acquisition, substantial rehabilitation, or acquisition and rehabilitation of existing structures selected by the recipients for use in the provision of transitional housing.

(b) Amount. The acquisition/rehabilitation advance may not exceed the lesser of:

(1) $200,000; or

(2) 50 percent of the aggregate cost of acquisition, substantial rehabilitation, or acquisition and rehabilitation (see § 840.130 for a full discussion of the 50 percent matching requirement).

(c) Terms of the Advance. Advances are interest-free, and if the conditions described in § 840.310 are met, are not subject to repayment. The sale or disposition of a structure acquired or rehabilitated with an advance is subject to the requirements of § 840.315.

§ 840.110 Moderate rehabilitation grants.

(a) Use. HUD will make grants to recipients to defray the cost of rehabilitation of existing structures selected by the recipients for use in the provision of transitional housing.

(b) Amount. (1) The moderate rehabilitation grant may not exceed the lowest of

(i) $100,000;

(ii) The project limit; or

(iii) 50 percent of the cost of rehabilitation (see § 840.130 for a full discussion of the 50 percent matching requirement).

(2) For the purposes of this section, "project limit" means the amount determined by HUD by multiplying the number of units of each unit type in the project times the unit cost for that unit. The cumulative total for all unit types is the project limit. The unit cost limits are:

(i) $5,000 (A) per bedroom unit, in single room occupancy housing (i.e., a unit which contains no sanitary facilities or food preparation facilities, or which contains one but not both types of facilities, and which is suitable for occupancy by a single individual);

(B) Per bedroom unit, in a group home; or

(C) Per unit without a bedroom in other types of projects; and

(ii) $7,000 per unit with one or more bedrooms, in other types of projects.

(c) Terms of the grant. The sale or disposition of a structure rehabilitated with a grant under this section is subject to the requirements of § 840.315.

§ 840.115 Funding for annual operating costs.

(a) General. HUD will provide funding of up to 50 percent of the annual operating costs of transitional housing. (See § 840.130 for a full discussion of the 50 percent matching requirement.)

(b) Commitment of amounts for operating costs. Upon approval of an application requesting operating cost assistance, HUD will obligate amounts for the period sought, not to exceed five years. Each annual funding level will be equal to an amount not to exceed the recipient's estimate of operating costs for the first year of operation, less the recipient's matching contribution. Each year, for up to five years, HUD will make operating cost payments to the recipient from the amounts obligated. The annual funding level will be subject to reduction under § 840.400.

§ 840.120 Technical assistance.

Technical assistance will be offered only in connection with an award of funds under § 840.105, § 840.110 or § 840.115. Technical assistance is offered to recipients through HUD field offices in such matters as the computation of resident rent under § 840.320, compliance with other Federal requirements under § 840.330, the identification of Federal housing assistance resources that may be available to residents upon their departure from transitional housing, and engineering recommendations and other advice on rehabilitation plans and work write-ups. HUD will also facilitate the exchange of information among recipients, and help recipients to learn from the experience of other participants in the program.

§ 840.125 Limitations on use of assistance.

(a) Funding of existing housing facilities and programs. (1) HUD will not provide acquisition/rehabilitation advances, moderate rehabilitation grants or funding for annual operating costs for exisitng facilities or programs that currently serve homeless persons, unless the applicant proposes:

(i) A substantial increase in the number of homeless persons for whom transitional housing will be provided;

(ii) A substantial increase in the level of supportive services to be provided to homeless persons; or

(iii) A substantial change in the use of existing facilities, e.g., if existing facilities for the homeless that are not currently used for transitional housing (such as an emergency shelter for the homeless) will be used to provide transitional housing, or if an applicant currently providing transitional housing for one population of homeless persons proposes to serve an additional or alternative segment of the homeless population.

(2) If an application seeking funding of existing housing facilities or programs is selected, assistance under this program will be limited to 50 percent of the cost of the increased operating costs, 50 percent of the increased cost of acquisition/rehabilitation, or 50 percent of the cost of moderate rehabilitation, attributable to the increased number of homeless persons for whom transitional housing would be provided, the increased level of supportive services to be provided, or the change in use.

(b) Maintenance of effort. (1) No assistance received under this part (or any State or local government funds used to supplement this assistance) may be used to replace funds provided in the area to be served by the applicant under any State or local government assistance program, if the funds provided under the State or local government assistance program were used to assist handicapped persons, homeless individuals, or handicapped homeless persons (as defined in § 841.5 of this title) during the calendar year preceding the date of the application, or were designated for such use through an official action of the applicable governmental entity during the calendar year preceding the date of the application.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the area to be served by the applicant is:

(i) The State, if the applicant is a State;

(ii) The metropolitan city, if the applicant is a metropolitan city;

(iii) The urban county, if the applicant is an urban county;

(iv) The tribal jurisdiction, if the applicant is a tribe; and

(v) Cities and counties to be served by the project, if the applicant is a private nonprofit organization.

(c) Leases. (1) Acquisition/rehabilitation advances are not available to defray the costs of acquiring a lease on existing property.

(2) Acquisition/rehabilitation advances and moderate rehabilitation grants are available for the rehabilitation of leased property. To receive an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or a moderate rehabilitation grant, the lease must run for a term of at least 10 years after the date of initial occupancy of the housing.

(d) New construction. Assistance under this part may not be used for the new construction of housing. Assistance is limited to transitional housing provided in exisitng structures.

(e) Primarily religious organizations— (1) Provision of assistance. (i) HUD will not provide assistance to a recipient that is a primarily religious organization, unless the organization agrees to provide housing and supportive services in a manner that is free from religious influences and in accordance with other conditions described in the grant agreement.

(ii) HUD will not provide assistance to a recipient that is a primarily religious organization, if the assistance will be used by the organization to acquire a structure or will be used to rehabilitate a structure owned by the organization.

(2) Transitional housing provided in structures owned by a primarily religious organization. An acquisition/rehabilitation advance and the moderate rehabilitation grant may not be used to rehabilitate a structure owned by a primarily religious organization, unless:

(i) The structure (or portion of the structure) that is to be rehabilitated with the HUD assistance has been leased) to a recipient that is a wholly secular organization.

(ii) The HUD assistance is provided to the recipient to make the improvements, rather than to primarily religious organization;

(iii) The leased structure will be used exclusively for secular purposes available to all persons regardless of religion;

(iv) The lease payments provided to the primarily religious organization do not exceed the fair market rent of the structure without the rehabilitation;

(v) The cost of improvements that benefit the portion of the structure that is not leased by the recipient for the provision of transitional housing will be allocated to and paid for by the primarily religious organization; and

(vi) The primarily religious organization agrees that if the recipient does not retain the use of the leased premises for wholly secular purposes for the useful life of the improvements, the primarily religious organization will pay an amount equal to the residual value of the improvements to the recipient and the recipient will remit the amount to HUD.

(3) Assistance to a wholly secular private nonprofit organization established by a primarily religious organization. (i) A primarily religious organization may establish a wholly secular private nonprofit organization to serve as a recipient. This wholly secular organization may be eligible to receive all forms of assistance available under this part.

(A) The wholly secular organization must agree to provide housing and supportive services in a manner that is free from religious influences and in accordance with other terms described in the grant agreement.

(B) The wholly secular organization may enter into a management contract with the primarily religious organization to operate the facility, including the provision of supportive services. In such a case, the primarily religious organization must agree in the management contract to carry out its contractual responsibilities in a manner free from religious influences and in accordance with conditions prescribed by HUD.

(C) The acquisition/rehabilitation advance and the moderate rehabilitation grant are subject to the requirements of paragraph (e)(2) of this section.

(ii) HUD will not require the primarily religious organization to establish the wholly secular organization before the selection of its application. In such a case, the primarily religious organization may apply on behalf of the wholly secular organization. The application will be reviewed on the basis of the primarily religious organization's financial responsibility and capacity, and its commitment to provide appropriate resources to the wholly secular organization after formation (see §§ 840.210(b)(2)(ii) and (b)(2)(iii) and 840.215(b)(1)). Additionally, the primarily religious organization must demonstrate site control under § 840.210(b)(4)(iv)(A) and a commitment to transfer control of the site to the wholly secular organization after its formation. Since the wholly secular organization will not be in existence at the time of the application, it will be required to demonstrate that it meets the definition of private nonprofit organization and has the appropriate legal authority to participate in the program following selection (see § 840.210(b)(2)(i) and (b)(2)(iv)). If such an application is selected for funding, the obligation of funds will be conditioned upon the compliance with these requirements.

(f) Structures used for multiple purposes. Structures used to provide transitional housing may also be used for other purposes. For example, a structure may contain facilities for an emergency shelter as well as transitional housing, may be used to provide supportive services to the public at large, or may include commercial space. Under these circumstances, however, the acquisition/rehabilitation advance and the moderate rehabilitation grant will be available only in proportion to the use of the structure for transitional housing, and the funding for annual operating costs will be available only to support the costs that are related to the transitional housing to be provided. If the applicant holds, or is donated, an interest in a structure and the structure will be used for multiple purposes, only that portion of the value of the structure that will be used for transitional housing may be included in the computation of the applicant's matching computation under § 840.130.

(g) Administrative costs. No more than five percent of an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or moderate rehabilitation grant provided under this part may be used for administrative purposes.

§ 840.130 Matching requirements.

(a) General. The recipient must match the funding provided by HUD under this part with at least an equal amount of funds from other sources.

(b) Assistance categories. Recipients must meet this matching requirement for each category of assistance received. The most HUD will provide for an acquisition/rehabilitation advance, a moderate rehabilitation grant, or funding for annual operating costs is 50 percent of the respective costs of each of these activities. No match is required for technical assistance.

(c) "In-kind" contributions. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (c)(2) of this section, "in-kind" contributions, including the value of supportive services provided by outside service providers, are excluded from the matching calculation.

(2) HUD will include in the matching calculation the value of contributions of materials or contributions of existing structures or parts of structures, as described below:

(i) A contribution of materials may be included in the calculation of a recipient's match for an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or a moderate rehabilitation grant if the materials will be used in the rehabilitation of a structure for use as transitional housing.

(ii) A contribution of materials may be included in the calculation of a recipient's match for funding of annual operating costs if the cost of the materials would fall within the definition of operating costs under § 840.5.

(iii) A contribution of a fee ownership in a structure may be included in the calculation of a recipient's match for an acquisition/rehabilitation advance, to the extent of the fair market value of the structure.

(iv) A contribution of a leasehold interest in a structure may be included in the calculation of a recipient's match for funding of annual operating costs, to the extent of the fair rental value of the building.

(d) Existing homeless programs. Applicants seeking funding for existing programs must commit new funds in order to satisfy the matching requirement. The resources necessary to maintain and operate the program at the current level are excluded from the matching computation (see § 840.125(a)).

(e) Maintenance of effort. State or local government funds used in the matching contribution are subject to the maintenance of effort requirements described at § 840.125(b).

(f) Other federally assisted programs. Except for funds made available under HUD's Community Development Block Grant program, applicants may not include funds provided under a federally assisted program in the computation of their portion of the matching requirements.

(g) Rental income. Rental amounts paid by residents of transitional housing under § 840.320 may be included in the calculation of the recipient's match for funding of annual operating costs.

§ 840.135 Assistance under other HUD programs.

(a) Supplemental assistance. HUD will permit the use of additional assistance for transitional housing in connection with the program contained in Subtitle D of Title IV of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act—Supplemental Assistance for Facilities to Assist the Homeless.

(b) Ineligible projects. HUD will not assist a project under this part, if the project involves a structure that is assisted, or residents of the structure will receive assistance under the United States Housing Act of 1937, section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959, section 221(d)(3)(BMIR) or section 236 of the National Housing Act; or section 101 of the Housing and Development Act.

(c) HUD-owned properties. HUD, in cooperation with PHAs and local government, will make HUD-owned single family properties in its inventory available to parties for purchase for use as transitional housing. To obtain these properties, parties may request a listing of available properties from the HUD Field Office, Property Disposition Branch. If a party wishes to purchase a property or properties, it must request the PHA or unit of local government to enter into a lease/option agreement with

HUD. Under the terms of the agreement, HUD will lease the property to the PHA or unit of local government for six months for one dollar. The lease/option agreement will state that the PHA or unit of local government may purchase the property at a stated price during the lease period, and will require the PHA or unit of local government to assign all rights under the agreement to the party. Applicants demonstrating an assignment of rights under a lease/option agreement at the time their application is filed will be regarded as having site control of the property under § 840.210(b)(4)(iv)(A). If the option is not exercised, the lease/option agreement will expire at the end of six months, and the property will be returned to HUD's inventory.

Subpart C—Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan

§ 840.150 Comprehensive homeless assistance plan.

(a) Prohibition of assistance. Assistance under this part may not be provided to, or within the jurisdiction of a State or an ESG formula city or county, unless the jurisdiction has a HUD-approved Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan.

(b) Who must have an approved Plan. The requirements described in paragraph (a) of this section apply to applicants for assistance under this part as follows:

(1) If the applicant is a State, the State must have an approved Plan.

(2) If the applicant is an ESG formula city or county, the city or county must have an approved Plan.

(3) If the applicant is a metropolitan city or urban county that is not an ESG formula city or county, the State in which the transitional housing is to be located must have an approved Plan.

(4) If the applicant is a private nonprofit organization and the transitional housing is to be located within the jurisdiction of an ESG formula city or county,

(i) The city or county must have an approved Plan, or

(ii) If the ESG formula city or county does not have an approved Plan, the State must have an approved Plan.

(5) If the applicant is a private nonprofit organization and the transitional housing is to be located outside the jurisdiction of an ESG formula city or county, the State must have an approved Plan.

(c) Tribes. Assistance may be provided to, or within the jurisdiction of, a tribe without a HUD-approved Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan.

(d) Notification of Plan requirements. HUD will publish the requirements that pertain to the Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan in the Federal Register, as necessary. Prospective applicants should familiarize themselves with these requirements.

Subpart D—Application and Selection Process

§ 840.200 Notice of fund availability.

When funds are made available for assistance for transitional housing, HUD will publish a notice of fund availability in the Federal Register. The notice will:

(a) Give the location for obtaining application packages that provide specific application requirements and guidance;

(b) Specify the time and the place for submitting completed applications;

(c) State the amount of funding available under the notice;

(d) Announce any separate funding competitions under § 840.207(b), including the categories of transitional housing projects that will be subject to the separate funding competitions and the amount of funding available in each funding category; and

(e) Provide other appropriate program information and guidance.

§ 840.205 Application requirements.

(a) General. Applicants must submit applications for assistance under this part in the form and within the time periods established by HUD.

(b) Application requirements. At a minimum, HUD will require applications to include:

(1) Applicant data (identity, evidence of eligibility, description of past experience, legal authority to submit the application and to operate the proposed housing, and information necessary to demonstrate financial responsibility);

(2) A description of the size and characteristics of the population that will occupy the transitional housing (including a description of the particular homeless population to be served, number of individuals to be served in the project, and supportive services required by the proposed residents);

(3) A description of the proposed project, including:

(i) Information regarding the structure to be used (including site control and zoning data, information concerning the consistency of the proposal with local government plans, a description of the structure and of any proposed rehabilitation, and an appraisal if building fair market or fair rental value is to be used to fulfill matching requirements);

(ii) A narrative description of the proposed operations (including the supportive services to be offered to the residents, the method that will be used to provide or coordinate the provision of such services, procedures for resident selection and assessment, a proposed limitation on the length of resident stay in the project, and evidence demonstrating that this proposed limitation provides an appropriate opportunity to permit members of the homeless population to be served to move to independent living);

(4) A certification of consistency with the applicable Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan as described under § 840.210(b) (4)(v)(B),

(5) Project financial data (amount of assistance requested, a five-year operating budget, and a description of the public and private resources that are expected to be made available to comply with the matching requirements of § 840.130);

(6) Assurances satisfactory to HUD that the project will be operated for not less than 10 years in accordance with this part;

(7) A maintenance of effort certification as described in § 840.210(b)(5);

(8) A statement that the applicant agrees to fulfill the requirements set forth in § 840.305; and

(9) Other data as prescribed by HUD.

§ 840.207 Selection process.

(a) Four stage selection process. The selection process for applications for assistance under this part consists of four stages:

(1) The threshold stage (see § 840.210);

(2) The rankaing stage (see § 840.215);

(3) The environmental stage (see § 840.220); and

(4) The final selection stage (see § 840.225).

(b) Separate funding competitions. (1) In accordance with funding set-asides, funding priorities, or other statutory guidance, HUD may establish separate funding competitions for specified categories of transitional housing projects. (E.g. transitional housing that is primarily designed to serve homeless persons with mental disabilities.) If separate funding competitions are established, applicants within each category will compete against other applicants in the same category for a specified amount of funding. Selections within each category will be subject to the four-stage selection process described in paragraph (a) of this section.

(2) HUD will announce separate funding competitions in the notice of funds availability under § 840.200. The notice will designate the categories of transitional housing projects subject to the separate funding competition and the amount of funding available in each funding category.

§ 840.210 Threshold requirements.

(a) General. To be eligible for evaluation under the ranking criteria set out in § 840.215, applications must meet each of the threshold criteria described below (as modified for wholly secular private nonprofit organizations established by a primarily religious organization under § 840.125(e)). If HUD determines that an application fails to meet the threshold criteria in paragraph (b)(3) (matching), (b)(4)(iv)(A) (site control), or (b)(4)(iv)(B) (zoning) of this section, that these are the only deficiencies in the application under the threshold criteria, and that the deficiencies are correctable, HUD may contact the applicant, identify the deficiencies, explain how the deficiencies can be corrected, and require the applicant to correct the deficiencies. HUD will establish a deadline for the submission of the additional information that will permit the Department to meet its deadlines for final selection. Applications that fail to meet all threshold criteria, including those that have not been corrected within any additional time provided by HUD, will not be eligible for assistance under this part.

(b) Threshold criteria. The threshold criteria are:

(1) Form, time, and adequacy of the application. The application must be filed in the application form prescribed by HUD under § 840.205 and by the time period established by HUD in the notice of funds availability under § 840.200.

(2) Applicant—(i) Eligibility to receive assistance. The applicant must demonstrate that it is a State, a metropolitan city, an urban county, a tribe, or a private nonprofit organization.

(ii) Financial responsibility. (A) HUD has determined, for purposes of the requirements of this part, that all States, metropolitan cities, urban counties and tribes are financially responsible.

(B) Any private nonprofit organization applying for assistance must demonstrate its financial responsibility. In making its determination of financial responsibility, HUD will consider such factors as the past financial history of the organization, its current and anticipated financial outlook, the amount of funding that will be committed under the proposal, and the applicant's other financial responsibilities.

(iii) Capacity. Each applicant must demonstrate that it has the ability to carry out activities under this part within a reasonable time after execution of the grant agreement with HUD, and in a successful manner. In making this determination, HUD will consider the extent and quality of the applicant's past experience in establishing and operating housing or in providing or coordinating supportive services. HUD also will consider the ability of the applicant's personnel to perform administrative, managerial, and operational functions necessary to the successful development and operation of transitional housing.

(iv) Legal authority. Each applicant:

(A) Must demonstrate that it has the legal authority to participate in the program and to carry out activities in accordance with program requirements and the requirements of other applicable Federal law; and

(B) Must certify that a resolution, motion, or similar action has been fully adopted or passed as an official act by its governing body, authorizing the submission of the application under this part.

(3) Matching—(i) General. Each applicant must demonstrate that it will match the amount of the assistance to be provided by HUD under this part with at least an equal amount of funds from other sources, in accordance with the requirements of § 840.130.

(ii) Documentation.— (A) In general. Applicants must provide a description and appropriate documentation of the sources and amounts of the public and private funds that are expected to be made available to meet the applicant's matching requirement under § 840.130.

(B) Funds from entities other than the applicant. If the source of the applicant's contribution is an entity other than the applicant (e.g., funding provided to a private nonprofit organization through State or local agencies), HUD must find that the documentation is sufficient to demonstrate a commitment to provide the funds if the application is selected for funding under this part.

(1) A commitment to provide matching funds for acquisition/rehabilitation costs or a moderate rehabilitation grant must be a firm commitment from the funding source. This firm commitment must demonstrate the source's binding commitment to provide funds and the date upon which funds will be available. This commitment may be contingent upon the selection of the applicant for funding under this part.

(2) A commitment to provide funds for operating costs may be in the form of a letter of intent demonstrating the reasonable expectation of the funding source and its resolve to provide a stated amount of funds at a stated date in the future, if the application is selected for funding. The letter of intent may be subject to governing board approval and other contingencies beyond the contingency of selection of the applicant for funding, provided there is a reasonable expectation and resolve by the source to provide the funding.

(3) In-kind contributions. To be accepted for consideration in the matching computation, the applicant must support the fair market value or fair rental value of a structure with an appraisal acceptable to HUD prepared by a qualified real estate appraiser, and must provide appropriate documentation supporting the valuation of any contribution of materials.

(D) Rental income. HUD will include amounts to be paid by residents of transitional housing as a part of the applicant's matching contribution for funding for payments of annual operating costs, if the rental amounts are substantiated. An applicant may substantiate rental amounts based on the rental income experience of the applicant or others, indicating the amount of income that residents are likely to receive. The estimate of resident income must be adjusted to take into account the length of time necessary for homeless persons to qualify for Federal, State, or local income-support assistance or to find employment, and any other factors that may reasonably be expected to affect the amount and timing of resident income. To compute the estimate of rental income calculation requirements of § 840.320. Alternatively, for the purposes of computing the rental amount for leveraging, the applicant may assume that rental income to be received from residents will be equal to 10 percent to the resident income estimate.

(4) Proposal housing and supportive services.—(i) Need. The applicant must demonstrate that an unmet need for the proposed transitional housing exists in the area to be served and that this need is likely to continue through the term of the commitment to HUD. Need may be demonstrated by information such as:

(A) Estimates, based on past experience in the community, of unmet demand for the proposed transitional housing by the homeless population to be served;

(B) Present need for the proposed transitional housing, based on estimates of the homeless population to be served; or

(C) Projections of future need for the proposed transitional housing.

Applicants may use relevant information contained in the Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan to demonstrate an unmet need for the proposed transitional housing.

(ii) Adequacy of the proposed supportive services. (A) Each applicant must demonstrate that the supportive services proposed (including the residential supervision to be provided) appropriately address the needs of the homeless population to be served, and are sufficient to serve the purposes of the proposed transitional housing. (E.g., Proposals for transitional housing must be sufficient to faciliate the movement of homeless persons to independent living within a reasonable period of time.)

(B) In determining the adequacy of proposed services, HUD will assess the supportive services to be provided to the residents by the applicant and through other private and public organizations. Supportive services may be provided on-site, or off-site if the services are readily accessible to the homeless population to be served. Services are readily accessible if residents can get to the services on their own, or if transportation is provided to the site where the services are provided.

(C) Where services are to be provided through other private or public organizations, the applicant must secure a letter of intent from each organization, indicating its willingness and ability to provide the services to the residents of the housing, and must attach these letters to the application.

(iii) Adequacy of the proposed housing. Applicants must demonstrate that the proposed structures and sites are appropriate for the provision of housing and supportive services for the homeless population proposed to be served. When determining whether a structure will be suitable for the provision of supportive services, HUD will consider whether the structure is designed to permit the provision of proposed on-site supportive services, and whether any proposed off-site supportive services are readily accessible.

(iv) Siting and zoning. Except as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, applicants must meet the following siting and zoning requirements at the time of application:

(A) The applicant must demonstrate that it has control of the site involved. For example, the applicant may demonstrate that it owns or has an option to purchase, or leases or has an option to lease, the structure involved;

(B) The applicant must demonstrate that the proposed use of the site is permissible under applicable zoning ordinances and regulations; or provide a statement describing the proposed actions necessary to make the use of the site permissible under applicable zoning ordinances and regulations, and demonstrate that there is a reasonable basis to believe that the proposed zoning actions will be completed successfully and within 4 months following the submission of the application.

(C) The applicant must submit a statement that the proposed project is not located in any 100-year floodplain, as designated by maps prepared by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). If 50 percent or more of the living space in the structure is designed for residents with mobility impairments, the applicant must submit a statement that the project is not located in any 500-year floodplain, as designated on FEMA maps.

(v) Consistency with government plans—(A) Consistency with local government plans. Applicants must furnish a written statement from the unit of general local government in which the transitional housing is proposed to be located, indicating that the proposed use of the structure and site for transitional housing is not inconsistent with any plan of the local government that may have an effect on the use of the structure and site for this purpose. This requirement is satisfied if the applicant demonstrates that it made a written request to the unit of local government for the statement and has not received the statement within 30 days of the request. (Applicants must immediately forward to HUD any written statement received from the unit of local government after the expiration of this 30-day period.)

(B) Consistency with Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan. Applicants must provide a certification from the public official responsible for submitting a Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan for the appropriate jurisdiction (as described under § 840.150) stating that the proposed project is consistent with the applicable Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan.

(vi) Displacement. Each applicant must certify that its proposed activities will not result in the temporary or permanent displacement of any person or entity. HUD will not fund applications that will cause any individual, family, partnership, corporation, or association to move from real property or to move its personal property from real property because of an actual or impending acquisition or rehabilitation of real property, in whole or in part, for a project.

(5) Maintenance of effort. Each applicant must certify that the use of assistance received under this part (and State and local government funds used to supplement this assistance) complies with § 840.125(b).

(6) Proposal feasibility. Each applicant must demonstrate that its proposal, when viewed as a whole, is operationally feasible and provides adequate housing and supportive services to serve the purposes of the transitional housing program.

§ 840.215 Ranking criteria.

(a) In general. Applications that fulfill each of the threshold requirements of § 840.210 will be assigned a rating score and will be placed in ranked order, based upon the criteria described in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Criteria. Applications will be assigned a rating and will be ranked, based on the following criteria:

(1) Applicant capacity. HUD will consider the applicant's relative ability to carry out activities under the program within a reasonable time, and in a successful manner, after the execution of the grant agreement with HUD. The factors HUD will consider in making this judgment are discussed in § 840.210(b)(2)(iii). HUD will assign the greatest number of points under this criterion to applicants that have experience in establishing and operating transitional housing for homeless persons and in providing or coordinating supportive services for its residents and that demonstrate, on the basis of prior experience, the greatest ability to carry out activities under the program expeditiously and successfully.

(2) Innovative quality of proposal. HUD will consider the innovative quality of the proposal in providing housing and supportive services for homeless persons in a manner that facilitates their transition to independent living. In assessing an application under this factor, HUD will consider the degree to which the applicant demonstrates that:

(i) The proposal uses a new or unusual approach to transitional housing that holds promise of successfully facilitating the transition of homeless persons to independent living; and

(ii) The new or unusual approach that the applicant will use would be replicable by others.

(3) Coordination of supportive services: HUD will consider:

(i) The extent to which the applicant will use other public or private entities to provide appropriate supportive services to the residents of the housing; or

(ii) If the services are to be provided directly by the applicant, the extent to which the applicant:

(A) Will provide the services with funds that are obtained from sources other than under this program and that have not been used as part of the applicant's matching contribution (see §§ 840.130 and 840.210(b)(3)), or

(B) Has demonstrated that the services are not available or readily accessible to the residents from other sources.

HUD will assign the greatest number of points under this element to applicants that meet one or more of these tests to the greatest extent.

(4) Matching. HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant proposes to match the amount of assistance to be provided by HUD under the program with more than an equal amount of funds from other sources. Matching requirements are discussed at §§ 840.130 and 840.210(b)(3).

(5) Cost effectiveness. HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant's proposed costs in acquiring or rehabilitating housing under the program, and in operating the housing and providing supportive services:

(i) Are reasonable in relation to the work done and the goods and services purchased; and

(ii) Are effective in accomplishing the purposes of the project.

§ 840.220 Environmental review.

(a) General. In the third stage of the selection process, HUD will conduct an environmental review of a number of the highest-ranked applications. Environmental reviews will not be performed on all applications ranked under the second stage. Rather, HUD will review the number of highest-rated applications necessary to ensure an adequate pool of applications for the final selection stage. Applications that do not move to this third stage of processing will not be selected for funding under this part.

(b) Environmental considerations. In conducting the environmental review, HUD will assess the environmental effects of each application in accordance with the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) (42 U.S.C. 4321) and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 50. Any application that requires an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) (generally, those applications that HUD determines would have a significant impact on the human environment, in accordance with the environmental assessment procedures at 24 CFR Part 50, Subpart E) is not eligible for funding.

(c) Rating adjustments. (1) As a result of the environmental review, HUD may find that it cannot approve an application unless adequate measures are taken to mitigate environmental impacts. (See e.g., 24 CFR Part 51). Accordingly, HUD will adjust the rating scores of such applications, based on the anticipated time delays in adopting appropriate impact mitigation measures.

(2) The environmental review often will reveal information not contained in the application that may have relevance to the selection process. HUD will make further adjustments to the ratings based on the information revealed during the environmental review.

§ 840.225 Final selection.

In the final stage of the selection process, the highest-ranked applications will be considered for final selection in accordance with their rank order, as determined under § 840.215, and any adjustments made during environmental review under § 840.220. If the top-rated applications under the ranking criteria described above involve projects that predominantly serve one geographic area, primarily serve one homeless population, or are substantially of the same project size (in terms of the number of homeless persons served), HUD may substitute one or more other highly-rated applications to ensure reasonable variety in the demonstration.

Subpart E—Program Requirements

§ 840.300 Grant agreement.

(a) General. The duty to provide transitional housing in accordance with the requirements of this part will be incorporated in a grant agreement executed by HUD and the recipient.

(b) Enforcement. HUD will enforce the obligations in the grant agreement through actions on the contract. In addition, restrictions regarding the use of structures will be contained in covenants recorded in the land records of the jurisdiction in which the structure is located.

§ 840.305 Required agreements.

Each recipient of transitional housing assistance must agree:

(a) To operate the transitional housing in accordance with this part.

(b) To conduct an ongoing assessment of the supportive services required by the residents of the project.

(c) To provide such residential supervision as HUD determines is necessary to facilitate the adequate provision of supportive services to the residents of the housing throughout the term of the commitment to operate transitional housing. Such residential supervision may include the employment of a full- or part-time residential supervisor with sufficient knowledge to provide or to supervise the provision of, supporting services to the residents of the transitional housing.

(d) To use the structure for which assistance is provided as transitional housing for not less than 10 years following the date of initial occupancy.

(e) To provide safe and sanitary housing, and to comply with all State and local housing codes, licensing requirements, and other requirements in the jurisdiction in which the housing is located regarding the condition of the structure and the operation of the transitional housing (except as provided in § 840.325).

(f) To keep any records and make any reports that HUD may require. HUD may require recipients of transitional housing assistance to monitor former residents, for a reasonable time set by HUD, to determine whether former residents made successful transitions to, and continue to reside in, permanent housing.

§ 840.310 Term of commitment and repayment of advance.

(a) General. All projects must be operated as transitional housing in accordance with this part for a term of at least 10 years from the date of initial occupancy.

(b) Repayment of advance. (1) The recipient of an acquisition/rehabilitation advance under § 840.105 must repay the advance in the amount prescribed under paragraph (b)(2) of this section and in accordance with the terms prescribed HUD.

(2) The recipient must repay the full amount of the acquisition/rehabilitation advance if the project is used for transitional housing for less than 10 years following the date of initial occupancy. For each full year that the project is used for transitional housing following the expiration of this 10-year period, the amount that the recipient will be required to pay will be reduced by one tenth of the original advance. If the project is used for transitional housing for 20 years following the date of initial occupancy, the recipient will not be required to repay any portion of the acquisition/rehabilitation advance under this section.

(3) Upon the recipient's written request, HUD may determine that a project is no longer needed for use as transitional housing, and may approve an alternate use of the project for the direct benefit of lower income persons.

For the purposes of determining the amount of the recipient's repayment obligation, such a project will continue to be treated as transitional housing as long as it is used for the approved alternate purpose.

(c) Successor-recipients. A recipient may select a successor to provide transitional housing in accordance with the recipient's obligations under this part. A successor-recipient must be approved by HUD before operation of the project may be transferred. Any obligations for the repayment of advances and for the prevention of undue benefits may remain with the original recipient or may be transferred to the successor-recipient, depending on the terms of the HUD approval.

(d) Calculation of term of commitment. The 10-year operating term commences on the date that the project is initially occupied by a homeless person for whom assistance is provided under this art. If the only assistance provided under this program is used to provide a substantial increase in the level of supportive services provided in an existing facility serving the homeless (see § 840.125(a)), the 10-year operating term commences on the date that the expanded services are first provided to the residents of the project.

The recipient must obtain, and maintain in force, property casualty insurance, with HUD named as beneficiary, in an amount at least equal to the amount of the acquisition/rehabilitation advance or the moderate rehabilitation grant provided to the recipient.

§ 840.313 Eminent domain.

A recipient whose structure is taken by eminent domain must repay the acquisiton/rehabilitation advance or the moderate rehabilitation grant provided to the recipient, to the extent that funds are available from the eminent domain proceeding.

§ 840.315 Prevention of undue benefits.

(a) General. If assistance in the form of an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or a moderate rehabilitation grant is provided for a project and the project is sold or otherwise disposed of during the 20 years following initial occupancy, the recipient must comply with such terms and conditions as HUD may prescribe to prevent the recipient from unduly benefitting from the sale or the disposition.

(b) Exception. This section does not apply to sales or dispositions that result in the continued use of the project for the direct benefit of lower income persons or where all proceeds from the sale or disposition are used to provide supportive housing.

Each homeless individual residing in trasitional housing is required to pay as rent an amount determined in accordance with section 3(a) of the United States Housing Act of 1937. Under section 3(a), each resident must pay as rent the highest of:

(a) 30 percent of the family's monthly adjusted income (adjustment factors include the number of people in the family, age of family members, medical expenses, and child care expenses);

(b) 10 percent of the family's monthly income; or

(c) if the family is receiving payments for welfare assistance from a public agency and a part of the payments, adjusted in accordance with the family's actual housing costs, is specifically designated by the agency to meet the family's housing costs, the portion of the payments that is designated. As part of its technical assistance under § 840.120, HUD will provide successful applicants with information and assistance concerning the calculation of resident rent.

§ 840.325 Resident discharge.

(a) Preemption. No State or local law, ordinance, or regulation shall have any force or effect to the extent that it prohibits, or has the effect of prohibiting, recipients from discharging residents from transitional housing at the end of the HUD-approved limit on the stay of residents in the housing.

(b) Resident contract. The recipient must execute a contract with each resident individual or family before admission to transitional housing. The contract must provide that the resident's length of stay will be limited to a stated time period approved by HUD, and that no State or local law, ordinance, or regulation shall have any force or effect to the extent that it prohibits, or has the effect of prohibiting, the recipient from discharging the resident at the end of the stated time period. The contract may contain such other terms and conditions governing the relationship between the recipient and the resident as are consistent with this part and agreed upon by the recipient and the resident.

(c) Notice of discharge at end of HUD-approved residency period. Not less than 30 calendar days before the end of the HUD-approved limit on the stay of the resident, the recipient must give the resident written notice that he or she will be discharged from the transitional housing at the end of the residency period, and will not be permitted to remain in the project after that time. The notice must be personally served on the resident, must state the date of the proposed discharge, and must inform the resident that he or she may request review of the proposed discharge date. Any request for such review must be made not later than 10 calendar days before the end of the residency period, and the review shall be limited to a determination of whether the recipient has calculated the resident's period of residence correctly.

(d) Recipient review. If the resident requests the recipient to review the discharge date contained in the notice, the recipient shall recompute the length of time that the individual or family has been a resident of the transitional housing and compare that period to the HUD-approved limit on residency. If the recipient determines that the discharge date in the notice is too early, the recipient shall withdraw the discharge notice and notify the resident of this action. Notice must be in writing and personally served upon the resident not later than five days before the discharge date in the notice of discharge. Withdrawal of a discharge notice under this clause shall not have any effect upon the recipient's service of any subsequent discharge notice on the resident.

§ 840.330 Applicability of other Federal requirements.

Use of assistance provided under this part must comply with the following additional requirements:

(a) Nondiscrimination and equal opportunity. The nondiscrimination and equal opportunity requirements that apply to the Program are discussed below. Notwithstanding the permissibility of proposals that serve designated populations of homeless persons, recipients serving a designated population of homeless persons are required, within the designated population, to comply with these requirements for nondiscrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, and handicap.

(1) The requirements of Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 (42 U.S.C. 3601–19) (Fair Housing Act) and implementing regulations; Executive Order 11063 (Equal Opportunity in Housing) and implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 107; and Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 2000d) (Nondiscrimination in Federally Assisted Programs) and implementing regulations issued at 24 CFR Part 1;

(2) The prohibitions against discrimination on the basis of age under the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 (42

U.S.C. 6101–07) and implementing regulations at 27 CFR Part 146, and the prohibitions against discrimination against handicapped individuals under section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (29 U.S.C. 794);

(3) The requirements of Executive Order 11246 (Equal Employment Opportunity) and the regulations issued under the Order at 41 CFR Chapter 60;

(4) The requirements of section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, 12 U.S.C. 1701u (Employment Opportunities for Lower Income Persons in Connection with Assisted Projects); and

(5) The requirements of Executive Orders 11625, 12432, and 12138. Consistent with HUD's responsibilities under these Orders, recipients must make efforts to encourage the use of minority and women's business enterprises in connection with funded activities.

(6) If the procedures that the recipient intends to use to make known the availability of the transitional housing are unlikely to reach persons of any particular race, color, religion, sex, age, or national origin who may qualify for admission to the housing, the recipient must establish additional procedures that will ensure that these persons are made aware of the availability of transitional housing opportunities. The recipient must also establish additional procedures that will ensure that interested persons can obtain information concerning the existence and location of services and facilities that are accessible to handicapped persons.

(b) Environmental. The National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the related authorities in 24 CFR Part 50, and the Coastal Barriers Resources Act of 1982 (16 U.S.C. 3601) are applicable to proposals under this program.

(c) Applicability of OMB Circulars. The policies, guidelines, and requirements of OMB Circular Nos. A–87 and A–102 apply to the acceptance and use of assistance under the program by governmental entities, and OMB Circular Nos. A–110 and A–122 apply to the acceptance and use of assistance by private nonprofit organizations.

(d) Lead-based paint. (1) The requirements of the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act (42 U.S.C. 4821–4846) and implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 35 (except as superseded in paragraph (d)(2) of this section) apply to the program.

(2)(i) This paragraph implements the provisions of section 302 of the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act, 42 U.S.C. 4822, by establishing procedures to eliminate, as far as practicable, the hazards of lead-based paint poisoning with respect to structures for which assistance is provided under this program. This paragraph is promulgated under 24 CFR 35.24 (b)(4) and supersedes, with respect to the program, the requirements prescribed in Subpart C of 24 CFR Part 35. The requirements of this paragraph apply to structures that will be occupied by children under seven years of age.

(ii) The following definitions apply to this paragraph(b):

Applicable surface means all exterior surfaces of a residential structure, up to five feet from the floor or ground, such as a wall, stairs, deck, porch, railing, window, or door, which are readily accessible to children under seven years of age, and all interior surfaces of a residential structure.

Chewable surface means all chewable, protruding painted surfaces up to five feet from the floor or ground, which are readily accessible to children under seven years of age: e.g., protruding corners, windowsills and frames, doors and frames, and other protruding woodworks.

Defective paint surfaces means paint on applicable surfaces that is cracking, scaling, chipping, peeling, or loose.

Elevated blood lead level or EBL means excessive absorption of lead: i.e., a confirmed concentration of lead in whole blood of 25 ug/dl (micrograms of lead per deciliter of whole blood) or greater.

Lead-based paint means a paint surface, whether or not defective, identified as having a lead content greate than or equal to 1 mg/cm^2.

(iii) In the case of a structure constructed before 1973, the applicant must inspect the structure for defective paint surfaces before it submits an application. Recipients must inspect assisted structures at least annually during the term of their operating commitment to HUD. If defective paint surfaces are found, treatment in accordance with 24 CFR 35.24(b)(2)(ii) is required. Correction of defective surfaces found during the initial inspection must be completed before initial occupancy of the project. Correction of defective paint conditions discovered at periodic inspection must be completed within 30 days of their discovery. When weather conditions prevent completion of repainting of exterior surfaces within the 30-day period, repainting may be delayed, but covering or removal of the defective paint must be completed within the prescribed period.

(iv) In the case of a structure constructed before 1973, if the recipient is presented with test results that indicate that a child under the age of seven years occupies the structure and has an elevated blood lead level (EBL), the recipient must cause the unit to be tested for lead-based paint on chewable surfaces. Testing must be conducted by a State or local health or housing agency, or by an inspector certified by a State or local health or housing agency. Lead content must be tested by using an X-ray flourescence analyzer (XRF) or other method approved by HUD. Test readings of 1 mg/cm^2 or higher using an XRF shall be considered positive for presence of lead-based paint. Where lead-based paint on chewable surfaces is identified, covering or removal of the paint surface in accordance with 24 CFR 35.24(b)(2)(ii) is required.

(v) In lieu of the procedures set forth in the preceding clause, the recipient may, at its discretion, abate all interior and exterior chewable surfaces in accordance with the methods set out at 24 CFR 35.24(b)(2)(ii).

(vi) The recipient must take appropriate action to protect tenants from hazards associated with abatement procedures.

(vii) The recipient must keep a copy of each inspection report for at least three years. If a unit requires testing, or treatment of chewable surfaces based on the testing, the recipient must keep the test results and, if applicable, the certification of treatment, indefinitely. The records must indicate which chewable surfaces in the units have been tested or treated. If records establish that certain chewable surfaces were tested, or tested and treated, in acordance with the standards prescribed in this Section, these surfaces do not have to be tested or treated at any subsequent time.

(e) Conflicts of interest. In addition to conflict of interest requirements in OMB Circulars A-102 and A-110, no person:

(1) Who is an employee, agent, consultant, officer, or elected or appointed official of the recipient, that receives assistance under the program and who exercises or has exercised any functions or responsibilities with respect to assisted activities or

(2) Who is in a position to participate in a decisionmaking process or gain inside information with regard to such activities, may obtain a personal or financial interest or benefit from the activity, or have an interest in any contract, subcontract, or agreement with respect thereto, or the proceeds thereunder, either for him or herself or for those with whom he or she has family or business ties, during his or her tenure or for one year thereafter.

(f) Use of debarred, suspended, or ineligible contractors. The provisions of 24 CFR Part 24 apply to the employment, engagement of services, awarding of contracts, or funding of any contractors or subcontractors during any period of debarment, suspension, or placement in ineligibility status.

(g) Audit. The financial management systems used by governmental entities that are recipients under this program must provide for audits in accordance with 24 CFR Part 44. Private nonprofit organization recipients are subject to the audit requirements of OMB Circular A-110. HUD may perform or require further and additional audits as it finds necessary or appropriate.

(h) Intergovernmental review. The requirements for intergovernmental review in Executive Order No. 12372 and the implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 52 are not applicable to applications under this program.

(i) Davis-Bacon Act. The provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act (40 U.S.C. 276a–276a–5) do not apply to the program.

Subpart F—Administration

§ 840.400 Obligation of funds, funding amendments and deobligation.

(a) Obligation of funds. When HUD selects an application for funding and notifies the recipient, it will obligate funds to cover the amount of the approved acquisition/rehabilitation advance, moderate rehabilitation grant and (for up to five years) annual operating costs.

(b) Increases. After the initial obligation of funds, HUD will not make any upward revisions to the amount obligated for the acquisition/rehabilitation advance, the moderate rehabilitation grant or the annual operating costs.

(c) Deobligation. (1) HUD may deobligate amounts for the acquisition/rehabilitation advance or the moderate rehabilitation grant:

(i) If the actual total costs of acquisition, substantial rehabilitation, acquisition and rehabilitation, or moderate rehabilitation, are less than the total cost anticipated in the application; or

(ii) If proposed acquisition and rehabilitation activities are not begun or completed within a reasonable time after selection.

(2)(i) HUD may deobligate the amounts for annual operating costs in any year following the first year of operations, based on the recipient's actual operating costs experience. Additionally, if a recipient's operations generate a substantial amount of resident rent (see § 840.320), HUD may adjust the operating costs allowed under the grant agreement downward, to the extent of the rent received in excess of that anticipated and budgeted in the application.

(ii) HUD may deobligate the amounts for annual operating costs if the proposed transitional housing operations are not begun within a reasonable time following selection.

(3) If, as a result of an audit, HUD determines that the recipient has expended funds for uses that are ineligible under this part, HUD may adjust or deobligate funding amounts, as appropriate, to recover the ineligible costs.

(4) The grant agreement will set forth in detail other circumstances under which funds may be deobligated and other sanctions may be imposed.

(5) HUD may:

(i) Readvertise the availability of funds that have been deobligated under this section in a notice of fund availability under § 840.200; or

(ii) Reconsider applications that were submitted in response to the most recently published notice of fund availability, and select applications for funding with deobligated funds. Such selections will be made in accordance with §§ 840.207–840.225.

Subpart A—General

§ 841.1 Applicability and scope.

(a) General. The Supportive Housing Demonstration program contained in Subtitle C of Title IV of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act is designed to develop innovative approaches for providing supportive housing, especially to deinstitutionalized homeless individuals, homeless families with children, and homeless individuals with mental disabilities and other handicapped homeless persons. Subpart B—Assistance Provided

§ 841.100 Types of assistance.

(a) Types of assistance available. Three types of assistance are available for permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons: Acquisition/rehabilitation advances, moderate rehabilitation grants, and technical assistance.

(b) Eligibility for more than one type of assistance. Applicants may be eligible for either an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or a moderate rehabilitation grant, but not both. Technical assistance will be available only in connection with an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or a moderate rehabilitation grant.

§ 841.105 Acquisition/rehabilitation advances.

(a) Use. HUD will advance sums to recipients to defray the cost of the acquisition, substantial rehabilitation, or acquisition and rehabilitation of existing structures selected by the recipients for use in the provision of permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons.

(b) Amount. The acquisition/rehabilitaiton advance may not exceed the lesser of

(1) $200,000; or

(2) 50 percent of the aggregate cost of acquisition, substantial rehabilitation, or acquisition and rehabilitation (see § 841.125 for a full discussion of the 50 percent matching requirement).

(c) Terms of the advance. Advances are interest-free, and if the conditions described in § 841.310 are met, are not subject to repayment. The sale or disposition of a structure acquired or rehabilitated with an advance is subject to the requirements of § 841.315.

§ 841.110 Moderate rehabilitation grants.

(a) Use. HUD will make grants to recipients to defray the cost of rehabilitation of existing structures selected by the recipients for use in the provision of permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons.

(b) Amount. (1) The moderate rehabilitation grant may not exceed the lesser of

(i) The project limit; or

(ii) 50 percent of the cost of rehabilitation (see § 841.125 for a full discussion of the 50 percent matching requirement).

(2) For purposes of this section, "project limit" means the amount determined by HUD by multiplying the number of units of each unit type in the project times the unit cost for that unit. The cumulative total for all unit types is the project limit. The unit cost limits are:

(i) $5,000 (A) per bedroom unit, in single room occupancy housing (i.e., a unit which contains no sanitary facilities or food preparation facilities, or which contains one but not both types of facilities, and which is suitable for occupancy by a single individual);

(B) Per bedroom unit, in a group home; or

(C) Per unit without a bedroom, in other types of projects; and

(ii) $7,000 per unit with one or more bedrooms, in other types of projects.

(c) Terms of the grant. The sale or disposition of a structure rehabilitated with a grant under this section is subject to the requirements of § 841.315.

§ 841.115 Technical assistance.

Technical assistance will be offered only in connection with an award of funds under § 841.105 or § 841.110. Technical assistance is offered to recipients through HUD field offices in such matters as the computation of resident rent under § 841.320, compliance with other Federal requirements under § 841.330, and engineering recommendations and other advice on rehabilitation plans and work write-ups. HUD will also facilitate the exchange of information among recipients and program sponsors, and help recipients and program sponsors to learn from the experience of other participants in the program.

§ 841.120 Limitations on use of assistance.

(a) Funding of existing housing facilities and programs. (1) HUD will not provide acquisition/rehabilitation advances or moderate rehabilitation grants for existing facilities or programs that currently serve homeless persons, unless the applicant proposes:

(i) A substantial increase in the number of handicapped homeless persons for whom permanent housing will be provided;

(ii) A substantial increase in the level of supportive services to be provided to handicapped homeless persons; or

(iii) A substantial change in the use of existing facilities, e.g., if existing facilities for the homeless that are not currently used for permanent housing (such as an emergency shelter for the homeless) will be used to provide permanent housing, or if an applicant currently providing permanent housing for one population of handicapped homeless persons proposes to serve an additional or alternative segment of the handicapped homeless population.

(2) If an application seeking funding of existing housing facilities and programs is selected for funding, assistance under this part will be limited to 50 percent of the cost of acquisition/rehabilitation or 50 percent of the cost of moderate rehabilitation, attributable to the increased number of handicapped homeless persons for whom permanent housing would be provided, the increased level of supportive services to be provided, or the change in use.

(b) Maintenance of effort. No assistance received under this part (or any State or local government funds used to supplement this assistance) may be used to replace funds provided in the State under any State or local government assistance program, if the funds provided under the State or local government assistance program were used to assist handicapped persons, homeless individuals, or handicapped homeless persons during the calendar year preceding the date of the application, or were designated for such use through an official action of the applicable governmental entity during the calendar year preceding the date of the application.

(c) Leases. (1) Acquisition/rehabilitation advances are not available to defray the costs of acquiring a lease on existing property.

(2) Acquisition/rehabilitation advances and moderate rehabilitation grants are available for the rehabilitation of leased property. To receive an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or a moderate rehabilitation grant, the lease must run for a term of at least 10 years after the date of initial occupancy of the housing.

(d) New construction. Assistance under this part may not be used for the new construction of housing. Assistance is limited to permanent housing provided in existing structures.

(e) Primarily religious organizations—(1) Provision of assistance. (i) HUD will not provide assistance to a recipient that will use a project sponsor that is a primarily religious organization, unless the primarily religious organization agrees to provide housing and supportive services in a manner that is free from religious influence and in accordance with other conditions described in the grant agreement.

(ii) HUD will not provide assistance to a recipient that will use a project sponsor that is a primarily religious organization, if the assistance will be used to acquire a structure to be owned by the project sponsor or to rehabilitate a structure owned by the project sponsor.

(2) Permanent housing provided in structures owned by primarily religious organizations. The acquisition/rehabilitation advance and the moderate rehabilitation grant may not be used to rehabilitate a structure that is owned by a primarily religious organization, unless;

(i) The structure (or portion of the structure) that is to be rehabilitated with the HUD assistance has been leased to a wholly secular private nonprofit organization that will serve as the project sponsor, or to the recipient;

(ii) The HUD assistance will be provided to the project sponsor or to the recipient to make the improvements, rather than to the primarily religious organization;

(iii) The leased structure will be used exclusively for secular purposes available to all persons regardless of religion;

(iv) The lease payments provided to the primarily religious organization do not exceed the fair market rent of the structure without the rehabilitation;

(v) The cost of improvements that benefit any portion of the structure that is not used for the provision of permanent housing assisted under this part will be allocated to and paid for by the primarily religious organization; and

(vi) The primarily religious organization agrees that if the project sponsor or the recipient does not retain the use of the leased premises for wholly secular purposes for the useful life of the improvements, the primarily religious organization will pay an amount equal to the residual value of the improvements to the project sponsor or recipient that will remit the amount to HUD.

(3) Assistance to a wholly secular private nonprofit organization established by a primarily religious organization. (i) If a primarily religious organization is foreclosed from direct participation as a project sponsor under the requirements set forth in paragraph (e)(2) of this section, the primarily religious organization may establish a wholly secular private nonprofit organization to serve as the project sponsor under this part.

(A) The wholly secular organization must agree to provide housing and supportive services in a manner that is free from religious influences and in accordance with other terms described in the grant agreement.

(B) The wholly secular organization may enter into a management contract with the primarily religious organization to operate the facility, including the provision of supportive services. In such a case, the primarily religious organization must agree in the management contract to carry out its contractual responsibilities in a manner free from religious influences and in accordance with conditions prescribed by HUD.

(C) The acquisition/rehabilitation advance and the moderate rehabilitation grant are subject to the requirements of paragraph (e)(2) of this section.

(ii) HUD will not require the primarily religious organization to establish the wholly secular organization before the selection of the application. In such a case, the applicant must name the wholly secular organization as the project sponsor in the application. In determining whether the wholly secular organization is financially responsible, the applicant may consider the primarily religious organization's financial responsibility and its commitment to provide appropriate resources to the project sponsor upon its formation, in addition to the other factors listed under § 841.210(b)(2)(ii)(B). The project sponsor's capacity to carry out activities under §§ 841.210(b)(2)(iii) and 841.215(b)(1), may be based on the primarily religious organization's capacity and its commitment to provide appropriate resources to the project sponsor after its formation. The requirement that the recipient or project sponsor must have site control (§ 841.210(b)(4)(v)(A), may be satisfied if the applicant demonstrates that the primarily religious organization has site control and has a commitment to transfer control of the site to the recipient or the project sponsor following selection. Since the wholly secular organization will not be in existence at the time of the application, it will be required to demonstrate that it meets the definition of private nonprofit organization and has the appropriate legal authority to participate in the program following selection (see § 841.210(b)(2)(i) and (iv)). If such an application is selected for funding, the obligation of funds will be conditioned upon the compliance with these requirements.

(f) Structures used for multiple purposes. Structures used to provide permanent housing may also be used for other purposes. For example, a structure may contain facilities for an emergency shelter as well as permanent housing, may be used to provide supportive services to the public at large, or may include commercial space. Under these circumstances, however, the acquisition/rehabilitation advance and the moderate rehabilitation grant will be available only in proportion to the use of the structure for permanent housing.

(g) Administrative costs. No more than five percent of an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or moderate rehabilitation grant provided under this part may be used for administrative purposes.

§ 841.125 Matching requirements.

(a) General. (1) The recipient must match the assistance provided by HUD with at least an equal amount of State or local government funds that will be used solely for acquisition, rehabilitation or moderate rehabilitation. At least 50 percent of the recipient's matching contribution must be State government funds.

(2) HUD may waive all or part of the requirement that at least 50 percent of the recipient's matching contribution must be State government funds, if HUD determines that:

(i) The State is experiencing a severe financial hardship that makes it unable to provide 50 percent of the recipient's matching contribution and

(ii) The local governments of the areas to be served by the project will contribute additional funds in an aggregate amount equal to the amount of the State contribution waived by HUD.

(3) Except for funds made available to the State or local government under HUD's Community Development Block Grant program, funds provided by the Federal government under federally assisted programs are not State or local government funds, and may not be used to compute the State or local government matching contribution.

(b) Assistance categories. The recipient must fulfill the matching requirement for the acquisition/rehabilitation advance and the moderate rehabilitation grant. No match is required for technical assistance.

(c) "In-kind" contributions. Matching contributions under this section must be State or local government funds. "In-kind" contributions are excluded from the matching computation.

(d) Other requirements. State or local government funds used in the matching contribution are subject to the requirements governing the funding of existing housing facilities and programs and the maintenance of effort requirements described at §§ 841.120 (a) and (b).

§ 841.130 Assistance under other HUD programs.

(a) Supplemental assistance. HUD will permit the use of additional assistance for permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons in connection with the program of Supplemental Assistance for Facilities to Assist the Homeless contained in Subtitle D of Title IV of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act.

(b) Ineligible projects. HUD will not assist a project under this part if the project involves a structure that is assisted, or residents of the structure will receive assistance, under the United States Housing Act of 1937; section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959; section 221(d)(3) (BMIR) or section 236 of the National Housing Act; or section 101 of the Housing and Urban Development Act.

(c) HUD-owned properties. HUD, in cooperation with PHAs and local government, will make HUD-owned single family properties in its inventory available to parties for purchase for use in connection with permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons. To obtain these properties, parties may request a listing of available properties from the HUD Field Office, Property Disposition Branch. If a party wishes to purchase a property or properties, it must request the PHA or unit of local government to enter into a lease/option agreement with HUD. Under the terms of the agreement, HUD will lease the property to the PHA or unit of local government for six months for one dollar. The lease/option agreement will state that the PHA or unit of local government may purchase the property at a stated price during the lease period, and will require the PHA or unit of local government to assign all rights under the agreement to the party. Applicants demonstrating an assignment of rights under a lease/option agreement at the time their application is filed will be regarded as having site control of the property under § 841.210(b)(4)(v)(A). If the option is not exercised, the lease/option agreement will expire at the end of six months, and the property will be returned to HUD's inventory.

§ 841.150 Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan.

(a) Prohibition of assistance. Assistance under this part may not be provided to an applicant, unless the applicant has a HUD-approved Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan.

(b) Notification of Plan requirements. HUD will publish the requirements that pertain to the Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan in the Federal Register, as necessary. Prospective applicants should familiarize themselves with these requirements.

Subpart D—Application and Selection Process

§ 841.200 Notice of fund availability.

When funds are made available for assistance for permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons, HUD will publish a notice of fund availability in the Federal Register. The notice will:

(a) Give the location for obtaining application packages that provide specific application requirements and guidance;

(b) Specify the time and the place for submitting completed applications;

(c) State the amount of funding available under the notice; and

(d) Provide other appropriate program information and guidance.

§ 841.205 Application requirements.

(a) General. Applicants must submit applications for assistance under this part in the form and within the time periods established by HUD.

(b) Application requirements. At a minimum, HUD will require applications to include:

(1) Applicant and project sponsor data (identity, evidence of eligibility, description of project sponsor's past experience, and legal authority to submit the application and to operate the proposed housing);

(2) A description of the size and characteristics of the handicapped homeless population that will occupy the permanent housing (including a description of the handicapped homeless population to be served, number of individuals to be served in the project, and supportive services required by the proposed residents);

(3) A description of the proposed project, including:

(i) Information regarding the structure to be used (including site control and zoning data, information concerning the consistency of the proposal with local government plans, and a description of the structure and of any proposed rehabilitation);

(ii) A narrative description of the proposed operations (including the supportive services to be offered to the residents, the method that will be used to provide or coordinate the provision of such services, and procedures for resident selection and assessment);

(4) A certification of consistency with the applicable Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan as described under § 841.210(b)(4)(vi)(B);

(5) Project financial data (amount of assistance requested, a description of the State and local government funds that are expected to be made available to comply with the matching requirements of § 841.125, and a certification or a request for waiver as described under § 841.210(b)(3)(ii);

(6) Assurances satisfactory to HUD that the project will be operated for not less than 10 years in accordance with this part;

(7) A letter of participation as described in § 841.210(b)(2)(ii)(A), an assessment of how the proposal will meet the needs of handicapped homeless persons as described in § 841.210(b)(4)(i)(B), the designation of State agencies as described in § 841.210(b)(4)(ii)(D), and a maintenance of effort certification as described in § 841.210(b)(5);

(8) A certification that the project sponsor has agreed to fulfill the requirements set forth in § 841.305; and

(9) Other data as prescribed by HUD.

§ 841.207 Selection process.

The selection process for applications for assistance under this part has four stages:

(a) The threshold stage (see § 841.210),

(b) The ranking stage (see § 841.215),

(c) The environmental stage (see § 841.220); and

(d) The final selection stage (see § 841.225).

§ 841.210 Threshold requirements.

(a) General. To be eligible for evaluation under the ranking criteria set out in § 841.215, applications must meet each of the threshold criteria described below (as modified for wholly secular private nonprofit organizations established by primarily religious organizations under § 841.120(e)). If HUD determines that an application fails to meet the threshold criteria in paragraph (b)(3) (matching), (b)(4)(v)(A)

(site control), or (b)(4)(v)(B) (zoning) of this section, that these are the only deficiencies in the application under the threshold criteria, and that the deficiencies are correctable, HUD may contact the applicant, identify the deficiencies, explain how the deficiencies can be corrected, and require the applicant to correct the deficiencies. HUD will establish a deadline for the submission of the additional information that will permit the Department to meet its deadlines for final selection. Applications that fail to meet all threshold criteria, including those that have not been corrected within any additional time provided by HUD, will not be eligible for assistance under this part.

(b) Threshold criteria. The threshold criteria are:

(1) Form, time, and adequacy of the application. The application must be filed in the application form prescribed by HUD under § 841.205 and within the time period established by HUD in the notice of funds availability under § 841.200.

(2) Applicant and project sponsor—(i) Eligibility to receive assistance. The applicant must be the State in which the permanent housing is to be located and must demonstrate that the project sponsor is a private nonprofit organization.

(ii) Financial responsibility. (A) HUD has determined, for purposes of this part, that all applicants are financially responsible. Applicants, however, must provide a letter of participation from the Governor or other chief executive officer of the State, containing assurances that the applicant will promptly transmit assistance to the project sponsor and will facilitate the provision of necessary supportive services to the residents of the project.

(B) The applicant must demonstrate that the project sponsor has been approved by the Governor or other chief executive official of the State as to financial responsibility. In making its determination of financial responsibility, the applicant must consider factors such as the past financial history of the project sponsor, its current and anticipated financial outlook, the amount of funding that will be committed under the proposal, and its other financial responsibilities.

(iii) Capacity. Applicants must demonstrate that the project sponsor has the ability to carry out activities under this part within a reasonable time after execution of the grant agreement with HUD, and in a successful manner. In making this determination, HUD will consider the extent and quality of the project sponsor's past experience in establishing and operating housing or in providing or coordinating supportive services. HUD also will consider the ability of the project sponsor's personnel to perform administrative, managerial, and operational functions necessary to the successful development and operation of permanent housing.

(iv) Legal authority. Each applicant must:

(A) Demonstrate that it and the project sponsor have the legal authority to participate in the program and to carry out activities in accordance with program requirements and the requirements of other applicable Federal law; and

(B) Certify that a resolution, motion, or similar action has been duly adopted or passed as an official act by the governing body of the applicant and the project sponsor, authorizing the submission of the application under this part.

(3) Matching—(i) Certification. Each applicant must provide a certification stating:

(A) That it will match the amount of the assistance to be provided under this part with at least an equal amount of State or local government funds that will be used solely for acquisition or rehabilitation, and

(B) That at least 50 percent of this matching contribution will be made up of State government funds.

The applicant must also indicate the extent to which it will supplement assistance under this part with amounts in addition to those specified in the preceding paragraph.

(ii) Waiver. If the applicant cannot certify that at least 50 percent of the matching contribution will be composed of State government funds, it must demonstrate that it is eligible for a waiver of this requirement under § 841.125(a)(2).

(4) Proposed housing and supportive services—(i) Need. (A) The applicant must demonstrate that an unmet need for the proposed permanent housing exists in the area to be served and that this need is likely to continue through the term of the commitment to HUD. Need may be demonstrated by information such as:

(1) Estimates, based on past experience in the community, of unmet demand for the proposed permanent housing by the handicapped homeless persons to be served;

(2) Present need for the proposed permanent housing, based on estimates of the population of handicapped homeless persons to be served; or

(3) Projections of future need for the proposed permanent housing.

Applicants may use relevant information contained in the Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan to demonstrate an unmet need for the proposed permanent housing.

(B) Each applicant must provide an assessment of how the proposed project will meet the needs of handicapped homeless persons in the State.

(ii) Adequacy of the proposed supportive services. (A) Each applicant must demonstrate that the supportive services proposed (including the residential supervision to be provided) appropriately address the needs of the handicapped homeless population to be served, and are sufficient to serve the purposes of the proposed permanent housing program.

(B) In determining the adequacy of proposed services, HUD will assess the supportive services to be provided to the residents by the applicant, by the project sponsor, and through other private and public organizations. Supportive services may be provided on-site, or off-site if the services are readily accessible to the handicapped homeless population to be served. Services are readily accessible if residents can get to the services on their own, or if transportation is provided to the site where the services are provided.

(C) Where services are to be provided through private or public organizations other than the applicant or the project sponsor, the applicant must secure a letter of intent from each organization, indicating its willingness and ability to provide the services to the residents of the housing, and must attach these letters to the application.

(D) Applicants must designate the State agency that has primary responsibility for providing services to the handicapped and that will assist the State housing finance agency (or other state agency) in fulfilling the State's responsibilities under this part. If the agency designated is not the agency responsible for the overall administration of the project, the applicant must also designate the administering agency.

(iii) Adequacy of the proposed housing. (A) Applicants must demonstrate that the proposed structures and sites are appropriate for the provision of housing and supportive services for the handicapped homeless population proposed to be served. When determining whether a structure will be suitable for the provision of permanent housing, HUD will consider whether the structures are designed to permit the provision of proposed on-site supportive services, and whether any proposed off-site supportive services are readily accessible.

(B) The applicant must demonstrate that the design of the project and its location within a community will ensure that the housing will be provided in a residential, rather than an institutional, setting and that the project will be integrated into the neighborhood in which it is located. If the permanent housing involves a group home, no more than one home may be located on one site, and no home may be located on a site that is contiguous to another site containing such a home.

(iv) Limitation on number of residents. The applicant must demonstrate that the number of residents served by the project will not exceed the limitation contained in § 841.325.

(v) Siting and zoning. Except as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, applicants must meet the following three siting and zoning requirements at the time of the application:

(A) The applicant must demonstrate that it or the project sponsor has control of the site involved. For example, the applicant may demonstrate that it (or the project sponsor) owns or has an option to purchase, or leases or has an option to lease, the structure involved; and

(B) The applicant must demonstrate that the proposed use of the site is permissible under applicable zoning ordinances and regulations; or provide a statement describing the proposed actions necessary to make the use of the site permissible under applicable zoning ordinances and regulations, and demonstrate that there is a reasonable basis to believe that the proposed zoning actions will be completed successfully and within 4 months following the submission of the application.

(C) The applicant must submit a statement that the proposed project is not located in any 100-year floodplain, as designated by maps prepared by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). If 50 percent or more of the living space in the structure is designed for residents with mobility impairments, the applicant must submit a statement that the project is not located in any 500-year floodplain, as designated on FEMA maps.

(vi) Consistency with government plans—(A) Consistency with local government plans. Applicants must furnish a written statement from the unit of general local government in which the proposed permanent housing is proposed to be located, indicating that the proposed use of the structure and site for permanent housing is not inconsistent with any plan of the local government that may have an effect on the use of the structure and site for this purpose. This requirement is satisfied if the applicant demonstrates that it made a written request to the unit of local government for the statement and has not received the statement within 30 days of the request. (Applicants must immediately forward to HUD any written statement received from the unit of local government after the expiration of this 30-day period.)

(B) Consistency with Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan. Applicants must provide a certification from the State official responsible for submitting the Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan, stating that the proposed project is consistent with the Plan.

(vii) Displacement. Each applicant must certify that its proposed activities will not result in the temporary or permanent displacement of any person or entity. HUD will not fund applications that will cause any individual, family, partnership, corporation, or association to move from real property or to move its personal property from real property because of an actual or impending acquisition or rehabilitation of real property, in whole or in part, for a project.

(5) Maintenance of effort. Each applicant must certify that the use of assistance received under this part (and State or local government funds used to supplement this assistance) complies with § 841.120(b).

(6) Proposal feasibility. Each applicant must demonstrate that its proposal, when viewed as a whole, is operationally feasible and provides adequate housing and supportive services to serve the purposes of the permanent housing program.

§ 841.215 Ranking criteria.

(a) In general. Applications that fulfill each of the threshold requirements of § 841.210 will be assigned a rating score and will be placed in ranked order, based upon the criteria described in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Criteria. Applications will be assigned a rating and will be ranked, based upon the following criteria:

(1) Project sponsor capacity. HUD will consider the project sponsor's relative ability to carry out activities under the program within a reasonable time, and in a successful manner, after the execution of the grant agreement with HUD. The factors HUD will consider in making this judgment are discussed in § 841.210(b)(2)(iii). HUD will assign the greatest number of points under this criterion to applications involving project sponsors that have experience in establishing and operating permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons and in providing or coordinating supportive services for its residents, and that demonstrate, on the basis of prior experience, the greatest ability to carry out activities under the program expeditiously and successfully.

(2) Innovative quality of proposal. HUD will consider the innovative quality of the proposal in providing permanent housing and supportive services for handicapped homeless persons. In assessing an application under this factor, HUD will consider the degree to which the applicant demonstrates that:

(i) The proposal uses a new or unusual approach that holds promise of successfully providing permanent housing and supportive services to handicapped homeless persons.

(ii) The new or unusual approach that the applicant will use would be replicable by others.

(3) Matching. HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant proposes to match the amount of assistance to be provided by HUD with more than an equal amount of funds from State or local government funds. Requirements for matching amounts are discussed at §§ 841.125 and 841.210(b)(3).

(4) Cost effectiveness. HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant's proposed costs in acquiring or rehabilitating housing under the program:

(i) Are reasonable in relation to the work done and the goods and services purchased; and

(ii) Are effective in accomplishing the purposes of the project.

(5) Project quality. HUD will consider the extent to which the project will meet the needs of handicapped homeless persons in the State (as described in the State's assessment of needs submitted under § 841.210(b)(4)(i)(B)). HUD will assign the greatest number of points under this criterion to applications that will best provide permanent housing and supportive services addressing the needs of handicapped homeless persons, as identified in the assessment.

§ 841.220 Environmental review.

(a) General. In the third stage of the selection process, HUD will conduct an environmental review of a number of the highest-ranked applications. Environmental reviews will not be performed on all applications ranked under the second stage. Rather, HUD will review the number of highest-rated applications necessary to ensure an adequate pool of applications for the final selection stage. Any application that does not move to this third stage of processing will not be selected for funding.

(b) Environmental considerations. In conducting the environmental review, HUD will assess the environmental effects of each application in accordance with the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) (42 U.S.C. 4321) and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 50. Any application that requires an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) (generally, those applications that HUD determines would have a significant impact on the human environment, in accordance with the environmental asssessment procedures at 24 CFR Part 50, Subpart E) is not eligible for funding under this part.

(c) Rating adjustments. (1) As a result of the environmental review, HUD may find that it cannot approve an application unless adeqaute measures are taken to mitigate environmental impacts. (See e.g., 24 CFR Part 51). Accordingly, HUD will adjust the rating scores of such applications, based on the anticipated time delays in adopting appropriate impact mitigation measures.

(2) The environmental review often will reveal information not contained in the application that may have relevance to the selection process. HUD will make further adjustments to the ratings based on the information revealed during the environmental review.

§ 841.225 Final selection.

In the final stage of the selection process, the highest-ranked applications will be considered for final selection in accordance with their rank order, as determined under § 841.215, and any adjustments made during environmental review under § 841–220. If the top-rated applications under the ranking criteria described above involve projects that predominantly serve one geographic area or primarily serve one type of handicapped homeless population, HUD may substitute one or more other highly-rated applications to ensure reasonable variety in the demonstration.

Subpart E—Program Requirements

§ 841.300 Grant agreement.

(a) General. The duty to provide permanent housing in accordance with the requirements of this part will be incorporated in a grant agreement executed by HUD and the recipient.

(b) Enforcement. HUD will enforce the obligations in the grant agreement through actions on the contract. In addition, restrictions regarding the use of structures will be contained in covenants recorded in the land records of the jurisdiction in which the structure is located.

§ 841.305 Required agreements.

Each recipient of assistance for permanent housing for handicapped homeless persons must require the project sponsor to agree:

(a) To operate a project providing permanent housing in accordance with this part.

(b) To conduct an ongoing assessment of the supportive services required by the residents of the project.

(c) To provide such residential supervison as HUD determines is necessary to facilitate the adequate provision of supportive services to the residents of the housing throughout the term of the commitment to operate permanent housing. Such residential supervision may include the employment of a full-or part-time residential supervisor with sufficient knowledge to provide, or to supervise the provision of, supportive services to the residents of permanent housing.

(d) To use the structure for which assistance is provided as permanent housing for not less than 10 years following the date of initial occupancy.

(e) To provide safe and sanitary housing, and to comply with all State and local housing codes, licensing requirements, and other requirements regarding the condition of the structure and the operation of the permanent housing.

(f) To keep any records and make any reports that HUD may require.

§ 841.310 Term of commitment and repayment of advance.

(a) General. All projects must be operated as permanent housing in accordance with this part for a term of at least 10 years from the date of initial occupancy.

(b) Repayment of advance. (1) The recipient of an acquisition/rehabilitation advance under § 841.105 must repay the advance in the amount prescribed under paragraph (b) (2) of this section and in accordance with the terms prescribed by HUD.

(2) The recipient must repay the full amount of the acquisition/rehabilitation advance if the project is used for permanent housing for less than 10 years following the date of initial occupancy. For each full year that the project is used for permanent housing following the expiration of this 10-year period, the amount that the recipient will be required to pay will be reduced by one-tenth of the original advance. If the project is used for permanent housing for 20 years following the date of initial occupancy, the recipient will not be required to repay any portion of the acquisition/rehabilitation advance under this section.

(3) Upon the recipient's written request, HUD may determine that a project is no longer needed for use as permanent housing, and may approve an alternate use of the project for the direct benefit of lower income persons. For the purposes of determining the amount of the recipient's repayment obligation, such a project will continue to be treated as permanent housing as long as it is used for the approved alternate purpose.

(c) Successors. A recipient may select a new project sponsor to operate the housing in accordance with the project sponsor's obligations under this part. The successor-project sponsor must be approved by HUD before operations of the project may be transferred.

(d) Calculation of term of commitment. The 10-year operation term commences on the date that the project is initially occupied by a handicapped homeless person for whom assistance is provided under this part. If the only assistance provided under this program is used to provide a substantial increase in the level of supportive services provided in an existing facility serving the homeless (see § 841.120(a)), the 10-year operating term commences on the date that the expanded services are first provided to the residents of the project.

The recipient must obtain, and maintain in force, property casualty insurance, with HUD named as beneficiary, in an amount at least equal to the amount of the acquisition/rehabilitation advance or the moderate rehabilitation grant provided to the recipient.

§ 841.313 Eminent domain.

A recipient whose structure is taken by eminent domain must repay the acquisition/rehabilitation advance or the moderate rehabilitation grant provided to the recipient, to the extent that funds are available from the eminent domain proceeding.

§ 841.315 Prevention of undue benefits.

(a) General. If assistance in the form of an acquisition/rehabilitation advance or a moderate rehabilitation grant is provided for a project and the project is sold or otherwise disposed of during the 20 years following initial occupancy of the project, the recipient must comply with such terms and conditions as HUD may prescribe to prevent the recipient from unduly benefitting from the sale or the disposition.

(b) Exception. This section does not apply to sales or dispositions that result in the continued use of the project for the direct benefit of lower income persons or where all proceeds from the sale or disposition are used to provide supportive housing.

Each homeless individual residing in permanent housing is required to pay as rent an amount determined in accordance with section 3(a) of the United States Housing Act of 1937. Under section 3(a), each resident must pay as rent the highest of

(a) 30 percent of the family's monthly adjusted income (adjustment factors include the number of people in the family, age of family members, medical expenses, and child care expenses);

(b) 10 percent of the family's monthly income; or

(c) If the family is receiving payments for welfare assistance from a public agency and a part of the payments, adjusted in accordance with the family's actual housing costs, is specifically designated by the agency to meet the family's housing costs, the portion of the payments that is designated.

As part of its technical assistance under § 841.115, HUD will provide successful applicants with information and assistance concerning the calculation of resident rent.

§ 841.325 Number of residents.

If the permanent housing consists of dwelling units in a rental building, a condominium, or a cooperative, the project may not serve more than eight handicapped homeless persons, and the homeless families of the eight handicapped homeless persons (if the head of the family or the spouse of the head of the family is a handicapped homeless person). If the permanent housing is a group home, the project may not serve more than eight handicapped homeless persons, and may not serve the families of the handicapped homeless persons.

§ 841.330 Applicability of other Federal requirements.

Use of the assistance provided under this part must comply with the following additional requirements:

(a) Nondiscrimination and equal opportunity. The nondiscrimination and equal opportunity requirements that apply to the Program are discussed below. Nothwithstanding the permissibility of proposals that serve designated populations of handicapped homeless persons, recipients and project sponsors serving a designated population of handicapped homeless persons are required, within the designated population, to comply with these requirements for nondiscrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, and handicap.

(1) The requirements of Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 (42 U.S.C. 3601–19) (Fair Housing Act) and implementing regulations; Executive Order 11063 (Equal Opportunity in Housing) and implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 107; and Title IV of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 2000d) (Nondiscrimination in Federally Assisted Programs) and implementing regulations issued at 24 CFR Part 1;

(2) The prohibitions against discrimination on the basis of age under the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 (42 U.S.C. 6101–07) and implementing regulations at 24 CFR Partr 146, and the prohibitions against discrimination against handicapped individuals under section 504 of the Rehibilitation Act of 1973 (29 U.S.C. 794);

(3) The requirements of Executive Order 11246 (Equal Employment Opportunity) and the regulations issued under the Order at 41 CFR Chapter 60;

(4) The requirements of section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, 12 U.S.C. 1701u (Employment Opportunities for Lower Income Persons in Connection with Assisted Projects); and

(5) The requirements of Executive Orders 11625, 12432, and 12138. Consistent with HUD's responsibilities under these Orders, recipients and project sponsors must make efforts to encourage the use of minority and women's business enterprises in connection with funded activities.

(6) If the procedures that the recipient or project sponsor intends to use to make known the availability of the permanent housing are unlikely to reach persons of any particular race, color, religion, sex, age, or national origin who may qualify for admission to the housing, the recipient or project sponsor must establish additional procedures that will ensure that these persons are made aware of the availability of permanent housing opportunities. The recipient and the project sponsor must also establish additional procedures that will ensure that interested persons can obtain information concerning the existence and location of services and facilities that are accessible to handicapped persons.

(b) Environmental. The National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the related authorities in 24 CFR Part 50, and the Coastal Barriers Resources Act of 1982 (16 U.S.C. 3601) are applicable to proposals under this program.

(c) Applicability of OMB Circulars. The policies, guidelines, and requirements of OMB Circular Nos. A–87 and A–102 apply to the acceptance and use of assistance under the program by governmental entities, and OMB Circular Nos. A–110 and A–122 apply to the acceptance and use of assistance by private nonprofit organizations.

(d) Lead-based paint. (1) The requirements of the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act (42 U.S.C. 4821–4846) and implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 35 (except as superseded in paragraph (d)(2) of this section) apply to the program.

(2)(i) This paragraph implements the provisions of section 302 of the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act, 42 U.S.C. 4822, by establishing procedures to eliminate, as far as practicable, the hazards of lead-based paint poisoning with respect to structures for which assistance is provided under this program. This paragraph is promulgated under 24 CFR 35.24(b)(4) and supersedes, with respect to the program, the requirements prescribed in Subpart C of 24 CFR Part 35. The requirements of this paragraph apply to structures that will be occupied by children under seven years of age.

(ii) The following definitions apply to this paragraph (b):

Applicable surface means all exterior surfaces of a residential structure, up to five feet from the floor or ground, such as a wall, stairs, deck, porch, railing, window, or door, which are readily accessible to children under seven years of age, and all interior surfaces of a residential structure.

Chewable surface means all chewable protruding painted surfaces up to five feet from the floor or ground, which are readily accessible to children under seven years of age, e.g., protruding corners, windowsills and frames, doors and frames, and other protruding woodworks.

Defective paint surfaces means paint on applicable surfaces that is cracking, scaling, chipping, peeling, or loose.

Elevated blood lead level or EBL means excessive absorpiton of lead: that is, a confirmed concentration of lead in whole blood of 25 ug/dl (micrograms of lead per deciliter of whole blood) or greater.

Lead-based paint means a paint surface, whether or not defective, identified as having a lead content greater than or equal to 1 mg/cm^2.

(iii) In the case of a structure constructed before 1973, the applicant must inspect the structure for defective paint surfaces before it submits an application. Recipients must inspect assisted structures at least annually during the term of their operating commitment to HUD. If defective paint surfaces are found, treatment in accordance with 24 CFR 35.24(b)(2)(ii) is required. Correction of defective surfaces found during the initial inspection must be completed before initial occupancy of the project. Correction of defective paint conditions discovered at periodic inspection must be completed within 30 days of their discovery. When weather conditions prevent completion of repainting of exterior surfaces within the 30-day period, repainting may be delayed, but covering or removal of the defective paint must be completed within the prescribed period.

(iv) In the case of a structure constructed before 1973, if the recipient is presented with test results that indicate that a child under the age of seven years occupies the structure and has an elevated blood lead level (EBL), the recipient must cause the unit to be tested for lead-based paint on chewable surfaces. Testing must be conducted by a State or local health or housing agency, or by an inspector certified by a State or local health or housing agency. Lead content must be tested by using an X-ray flourescence analyzer (XRF) or other method approved by HUD. Test readings of 1 mg/cm^2 or higher using an XRF shall be considered positive for presence of lead-based paint. Where lead-based paint on chewable surfaces is identified, covering or removal of the paint surface in accordance with 24 CFR 35.24(b)(2)(ii) is required.

(v) In lieu of the procedures set forth in the preceding clause, the recipient may, at its discretion, abate all interior and exterior chewable surfaces in accordance with the methods set out at 24 CFR 35.24(b)(2)(ii).

(vi) The recipient must take appropriate action to protect tenants from hazards associated with abatement procedures.

(vii) The recipient must keep a copy of each inspection report for at least three years. If a unit requires testing, or treatment of chewable surfaces based on the testing, the recipient must keep the test results and, if applicable, the certification of treatment, indefinitely. The records must indicate which chewable surfaces in the units have been tested or treated. If records establish that certain chewable surfaces were tested, or tested and treated, in accordance with the standards prescribed in this Section, these surfaces do not have to be tested or treated at any subsequent time.

(3) Applicants and recipients under this part may require project sponsors to comply with some or all of the requirements of this paragraph (d). The applicant or recipient, however, must ensure that the program sponsor carriers out all requirements in accordance with the paragraph, and must retain ultimate responsibility for complying with the requirements of this paragraph.

(e) Conflicts of interest. In addition to conflict of interest requirements in OMB Circulars A-102 and A-110, no person:

(1) Who is an employee, agent, consultant, officer, or elected or appointed official of the recipient or the project sponsor, that receives assistance under the program and who exercises or has exercised any functions or responsibilities with respect to assisted activities or

(2) Who is in a position to participate in a decisionmaking process or gain inside information with regard to such activities, may obtain a personal or financial interest or benefit from the activity, or have an interest in any contract, subcontract, or agreement with respect thereto, or the proceeds thereunder, either for him or herself or for those with whom he or she has family or business ties, during his or her tenure or for one year thereafter.

(f) Use of debarred, suspended, or ineligible contractors. The provisions of 24 CFR Part 24 apply to the employment, engagement of services, awarding of contracts, or funding of any contractors or subcontractors during any period of debarment, suspension, or placement in ineligibility status.

(g) Audit. The financial management systems used by recipients under this program must provide for audits in accordance with 24 CFR Part 44. Project sponsors are subject to the audit requirements of OMB Circular A-110. HUD may perform or require further and additional audits as it finds necessary or appropriate.

(h) Intergovernmental review. The requirements for intergovernmental review in Executive Order No. 12372 and the implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 52 are not applicable to applications under this program.

(i) Davis-Bacon Act. The provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act (40 U.S.C. 276a-276a-5) do not apply to the program.

Subpart F—Administration

§ 841.400 Obligation of funds, funding amendments and deobligation.

(a) Obligation of funds. When HUD selects an application for funding and notifies the recipient, it will obligate funds to cover the amount of the approved acquisition/rehabilitation advance or moderate rehabilitation grant.

(b) Increases. After the initial obligation of funds, HUD will not make any upward revisions to the amount obligated for the acquisition/rehabilitation advance or the moderate rehabilitation grant.

(c) Deobligation. (1) HUD may deobligate amounts for the acquistion/rehabilitation advance or the moderate rehabilitation grant:

(i) If the actual total costs of acquisition, substantial rehabilitation, acquisition and rehabilitation, or moderate rehabilitation, are less than the total costs anticipated in the application; or

(ii) If proposed acquisition or rehabilitation activities are not begun or completed within a reasonable time after selection.

(2) If, as a result of an audit, HUD determines that the recipient has expended funds for uses that are ineligible under this part, HUD may adjust or deobligate funding amounts, as appropriate, to recover the ineligible costs.

(3) The grant agreement may set forth in detail other circumstances under which funds may be deobligated, and other sanctions may be imposed.

(4) HUD may:

(i) Readvertise the availability of funds that have been deobligated under this section in a notice of fund availability under § 841.200, or

(ii) Reconsider applications that were submitted in response to the most recently published notice of fund availability and select applications for funding with the deobligated funds. Such selections will be made in accordance with §§ 841.207-841.255.

National Voluntary Laboratory Accreditation Program; Bulk Asbestos Analyses, etc.

AGENCY: National Bureau of Standards, Commerce.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: Under the National Voluntary Laboratory Accreditation Program (NVLAP), the National Bureau of Standards (NBS) announces the establishment of an accreditation program for laboratories that perform analyses for asbestos content in sample of: (1) Bulk insulation and building material collected during school inspections; and (2) airborne particulates collected following asbestos abatement projects. Establishment of the program is pursuant to Section 206d of the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA) of October 1986. The program provides accreditation for: (a) Laboratories analyzing bulk asbestos samples by means of polarized light microscopy (PLM); and (b) laboratories analyzing airborne asbestos samples by means of transmission electron microscopy (TEM), in accordance with protocols specified by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

DATE: (1) The evaluation of an initial group of applicant laboratories, for bulk asbestos analyses, will commence on or about October 1, 1988. Laboratories wishing to be accredited in the first group must submit an application form and pay an initial fee of $300.00 by December 28, 1987. The fee is refundable if the laboratory's application is withdrawn before its evaluation begins.

(2) The evaluation of an initial group of applicant laboratories, for airborne asbestos sample analyses, will commence on or about October 1, 1989. NVLAP will announce the availability of applications and any initial fee for accreditation in the first group, at a later date.

ADDRESSES: (1) Laboratories may obtain applications for accreditation for bulk asbestos analyses by calling (301) 975–4016 or writing to:

Manager, NVLAP, Attn. ASB–BK ACR, A531 Administration, National Bureau of Standards, Gaithersburg, MD 20899.

(2) Laboratories may inform NVLAP of their intent to apply for accreditation, for airborne asbestos sample analyses, in the first group by writing to:

Manager, NVLAP, Attn. ASB–AIR ACR, A531 Administration, National Bureau of Standards, Gaithersburg, MD 20899.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Harvey W. Berger, Manager, National Voluntary Laboratory Accreditation Program, National Bureau of Standards, Admin. A531, Gaithersburg, MD 20899, (301) 975–4016.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

This notice is issued in accordance with the NVLAP Procedures (15 CFR Part 7). Establishment of this program is pursuant to the requirements of Pub. L. 99–519, the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA) of October 1986, for: (1) Inspection of schools for asbestos containing materials, (2) air monitoring following asbestos abatements, and (3) accreditation of laboratories that perform analysis of bulk and/or airborne materials for asbestos content. The AHERA, under section 206 of the Toxic Substances Control Act, Title II (conforming amendment including AHERA), requires that NBS establish the laboratory accreditation program with funds provided by EPA. In August 1987, EPA and NBS signed an Interagency Agreement under which funds were provided by EPA to NBS to establish, develop, and implement the asbestos accreditation program.

In a letter dated January 6, 1986, Ian M. Stewart, V.P., McCrone Environmental Services, Inc., Chicago, IL, requested that NBS establish an accreditation program for laboratories that perform asbestos abatement testing. A notice of that request was published in the Federal Register on February 14, 1986 (51 FR 5582–5583), and written comments on the need for that program were received.

Bulk Asbestos Testing

NBS accreditation will be granted to laboratories that meet NVLAP criteria for determining the asbestos content of building materials by polarized light microscopy (PLM). Quality assurance (proficiency) testing will require demonstrated laboratory competence for detection in the range of 0 to 100 percent asbestos. The six commonly identified asbestos fibers (chrysotile, amosite, anthophyllite, crocidolite, actinolite, and tremolite) may be included in the test. Other commonly used bulk insulation and building materials (wollastonite, fiber glass, organic fibers, etc.) may also be included.

NVLAP will accredit laboratories which demonstrate their competence to perform bulk asbestos testing, in accordance with protocols specified by the EPA, and/or applicable standard test methods of the American Society for Testing Materials (ASTM). Competence will be determined through quality assurance (proficiency) testing and on-site laboratory assessments performed by technical experts. Laboratories must meet all NVLAP criteria and requirements in order to become accredited.

Laboratories will be provided with information on testing protocols and the criteria upon which accreditation actions will be based. They will be informed of the balance of fees due prior to evaluation. Those fees must be submitted in order for laboratories to be considered for accreditation in the first group.

Airborne Asbestos Testing

NVLAP will accredit laboratories which demonstrate their competence to perform airborne asbestos testing in accordance with protocols specified by EPA. Competence will be determined through quality assurance (proficiency) testing and on-site laboratory assessment performed by technical experts. Laboratories must meet all NVLAP criteria and requirements in order to become accredited.

NBS accreditation will be granted to laboratories that meet NVLAP criteria for measuring asbestos in airborne particulate samples, from post-abatement clearance testing, by transmission electron microscopy (TEM). Quality assurance (proficiency) testing will require demonstrated laboratory competence for detection at no near ambient levels of asbestos. However, levels may be higher in some cases to simulate ambient levels where abatement is incomplete (approximately 0.04 fibers per cubic centimeter).

Although the AHERA refers to the use of scanning electron microscopy (SEM) for airborne asbestos sample analysis, TEM is recognized as the preferred technique. It is the intent of NBS and EPA to include in this program any monitoring technique which has been demonstrated to reliably determine the asbestos materials of interest. SEM has been used by several investigators for airborne asbestos fibers. However, no standard protocol for the analysis of airborne asbestos by SEM has been used by those investigators. EPA comparisons between TEM and SEM have shown mixed results and the relative utilities of the two methods have been extensively debated in recent years. The SEM procedure used appears unable to detect small diameter asbestos fibers. NBS has developed and is currently evaluating a draft SEM protocol for EPA. Preliminary NBS results indicate that SEM does not permit distinguishing the asbestos fiber signal against the background signal. It is the NBS and EPA position that it is inappropriate to develop an accreditation program based on SEM while this research is continuing. When the NBS investigation is complete, a decision to offer NVLAP accreditation for SEM will be made if it has been demonstrated to be capable of sufficient detection capability.

Establishment of Technical Requirements for the Accreditation Process

Specific requirements and criteria will be established for determining laboratory qualifications for accreditation following prescribed NVLAP criteria. Criteria will address quality systems, staff, facilities and equipment, calibrations, test methods and procedures, manuals, records, and test reports. Laboratory competence will be determined through: (1) On-site assessments (systems audit) of the laboratory by peer assessors, (2) evaluation of analysts' background, competence and experience, (3) review of the technical documentation, and (4) quality assurance (proficiency) testing through analysis of representative samples containing asbestiform and non-asbestiform fibers in accordance with designated procedures. The performance test criteria will emphasize qualitative results and to a lesser degree the quantitative results. This is due to the emphasis in the AHERA and other EPA regulations which define greater than 1 percent asbestos as an action level without further regard for exact quantitation.

Laboratories which apply for accreditation and pay all necessary fees will be required to meet proficiency testing (quality assurance testing) requirements and on-site assessment requirements before initial accreditation and will be required to meet on-going proficiency testing requirements to retain accreditation.

NBS in cooperation with technical experts in EPA and other public and private technical organizations will develop draft protocols, technical criteria and procedures for accreditation. Public workshops will be held to afford opportunities for interested parties to review and comment on the technical and administrative procedures proposed for the accreditation program. Notice of such workshops will be published in the Federal Register and other appropriate media.

Summary

In the letter published below, the Chairman of the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements directs the Commissioner of Customs to extend the import restraint limit for wool textile products in Category 442, produced or manufactured in the People's Republic of China and exported to the United States for the period which begins on October 27, 1987 and extends through October 26, 1988.

Background

On October 28, 1986 a notice was published in the Federal Register (51 FR 39408) which announced the establishment of import restraint limits for certain cotton and wool textile products, including Category 442, produced or manufactured in the People's Republic of China and exported during the twelve-month period which began on October 27, 1986 and extends through October 26, 1987.

To avoid continued risk of market disruption, the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, in accordance with section 204 of the Agricultural Act of 1956, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1854), and the Arrangement Regarding International Trade in Textiles, done at Geneva on December 20, 1973 and extended by protocols on December 14, 1977, December 22, 1981 and July 31, 1986; and the Bilateral Cotton, Wool and Man-Made Fiber Textile Agreement, effected by exchange of notes dated August 19, 1983, as amended, between the Governments of the United States and the People's Republic of China, has decided to extend the restraint limit for the twelve-month period which begins on October 27, 1987 and extends through October 26, 1988.

The United States remains committed to finding a solution concerning this category. Should such a solution be reached in consultations with the Government of the People's Republic of China, further notice will be published in the Federal Register.

A description of the textile categories in terms of T.S.U.S.A. numbers was published in the Federal Register on December 13, 1982 (47 FR 55709), as amended on April 7, 1983 (48 FR 15175), May 3, 1983 (48 FR 19924), December 14, 1983, (48 FR 55607), December 30, 1983 (48 FR 57584), April 4, 1984 (49 FR 13397), June 28, 1984 (49 FR 26622), July 16, 1984 (49 FR 28754), November 9, 1984 (49 FR 44782), July 14, 1986 (51 FR 25386), July 29, 1986 (51 FR 27068) and in Statistical Headnote 5, Schedule 3 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States Annotated (1987).

Adoption by the United States of the Harmonized Commodity Code (HCC) may result in some changes in the categorization of textile products covered by this notice. Notice of any necessary adjustments to the limits affected by adoption of the HCC will be published in the Federal Register.

Arthur Garel,

Acting Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements.

October 21, 1987.

Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements

Commissioner of Customs,

Department of the Treasury, Washington, DC 20229.

Dear Mr. Commissioner: Under the terms of Section 204 of the Agricultural Act of 1956, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1854), and the Arrangement Regarding International Trade in Textiles done at Geneva on December 20, 1973, as further extended on July 31, 1986; pursuant to the Bilateral Cotton, Wool and Man-Made Fiber Textile Agreement, effected by exchange of notes dated August 19, 1983, as amended, between the Governments of the United States and the People's Republic of China; and in accordance with the provisions of Executive order 11651 of March 3, 1972, as amended, you are directed to prohibit, effective on October 27, 1987, entry into the United States for consumption and withdrawal from warehouse for consumption of wool textile products in Category 442, produced or manufactured in the People's Republic of China and exported during the twelve-month period which begins on October 27, 1987 and extends through October 26, 1988, in excess of 20,390 dozen.

Goods shipped in excess of the previous twelve-month period established in the directive of October 24, 1986, which began on October 27, 1986 and extends through October 26, 1987 shall be subject to the level set forth in this letter.

Effective on October 27, 1987, you are directed to charge 10,106 dozen to the limit established in this directive for goods imported on October 27, 1986 and exported during the period July 29, 1986 through October 26, 1986.

In carrying out the above directions, the Commissioner of Customs should construe entry into the United States for consumption to include entry for consumption into the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

The Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements has determined that this action falls within the foreign affairs exception to the rulemaking provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553(a)(1).

Sincerely,

Arthur Garel,

Acting Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements.

E.D. Anderson; Petition for Adjustment From the 150-day Filing Requirement

October 21, 1987.

On September 3, 1987, E.D. Anderson (Anderson) filed with the Commission, pursuant to § 271.805(f)(1) of the Commission's regulations, a petition requesting waiver of the 150-day time limit for filing applications for continued stripper well status for wells that over-produce because of enhanced recovery operations.[1] Approval of such an application would permit the applicant to continue to collect the maximum lawful price for previously qualified stripper well gas sold under section 108 of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA).

Anderson states that he is the owner and operator of the D.W. Tucker well, located in Jack County, Texas, and that the well qualified as a NGPA section 108 stripper well on June 21, 1982. Anderson states that in November 1982, he applied enhanced recovery techniques to the Tucker well and, as a result, production from the well exceeded the 60 Mcf per day ceiling in order to qualify as a stripper well under § 271.804.[2] According to Anderson, the Tucker well was disqualified as a stripper well effective December 1, 1982. Anderson states that because he was unaware of the 150 day filing requirement for production enhancement applications, he failed to make the required filing under § 271.805(f)(1) of the Commission's regulations. Anderson asserts that the purchaser of the gas, Lone Star Gas Company, also failed to notify the jurisdictional agency of the over-production from the Tucker No. 1 well, as is required under the Commission regulations. According to Anderson, the enhanced recovery application was filed with the Texas Railroad Commission (TRC) on January 13, 1984, and approved on March 19, 1984.

Anderson requests that the Commission grant his petition for adjustment by waiving the 150-day application filing requirement of § 271.805(f)(1) and allowing the Tucker No. 2 well to qualify for the section 108 price from December 31, 1982 through January 13, 1984, when the enhanced recovery application was filed with the TRC.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest this petition should file a motion to intervene or protest in accordance with Rules 214 or 211 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.[3] All motions to intervene or protests should be submitted to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, not later than 30 days following publication of this notice in the Federal Register. All protests will be considered by the Commission but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene in accordance with Rule 214. Copies of this petition are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

Brandywine Industrial Gas Inc.; Application

October 21, 1987.

Take notice that on October 15, 1987, Brandywine Industrial Gas Inc., a Delaware corporation, P.O. Box 2197, Houston, Texas 77252, filed an application pursuant to sections 7(b) and 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act (15 U.S.C. 717f(b) and 717f(c)) and §§ 157.5 and 157.23 of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's Regulations (18 CFR 157.5 and 157.23), for a blanket certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale of natural gas for resale in interstate commerce on the spot and/or short-term market with pregranted abandonment authority.

Brandywine requests that the sales and abandonment authority requested be made applicable to all natural gas which remains subject to the Commission's jurisdiction under the Natural Gas Act (NGA). The authority is requested for (1) gas never previously sold in interstate commerce but which, if sold, would require a certificate; (2) NGA gas which is not committed to a contract; and (3) gas which has been abandoned in connection with (i) take-or-pay settlements under §§ 2.76 and 2.77, (ii) automatic abandonments pursuant to Order Nos. 451 and 451-A, and (iii) other producer/supplier abandonments secured through various other established methods. Brandywine requests such authority as to gas owned by it, and not to sales on behalf of others or as agent for others, and further requests that such authority be granted for a term of three years.

Brandywine also requests that filing of a blanket affidavit to cover such sales in accordance with § 154.94(h) of the Commission's Regulations be waived and, to the extent that Brandywine qualifies for any allowance for production-related costs under section 110 of the NGPA, Brandywine requests that the requirement that it comply with § 154.94(k) and Part 271 of the Commission's Regulations be waived. Finally, Brandywine requests that the certificate state that Brandywine will be subject to the Commission's jurisdiction only to the extent necessary to effectuate the requested authority and only with respect to its participation in the transactions authorized.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 9, 1987, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.211, 385.214). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party in any proceeding herein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or to be represented at the hearing.

Cimarron Transmission Co. v. Lincoln Rock Corp.; Petition for Declaratory Order

October 21, 1987.

Take notice that on September 8, 1987, Cimarron Transmission Company (Cimarron) filed pursuant to Rule 207 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure a petition for a declaratory order determining the meaning and effect of certain language in its rollover gas purchase contract with Lincoln Rock Corporation (LRC).

Cimarron states that LCR sells gas to Cimarron produced from certain lands and leases located in Love County, Oklahoma. Cimarron further states that LCR contends that it (LCR) is not obligated under its contract with Cimarron to continue to compress the subject gas under the rollover contract (LRC's gas cannot enter Cimarron's system without first being compressed). According to Cimarron, LRC argues that if Cimarron does not elect to compress the gas then LRC is entitled to a release from its contractual commitment to sell the gas to Cimarron. Cimarron requests that the Commission issue a declaratory order as to the meaning and effect of the pertinent contract language which determines whether LRC is entitled to a contractual release. Cimarron further contends that all gas contractually committed to the interstate market piror to the enactment of the NGPA along with all gas thereafter commingled with such committed or dedicated gas prior to delivery to Cimarron remains committed or dedicated to the interstate market. Thus, Cimarron maintains that notwithstanding any contractual release, such gas must continue to be sold and delivered to Cimarron.

Any person desiring to protest this petition should file a motion to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with the requirements of rules 211 and 214 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, 18 CFR 385.211 and 385.214 (1987). Motion to intervene or protest should be filed not later than 30 days following publication of this notice in the Federal Register. All protests filed will be considered by the Commission but will not make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene.

El Paso Natural Gas Co.; Tariff Filing

October 21, 1987.

Take notice that on October 13, 1987, El Paso Natural Gas Company ("El Paso") filed, pursuant to Part 154 of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's ("Commission") Regulations Under the Natural Gas Act and in compliance with section 5.5 of Article V of the Offer of Settlement approved by Commission order issued September 29, 1987 at Docket No. RP86-157-000, Substitute Thirteenth Revised Sheet No. 100, Substitute First Revised Sheet No. 100-A and Original Sheet No. 100-B to its FERC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1 and Substitute Thirty-seventh Revised Sheet No. 1-D to its FERC Gas Tariff, Third Revised Volume No. 2.

El Paso states that the Offer of Settlement resolves the issue of El Paso's net liquid revenue deficiencies and sets forth a revised billing procedure for natural gas liquid revenues which are currently being reflected in surcharges to El Paso's commodity rates. Section 5.5 of Article V of the Offer of Settlement provides that upon the effectuation of the Settlement, El Paso shall tender for filing with the Commission revised tariff sheets conforming to the pro forma tariff sheets which were attached to the Offer of Settlement. As indicated in section 2.1 of Article II of the Offer of Settlement, the pro forma tariff sheets reflect a reduction in El Paso's commodity rates, to be effective July 1, 1987, of $0.7489 per dth from those rates which were effective as of April 1, 1987. Such reduction reflects the elimination of the amounts included in El Paso's surcharge rate for collection of the change in net liquid revenues related to the period July through December, 1986, inclusive of related interest. The tariff sheets also reflect a special liquid surcharge of $0.2240 per dth applicable to the commodity rates charged to one-part rate customers (other than Gas Company of New Mexico) in lieu of direct billing. The pro forma tariff sheets also reflect the amount that the California two-part rate customers, other individual two-part rate customers and Gas Company of New Mexico will be directly billed each month for net liquid revenue deficiencies commencing with the billing for July, 1987 business and thereafter each month for 36 consecutive months in accordance with the calculation and allocation of the total revised billing amount set forth in Article II of the Offer of Settlement.

El Paso further states that consistent with section 5.5 of Article V of the Offer of Settlement, the tendered tariff sheets will conform, except as described below, to the pro forma tariff sheets attached to said Settlement.

El Paso states that there are two differences on the tendered tariff sheets from the pro forma tariff sheets. Tendered Substitute 13th Revised Sheet No. 100 reflects a footnote 1 notation at Rate Schedule ABD-S, section 3.1—Texas under the column heading "RP86-157 Settlement" and "Effective Tariff Rate" (the same footnote as indicated for New Mexico) which was inadvertently omitted on pro forma tariff Sheet No. 100. This change is necessary since Gas Company of New Mexico also purchases natural gas under the ABD-S—Texas Rate Schedule. For the same reason, tendered Substitute First Revised Sheet No. 100-A differs from the pro forma tariff Sheet No. 100-A by a revision to footnote 1 reflecting the rate for Gas Company of New Mexico for gas purchased under Rate Schedule ABD-S—Texas of $2.0941.

El Paso also tendered Substitute Thirty-seventh Revised Sheet No. 1-D to its FERC Gas Tariff, Third Revised Volume No. 2 which serves to reflect the Docket No. RP86-157-000 Settlement rates applicable to special Rate Schedule Z-6 as such rate schedule is keyed to Rate Schedule X-1 contained in El Paso's FERC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1.

El Paso respectfully requests waiver of all applicable Commission rules and regulations as may be necessary to permit the tendered tariff sheets to become effective on July 1, 1987, the effective date approved by the Commission's September 29, 1987 order.

El Paso states that copies of the filing have been served upon all parties of record in Docket No. RP86-157-000 and, otherwise, upon all of its interstate pipeline system customers and interested state regulatory commissions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a motion to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 385.214 and 385.211 of this Chapter. All such motions or protests should be filed on or before October 28, 1987. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the commission and are available for public inspection.

Missouri Public Service; Notice Establishing Intervention and Shortened Briefing Procedures

October 20, 1987.

By letter order dated July 29, 1987, in this docket, the Commission issued a report summarizing the results of a staff audit of the books and records of Missouri Public Service (Company). The letter order noted the Company's disagreement with certain matters contained in the report and directed the Company to notify the Commission whether it consents to the disposition of the contested matters [1] under the shortened procedures set forth in Part 41 of the Commission's regulations.[2]

On August 27, 1987, the Company notified the Commission that it consented to the disposition of the contested matters under the shortened procedures.

In its July 29, 1987, letter order, the Commission noted that "In the event the Company continues to disagree with the Division of Audits' recommendations set forth herein, including the refunding of incorrect FAC billings, the question of the just and reasonableness of the Amax payments, which is the underlying standard for including the amounts in utility operating expense accounts, will become an issue in the proceedings to resolve the FAC overbilling issue." Accordingly, submissions in this proceeding should fully address why the payments should be considered just and reasonable by this Commission for accounting and rate recovery purposes, consistent with § 41.8 of the Commission's regulations.

The following schedule is hereby established:

(A) Any person desiring to participate in this docket should file a protest or a motion to intervene with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with Rules 211 and 214 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.211 and 385.214 (1986)). All such protests or motions should be filed within 30 days after publication of this notice in the Federal Register. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make any protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene.

(B) Missouri Public Service, any interested party and the Commission trial staff shall file with the Commission within 30 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register a memorandum of facts and arguments addressing the contested matters noted herein in accordance with Part 41 of the Commission's regulations under the Federal Power Act.

(C) Reply memoranda shall be filed with the Commission within 20 days thereafter.

Penn Resources, Inc., et al.; Application for Permanent Abandonment and Limited-Term Pregranted Abandonment for Sales Under Small Producer Certificates

October 21, 1987.

Take notice that on October 9, 1987, Penn Resources, Inc., et al.[1] (Penn, et al.) filed an application in Docket No. CI88-18-000, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act requesting permanent abandonment of their sale of surplus residue gas to El Paso Natural Gas Company (El Paso) under a Residue Gas Purchase Agreement dated August 22, 1980. The residue gas is currently being delivered to El Paso at the tailgate of the Sand Hills Gas Processing Plant in Crane County, Texas. Penn, et al., also request three-year pregranted abandonment for sales of such gas under the small producer certificate in Docket No. CS76-34.

In support of their application, Penn, et al., state that El Paso has reduced its purchases because of the severe oversupply of natural gas in the market. Penn states it would like the opportunity to market the gas to the buyer of its choice. Actual production of jurisdictional gas was 344,311 MMBtu in 1986 and 140,396 MMBtu in the first half of 1987.[2] The gas is NGPA section 104 replacement contract gas (60%), 108 gas (8%) and 103 gas (32%).[3]

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 9, 1987, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.211, 385.214). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party in a proceeding must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Penn, et al., to appear or to be represented at the hearing.

[2] Penn, et al., state that it is difficult to estimate deliverability because the gas is casinghead gas and deliverability is a function of the level of oil produced from the reservoirs.

[3] Pursuant to NGPA section 601(a)(1)(B), the NGPA section 103 gas is no longer subject to the NGA and abandonment authorization is not needed for this gas.

Point Arguello Natural Gas Line Co.; Filing of Initial FERC Gas Tariff and Executed Service Agreements

October 21, 1987.

Take notice that Point Arguello Natural Gas Line Company (PANGL) on October 1, 1987 tendered for filing its initial FERC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1 and the executed Service Agreements with ten (10) shippers under Rate Schedule T-1, Firm Transportation Service. PANGL proposes that its tariff and executed Service Agreements become effective December 1, 1987 or such other date that is coincidental with the inservice date of the facilities presently under construction. PANGL has requested any necessary waivers of the Commission's Regulations, particularly § 154.51, in order for it to coordinate the completion of the construction of its facilities and the effective date of the filing.

PANGL states that on May 31, 1985, at Docket No. CP85-18-000 the Commission issued PANGL a certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity to construct and operate 26 miles of 20-inch pipeline and to transport natural gas for 10 shippers.

PANGL claims that the instant filing is in compliance with paragraph (E) of the Commission's May 31, 1985 order. Paragraph (E) states the following:

> PANGL shall file a cost-of-service tariff 60 days prior to commencement of transportation service under its Rate Schedule T-1. The cost-of-service tariff shall include the provisions described in the body of this order.

Copies of the filing were served upon PANGL's customers and all intervenors in this proceeding, including the California Public Utilities Commission.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a motion to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 N. Capitol Street NE., Washington, DC 20426 in accordance with Rules 211 and 214 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedures. All such motions should be filed on or before October 30, 1987. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene. Copies of PANGL's filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

Under the procedural regulations of the Department of Energy (DOE), the Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) may request that the Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA) formulate and implement special refund procedures. 10 CFR 205.281. These procedures are used to refund moneys to those injured by actual or alleged violations of the DOE price regulations.

The ERA has filed 109 Petitions for the Implementation of Special Refund Procedures for crude oil overcharge funds obtained from the 109 firms whose names and OHA case numbers appear in the Appendix to this Decision.[1] To date, these 109 firms have remitted a total of $119 million to the DOE Pursuant to court-approved settlements, DOE consent orders or remedial orders.[2] An additional $68.2 million in interest has accrued on that amount as of August 31, 1987. This Proposed Decision and Order sets forth the OHA's plan to distribute these funds. Comments are solicited.

The general guidelines which the OHA may use to formulate and implement a plan to distribute refunds are set forth in 10 CFR Part 205, Subpart V. The Subpart V process may be used in situations where the DOE cannot readily identify the persons who may have been injured as a result of actual or alleged violations of the regulations or ascertain the amount of the refund each person should receive. For a more detailed discussion of Subpart V and the authority of the OHA to fashion procedures to distribute refunds, see Office of Enforcement, 9 DOE ¶82,508 (1981), and Office of Enforcement, 8 DOE ¶82,597 (1981). We have considered the ERA's requests to implement Subpart V procedures with respect to the moneys received from the 109 firms listed in the Appendix and have determined that such procedures are appropriate.

I. Background

A majority of the refund matters which are consolidated in the present Decision and Order were included in three previous decisions issued by the OHA in 1982 and 1984. Office of Enforcement, 9 DOE ¶82,521 (1982) (Alkek); Office of Enforcement, 9 DOE ¶82,553 (1982) (Adams); and A. Johnson & Co., Inc., 12 DOE ¶85,102 (1984) (A. Johnson).[3] A number of other cases were initiated as the result of "global" consent orders resolving alleged violations by firms in their sales of both crude oil and refined petroleum products. See, e.g., Standard Oil Co., (Indiana), 10 DOE ¶85,048 (1982). In those early Subpart V decisions, the DOE permitted injured persons to file claims and proposed to divide any unclaimed crude oil overcharge funds among the States for indirect restitution,

[1] Of those 109 Petitions, 94 were the subject of Final Decisions and Orders that were issued by the OHA prior to the implementation of the DOE's Modified Statement of Restitutionary Policy Concerning Crude Oil Overcharges, 51 FR 27899 (August 4, 1986) (hereinafter referred to as the "MSRP"). The MSRP represents a major change in the Department's handling of crude oil overcharge cases. Accordingly, as discussed below, we have decided to propose revised procedures, pursuant to the MSRP, to distribute the crude oil violation amounts involved in those cases. In addition, we are including in this determination two ERA Petitions for which procedures were proposed but never finalized. Finally, we are also including 13 ERA Petitions on which no action previously has been taken.

In 14 of the cases consolidated for discussion in this Proposed Decision and Order (PDO), as noted in the Appendix, the alleged regulatory violations resolved involved the sale of both crude oil and refined petroleum products. The moneys remitted were divided into two pools—one for curde oil and one for refined products. Here we are proposing procedures to distribute only the crude oil pools established in those cases. The procedures previously developd to distribute the refined product pools are unaffected by this Decision.

[2] Eight firms, noted in the Appendix, have an outstanding liability of $1.1 million. These funds, when remitted to the DOE, will also be disbursed pursuant to the procedures established in this Decision. The DOE will give notice when such additional funds are received.

[3] Some cases that were initially in Alkek, Adams and A. Johnson are not included in the present PDO because all of the funds remitted in those matters were disbursed prior to the announcement of the MSRP. In February 1983, the DOE disbursed $100 million in crude oil overcharge funds to the states and territories pursuant to section 155 of the Further Continuing Appropriations Act of 1982, Pub. L. 99–377 (the Warner Amendment). A list of the cases that were the source for that disbursement was published at 51 FR 26745 (July 25, 1986). Since the MSRP by its terms applies only prospectively, this Proposed Decision does not apply to those cases and payments. However, in two cases that are included in this Proposed Decision, the relevant firms made additional payments to the DOE subsequent to the Warner Amendment disbursement. This Decision does apply to those payments. See Appendix notes 1 and 8.

based on their proportionate consumption of refined petroleum products. We recognized in those decisions that the effects of crude oil pricing violations were generally spread by the Entitlements Program among all domestic refiners. See, e.g., Alkek, 9 DOE at 85,133. A major question remained, however, concerning the extent to which refiners absorbed or passed through to their customers the increased costs associated with these violations. As a result of this uncertainty, claims from end-users were never considered in those proceedings, and the more than 60 claims that were filed, mostly by refiners, were held in abeyance. Due to the Final Settlement Agreement in The Department of Energy Stripper Well Exemption Litigation, M.D.L. No. 378, which led to the MSRP, we are now in a position to consider crude oil refund claims on their merits.[4]

The OHA has been applying the MSRP in all Subpart V proceedings involving alleged crude oil violations. See Order Implementing the MSRP, 51 FR 29689 (August 20, 1986). The Appendix to that Order listed the refund proceedings then pending before the OHA to which the MSRP applies. The Order also provided a period of 30 days for the filing of any objections to the application of the MSRP, and solicited comments concerning the appropriate procedures to follow in processing refund applications in crude oil refund proceedings.

On April 10, 1987, the OHA issued a Notice analyzing the numerous comments which it received in response to the August 1986 Order. 52 FR 11737. The Notice set forth generalized procedures and provided guidance to assist claimants that wish to file refund applications for crude oil moneys under the Subpart V regulations. All applicants for refund would be required to document their purchase volumes of petroleum products during the period of price controls and to prove that they were injured by the alleged overcharges. The Notice indicated that end-users of petroleum products whose businesses are unrelated to the petroleum industry will be presumed to have absorbed the crude oil overcharges, and need not submit any further proof of injury to receive a refund. Finally, we stated that refunds would be calculated on the basis of a per gallon refund amount derived by dividing crude oil violation amounts by the total consumption of petroleum products in the United States during the period of price controls. The numerator would include the crude oil overcharge moneys that were in the DOE's escrow account at the time of the settlement and a portion of the funds in the MDL 378 escrow at the time of the settlement.[5]

These crude oil refund procedures have been approved by the United States District Court for the District of Kansas. Various States filed a Motion with that Court, claiming that the OHA violated the Settlement Agreement by employing presumptions of injury for end-users and by improperly calculating the refund amount to be used in those proceedings. On August 17, 1987, Judge Theis issued an Opinion and Order denying the States' Motion in its entirety. The court concluded that the Settlement Agreement "does not bar OHA from permitting claimants to employ reasonable presumptions in affirmatively demonstrating injury entitling them to a refund." In Re: The Department of Energy Stripper Well Exemption Litigation, M.D.L. No. 378, slip op. at 10, 3 Fed. Energy Guidelines ¶26,587 at 26,826 (D. Kan. 1987). The court also ruled that, as specified in the April 1987 Notice, the OHA could calculate refunds based on a portion of the MDL 378 overcharges. Id. at 26,827.

II. The Proposed Refund Procedures

A. Refund Claims

We now propose to apply the procedures discussed in the April 1987 Notice to the crude oil Subpart V proceedings that are the subject of the present determination. As noted above, $119 million in alleged crude oil violation amounts is covered by this Proposed Decision. We have decided to reserve initially the full 20 percent of the alleged crude oil violation amounts, or $23.8 million (plus interest) for direct refunds to claimants, in order to ensure that sufficient funds will be available for refunds to injured persons.[6] The amount of the reserve may be adjusted downward later if circumstances warrant such action.

The process which the OHA will use to evaluate claims based on alleged crude oil violations will be modeled after the process the OHA has used to evaluate claims based on alleged refined product overcharges pursuant to 10 CFR Part 205, Subpart V. MAPCO Inc., 15 DOE ¶85,097 (1986); Mountain Fuel Supply Co., 14 DOE ¶85,475 (1986). As in non-crude oil cases, applicants will be required to document their purchase volumes and demonstrate that they were injured. See id. Following Subpart V precedent, reasonable estimates of purchase volumes may be submitted. Greater Richmond Transit Co., 15 DOE ¶85,028 (1985). Applicants who were end-users (ultimate consumers) of petroleum products whose businesses are unrelated to the petroleum industry and who were not subject to the DOE price regulations are presumed to have absorbed rather than passed on alleged crude oil overcharges. In order to receive a refund, end-users need not submit any further evidence of injury beyond volumes of product purchased in the distribution scheme in which the overcharges occurred. Id. It is not necessary for applicants to identify their suppliers of petroleum products in order to receive a refund. Resellers and retailers of petroleum products must submit detailed evidence of injury, and may not use presumptions of injury established by the OHA in refund cases involving refined petroleum products. They can, however, use econometric evidence of the type employed in the OHA Report to the District Court in the Stripper Well Litigation, Fed. Energy Guidelines ¶90,507 (June 19, 1985), and the OHA intends to utilize the final and April 1, 1985 draft Reports in evaluating refund applications submitted under Subpart V. See Petroleum Overcharge Distribution and Restitution Act of 1986, Pub. L. 99-509, 3003(b)(2). Applicants who executed and submitted a valid waiver pursuant to one of the escrows established in the Settlement Agreement have waived their rights to apply for crude oil refunds under Subpart V. Boise Cascade Corp., 16 DOE ¶85,214 at 88,411 (1987); Sea-Land Service, Inc., 16 DOE ¶_____ No. RF270-1563, slip op. at 5-6 n. 1 (October 9, 1987).

Refunds to eligible claimants who purchased refined petroleum products will be calculated on the basis of a volumetric refund amount derived by dividing the crude oil violation amounts ("The numerator") by the total consumption of petroleum products in the United States during the period of price controls ("the denominator").[7] As

[4] For a discussion of the developments that culminated in the Settlement Agreement, see Order Implementing the MSRP, 51 FR 29689 (August 20, 1986); see also Notice Discussing Comments, 52 FR 11737 (April 10, 1987).

[5] On April 15, 1987, we issued a Decision establishing refund procedures for 42 cases involving $373 million in crude oil violation amounts. A. Tarricone, Inc., 15 DOE ¶85,495 (1987). Those procedures conformed to the generalized procedures discussed in the April 10, 1987 Notice.

[6] As explained below, in certain cases we have previously distributed 80 percent of the alleged violation amounts to the States and Federal government. The remaining 20 percent in those cases has already been reserved for direct refunds to claimants.

[7] We will use the estimate that 2,020,997,335,000 gallons of petroleum products were consumed in the United States during the period August 1973 through January 1981. Mountain Fuel, 14 DOE at 88,868 n. 4 (1986).

indicated in the April 1987 Notice, we will add $985 million to the numerator in the volumetric calculation, in addition to the $119 million in principal from the cases included in this Decision. This yields a volumetric refund amount of $0.000546 per gallon. We also propose in paying claims to combine all of the volumetric refund amounts obtained in each crude oil refund proceeding implemented to date under the MSRP, to yield a total per gallon refund amount of $0.0007467.[8]

A crude oil refund applicant will be required to submit only one application for all crude oil overcharge amounts that were included in those proceedings. Any party that has previously submitted a refund application in crude oil refund proceedings need not file another application; that application will be deemed to be filed in all crude oil proceedings finalized to date. The volumetric refund amount will be increased as additional crude oil violation amounts are received in the future. Applicants may be required to submit additional information to document their refund claims for these future amounts. Notice of additional amounts available in the future will be published in the Federal Register.

B. Payments to the States and Federal Government

Under the terms of the MSRP, the remaining 80 percent of the $119 million in alleged crude oil violation amounts subject to this PDO, or $95.2 million, should be disbursed equally to the States and Federal government for indirect restitution. As explained below, a portion of this amount has already been disbursed to those entities. In August 1986, 80 percent of the funds in 59 of the subaccounts consolidated in this PDO was disbursed to the States and Federal government pursuant to paragraph IV.B.7 of the Settlement Agreement. See Stripper Well Exemption Litigation, 14 DOE ¶ 85,382 (1986). The total amount of principal disbursed at that time was $59.2 million. For each subaccount from which an August 1986 payment was made, no further refund to the States and Federal government will be made at this time.[9] In the remaining 50 subaccounts, there has been no advance disbursement, and the total in principal (i.e. excluding interest) equals $45 million. This figure is obtained by adding all of the crude oil principal remitted by those firms listed in the Appendix for which no August 1986 payment is indicated. Eighty percent of this $45 million, or $36 million, plus interest, is therefore available for disbursement to the States and Federal government. In addition, as explained in note 12 to the Appendix, an additional $536,000 plus interest is available for disbursement to the States and Federal government from the Standard Oil (Indiana) escrow account. Thus, a total of $36.5 million in principal, plus $14.64 million in interest, is available for disbursement to the States and Federal government in these proceedings.

We propose to direct the DOE's Office of the Controller to segregate the $36.5 million in principal available for disbursement to the States and Federal government and distribute one-half of that amount, or $18.25 million, plus appropriate interest, to both the States and to the Federal government. With interest, the State and Federal government should each receive approximately $25.57 million. Each individual State's percentage share of the funds is set forth in Exhibit H to the Settlement Agreement and is based on each State's consumption of petroleum products during the period of price controls. These funds will be subject to the same use limitations and reporting requirements as all other crude oil moneys received by the States under the Settlement Agreement.

Before taking the actions we have proposed in this Decision, we intend to publicize our proposal and solicit comments on it. Comments regarding the tentative distribution process set forth in this Proposed Decision and Order should be filed with the OHA within 30 days of its publication in the Federal Register.

It is Therefore Ordered That: The refund amounts remitted to the Department of Energy by the firms identified in the Appendix to this Proposed Decision and Order shall be distributed in accordance with the foregoing Decision.

Food and Drug Administration

Allied-Signal, Inc.; Withdrawal of Approval of NADA

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is withdrawing approval of a new animal drug application (NADA) held by Allied-Signal, Inc. The NADA provides for the use of Cal-Bar (ammonium chloride) Type A article for making Type C cattle and sheep feeds. The firm requested the withdrawal of approval.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 5, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mohammad I. Sharar, Center for Veterinary Medicine (HFV–214), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301–443–3183.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Allied-Signal, Inc. (formerly Allied Chemical Corp.), P.O. Box 2245R, Morristown, NJ 07960–2245, is sponsor of NADA 34–253, which provides for the use of Cal-Bar Type A article (99 percent ammonium chloride) to make Type C cattle and sheep feeds. The feeds are used to reduce the incidence of urinary calculi. Use of the Type A article was originally approved under a food additive petition (FAP 6D1947) on February 9, 1968 (33 FR 2774). As a result of the Animal Drug Amendments of 1968, however, the FAP was converted to a NADA. By letter of April 1, 1987, the sponsor requested withdrawal of approval because the product is no longer being manufactured or marketed.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 512(e), 82 Stat. 345–347 (21 U.S.C. 360(e))) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 5.10) and redelegated to the Center for Veterinary Medicine (21 CFR 5.84), and in accordance with § 514.115 Withdrawal of approval of applications (21 CFR 514.115), notice is hereby given that approval of NADA 34–253 and all supplements thereto are hereby withdrawn, effective November 5, 1987.

In a final rule published elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register, FDA is amending 21 CFR 510.600 and 558.4 to remove the firm from the list of sponsors of approved NADA's and to remove the entry for the product covered by the approved NADA, and is removing 21 CFR 558.45, which reflects the approval, in its entirety.

Dated: October 20, 1987.

Director, Center for Veterinary Medicine.

[Docket No. 87N–0267]

Clinical Studies of Safety and Effectiveness of Orphan Products; Availability of Grants; Request for Applications

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is announcing the anticipated availability of funds for Fiscal Year 1988 for awarding grants to support clinical trials on safety and effectiveness of orphan products. Funds are not currently available for these studies. The government's obligation is contingent upon the availability of appropriated funds from which the grants will be funded. FDA expects to award approximately 15 grants ranging from $20,000 to $100,000 in direct costs per annum for up to 3 years. Applications exceeding these limits will be considered nonresponsive.

DATE: Applications must be received by January 25, 1988. The earliest beginning date for awards is July 1, 1988.

ADDRESS: Applications should be submitted to and applications are available from: Robert L. Robins, State Contracts and Assistance Agreements Branch (HFA–520), Food and Drug Administration, Park Bldg., Rm. 3–20, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301–6170. NOTE: Applications hand carried or commercially delivered should be addressed to Park Bldg., Rm. 3–20, 12420 Parklawn Dr., Rockville, MD 20857.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: The Administrative and Financial Management Aspects of this Notice: Robert L. Robins, address above.

For The Programmatic Aspects of this Notice: Carol A. Wetmore, Office of Orphan Products Development (HF–35), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rm. 12A–40, Rockville, MD 20857, 301–443–4903.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FDA will support the clinical studies covered by this notice under section 301 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 241) and/or under section 5 of the Orphan Drug Act (21 U.S.C. 360ee). FDA's research program is described in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance, No. 13.103.

I. Background

FDA has established the Office of Orphan Products Development to identify and facilitate the availability of orphan products. Orphan products are drugs, biologics, medical devices (including in vitro diagnostics), foods for medical purposes, and veterinary products that may be useful in an uncommon or common disease but lack committed commercial sponsorship because they are not considered commercially attractive for marketing. A subcategory of orphan products are those marketed products for which there is evidence suggesting usefulness in an uncommon, serious disease but which are not labeled for that disease because substantial evidence of safety and effectiveness for that use is lacking.

One way to make orphan products more easily available is to support research to determine whether the products are safe and effective. FDA has allocated funds to support such research since Fiscal Year 1983. All funded studies are subject to the requirements of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act (the act) and regulations promulgated thereunder.

II. Research Goals and Objectives

A. Clinical Studies

In general, FDA will only consider awarding grants to support clinical studies for determining whether the products are safe and effective for premarket approval under the act (21 U.S.C. 301 et seq.) or under section 351 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 262). These clinical studies may be designed to assist in the approval of unapproved products or of unapproved new uses for already marketed products.

Ordinarily, at least some preliminary clinical research suggesting effectiveness and relative safety should already be available. However, FDA will also consider applications concerning products for which persuasive pharmacologic evidence is available that a product has a reasonable possibility of being effective even though no clinical trials have yet been performed.

Applications should be for one discrete clinical trial. The applicant must provide supporting evidence that the product to be investigated is available to the applicant in the form needed for the clinical trial.

Because funds are limited, FDA cannot consider large research projects involving many subjects (human, or animal in the case of a veterinary drug) and long-term followup. The typical study that FDA will consider for support may involve up to several dozen subjects, will be well-controlled, and will be designed to provide substantial evidence of the product's safety and effectiveness.

The agency will also consider funding pharmacokinetic studies if such studies are necessary to determine safe and effective doses in subjects with serious organ disease that might affect drug disposition. However, FDA will only consider pharmacokinetic studies if they are part of studies for determining effectiveness of a product or are proposed to obtain information about products about which there is already a significant amount of evidence showing effectiveness. FDA's standards for adequate and well-controlled studies (21 CFR 314.126) should be followed. In designing a well-controlled study, the investigator should especially keep in mind that historical controls or use of the subject as his or her own control is generally less desirable and reliable than active control or, when ethical, placebo controls. The applicant's proposal should provide a rationale for use of the control method chosen to satisfy considerations of scientific quality and ethical realities.

In the case of veterinary products, research studies should be designed to show the safety and efficacy of a product for which there is some evidence that treatment of animals with it could lead to the prevention or mitigation of a serious zoonotic disease in humans.

In addition to FDA's general interest in clinical studies for the safety and effectiveness of orphans products, the agency has recognized the following areas of pediatric research for which applications are encouraged:

1. Studies on marketed drugs currently labeled only for adults uses which would provide data to support labeling these drugs for important uses in pediatric patients.

2. Research to develop nutritional products (medical foods) for management of inborn errors of metabolism for which adequate therapies are not currently available.

B. Significance

Each investigator submitting a grant application for a proposed human or veterinary orphan use in response to this request for applications should include a short statement explaining why preliminary evidence suggests that the product meets the objective of the orphan products development program and why the product to be studied is an orphan product as described in the "background" section of this notice. This statement should appear in the application under Section 2. B.—"Background and Significance."

C. Statistical Support

Statistical expertise is helpful in the planning, design execution, and analysis of clinical investigations and clinical pharmacology to ensure the validity of estimates of safety and efficacy obtained from human studies. Applicants are expected to provide a statistical justification for the number of patients chosen for the trial based on the proposed outcome measures. Applicants should also document the appropriateness of the statistical procedures to be used in analysis of the results.

D. Journal References

Published reports are necessary and often critical for the review process and can help to support the investigator's research intent. Applicants should include copies of reprints of all relevant references for FDA review. This includes favorable and unfavorable reports.

III. Human Subject Protection and Informed Consent

A. Research Involving Human Subjects

Applicants should carefully review the section on human subjects on pages 4 and 5 of the instructions in the application kit. The Specific Instructions-Section 1, Item 4, Human Subjects, on pages 12 and 13 of the application kit should also be carefully reviewed for the certification of Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval requirements. Applicants must provide information about six items described in Section 2–E of the instructions in the application kit. These six items include: The characteristics of the subjects, the sources of research materials, recruitment plans and consent procedures, any potential risks, procedures for protecting against or minimizing potential risks, and potential benefits to the subjects. Failure to include this information may result in deferral of the application. The goal should be to include enough information in a sufficiently clear fashion so that reviewers will not have to delay action on the application.

B. Informed Consent

Consent and/or assent forms and any additional information to be given to a subject must accompany the Grant Application Form PHS 398 (Rev. 9/86). Failure to include this information may result in deferral of the application. Information that is given to the subject or the subject's representative shall be in language that the subject or his or her representative can understand. No informed consent, whether oral or written, may include any exculpatory language through which the subject or the subject's representative is made to waive any of the subject's legal rights, or by which the subject or representative releases or appears to release the investigator, the sponsor, or the institution or its agents from liability.

If a study involves both adults and children, separate consent forms should be provided for the adults and the parents or guardians of the children.

C. Elements of Informed Consent

The elements of informed consent are as stated in the regulations at 45 CFR 46.116 and 21 CFR 50.25 as follows:

1. Basic elements of informed consent. In seeking informed consent, the following information shall be provided to each subject:

(a) A statement that the study involves research, and explanation of the purposes of the research and the expected duration of the subject's participation, a description of the procedures to be followed, and indentification of any procedures which are experimental.

(b) A description of any reasonably foreseeable risks or discomforts to the subject.

(c) A description of any benefits to the subject or to others which may reasonably be expected from the research.

(d) A disclosure of appropriate alternative procedures or courses of treatment, if any, that might be advantageous to the subject.

(e) A statement that describes the extent, if any, to which confidentiality of records identifying the subject will be maintained and that notes the possibility that FDA may inspect the records.

(f) For research involving more than minimal risk, an explanation as to whether any compensation and any medical treatments are available if injury occurs and, if so, what they consist of, or where further information may be obtained.

(g) An explanation of whom to contact for answers to pertinent questions about the research and research subject's rights, and whom to contact in the event of research-related injury to the subject.

(h) A statement that participation is voluntary, that refusal to participate will involve no penalty or loss of benefits to which the subject is otherwise entitled, and that the subject may discontinue participation at any time without penalty or loss of benefits to which the subject is otherwise entitled.

2. Additional elements of informed consent. When appropriate, one or more of the following elements of information shall also be provided to each subject:

(a) A statement that the particular treatment or procedure may involve risks to the subject (or to the embryo or fetus, if the subject is or may become pregnant) which are currently unforeseeable.

(b) Anticipated circumstances under which the subject's participation may be terminated by the investigator without regard to the subject's consent.

(c) Any cost to the subject that may result from participation in the research.

(d) The consequences of a subject's decision to withdraw from the research and procedures for orderly termination of participation by the subject.

(e) A statement that significant new findings developed during the course of the research which may relate to the subject's willingness to continue participation will be provided to the subject.

(f) The approximate number of subjects involved in the study. The informed consent requirements are not intended to preempt any applicable Federal, State, or local laws which require additional information to be disclosed for informed consent to be legally effective.

Nothing in this notice is intended to limit the authority of a physician to provide emergency medical care to the extent the physician is permitted to do so under applicable Federal, State, or local law.

IV. Reporting Requirements

A quarterly Financial Status Report (SF–269) and program progress report are required. An original and two copies of these reports shall be submitted to FDA's Grants Management Officer within 30 days following each Federal fiscal quarter, except for the fourth-quarter report, which shall serve as the annual report and which shall be due 90 days after the budget expiration date. The program staff shall advise the grantee of the suggested format at the appropriate time. A final program progress report and invention statement must be submitted within 90 days after the expiration date of the approved project period.

V. Mechanism of Support

A. Award Instrument

Support will be in the form of grant awards which will be subject to all policies and requirements that govern the research grant programs of the Public Health Service, including the provisions of 42 CFR Part 52 and 45 CFR Part 74. The regulations promulgated under Executive Order 12372 do not apply to this program.

All grant awards are subject to the requirements for clinical investigations imposed by sections 505, 507, 512, and 515 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act; section 351 of the Public Health Service Act; and regulations promulgated under any of these sections.

B. Eligibility

These grants are available to any public or private nonprofit entity (including State and local units of government) and any for-profit entity. For-profit entities must exclude fees or profit from their request for support.

C. Length of Support

The length of the study will depend upon the nature of the study. FDA anticipates that a majority of the studies can be completed in 1 year. For those studies with an expected duration of more than 1 year, noncompetitive continuation of support beyond the first year will depend on: (1) Performance during the preceding year and (2) the availability of Federal fiscal year appropriations.

D. Funding Plan

The number of studies funded will depend on the quality of the applications received, the probable importance of the product developed, and the availability of Federal funds to support the project.

VI. Review Procedure and Criteria

A. Review Method

All applications responding to this request for applications will be reviewed and evaluated for scientific and technical merit by experts in the subject field of the specific application. The applications will also be subject to a second level of review to evaluate them in light of the aims of the Orphan Products Development Program.

Before issuance of an FDA grant award, applications will also be reviewed to ensure to the extent practicable that proposed studies are consistent with requirements for investigations and marketing approval under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the Public Health Service Act.

B. Review Criteria

Applications must be responsive to this request for applications. Absent concurrence by either the applicant or NIH, the application will be returned to the applicant. Applications will be reviewed according to the following criteria:

1. Responsiveness to this request for applications with specific emphasis on:

(a) Whether the product is an orphan product.

(b) Whether the proposal contains one discrete clinical trial.

(c) Whether there is supporting evidence that the product is available to the applicant in the form needed for the investigation.

(d) Whether the product is subject to premarket approval by FDA.

(e) Whether the proposed study can be completed within the budget and time limitations as stated in this request for applications.

2. The soundness of the rationale for the proposed study.

3. The appropriateness and quality of the study design.

4. The adequacy of the evidence that the proposed number of subjects can be recruited and the study completed during the proposed project period.

5. The adequacy of plans for complying with regulations for protection of human and animal subjects.

6. The qualifications of the investigator and support staff and resources available to them.

7. The request for financial support is adequately justified and fully documented.

VII. Submission Requirements

The original and two copies of the completed Grant Application Form PHS 398 (Rev. 9/86), with sufficient copies of all reprints critical to the review, should be delivered to Robert L. Robins (address above).

The requirement for certification of IRB approval for studies involving the use of human subjects must show the IRB Approval Date (Item 4a.) and the Assurance of Compliance number (Item 4b.) on the face page of the application.

A short statement of why the project is appropriate to the objectives of the Orphan Products Grants Program should appear in the application under Section 2. B.—"Background and Significance."

The outside of the mailing package and the top of the application face page should be labeled "Response to RFA–FDA–OP–88–1."

VIII. Method of Application

A. Submission Instructions

Applications will be accepted during normal working hours, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, on or before the established closing date January 25, 1988.

Applications will be considered received on time if sent on or before the closing date as evidenced by a legible U.S. Postal Service postmark or a legible dated receipt from a commercial carrier. Private metered postmarks shall not be acceptable as proof of timely mailing. Applications not received on time will not be considered for funding and will be returned to the applicant.

Note: Applicants should note that the U.S. Postal Service does not uniformly provide dated postmarks. Before relying on the method, applicants should check with their local post office.

B. Format for Application

Applications must be submitted on Grant Application Form PHS 398 (Rev. 9/86). The face page of the application must reflect the request for applications number, RFA–FDA–OP–88–1. Data included in the application, if restricted with the legend specified below, may be entitled to confidential treatment as trade secret or confidential commercial information within the meaning of the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4)) and FDA's implementing regulations (21 CFR 20.61).

The collection of information requested on Form PHS 398 and the instructions have been submitted by the Public Health Service to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), and were approved and assigned OMB control number 0925–0001.

C. Legend

Unless disclosure is required by the Freedom of Information Act as amended (5 U.S.C. 552) as determined by the freedom of information officials of the Department of Health and Human Services, data contained in the portions of this application which have been specifically identified by page number, paragraph, etc., by the applicant as containing restricted information shall not be used or disclosed except for evaluation purposes.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Drug Enforcement Administration

Revocation of Registration; Gerald I. Schor, M.D.

On July 2, 1987, the Administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) issued to Gerald I. Schor, M.D. of 412 Wood Street, California, Pennsylvania 15419, an Order to Show Cause proposing to revoke his DEA Certificate of Registration AS0424274. The Order to Show Cause alleged that the continued registration of Dr. Schor would be inconsistent with the public interest, as set forth in 21 U.S.C. 823(f). Additionally, citing his preliminary finding that Dr. Schor's continued registration posed an imminent danger to the public health and safety, the Administrator ordered the immediate suspension of DEA Certificate of Registration AS0424274 during the pendency of these proceedings. 21 U.S.C. 824(d).

The Order to Show Cause/Immediate Suspension was personally served on Dr. Schor on July 8, 1987. More than thirty days have passed since the Order to Show Cause was served and the Drug Enforcement Administration has received no response thereto. Pursuant to 21 CFR 1301.54(a) and 1301.54(d), Dr. Schor is deemed to have waived his opportunity for a hearing. Accordingly the Administrator now enters his final order in this matter without a hearing and based on the investigative file. 21 CFR 1301.57.

The Administrator finds that on June 4, 1987, an undercover DEA Agent, two informants and two individuals made arrangements to obtain a quantity of Percocet tablets from Dr. Schor. While one individiaul went to Dr. Schor's office, the others waited at a designated location. When the individual returned from the Doctor's office, he had several prescriptions. Although the Agent had never been examined by Dr. Schor, the individual produced two prescriptions issued to the Agent in her undercover name. One prescription was for Percocet; the other prescription was for Tuinal. Both are Schedule II controlled substances.

On June 5, 1987, the Agent, an informant and an individual met to discuss obtaining prescriptions from Dr. Schor. The Agent and the informant provided the individual with three names and address and requested that the prescriptions be in these names. The individual went to Dr. Schor's office/residence at 12:15 a.m. and returned to the designated location at 1:48 a.m. The individual showed the Agent six prescriptions for Preludin and Percocet, both Schedule II controlled substances, which were written and signed by Dr. Schor. They were in the names provided by the Agent and the informant. Two prescriptions were issued to Barbara Roth; two prescriptions were issued to Karen Hall; and, two prescriptions were issued to Angela Pastone.

One June 5, 1987, Dr. Schor and the two individuals involved in the prescription purchases on June 4 and June 5, 1987, were arrested for conspiracy to possess and distribute Schedule II narcotic controlled substances. 21 U.S.C. 846. On August 10, 1987, pursuant to an agreement with the U.S. Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, Dr. Schor pled guilty to one count of conspiracy and one count of illegal distribution of controlled substances, both controlled substance related felonies. Dr. Schor was convicted and sentenced on September 15, 1987, to four years incarceration.

A felony conviction relating to controlled substances is a sufficient ground for the revocation of a registrant's DEA Certificate of Registration. Fitzhugh v. DEA, 813 F.2d 1248 (D.C. Cir. 1987). Based on Dr. Schor's felony convictions relating to controlled substances and his previous behavior relating to the distribution of controlled substances via prescription for no legitimate medical purpose, the Administrator finds that a lawful basis exists for the revocation of Dr. Schor's registration, and for the denial of any pending applications for renewal.

Accordingly, the Administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration, pursuant to the authority vested in him by 21 U.S.C. 823 and 824 and 28 CFR 0.100(b), hereby orders that DEA Certificate of Registration AS0424274, previously issued to Dr. Gerald Schor, be, and hereby is, revoked. This order is effective November 25, 1987.

Dated: October 20, 1987.

Administrator.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

[Docket No. 30-05373; License No. 29-09814-01; EA 87-79]

Eastern Testing and Inspection, Inc.; Order Imposing Civil Monetary Penalties

In the matter of Eastern Testing and Inspection, Inc., 9220 Collins Avenue, Pennsauken, New Jersey 08110.

I

Eastern Testing and Inspection, Inc., Pennsauken, New Jersey 08110 (the "licensee") is the holder of Byproduct Material License No. 29-09814-01 (the "license") issued by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the "Commission" or "NRC") which authorizes the licensee to perform industrial radiography. The license was issued on February 2, 1964, was most recently renewed on February 20, 1987, and is due to expire on February 29, 1992.

II

An NRC safety inspection of the licensee's activities under the license was conducted on April 3 and 15, 1987. During the inspection, the NRC staff determined that the licensee had not conducted its activities in full compliance with NRC requirements. A written Notice of Violation and Proposed Imposition of Civil Penalties was served upon the licensee by letter dated July 24, 1987. The Notice stated the nature of the violations, the provisions of the NRC's requirements that the licensee had violated, and the amount of civil penalties proposed for the violations. The licensee responded to the Notice of Violation and Proposed Imposition of Civil Penalties by letters dated August 21, 1987 and September 8, 1987.

III

After consideration of the licensee's response and the statements of fact, explanations, and argument for mitigation contained therein, the Deputy Executive Director for Regional Operations has determined, as set forth in the Appendix to this Order, that the violations occurred as stated but, given the current financial condition of the Company, the penalties proposed for the violations designated in the Notice of Violation and Proposed Imposition of Civil Penalties should be reduced to $3,250 and the licensee should be allowed to pay the imposed penalties in twenty-four monthly installments.

IV

In view of the foregoing and pursuant to section 234 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (42 U.S.C. 2282, Pub. L. 96-295), and 10 CFR 2.205, it is hereby ordered that:

The licensee pay civil penalties, either:

a. In the full amount of Three Thousand Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($3,250), within 30 days of the date of this Order, by check, draft, or money order, payable to the Treasurer of the United States and mailed to the Director, Office of Enforcement, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Attn: Document Control Desk, Washington, DC 20555; or,

b. In twenty-three equal monthly installments of $147.17 each, and a twenty-fourth installment of $147.26 by check, draft, or money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States, which includes interest accruing from November 15, 1987 at the rate of 8⅛ percent per year, as described in the schedule of monthly installments provided with the enclosed "Promissory Note in Payment of Preexisting Debt," which the licensee must provide with the first payment to the Director, Division of Accounting and Finance, Office of Resource Management, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, within thirty days of the date of the Order. The licensee's signature of the "Promissory Note in Payment of Preexisting Debt" constitutes a waiver of a right to request a hearing as provided below, to contest the amount of the civil penalties and the underlying violations, and empowers the United States to obtain a judgment provision against it without a hearing in the event it fails to make a required payment.

The licensee may request a hearing within 30 days of the date of this Order. A request for a hearing shall be clearly marked as a "Request for an Enforcement Hearing" and shall be addressed to the Director, Office of Enforcement, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Attn; Document Control Desk, Washington, DC 20555, with a copy to the Regional Administrator, Region I.

If a hearing is requested, the Commission will issue an Order designating the time and place of the hearing. If the licensee fails to request a hearing within 30 days of the date of this Order, the provisions of this Order shall be effective without further proceedings. If payment has not been made by that time, the matter may be referred to the Attorney General for collection.

In the event the licensee requests a hearing as provided above, the issues to be considered as such hearing shall be:

(a) Whether the licensee was in violation of the Commission requirements as set forth in the Notice of Violation and Proposed Imposition of Civil Penalties as referenced in Section II above; and

(b) Whether, on the basis of such violation, this Order should be sustained.

For the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

James M. Taylor,

Deputy Executive Director for Regional Operations.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 20th day of October 1987.

Appendix—Evaluations and Conclusions

On July 24, 1987, a Notice of Violation and Proposed Imposition of Civil Penalties (NOV) was issued for violations identified during a routine NRC inspection. Eastern Testing and Inspection, Inc., responded to the Notice by two letters dated August 21 and a letter dated September 8, 1987. In its responses, the licensee does not deny any of the violations, but requests mitigation of the civil penalties. The NRC's evaluation and conclusion regarding the licensee's arguments are as follows:

Restatement of Violations

I. Violation Involving an Inoperable Alarm

10 CFR 34.29(b) requires that each entrance used for personnel access to the high radiation area in a permanent radiographic installation have both visible and audible warning signals to warn of the presence of radiation. The audible signal shall be actuated whenever an attempt is made to enter the installation while the radioactive source is exposed.

Contrary to the above, on April 3, 1987, the personnel access point (a sliding door) to the high radiation area of the iridium-192 radiography cell at the licensee's permanent facility in Pennsauken, New Jersey, did not have an audible signal which was activated whenever an attempt was made to enter the installation when the source was exposed. Specifically, the bell was taped so that it would not activate as required.

This is a Severity Level III violation (Supplement IV).

Civil Penalty—$5,000.

II Violations Associated with Dosimeter, Audit and Transportation Requirements

A. 10 CFR 34.33(a) requires that a radiographer and radiographer's assistant, whenever performing radiographic activities, shall wear pocket dosimeters which have been recharged at the start of each shift.

Contrary to the above, on April 15, 1987, at a field site in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, a radiographer and a radiographer's assistant did not recharge their pocket dosimeter at the start of the shift in which they performed radiographic activities.

B. Condition 16 of License No. 29–09814–01 requires that licensed material be possessed and used in accordance with the statements, representations and procedures contained in a letter from the licensee dated January 12, 1987. Item 4.b. of the letter dated January 12, 1987 requires that each individual involved in radiographic activities be audited at a jobsite on a quarterly basis.

Prior to its renewal on February 20, 1987, Condition 16 required that licensed material be possessed and used in accordance with the statements, representations and procedures contained in a letter received from the licensee on July 30, 1981. Item 4 of the letter received on July 30, 1981 required that a comprehensive audit program be conducted every 3 months of each individual involved in radiography.

Contrary to the above, during the fourth quarter of 1986 and the first quarter of 1987, at least four individuals involved in radiographic activities were not audited.

C. 10 CFR 71.5(a) requires that each licensee who transports licensed material outside the confines of its plant or who delivers licensed material to a carrier for transport shall comply with the applicable requirements of the regulations appropriate to the mode of transport of the Department of Transportation in 49 CFR Parts 170–189. 49 CFR 172.200 requires that shipping papers be furnished for each shipment of hazardous material. 49 CFR 172.101, and its associated Hazardous Material Table, lists radioactive material as a hazardous material.

Contrary to the above, on April 15, 1987, radioactive material, specifically, an iridum-192 radiography source, was transported from the licensee's facility in Pennsauken, New Jersey to a field site in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania without being accompanied by the required shipping papers.

Each of these violations has been categorized at Severity Level IV (Supplements IV and V).

Summary of Licensee Response

The licensee, in its responses, does not deny any of the violations. However, the licensee does not request mitigation of the civil penalties based on: (1) Its corrective action for the violations which included implementing a daily check of the alarm system, implementing a comprehensive audit program, and incorporating a back-up system to ensure that shipping papers will always accompany a source; (2) extenuating circumstances (illness of the Radiation Safety Officer) that contributed to one of the violations (II.B); (3) its stated claim that these violations in no way reflect its overall safety program, which has been operating safely since incorporation in 1964; (4) the fact that none of the violations resulted in exposure to any individual; and (5) the severe economic posture of the company.

NRC Evaluation of Licensee Response

When the NRC proposed the civil penalties, it considered the licensee's corrective actions for the violations. Although these corrective actions were considered acceptable, they were not considered unusually prompt and extensive. Therefore, no adjustment of the civil penalties was deemed appropriate.

While the NRC recognizes that the illness of the Radiation Safety Officer may have contributed to one of the violations, these circumstances do not provide a basis for mitigation of the civil penalties. If the responsibilities of the license can not be implemented by a particular individual, it is the licensee's responsibility to ensure that others are assigned to assure that licensed activities are conducted safely and in accordance with the terms of the license.

With respect to the licensee's claim that its overall safety record provides a basis for mitigation, the NRC disagrees with this claim, since, as explained in the July 24, 1987 letter sent with the Notice of Violation, all four of the violations identified during this inspection had been identified during previous inspections at the facility. In fact, prior to this inspection, 26 violations were previously identified during NRC inspections of this licensee since 1979, including violations that resulted in the imposition of a $6,900 civil penalty (EA 79–002) on July 3, 1980. Furthermore, a $2,300 civil penalty (EA 74–003) was imposed on August 12, 1974, for seven other violations of NRC requirements. Given this history of violations and civil penalties, the licensee's overall safety record does not provide a basis for mitigation.

In addition, the licensee's claim that the violations did not result in a radiation exposure to any individual does not provide a basis for mitigation of the penalties since the potential for such exposure existed. As stated in the July 24, 1987 Notice of Violation and Proposed Imposition of Civil Penalties, the failure to maintain the audible warning signal to the iridium-192 cell in an operable status is of particular concern to the NRC since it could have resulted in unnecessary exposure of individuals to radiation, and was similar to a violation identified during an inspection in 1982. If an individual had received a radiation exposure, the civil penalty for this violation probably would have been increased.

The NRC Enforcement Policy recognizes that a licensee's ability to pay is a proper consideration in determining the amount of a civil penalty. The licensee's financial information submitted in its September 8, 1987 letter demonstrates that imposition of a civil penalty in the amount proposed would create a severe financial burden. Recognizing the current financial situation, the penalty is being reduced by 50 percent. The NRC also finds, consistent with its Enforcement Policy, that the imposition of the reduced civil penalties will not result in economic termination of the licensee's business or financial hindrance of the licensee's ability to safely conduct licensed activities. However, the NRC has concluded that given the economic position of the company, the licensee should be allowed to pay the reduced penalties in twenty-four monthly installments.

NRC Conclusion

The proposed civil penalties in the amount of $3,250 should be imposed. However, given the current financial condition of the Company, the licensee may pay the civil penalties in twenty-four monthly installments.

[Docket Nos. 50-250, 50-251 and License Nos. DPR-31 and DPR-41; EA 87-85

Florida Power and Light Co., (Turkey Point Nuclear Plant Units 3 and 4); Order (Effective Immediately)

I

Florida Power and Light Company is the holder of operating Licenses No. DPR-31 and DPR-41 issued by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC/Commission) on July 19, 1972 and April 10, 1973 respectively. The license authorize the licensee to operate Turkey Point Nuclear Plant Units 3 and 4 in accordance with conditions specified therein.

II

Between July 1983 and May 1987, the licensee has been cited for 32 violations for failure to implement or to follow procedures. Lack of management controls in these and other areas has resulted in multiple escalated enforcement actions including seven civil penalties since July 20, 1984 and two additional civil penalties in the brief period since July 21, 1987. Overall poor performance by the licensee additionally resulted in the Turkey Point Performance Enhancement Program. A Confirmatory Order was issued on July 13, 1984 to confirm the implementation of this program. Subsequently to that, numerous additional violations were identified and the Phase II Assessment Program was developed by FP&L to be implemented in conjunction with the Performance Enhancement Program. This was addressed in the Confirmatory Order issued on August 12, 1986.

Routine inspections of the licensee's activities were conducted during May 18-July 20, 1987. The results of these inspections indicated that the licensee again had not conducted its activities in full compliance with NRC requirements. In conjunction with this Order, a written Notice of Violation and Proposed Imposition of Civil Penalty is being served upon the licensee. The Notice of Violation details a number of examples of the failure to adhere to approved procedures and maintain configuration control over safety-related systems.

The first two violations described in the Notice detail a number of occasions where plant pesonnel manipulated valves without the use of approved procedures or approval of licensed supervisory personnel. The major areas of concern included operations personnel departing from approved procedures, failing to notify the control room of changes in system lineups, the loss of configuration control over the safety-related emergency boration system, and system engineers directing plant operators to perform valve operations without first obtaining the proper authorization from the control room staff and without using approved procedures. These failures to adequately establish or implement procedures to assure configuration control of the safety-related emergency boration system resulted in the loss of boric acid flow paths which were required by Technical Specifications. Additionally, a Turbine operator closed valves which he thought were misaligned. The operator was unaware of the proper valve lineup configuration, failed to report the system realignment to the control room, failed to implement the approved system lineup procedure, and failed to document the perceived misalignment and his subsequent realignment. At least one plant operator also failed to identify or promptly inform the control room staff of the status of the valves. The improper manipulation of these values resulted in the isolation of the nitrogen backup system for the Auxililary Feedwater System (AFW) flow control valves. The AFW flow control valves normally use the non-safety-related, non-seismic instrument air system for automatic valve positioning; therefore, the failure to have the nitrogen back-up system available is unlikely to have prevented the AFW system from operating. Nevertheless, these failures by plant personnel indicate a lack of appreciation for procedural compliance, system configuration control, and receiving appropriate authorization for realignments from the control room.

The third violation described in the Notice addresses an event involving operation of the Intake Cooling Water (ICW) system outside the plant design basis, another example where communications of required information to supervisory personnel was a contributing factor. On December 1, 1986, a performance test conducted on the Unit 3 Component Cooling Water (CCW) heat exchangers indicated degraded performance. Revised data and proposed immediate cleaning schedule were forwarded to the Shift Technical Advisors on December 4, 1986, but the changes required by the revised performance data were not implemented and the cleaning schedule was not adhered to. As a result of this failure to perform corrective action, with the 3B CCW heat exchanger out of service for cleaning during a seventeen hour period on December 11, 1986, the two CCW heat exchangers remaining in service would not have been able to dissipate the maximum hypothetical heat load even with the ICW flow provided by two ICW pumps as decribed in safety evaluation JPE-L-85-38, Rev. 2, and the turbine plant cooling system isolated.

In addition, on September 13, 1987, a licensed operator permitted an unauthorized, non-licensed individual to manipulate the reactor dilution controls in Unit 3 control room, and although a management representative on shift observed and reported the incident, neither the Site Vice-President nor management at the Corporate Office were informed of the event until a week later. The NRC is continuing to evaluate the circumstances surrounding this event, but it is clear that an attitude that permits an unauthorized, non-licensed individual to perform such actions is unacceptable. The NRC will consider whether further action is necessary on this issue subsequent to the completion of our evaluation.

IV

The nature and number of deficiencies that have been identified over the past few years at Turkey Point described in Section II together with the more recent issues in Section III raise questions regarding the ability of Florida Power and Light to adequately control activities at Turkey Point. In contrast, the licensee's St. Lucie facility has performed well with few of the weaknesses evident at Turkey Point. Continued operation of the Turkey Point facility may require significant personnel and procedural changes at both Turkey Point and the Florida Power and Light corporate office in order to ensure a consistent level of adequate performance.

Florida Power and Light has taken the initiative in developing a number of programs designed to improve performance, including a review of the design basis of selected systems, a review and revision of all operating procedures, making a number of management changes, a management on-shift program and contracting with an outside consultant to review its activities. The last two initiatives which the licensee committed to in a letter dated October 7, 1987 and further described in meetings on September 25, 1987 and October 8, 1987, as well as in a letter dated October 19, 1987 appear necessary to provide assurance that proper controls are in place, along with qualified and committed management, and staff to properly perform licensed activities. Therefore, I have determined that public health and safety require that Florida Power and Light's plan for an independent evaluation be confirmed as revised by this Order. Pending the NRC evaluation of the results of the independent evaluation, I have also determined that the public health and safety requires that an on-shift oversight program be confirmed as revised by this Order.

In view of the foregoing pursuant to sections 103, 161(i), 161(o) and 182 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and the Commission's regulations in 10 CFR 2.204 and 10 CFR Part 50, it is hereby ordered effective immediately that:

A. Within 30 days of the date of this Order, the licensee shall submit to the Region II Administrator for review and approval a plan for an independent written appraisal of site and corporate organizations and activities that would develop recommendations, where necessary, for improvements in management controls and oversight to provide assurance that personnel will comply with required procedures. Upon approval of the plan, it shall be implemented and scheduled milestone completion dates shall not be extended without good cause and the concurrence of the Region II Administrator. The appraisal shall be completed as called for in the above plan, but in any case, within six months of the date of this Order. The plan shall include at least the elements itemized below:

(1) An independent organization retained by the licensee shall evaluate current organizational responsibilities, management controls, improvement and upgrade programs, staffing levels and competence, communications, the safety review process, and operating practices both at Turkey Point and the corporate office. The licensee's programs for personnel motivation such as incentive and disciplinary programs shall be examined in the appraisal. Where applicable, the practices at the St. Lucie facility shall be reviewed and compared with those at Turkey Point.

(2) The appraisal shall include a review of the licensee's site and corporate management supervisory personnel as well as a representative number of site working level personnel to determine their understanding of both regulatory and administrative requirements in the areas of procedural implementation and compliance. Additionally, a determination of the level of commitment of the personnel to such goals should be made.

(3) The appraisal report shall include the views of the independent organization on the causes of the past failures to meet regulatory requirements referenced in Section II and III of the Order and an evaluation of the adequacy of the current improvement and upgrade programs and management changes to achieve lasting safety improvements in compliance with Commission requirements. Past efforts to improve procedures relating to security and operations shall be reviewed. Recommendations shall be made for procedural, organizational, personnel, or other changes to improve the safety of plant operations and compliance with Commission requirements.

(4) A description of the appraisal program, the qualification of the appraisal team, a discussion of how the appraisal is to be documented, and a schedule with appropriate milestones.

(5) Periodic meetings shall be provided between the outside organization and the licensee to alert the licensee of potential safety issues that may need immediate correction.

B. The final report, as well as interim findings, will be communicated to a senior-level review board consisting of the FP&L Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, the President and Chief Operating Officer, and the Group Vice President Nuclear Energy Department.

C. The licensee shall direct the outside organization to submit to the Region II Administrator a copy of the report of the appraisal recommendations resulting from the appraisal, any any and all drafts thereof, at the same time they are sent to the licensee or any of its employees or contractors. Prior notice shall be given the Region II Administrator of any meeting between the licensee and the organization to discuss the results, recommendations, or progress made on the appraisal. The Region II Administrator may designate a member of his staff to attend any such meetings as an observer. In addition the licensee shall consider the, recommendations resulting from the appraisal and provide to Region II Administrator within 30 days of the receipt of the appraisal an analysis of each such recommendation and the action to be taken in response to recommendation. The licensee shall also provide at that time a schedule for accomplishing these actions. Justification shall be provided for any recommendation of the appraisal not adopted.

D. Pending the completion of the review of the results of the above independent appraisal programs, the licensee shall implement a continuous on-shift oversight program to monitor the safety of plant operations, both in and out of the control room. The oversight program shall be implemented prior to either unit entering Mode 2 (Startup) following the current outages

(1) At least one evaluator, whether licensee employee or contractor, on each shift shall have held a senior reactor operator license or have experience in auditing or appraising commercial nuclear plant operations and not have been an employee at the Turkey Point facility within the last two years.

PENSION BENEFIT GUARANTY CORPORATION

Exemption From Bond/Escrow and Contract-Language Requirements Relating to Sale of Assets By an Employer That Contributes to a Multiemployer Plan; Puerto Rico Maritime Shipping Authority and Maher Terminals, Inc.

AGENCY: Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

ACTION: Notice of exemption.

SUMMARY: The Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation has granted an exemption from the bond/escrow and contract-language requirements of section 4204(a)(1) (B) and (C) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 to Puerto Rico Maritime Shipping Authority and Maher Terminals, Inc. A notice of the request for exemption was published in the Federal Register on August 3, 1987 (52 FR 28768). The effect of this notice is to advise the public of the decision on the exemption request.

ADDRESS: The request for an exemption and the PBGC response to the request are available for public inspection at the PBGC Communications and Public Affairs Department, Suite 7100, 2020 K Street NW., Washington, DC 20006, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. A copy of these documents may be obtained by mail from the PBGC Disclosure Officer (38000) at the above address.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Under section 4204(a)(1) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"), a sale of assets by an employer that contributes to multiemployer pension plan will not constitute a withdrawal from the plan if certain conditions are met. Two of these conditions are that the purchaser post a bond or deposit money in escrow for the five plan years beginning after the sale and that the sale contract provide for secondary liability on the part of the seller if the buyer withdraws during the five-year period.

ERISA section 4204(c) authorizes the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation ("PBGC") to grant exemptions from the purchaser's bond/escrow requirement of section 4204(a)(1)(B) and the contract-provision requirement of section 4204(a)(1)(C). Under § 2643.3(a) of the PBGC's regulation on variances for sales of assets (29 CFR Part 2643), the PBGC will approve a request for an exemption if it determines that approval of the request is warranted, in that it—

(1) Would more effectively or equitably carry out the purposes of Title IV of ERISA; and

(2) Would not significantly increase the risk of financial loss to the plan.

The legislative history of section 4204 indicates a Congressional intent that the sale rules be administered in a manner that assures protection of the plan with the least practicable intrusion into normal business transactions.

ERISA section 4204(c) and § 2643.3(b) of the regulation require the PBGC to publish a notice of the pendency of an exemption request in the Federal Register, and to give interested parties an opportunity to comment on the proposed exemption.

Decision

On August 3, 1987 (52 FR 28768), the PBGC published a notice of the pendency of a request from Puerto Rico Maritime Shipping Authority ("PRMSA") and Maher Terminals, Inc. ("Maher"), for an exemption from the bond/escrow and contract-language requirements of section 4204(a)(1) (B) and (C) of ERISA in connection with Maher's purchase, effective November 29, 1986, of the assets of the guard service operated by PRMSA in Port Elizabeth, New Jersey. (The information necessary to support the waiver request is confidential financial information (within the meaning of section 552(b)(4) of the Freedom of Information Act) that Maher declines to submit to the Plan.) No comments were received in response to the notice of pendency.

In connection with the sale, Maher assumed PRMSA's obligation to contribute to the NYSA–PPGU Pension Fund and Plan ("the Plan"). The Plan has informed Maher that the amount of the bond or escrow required of Maher under section 4204(a)(1)(B) is $105,734. The Plan has also informed Maher that it will not request Maher to post the bond while Maher's waiver request to the PBGC is pending. The estimated amount of the withdrawal liability that PRMSA would otherwise incur as a result of the sale if section 4204 did not apply to the sale is $272,385.

Maher stated that the request for an exemption should be granted because it satisfies the net tangible assets test described in § 2643.14(a)(2) of the regulation. The sum of the amount of unfunded vested benefits allocable to Maher and PRMSA as of the date of the sale was $857,558. Maher's audited financial statements show net tangible assets of more than $2,000,000 as of the end of its fiscal year ending in September 1986.

Based on the facts of this case and the representations and statements made in connection with the exemption request, the PBGC has determined that an exemption from the bond/escrow and contract-language requirements is warranted, in that it would more effectively carry out the purposes of Title IV of ERISA and would not significantly increase the risk of financial loss to the Plan. Therefore, the PBGC hereby grants the request for an exemption from the bond/escrow and contract language requirements of section 4204(a)(1) (B) and (C) of ERISA with respect to Maher's purchase of assets from PRMSA. The granting of such an exemption does not constitute a determination by the PBGC that the transaction satisfies the other requirements of section 4204(a)(1). That is a determination to be made by the plan sponsor.

Issued at Washington, DC, on this 16th day of October, 1987.

Kathleen P. Utgoff,

Executive Director, Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

[Release No. 34–25041; File No. AMEX–87–22]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; American Stock Exchange, Inc.; Order Granting Accelerated Approval to Proposed Rule Changes

On September 4, 1987, the American Stock Exchange, Inc. ("AMEX" or "Exchange") submitted to the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission"), pursuant to section 19(b)(1) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act") [1] and Rule 19b–4 thereunder,[2] a proposed rule change to permit the AMEX to list long-term option series.

The proposed rule change was noticed in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 34–24948 (September 29, 1987), 52 FR 37385 (October 6, 1987). No comments have been received.

The proposed rule change will allow the Exchange to list long-term options on its broad-based indices. Currently, options on broad-based indices begin trading approximately twelve months prior to their expiration. More specifically, the proposal would allow the AMEX to list option series that expire in either one, two or three years, with the Exchange retaining the right also to list options with intervening six month expirations (e.g., 1½ years, 2½ years). When listed, such option series will be opened for trading either when there is buying or selling interest, or 40 minutes prior to the close, whichever occurs first. No quotations will be posted for such long term option series until they are opened for trading. When these option series have less than 12 months to expiration they will be treated like any other non long-term option for all trading procedures, including opening procedures.

Strike price interval, bid/ask differential, and continuity rules will not apply to such long term option series until the time to expiration is less than 12 months. The AMEX believes it is appropriate to waive these rules initially because of the lack of historical pricing data upon which to base such prices.[3] Strict price interval requirements and bid/ask differential rules currently are based on options that expire 12 months from the time they begin trading. There currently is no basis for establishing accurate prices for long-term options that will expire 12 to 36 months from the time they begin trading.

The Exchange states that the inapplicability of specific AMEX rules concerning strike price intervals, bid/ask differentials and price continuity will not prevent the AMEX from concluding that market-maker performance is inadequate should a specialist and/or registered trader enter into transactions or make bids or offers in long-term options that are inconsistent with their obligation to maintain fair and orderly markets. In this regard, the Commission notes the AMEX's bid/ask differential and continuity rules are part of the general rules that obligates specialist and registered options traders to maintain a fair and orderly market.[4] The Commission believes that the requirement of this rule are broad enough, even in the absence of bid-ask differentials and continuity requirements, to allow the Exchange the authority to make a finding of inadequate making performance.

The Commission agrees that it may be impractical for the AMEX to apply the usual strike price interval, bid/ask differential, and continuity rules to the longer term options. However, the AMEX has stated that it will monitor the trading in the long-term options closely to gain experience with regard to these options, and that it will reexamine the applicability of these rules to the long-term options in one year's time.

The proposed rule change is designed to facilitate transactions in options by providing investors with additional means to hedge equity portfolios from long-term market risk. In particular, the proposal to respond to requests from institutional customers to list long-term options. The proposal would allow institutions, to use these long-term options to protect portfolios from long-term market moves with a known and limited cost. As a result, the Commission believes that the proposed rule change will thus better serve the long-term hedging needs of institutional investors.

Long term options also would provide institutions with an alternative to insuring portfolios with futures positions. Many institutional investors now use stock index futures contracts that have terms of 12 months or more to hedge portfolio risk. The Commission believes that the proposed long-term options will provide institutions with a broader range of choice in their use of hedging vehicles, and will place options on a more equal position with futures products.

For the above reasons, the Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities exchange, and, in particular, the requirements of section 6 [5] and the rules and regulations thereunder.

The Commission finds good cause for approving the proposed rule changes prior to the thirtieth day after the date of publication of notice of filing thereof because the proposed rule change raises substantially the same issues that were addressed recently when the Commission approved the listing of long-term options by the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc.[6] That proposal received no comments, and the AMEX's proposal has received no comments during its abbreviated comment period. The approval of the rule change at this time will allow the AMEX to introduce long-term series index options at the October expiration and thereby provide competition in the market place for such long-term options.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act,[7]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Boston Stock Exchange; Order Granting Approval of Proposed Rule Changes

I. Introduction

On February 6, 1987, the Boston Stock Exchange ("BSE" or "Exchange") filed, pursuant to seciton 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act"), a proposal to amend its margin, capital and equity requirements for specialists. The proposal would increase minimum financial responsibility requirements for specialists, and would establish guidelines for taking remedial action for violations of those requirements.[1] The proposal was published for comment in the Federal Register, and no comments were received.[2] The Commission is issuing this order to approve the proposal.

II. Description of the Proposal

The BSE filing would amend (1) the Supplementary Material to Chapter VIII of the BSE Rules of the Board of Governors, concerning margin requirements for specialists, and (2) Chapter XXII, section 2 of the BSE Rules of the Board of Governors, concerning specialist net capital requirements.

A. Margin Provisions

The BSE requires, generally, that a specialist maintain a margin of 25% of market value of all securities in which he acts as specialist, and a margin of 50% for all other equity securities in his account.[3] The proposed amendments to the margin provisions would provide guidelines for remedial action to be taken by the Exchange and for the imposition of escalating fines in the event of repeated calls for margin deficiencies ("margin calls") in a specialist's account within a one month or calendar quarter period. Specifically, the BSE proposal provides that in the event of the third margin call within a one month period, the specialist would be required to meet with the Exchange's Market Surveillance and Compliance Department ("Exchange Staff") to review the problem and consider appropriate remedial action.[4] If the account has a fourth margin call within the month period a written warning will be issued, and at the fifth and sixth margin calls in that period the account will be fined $250, and $500, respectively. The proposal further provides that after receiving six margin calls in a calendar quarter period, a specialist will be fined $500 on any subsequent call. The proposal notes that any of the sanctions or remedial actions imposed by the Exchange Staff under these provisions may be appealed to the BSE's Market Performance Committee ("MPC"), and also that the MPC may take additional remedial action, such as suspending or terminating a specialist's trading or alternate account privileges. Finally, the proposal provides an exemption from the proposed sanctions for margin calls if the Exchange Staff, with the concurrence of a Floor Governor, determines that the margin deficiencies were incurred by the specialist as a result of fulfilling his market making responsibilities.

B. Net Capital and Minimum Equity Requirements

The BSE proposal also would increase the minimum net capital and equity requirements for BSE specialists, and would establish a schedule of remedial action and fines for repeated net capital violations.

Currently, the BSE requires that a specialist maintain a minimum net capital, as defined and computed under the Commission's Rule 15c3-1,[5] equal to the greater of $35,000 or 25% of the market value of 200 shares of each security in which that specialist is registered as a dealer. The proposal, in effect, would increase that net capital requirement by requiring that the specialist apply certain additional haircuts, i.e., percentage reductions to the market value of a security held as principal, to securities in the specialist's account when computing net capital. First, the proposed amendment would require that whenever a single security issue in the specialist's account valued under $10 per share comprised more than 30% of the equity in the account, or when all securities in the account valued under $10 per share exceeded 50% of the specialist's equity, a haircut of 30% would be applied to that excess over 30% or 50% of equity, whichever results in the greater haircut.[6] In addition, the proposal sets forth certain other haircuts that must be applied to all other security positions in the specialist's account, in addition to those required by the net capital computation in Rule 15c3-1. For specialists that do not have public customers or an active trading account, a haircut of 10% on both long and short securities positions shall be applied. For those specialists with no public customers, but with an active trading account, a 30% haircut on the greater of the long or short position shall be applied.[7]

As with the margin requirements, the proposal also would establish guidelines for remedial action and for imposing sanctions for repeated violations of the net capital requirements by specialists. The proposal provides that an account must cure a net capital deficiency by the morning of the next business day, and if timely corrective action has not been taken, the Exchange Staff, after consultation with a Floor Governor, may require liquidation of positions or freezing of the account. The proposal also provides for an escalating scale of sanctions for a specialist's repeated net capital violations in a twelve-month period.[8] The Exchange Staff will have the discretion, however, with the concurrence of a Floor Governor, to exempt a specialist from these sanctions if the deficiency was incurred as a result of performance of specialist obligations during unusual market activity.

Finally, the BSE proposes to increase minimum equity requirements for its specialists in two stages. As of December 31, 1987, specialists will be required to increase their liquidating

[1] On September 10, 1987, and October 19, 1987, the BSE filed amendments to the proposal to clarify the proposal in certain respects and to conform certain outdated provisions in its margin and capital rules to current regulatory requirements. These amendments were not noticed for comment.

[4] Assuming a margin call for a deficiency in the specialist's account is issued on Day 1 and each succeeding day the account continues to be under-margined constitutes a separate margin call, on Day 3 the remedial sanctions would apply.

[6] The proposal states that a specialist may be exempt from the haircuts for low-priced securities, if those security positions were assumed in the course of the specialist's maintaining a fair and orderly market.

[7] If the smaller of the long or short position is greater than 25% of the larger position then the specialist shall be haircut an additional 15% on the difference between the two positions.

equity [9] from $80,000 to $100,000, and as of June 30, 1988, these equity requirements will be raised to $125,000. The equity levels below which a specialist would be required to supply additional equity or his securities would be reassigned would be raised as of December 31, 1987, to $90,000 and $85,000, respectively, and as of June 30, 1988, to $110,000, and $100,000, respectively.[10]

III. Discussion

The BSE, through its clearing corporation, the Boston Stock Exchange Clearing Corporation, finances the trading activity of its specialists. Therefore, the Exchange has a direct and substantial interest in the financial strenght and integrity of its specialists, which is relfected in its rules. The BSE, through these amendments to its margin and capital rules, is seeking to increase the financial responsbilitity of its specialists by: (1) Increasing net capital requirements by requiring certain additional securities haircuts in the net capital computation; (2) raising minimum equity requirements; and (3) establishing a system for remedial action and fines to assure compliance by specialists with the financial responsibility requirements. The BSE represents that the proposal is motivated largely by the planned implementation of the proposed Boston Exhange Automated Communication Order-Routing Network ("BEACON"), which will price and execute automatically orders up to 1,299 shares.[11] By increaing the specialist's minimum financial responsibility requirements, the BSE is attempting to assure that its specialists will have equity and capital sufficient to support their participation in the BEACON system. The BSE states in its filing that the proposal is consistent with section 6(b)(5) of the Act because it will facilitate transactions in securities, and reduce risk to public investors, member organizations and the Exchange.

The Commission believes that the BSE's proposal to increase the minimum net capital and equity requirements for its specialists and to establish guidelines for taking remedial action in instances of violations of those requirements and of its margin rules is desinged to improve the finacial integrity and liquidity of the BSE marketplace. As a result, the proposal, by assuring that specialists have capital sufficient to perform their market making responsibilities, would provide additional protection for the Exchange, other member organizations, and public investors.[12]

Accordingly, the Commission finds that the BSE proposal, as amended, is consistent with section 6 of the Act, and the rules thereunder applicable to the national securities exchanges.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the BSE rule proposal be approved.

For the Commission, by the Divison of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit on or before November 10, 1987, written comments, data, views and arguments concerning the above-referenced application. Persons desiring to make written comments should file three copies with the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 Fifth Street, NW., Washington, DC 20549. Commentators are requested to address whether they believe the requested withdrawal of UTP in Shared Medical Systems and DSC Communications would be consistent with section 12(f)(4) of the Act and whether the requested grant of UTP in Sun Microsystems, Inc. and Nordstrom, Inc. would be consistent with section 12(f)(1)(C). In considering an application for extension of UTP in OTC securities under section 12(f)(1)(C), the Commission is required to consider, among other matters, the public activity in such security, the character of such trading, the impact of such extension on the existing markets for such securities, and the desirability of removing impediments to and the progress that has been made toward the development of a national market system. The Commission may not grant such application if any rule of the national securities exchange making an application under section 12(f)(1)(C) would unreasonably impair the ability of any dealer to solicit or effect transactions in such security for his own account, or would unreasonably restrict competition among dealers in such security or between such dealers acting in the capacity of market makers who are specialists and such dealers who are not specialists.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Jonathan G. Katz,

Secretary.

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Proposed Rule Change by National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. Relating to an Amendment to Part V of Schedule D of the NASD By-Laws Reducing Fees for Non-Professionals

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1), notice is hereby given that on September 18, 1987, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission the proposed rule change as described in Items I, II, and III below, which items have been prepared by the NASD. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The NASD hereby files a proposed rule change pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act") and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, to amend the schedule of charges contained in Schedule D of the NASD By-Laws, Part V, section A(9)(a).[1] The amendatory language is as follows (deletions bracketed/additions italicized):

9. Non-Professional Services [2].

(a) The charge to be paid by non-professional subscribers for access to NASDAQ Level 1 Service [or] and NASDAQ/National Market System Last Sale Information Service through [the services of] an authorized vendor shall be [$6.00] $4.00 per interrogation device per month.[3]

[1] The Commission recently approved File No. SR-NASD-87-8 which effected a reorganization of Schedule D. See Release No. 34-24718 (July 20, 1987). The schedule of charges formerly in Part V of Schedule D (including those applicable to non-professionals) will now be found under Part IX of the reorganized Schedule D. Because the subsection for non-professional services has not yet been designated, the NASD has referenced this rule change according to the scheme existing immediately prior to the reorganization of Schedule D.

[2] Under Schedule D of the NASD By-Laws, formerly Part V, section A(9)(b), the term "non-professional" is defined respecting the application of this fee. Generally, the term encompasses entities that are not registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, comperable state agencies or a securities exchange or association.

[3] The subject charge, like those applicable to professionals, is assessed per device. The words "per interrogation device" have been added to clarify this application of the fee.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the NASD included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The NASD has prepared summaries, set forth in sections (A), (B), and (C) below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

The purpose of this filing is to establish a reduced monthly fee of $4.00 per interrogation device for bundled Level 1 and NASDAQ/National Market System Last Sale Service provided to non-professional subscribers through vendors. Previously, the non-professional subscriber paid a monthly charge of $6.00 to receive either Level 1 or NASDAQ/NMS Last Sale Service, or a total of $12.00 per device for both services. The NASD expects that the instant fee reduction will expand the base of non-professionals opting to receive the bundled service consisting of Level 1 quotations and NASDAQ/NMS last sale data. Finally, this modification tracks parallel changes implemented with respect to Consolidated Tape Association and Consolidated Quote fees.

The NASD cites section 15A(b)(5) of the Act as the principal statutory basis for modifying the Association's non-professional fee structure. That provision holds the Association to a standard of reasonable fees equitably allocated in setting charges for its various market data services. The new monthly charge of $4.00 per device for combined Level 1/NASDAQ/NMS Last Sale Service constitutes a 33⅓% reduction from the monthly charge previously levied to receive only one of these data sources. It is anticipated that this reduction will stimulate demand for the combined Level 1 and NASDAQ/NMS Last Sale information among a broader base of non-professionals served by vendors of securities information. These non-professionals will automatically have access to both inside quotations and last sale data at a price 66⅔% below the previous aggregate price for these services. Hence, certain non-professionals will no longer have to choose between accessing inside quotes or last sale data in applying their limited resources for securities market data. In sum, the modified fee structure for non-professionals should enable more subscribers to obtain on-line access to expaned NASDAQ market data for a significantly lower price. Accordingly, the NASD believes that this proposed rule change satisfies the regulatory structures posed by section 15A(b)(5) of the Act.

Similarly, the Association relies upon section 11A(a)(1) of the Act as statutory support for the modified fee structure for non-professionals. Subsections (A) through (D) thereunder contain a series of Congressional findings respecting the goals of a national market system. These provisions emphasize the importance of technology in disseminating market information to virtually all categories of market participants. The NASD's modified fee structure for non-professionals fosters realization of that initiative by making more NASDAQ market data accessible on-line at a significantly lower cost. This is turn should stimulate use of this data by a greater number of non-professionals. This result is consistent with the policy goals articulated by the Congress in adopting section 11A(a)(1) of the Act.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The NASD believes that the reduced fee for non-professionals' access to Level 1 and NASDAQ/NMS last sale data will create no burden on competition. In particular, the NASD notes that this fee applies solely to non-professionals served by vendors of securities market data. To the extent that the modified fee structure stimulates demand for NASDAQ Level 1 and NASDAQ/NMS last sale information, there will be additional opportunities for vendors to serve non-professional subscribers. Under these circumstances, there is no issue of vendor access presented by this modified fee structure for non-professionals.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

Comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing For Commission Action

The foregoing rule change has become effective pursuant to section

19(b)(3)(A)(ii) of the Act and subparagraph (e) of Rule 19b–4 under the Act. At any time within 60 days of the filing of such proposed rule change, the Commission may summarily abrogate such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

IV. Solicitation of Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the foregoing. Persons making written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission 450 5th Street, NW., Washington, DC 20549. Copies of the submission, all subsequent amendments, all written statements with respect to the proposed rule change that are filed with the Commission, and all written communications relating to the proposed rule change between the Commission and any person, other than those that may be withheld from the public in accordance with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552, will be available for inspection and copying in the Commission's Public Reference Room at the above address. Copies of the filing will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal office of the NASD. All submission should refer to the file number in the caption above and should be submitted by November 16, 1987.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority, 17 CFR 200.30–3(a)(12).

Federal Highway Administration

Environmental Impact Statement; Clark County, WA

AGENCY: Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of intent.

SUMMARY: The FHWA is issuing this notice to advise the public that an environmental Impact statement will be prepared for a proposed highway project in Clark County, Washington.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: P.C. Gregson, Division Administrator, Federal Highway Administration, Suite 501, Evergreen Plaza, 711 South Capitol Way, Olympia, WA 98501, Telephone: (206) 753-2120; or E. W. Ferguson, District Administator, Washington State Department of Transportation, 4200 Main Street, P.O. Box 1709, Vancouver, WA 98668, Telephone: (206) 696-6461.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The FHWA, in cooperation with the Washington State Department of Transportation, will prepare an environmental impact statement (EIS) on a proposal to improve Interstate Route 5 (I-5) in Clark County, Washington. The proposed improvement would involve the reconstruction of the existing I-5 between Main Street in the City of Vancouver and I-205 about 5 miles to the north. Improvements to the corridor are considered necessary to provide for the existing and projected traffic demand.

The proposed project will widen I-5 from four lanes to six through lanes, construct a new interchange with N.E. 99th Street, link all on and off ramps between the Main Street and 99th Street Interchanges with auxiliary lanes, improve existing interchanges, widen or replace all existing bridges and overpasses to accommodate roadway widening, repave roadway surfaces and upgrade drainage, signing, pavement markings and safety devices.

Alternatives under consideration include: (1) Do nothing.

(2) Widen SR 5 and improve existing interchanges only. This alternative would not construct a new interchange at NE 99th Street.

(3) Implement a Transportation System Management Program (TSM). This program would include ramp metering, designation of High Occupancy Vehicle (HOV) lanes, and construction of additional park and ride facilities. Improved public transit service would accompany the park and ride options.

The build alternatives will take into consideration design variations in grade and alignment, and optional interchange configurations.

In June of 1986, a description of the proposed project was circulated to 20 local, state and federal agencies with jurisdiction, expertise and/or interests in the project area. These agencies were asked to review and comment on the proposed project and identify any issues they thought should be specifically addressed in an environmental assessment.

On October 1, 1986, the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT) and the Intergovernmental Resource Center (IRC) of Clark County held an informal public meeting on the proposed improvements. The public information meeting was broadly advertised in local newspapers, over radio, and via printed flyers circulated throughout the project area.

During this scoping process the definition of the proposed project was refined and important issues and significant impacts were identified. Environmental documentation is therefore being upgraded from an assessment to a full impact statement.

Informal meetings will be held before the end of the year to notify the public of this change. In addition, a public hearing will be held after the Draft EIS is issued. Public notice will be given of the time and place of the meetings and hearing.

To ensure that the full range of issues related to this proposed action are addressed and all significant issues identified, comments and suggestions are invited from all interested parties. Comments or questions concerning this proposed action and the EIS should be directed to the FHWA or WSDOT at the address provided above.

(Catalog Federal Domestic Assistance Program Number 20.205, Highway Research, Planning and Construction. The regulations implementing Executive Order 12372 regarding intergovernmental consultation on Federal programs and activities apply to this program)

Federal Railroad Administration

[FRA General Docket No. H-87-3]

Petition for Exemption or Waiver for Test Program; CSX Transportation, Inc., and RoadRailer

In accordance with 49 CFR 211.9, 211.41, and 211.51 and relevant statutory provisions, including 45 U.S.C. 1-16, 431(c), 437 and 1013, notice is hereby given that the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) has received a request for an exemption from or waiver of compliance with certain requirements of the Federal railroad safety laws and regulations, in order to conduct a test program. The individual petition is described below, including the party seeking relief, the regulatory provisions involved, and the nature of the relief being requested.

Interested parties are invited to participate in this proceeding by submitting written views, data, or comments. FRA does not anticipate scheduling a public hearing in connection with these proceedings since the facts do not appear to warrant a hearing. Any interested party desiring an opportunity for oral comment should notify FRA, in writing, before the end of the comment period and specify the basis for his or her request.

All communications concerning these proceedings should identify the appropriate docket number (here, FRA General Docket Number H-87-3) and must be submitted in triplicate to the Docket Clerk, Office of Chief Counsel, Federal Railroad Administration, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590. Communications received before November 30, 1987, will be considered by FRA before final action is taken. Comments received after that date will be considered as far as practicable. All written communications concerning these proceedings are available for examination during regular business hours (9 a.m.-5 p.m.) in Room 8201, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590.

The individual petition seeking an examination from or waiver of compliance is as follows:

[FRA General Docket Number H-87-3]

CSX Transportation, Inc., and RoadRailer (a manufacturer of intermodal, rail-highway equipment, formerly named "Bi-Modal Corporation") have jointly submitted a request to FRA for waivers of compliance with certain provisions of the Safety Appliance Standards (49 CFR Part 231), the regulations entitled "Railroad Power Brakes and Drawbars" (49 CFR Part 232), and the Safety Appliance Acts (45 U.S.C. 1-16). The petitioners seek these waivers in order to conduct a test program and a vehicle manufactured by RoadRailer called the "RoadRailer Mark V."

The RoadRailer Mark V concept uses modified highway vehicles which are connected to separable adapter/rail trucks. The RoadRailer Mark V vehicles basically consist of a couplable, train capable trailer or container chassis unit, carried on a specially adapted two-axle rail truck which is separable from the trailer or container chassis unit so that the rail truck does not go with the vehicle on the highway. Mark V container chassis units would be used in the test program. See Appendix A. The specially adapted rail truck is called "the RoadRailer Mark V Rail Bogie." See Appendix B.

The petitioners request a waiver of requirements for handholds, ladders, crossover platforms, sill steps, uncoupling levers and handbrakes (49 CFR Part 231), because these safety appliances would cause the vehicles to exceed the legal dimensions for highway vehicles. The petitioners assert that the absence of safety appliances would not reduce safety because safety appliances are not of practical operating use. In particular all RoadRailer Mark V requipment requiring operator attention is accessible from ground level; the coupling/uncoupling mechanism is operated from either side of the rail trucks; a spring-actuated parking brake is provided and personnel are not required to go between units.

The petitioners also request a waiver of the regulation on maximum coupler height (49 CFR 232.2). The Mark V coupler system is a slack-free, pin-connected, tongue-and-pocket arrangement. For structural reasons and because the integral coupler tongue must pass over the highway tractor fifth wheel, the Mark V coupler height is 49¾ inches above the top of rail. The petitioners assert that a waiver of the standard maximum coupler height of 34½ inches would not compromise safety because the coupler system is completely incompatible with standard Association of American Railroads couplers, and the units would not operate in interchange service.

FRA has substantial experience with other vehicles manufactured by RoadRailer that are similar to the RoadRailer Mark V. Since 1979, earlier model RoadRailer vehicles similar to the Mark V have been permitted to operate in an FRA-sanctioned test program, under conditional waivers of the same regulations. See 44 FR 5545, 25552-2554. In these earlier RoadRailer vehicles, the rail trucks were not detachable from the trailer. Early in 1987, FRA received petitions on behalf of several railroads, including CSX Transportation, Inc., seeking waivers of the same regulations in order to operate RoadRailer vehicles virtually identical, for FRA purposes, to these earlier RoadRailer vehicles in the old, existing test program. Based on this test program data, FRA granted waivers for these units, subject to the same terms and conditions imposed under the test program. See 52 FR 16325-16327, May 4, 1987. These terms and conditions included prohibitions on (i) the commingling of RoadRailer vehicles with traditional freight or passenger cars and (ii) the use of RoadRailer vehicles to transport commodities subject to the Hazardous Materials Regulations that require placards under Subpart C of Part 174.

The petitioners propose an initial test program that differs from the old RoadRailer test program in that Mark V RoadRailers would be commingled in the same train with conventional railroad rolling equipment. In particular, the RoadRailer Mark V units would be used "in revenue service as a block of like units behind a block of more conventional container-carrying cars. To minimize the slack action, the conventional units will be restricted to multiple section articulated cars in which 5 platforms (or sections) are connected with slack-free articulating joints and only have serviceable knuckle couplers at the ends of the 5 platform units." Based on "computer analysis of the train dynamics," the petitioners propose running trains consisting of up to 15 Mark V RoadRailer units coupled by means of an adapter interface car at the rear of up to 20 conventional, 5 platform, double stack container cars.

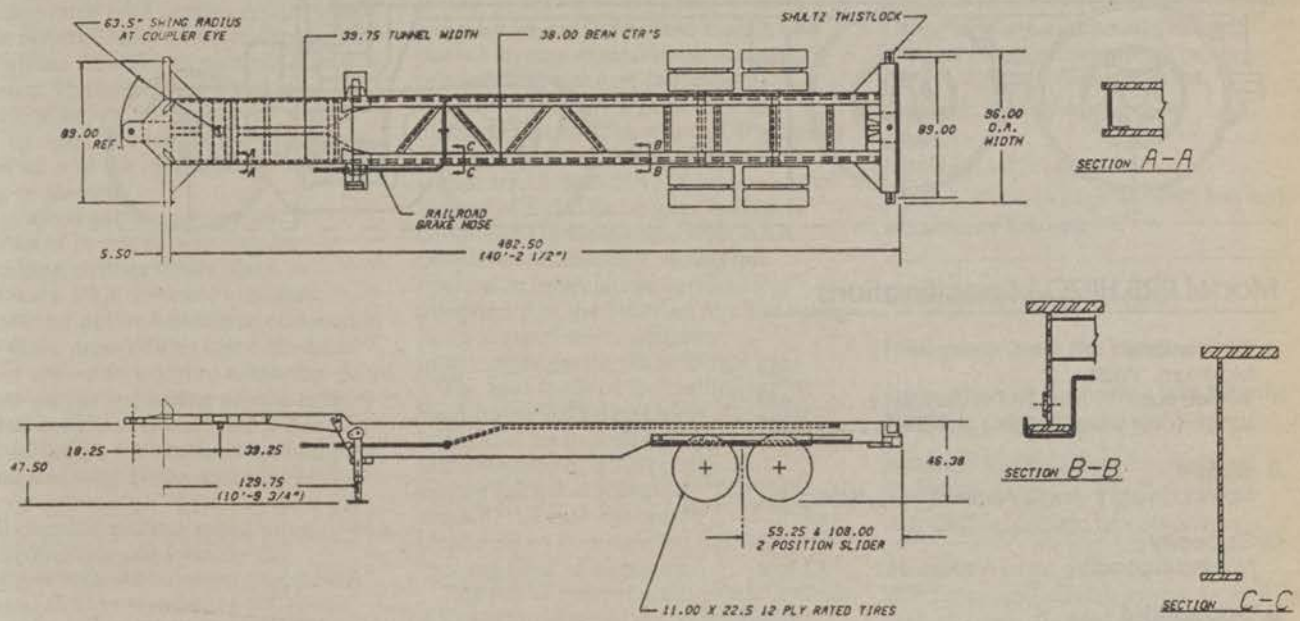
The trains would be operated by petitioner CSX Transportation, Inc. Routing would be east from Chicago on the tracks of the Belt Railway Company of Chicago to Pine Junction, Indiana; CSX Transportation mainline from Pine Junction to New Castle, Pennsylvania; the former Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company from New Castle to Buffalo, New York; and return in reverse order. One round trip per week would be scheduled, at a maximum speed of 65 mph. The initial test is proposed to begin about December 1, 1987, and run for a test period of approximately one year. Periodic service reports would be required to be submitted to FRA.



Issued in Washington, DC, on October 19, 1987.

Associate Administrator for Safety.

Any interested party desiring an opportunity for oral comment should notify FRA, in writing, before the end of the comment period and specify the basis for his or her request.

All communciations concerning these proceedings should identify the appropriate docket number (here, FRA General Docket Number H–87–4) and must be submitted in triplicate to the Docket Clerk, Office of Chief Counsel, Federal Railroad Administration, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590. Communications received before November 30, 1987, will be considered by FRA before final action is taken. Comments received after that date will be considered as far as practicable. All written communications concerning these proceedings are available for examination during regular business hours (9 a.m.—5 p.m.) in Room 8201, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590.

The individual petition seeking an exemption from or waiver of compliance is as follows:

Union Pacific Railroad Co.

Waiver Petition Number H–87–4

Union Pacific Railroad Company (UP) seeks waivers of compliance with certain provisions of (49 CFR Part 231) Safety Appliance Standards and Part 232 Railroad Power Brakes and Drawbars for a test program with the RoadRailer Mark V. The RoadRailer Mark V concept uses modified highway vehicles which are connected on separable adapter/rail trucks. For this test program, the vehicles are specially designed highway trailers. All equipment requiring operator attention is accessible from ground level; the coupling/uncoupling mechanism is operated from either side of the trucks; a spring actuated parking brake is provided and personnel are not required to go between units.

UP requests a waiver for requirements for handholds, ladders, crossover platforms, sill steps and uncoupling levers. In addition, the Mark V system is a slack-free pin connected tongue and pocket arrangement. For structural reasons and because the integral coupler tongue must pass over the highway tractor fifth wheel, UP requests a waiver of coupler height from 34½ inches to a height of 49.75 inches above the top of rail. The coupler system is completely incompatible with AAR couplers and the units would not operate in interchange service. It is intended that the vehicles operate solely in an integral train, without intermingling with other freight cars.

The rear truck of the trailing car in such trains would not have operative brakes, so as to prevent light-car wheel-slide condition, which could occur during full service braking. The front truck of the rear car would have brakes providing a maximum net lightweight braking ratio of 33 percent.

The initial test program would include a limited number of units, gradually building up to a 100-car train. Service would be between Chicago, Illinois, and Mesquite, Texas, at a maximum speed of 70 mph, starting December 1, 1987, for a test period of approximately 1 year. There would be one train daily 5 days a week from Chicago and one train daily 5 days a week from Mesquite. Trains would operate by way of Salem, Illinois, Poplar Bluffs, Missouri and Texarkana, Texas.

Issued in Washington, DC, on October 19, 1987.

Associate Administrator for Safety.

SUBJECT INDEX TO THE UNIFIED AGENDA OF FEDERAL REGULATIONS 41247

INTRODUCTION TO THE UNIFIED AGENDA OF FEDERAL REGULATIONS

About the Unified Agenda

The Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations is compiled by the Regulatory Information Service Center for the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget. The Center provides information about Federal regulatory activity to the President and his Executive Office, the Congress, agency managers, and the public.

The Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs is responsible for overseeing the Federal Government's regulatory, paperwork, and information-management activities and for implementing President Reagan's Executive Orders 12291 (Federal Regulation) and 12498 (Regulatory Planning). Under EO 12498, OMB publishes the Regulatory Program of the United States Government each year.

The Regulatory Program is a policy document and a management tool that sets forth the priorities of the agency head and of the President regarding the Significant Regulatory Actions (SRAs) that will be conducted during the program year to which it pertains.

The Regulatory Program and the Agenda differ in several ways. The Unified Agenda includes more regulatory actions because it covers all Federal agencies that issue regulations and includes almost all the rulemakings under development of each. This year's Regulatory Program covers only 26 of the major Federal regulatory agencies, and includes only the most significant of all the regulatory actions that each agency plans to undertake. The Regulatory Program, however, describes each entry more thoroughly than the Unified Agenda.

Most of the regulatory actions described in the Regulatory Program of the United States Government are included in this Agenda. In general, the Regulation Identifier Number (RIN) for the action is the same for both publications; however, occasionally, several Agenda entries are combined into one Program entry, and a new RIN is assigned to that entry in the Program.

The Unified Agenda provides uniform reporting of data on regulatory activities under development throughout the Federal Government. This edition of the Unified Agenda includes 54 regulatory agendas from all Federal departments, agencies, and commissions that publish agendas. The Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, Council on Environmental Quality, and the National Capitol Planning Commission usually publish a regulatory agenda, but have nothing to report for this edition of the Unified Agenda, while the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights is included for the first time. Agencies of the United States Congress are not included.

The Unified Agenda is produced through a computer system designed by the Center with the advice and assistance of the Government Printing Office. The system was designed to save agencies time and money by automating the preparation and printing of their agendas in a uniform format and to make the Agenda easier to use. In order to further facilitate producing the Agenda, many agencies currently use computer terminals at their offices to enter agenda information into the Center's computer system.

The Agenda contains a Subject Index to help readers locate entries from various agencies that may affect a particular area of interest. The numbers in the index refer to the sequence numbers that appear before the title of each entry in the Agenda. All entries are numbered sequentially from the beginning to the end of the Agenda.

For those agencies that requested it, we provided a computer-produced Table of Contents that appears after the preamble of the agency's agenda. The agency Tables of Contents help readers locate quickly those entries within an agency that may be of most interest to them.

All agendas contain uniform data elements -- regulation title, significance, legal authority, CFR citation, abstract, legal deadline, timetable, small business effects, and agency contact. Agencies also include any additional information they consider important. If any of the data elements is not included, the agency either did not report the information or may provide an explanation in its preamble. For further information, please contact the individual agency.

The Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations is published in April and October of each year. We welcome comments on this edition and suggestions for improving future ones.

Dated: October 1, 1987.

Mark G. Schoenberg,

Executive Director.

How to Use the Unified Agenda

Each agency agenda appears as a separate Part in this edition of the Federal Register. The Parts are organized alphabetically in four groups: Cabinet departments, other executive agencies, joint authorities, and independent agencies. Departments are divided into agencies, which may in turn be divided into subagencies.

Each agency begins its agenda with a preamble providing information specific to its agenda. Each agency was asked to list its rules in four groups:

1. Prerule Stage -- actions agencies will undertake in the next 12 months to determine whether or how to initiate rulemaking. Such actions occur prior to a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking and include Advance Notices of Proposed Rulemaking and reviews of existing regulations.

2. Proposed Rule Stage -- actions for which agencies plan to publish a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking as the next step in their rulemaking process.

3. Final Rule Stage -- actions for which agencies plan to publish a final rule or take other final action as the next step in their rulemaking process.

4. Completed Actions -- actions or reviews the agency completed or withdrew since publishing its last agenda. This section also includes items that were begun and completed between issues of the Unified Agenda.

An agency may use a subheading to identify regulations that it has grouped according to a particular topic. When these subheadings are used, they appear above the title of the first regulation in the group.

A bullet (●) preceding an entry indicates that the entry appears in the Agenda for the first time.

The Agenda Sequence Number preceding the title of each entry identifies the location of the entry in this edition of the Agenda. The same number is used in the index to enable readers to find entries on specific subjects. Those agencies that chose to provide a Table of Contents at the beginning of their agendas also use the sequence number in their Table of Contents. Sequence numbers should help readers easily locate items of most interest to them, either by agency or by subject.

The regulatory activities included in the agency agendas are those currently planned for the next 12 months. The agendas do not include regulations excluded from review under EO 12291 such as military regulations and regulations related to internal agency management.

OMB Bulletin 87-16 states that entries describing regulations in the Agenda should contain, at a minimum, the following information:

- Title of the Regulation.
- Significance -- an indication of the significance of the entry that appears when:
  a. The action was included in the Regulatory Program of the United States Government for the 1987 program year, or
  b. The agency otherwise considers the action a priority.

The Significance heading appears only if the entry is a significant action.

- Legal Authority -- the section(s) of the United States Code (U.S.C.) or Public Law (PL) or the Executive order that authorize(s) the regulatory action (agencies may provide common name references to laws in addition to U.S.C. or PL references).
- CFR Citation -- the section(s) of the Code of Federal Regulations that affect or will be affected by the action.
- Abstract -- a description of the problem the regulation will address; the need for a Federal solution; and, to the extent available, the alternatives that the agency is considering to address the problem and the potential costs and benefits of the action.
- Legal Deadline -- an indication of whether the rule is subject to a statutory or judicial deadline and, if so, the date of that deadline.

- Timetable -- the dates and citations (if available) for all past stages and at least the next future stage of rulemaking. If a date appears in this section as 00/00/00, it means the date of the action is presently undetermined. Similarly, 10/00/87 means the agency can predict the month and year the action will take place, but not the date it will occur.
- Effects on Small Businesses and Other Small Entities -- indicates whether the rule is expected to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of "small entities" as defined by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601(6)).
- Agency Contact -- the name, title, address, and phone number of a person in the agency who is knowledgeable about the regulation.

Some agencies have provided other optional information at their discretion.

Data Limitations

Agencies prepared entries for this edition of the Unified Agenda to give the public notice of their plans to review, propose, and issue regulations. They have tried to predict their activities over the next 12 months as accurately as possible, but dates and schedules are subject to change. Agencies may withdraw some of the regulations now under development, and they may issue or propose other regulations not included in their agendas. Agency actions in the rulemaking process may occur before or after the dates they have listed. The Agenda does not create a legal obligation on agencies to adhere to schedules within it or to confine their regulatory activities to those regulations that appear in it. The information in this edition is accurate as of August 27, 1987, in the judgment of the submitting agencies, except as otherwise noted in individual agency preambles.

List of Abbreviations

The following abbreviations appear throughout this edition of the Agenda:

ANPRM -- An Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is a preliminary notice that an agency is considering a regulatory action. The agency issues an ANPRM before it develops a detailed proposed rule, describing the general area that may be subject to regulation and asking for public comment on the issues and options being discussed. An ANPRM is issued only when an agency believes it needs to gather more information before proceeding to a formal regulatory proposal.

CFR -- The Code of Federal Regulations is an annual codification of the general and permanent regulations published in the Federal Register by the departments and agencies of the Federal Government. The Code is divided into 50 titles and each title covers a broad area of Federal regulatory law. The CFR is keyed to and kept up-to-date by the daily issues of the Federal Register.

EO -- An Executive order is a directive from the President to an executive agency, issued under Constitutional or statutory authority. Executive orders are published in the Federal Register and in Title 3 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

FR -- The Federal Register is a daily Federal Government publication that provides a uniform system for publishing Presidential documents, all proposed and final regulations, notices of meetings, and other official documents required by statute to be published.

FY -- The Federal fiscal year runs from October 1 to September 30.

NPRM -- A Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is the document an agency issues and publishes in the Federal Register that describes and solicits public comments on a proposed regulatory action. Under the Administrative Procedure Act, an NPRM must include, at a minimum:
- A statement of the time, place, and nature of the public rulemaking proceeding;
- A reference to the legal authority under which the rule is proposed; and
- Either the terms or substance of the proposed rule or a description of the subjects and issues involved.

PL -- A Public Law is a law passed by Congress and signed by the President or enacted over his veto. It has general applicability, as opposed to a private law that applies only to those persons or entities specifically designated. Public laws are numbered in sequence throughout the two-year life of each Congress; for example, PL 97-17 would be the seventeenth public law of the 97th Congress.

RFA -- A Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (RFA) describes the impact of a proposed rule on small entities, as required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601). An RFA describes why the agency is considering the action; the objectives of and legal basis for the proposed rule; an estimate of the number of small entities that could be affected and the compliance requirements they would have to fulfill; any other duplicative, overlapping, or conflicting Federal rules; and alternatives to the proposed action. When required, an initial RFA accompanies an NPRM and a final RFA accompanies a final rule.

RIA -- A Regulatory Impact Analysis is required by EO 12291 for all major rules and other regulations designated by the Office of Management and Budget. An RIA is prepared to determine whether a proposed regulatory action meets the requirements of section 2 of EO 12291, namely that it:
- Be based on adequate information concerning the need for and consequences of the action;
- Not be undertaken unless the potential benefits outweigh the potential costs to society;
- Maximize net benefits to society;
- Entail the least net cost to society of the alternatives considered; and
- Take into account the condition of particular affected industries, the national economy, and contemplated future regulatory actions.

RIN -- The Regulatory Information Service Center assigns a Regulation Identifier Number to identify each regulatory action listed in the Agenda.

USC -- The United States Code is a consolidation and codification of all general and permanent laws of the United States. The USC is divided into 50 titles and each title covers a broad area of Federal law.

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1434.26; 7 CFR 1434.27

Abstract: Legislation requires that 1988-crop honey be supported at 95 percent of the 1987 level, or $0.5985 per pound. It also provides the Secretary the discretion to allow loan repayment at a lower rate. The objective of a lower repayment rate is to (1) minimize loan forfeitures, (2) avoid excessive stocks, (3) reduce Federal storage costs, and (4) maintain the competitiveness of honey in domestic and export markets. Alternatives to be considered are: the type of support to offer, whether loans, purchases, or loans and purchases, and whether to implement the lower repayment provision. Government costs under the lower repayment provision would be expected to be under $60 million.

55. ● IMPORTATION OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES UNDER ASSURED CERTIFICATION AGREEMENTS

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 7 USC 150dd to 150ff; 7 USC 151 to 167

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 319.56

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: To prevent the introduction of plant pests and diseases, Plant Protection and Quarantine (PPQ) inspects shipments of foreign fruits and vegetables upon their arrival at United States ports. PPQ is developing regulations that will allow inspections to be performed in the exporting countries, rather than upon arrival in the United States, using methods and standards approved and monitored by PPQ. This procedure should speed the movement of commodities moved under this "assured certification" alternative, and will allow PPQ to employ its personnel and resources more effectively.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 21 USC 111 to 113; 21 USC 601 et seq; 21 USC 114a; 21 USC 1149-1; 21 USC 115 to 117; 21 USC 120 to 126; 21 USC 134b; 21 USC 134f

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 71; 9 CFR 78; 9 CFR 85; 9 CFR 309; 9 CFR 310; 9 CFR 320

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Swine in interstate commerce may be adulterated with drug and other chemical residue levels higher than the allowed tolerance and may be spreading diseases. The Department is proposing to require that all swine in interstate commerce be individually identified and records of identification be maintained. Mandatory identification of swine in interstate commerce would allow APHIS to more easily locate sources of infection in order to eradicate and contain disease and would allow the Food Safety Inspection Service (FSIS) to more easily determine the source of adulterated meat and prevent its consumption.

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 1, (Revision); 9 CFR 2, (Revision)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: In 1985 Congress amended the Animal Welfare Act, 7 USC 2131, et seq., and required the Secretary of Agriculture to promulgate regulations and standards governing the humane handling, housing, care, treatment, and transportation of certain animals by dealers, research facilities, operators of auction sales, carriers, and intermediate handlers. The standards and regulations will provide minimum requirements with respect to handling, housing, feeding, sanitation, veterinary care, and other related matters. The Agency has proposed definitions to provide proper guidance to the public, licensees, and registrants in their responsibilities under the Act. The Agency has also proposed to amend, revise, and expand the "Regulations" contained in 9 CFR 2.1 through 2.132, pertaining to licensing and registration of facilities, recordkeeping and identification of animal holding periods and facilities, inspections, Institutional Animal Care and Use Committees, adequate veterinary care, and other areas relating to humane animal care matters.

Legal Authority: PL 99-198 Food Security Act of 1985

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The purpose of these guidelines is to specify required laboratory, agricultural, and environmental practices for constructing, handling, and experimental testing of plants, animals, and selected microorganisms involved in agricultural biotechnology research. These guidelines are necessary to assure the safety of agricultural ecosystems in which genetically engineered organisms may be released from physical containment. Compliance with the guidelines will be obligatory for all entities which receive research support from USDA and it will be voluntary for other entities. The guidelines are promulgated under the authority of the Food Security Act of 1985 (P.L. 99-198). The National Institutes of Health (NIH) has submitted to the Federal Register a notice of proposed changes in the NIH Guidelines for research on whole plants and animals. When these changes are made, USDA will re-evaluate the need for additional guidelines to address agricultural research.

Abstract: This regulation is being revised to provide clarification on the processing differences between membership changes and transfers, to broaden the ability to consolidate and reamortize loans, to clarify actions to be taken during a bankruptcy, and to clarify and discuss the classification of problem loans and their resolution, along with other minor revisions. These revisions are needed so as to provide more complete guidance to field staff and borrowers on the topics discussed above. Potential costs consist of administrative time involved with Agency personnel drafting and completing regulation. No alternatives were identified as being appropriate to address the several problems being corrected with this regulation.

75. ● DEBT SETTLEMENT - COMMUNITY AND BUSINESS PROGRAMS

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: PL 99-198

CFR Citation: 07 CFR 1956-C, (New)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Debt settlement of Community and Business Programs is governed by the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (CONACT) (7 U.S.C. (1921-1996). The major reason for removing debt settlement actions appropriate to Community and Business Programs from the present regulation (FmHA Instruction 456.1) to a new regulation (FmHA Instruction 1956-C) is to comply with section 1309 of the Food Security Act of 1985 (Pub. L. 99-198). Public Law 99-198 provides the Secretary with greater flexibility in administering the debt settlement claims for Community and Business Programs, including compromise, adjustment, cancellation, and chargeoff actions. The changes will result in more efficient service to the public, while continuing protection of the Government's interest.

77. RESTRICTING INSURED AND GUARANTEED FARM OWNERSHIP AND OPERATING LOANS WHEN SURPLUS ITEMS EXIST

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1989

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1941; 7 CFR 1943; 7 CFR 1980

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The Federal Government has had many different programs in an attempt to regulate the supply of agricultural commodities. The problem is to find a way to have an adequate supply of agricultural commodities without creating surpluses or shortages.

The Agency has changed its regulations to allow the Administrator of FmHA to restrict loans that will be used to increase the production of selected agricultural commodities - to be determined through objective criteria - when the United States Department of Agriculture is taking action to reduce production and/or has a program for supporting prices and/or has some other subsidy program for the selected agricultural commodity. This will save the applicant and the Agency the work, time, and the expense involved in processing applications for which a feasible plan of operation cannot be developed. The change in regulations will help eliminate the number of applications that have to be fully processed and then rejected. (FmHA 84-016)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1989

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1980

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The general objective of the proposed action is to integrate Government and Private Sector resources in a continual effort to resolve financial difficulties in agriculture. The proposed action amends the debt adjustment program regulations for guaranteed OL and FO loans to clarify the dollar value equivalency of an interest rate reduction used in lieu of a required 10 percent minimum write down of the total principal and interest outstanding on loan(s) which a lender wants guaranteed; to reduce the minimum positive cash flow requirement under the DAP from 110 percent to 100 percent and to permit lenders to use a combination write down of principal of indebtedness along with an interest rate reduction which would equal the value of an upfront write down of existing indebtedness of at least 10 percent. The intended effect of this action is to provide additional financial assistance to both lenders and their farm borrowers in a time of financial difficulty. (FmHA 85-005)

Abstract: The objectives are to address the following: (1) A congressional concern that the Agency is to provide prompt services for processing applications and loan management. Prompt services can be provided by utilizing the commercial services of technicians and specialists outside of the Agency, with the Agency providing oversight and monitoring. (2) An Administration's concern that the recipients of the specialized services provided through the loan process begin to pay for these services. With the exception of nonprofit applicants, each applicant will be charged a fee for the services provided. The rate of 1/2 percent of the loan amount will capture the major expenses for services and most of the contractual costs provided by the Agency. (3) An Agency need to reduce the impact of technical services on the District and State staff resources. The State Director has been given the authority to use qualified contractors from outside the Agency under the requirements and limitations of a service contract and FmHA Regulations. To use contractors an established contract monitoring system must be established in the State. (FmHA 86-012)

96. SPECIAL SUPPLEMENTAL FOOD PROGRAM FOR WOMEN, INFANTS AND CHILDREN: ADMINISTRATIVE FUNDING FORMULA

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1786

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 246.16(c)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The Department proposes to amend the WIC Program Regulations concerning the administrative and program services funding formula. There are two objectives in amending this formula: First, to give all State agencies funds to provide equivalent service to participants and management oversight; second, to remove existing disincentives for State agencies to reduce food costs in order to serve more participants. The Department proposes to allocate funds to State agencies for administrative and program services costs primarily on the basis of participation. With the administrative and program services funds tied more closely to participation, the Department expects that use of this formula would more equitably allocate available funds to meet the administrative and program services costs in State agencies and would remove disincentives for reducing food costs to serve more participants. Use of this formula would begin with the Fiscal Year 1988 funds allocation.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: PL 99-641, Title IV

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 301 to 335

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: In November, 1986, PL 99-641 amended the Federal Meat Inspection Act to permit the Department to vary the manner and frequency by which it conducts inspection in establishments producing meat food products. All existing inspection regulations are based upon and reflect the previous statutory requirement that Federal inspectors be continuously present in such establishments. FSIS must develop new inspection procedures to allocate inspection resources among such establishments based on a variety of factors, including (1) the nature and frequency of the processing operations, (2) the adequacy and reliability of the processing control and sanitary procedures, and (3) the establishment's history of compliance with inspection requirements. The meat inspection procedures will touch upon virtually all existing meat regulations concerning inspection of meat food products. Details of these new procedures and the specific proposed regulatory amendments will be developed upon the conduct in 1987 of a pilot program to test alternative procedures in selected plants.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 307; 9 CFR 310

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This proposed rule would improve post-mortem inspection procedures for cattle which will result in maximum inspection efficiency and increased productivity. By modernizing cattle inspection procedures, FSIS would increase its inspection productivity while assuring that only wholesome meat enters domestic commerce.

It is anticipated that the meat industry will experience a net gain if this system of inspection is implemented in spite of the initial costs of facility modifications which may be necessary in some establishments. Savings to the industry as a whole should occur because of increased productivity and reduced overtime.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat inspection regulations to allow inspected and passed rendered edible animal fat transported in properly labeled tank cars or trucks to move in commerce without an official seal. Currently, establishments which process and then transport edible animal fat to another establishment must have the means of conveyance sealed with an official seal by a program employee. Establishments receiving the officially sealed product must have the seal broken by a program employee. This action would remove a restrictive sealing requirement that no longer appears to be necessary.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 88; 9 CFR 309; 9 CFR 310; 9 CFR 320

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This proposed rule would enable FSIS, in conjunction with APHIS, to establish an identification system for swine moved, sold, or presented for inspection at markets or at recognized slaughtering establishments. This would enable officials to determine, in a timely manner, the names and addresses of owners and the location of premises of herds of origin. USDA is proposing this action as a means of increasing the effectiveness of swine disease control, eradication, and monitoring programs, and to deter marketing of pork products adulterated with drug residues or with contaminants.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat inspection regulations to provide regulatory authority for the use of blood components in meat food products and to define labeling requirements for products containing blood components. At the present time, the regulations only address the use of whole blood in meat food products and labeling for products containing whole blood. The proposed rule would amend these sections and establish uniform standards for both whole blood and blood components.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq; 21 USC 451 et seq

Abstract: This final rule will respond to a petition submitted by Finnsugar Biochemicals, Inc., for approval for the use of glucono-delta-lactone (GDL) as the "acidulant" in a process for manufacturing "restructured meat products." The petitioner wants to use GDL as the acidifier in a USDA-approved binder matrix for restructured meat products which currently employs sodium alginate, calcium carbonate, encapsulated lactic acid, and calcium lactate. GDL would replace lactic acid as the acidifier for this use.

123. STANDARD FOR FRANKFURTERS AND SIMILAR COOKED SAUSAGES

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 319

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: USDA has been petitioned by the American Meat Institute (AMI) "to promulgate a standard of identity and composition for 'lite' sausage." The current cooked sausage standard includes various processed meat food products, such as frankfurters, hot dogs, weiners, viennas, bolognas, and knockwurst. The AMI petition requests a new standard for lower-fat "lite" sausage that would require not more than 22.5 percent fat and not less than 11.5 percent protein, as compared with 30 percent fat and 10 percent added water maximums in the existing cooked-sausage standard. FSIS proposed rule provides additional flexibility to enable industry to market lower fat products. The rule allows a combination of up to 40 percent added water and fat, with a 30 percent ceiling on fat content. The Agency also seeks comment on the option of deleting entirely the standard for cooked sausages. (FSIS 86-002)

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat inspection regulations governing methods of handling and disposing of livestock carcasses and parts condemned because they bear or contain biological residues. Current regulations do not require methods of disposal that preclude use of such carcasses or parts in nonhuman food such as animal feed. FSIS believes that such condemned articles must be destroyed by incineration or burial. This would make disposition of livestock carcasses and parts condemned for biological residues consistent with regulations which govern the disposition of poultry carcasses and parts condemned for biological residues.

Abstract: This final rule will establish a new inspection system for broilers and cornish game hens in response to increased demands on Agency resources. The "streamlined inspection system" allows increased efficiency in the use of FSIS resources and those of the poultry industry while still providing consumers with wholesome, unadulterated products.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This final rule will permit the use of ascorbic acid, citric acid, erythorbic acid, sodium ascorbate, and sodium citrate, singly or in combination to maintain the color of fresh pork cuts. Fresh pork cuts which have been treated to maintain color by the addition of these substances will be required to be labeled with a qualifying phrase, contiguous to the product name, which indicates that they have been treated to maintain color. Use of these substances will result in maintenance of color for a period of time equivalent to the microbiological shelf life of fresh pork cuts. This will permit extended distribution of pork cuts prepared and packaged in federally inspected establishments. The petitioner has supplied FSIS with sufficient information to satisfy the requirements of 9 CFR 318.7(a)(2) which provide for the issuance of a final rule. However, due to the potential significance of color maintenance through the use of added substances, this rule was published as an interim final rule with request for comments so that commercial and public comment can be obtained and considered prior to confirmation of the rule as final.

130. ● DETERMINATION OF "ADDED WATER" IN COOKED SAUSAGES

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 318

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat inspection regulations to define the method by which the Agency determines the quantity of added water in cooked sausages. Added water means any water not directly attributable to the meat, meat byproducts, mechanically separated (species), or poultry ingredients. The Federal meat inspection regulations limit the amount of added water to a maximum of 10 percent of the finished weight in cooked sausages. The amount of added water is determined by laboratory analysis and appropriate calculations. Discrepancies in the calculation of meat protein currently exist primarily due to the non-deduction from the total protein content of protein derived from certain non-meat protein sources. If the amount of protein derived from non-meat sources is not subtracted from the total protein content, it is possible that added water in excess of the 10 percent permitted by regulations would be present in the product. The proposed rule would correct this discrepancy.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq; 21 USC 451 et seq

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat and poultry products inspection regulations to better define which substances should be permitted to be labeled as "flavors," "natural flavors," or "spices" on packages of meat and poultry products.

The proposed rule addresses the use of substances which are often added to products for the purpose of serving as flavor enhancers, emulsifiers, stabilizers, binders, extenders, and as nutrients. Most of the substances that would be affected by the proposed rule are proteinaceous materials, having nutritional value, and which may be considered foods, in their own right. The proposed rule would require that these substances be identified by their common or usual names, thereby informing consumers of the origin of these materials including the species and specific animal tissues from which they are derived, if animal in origin. The proposed rule is designed in part to address the personal, cultural, and religious concerns of consumers, as well as the allergies or sensitivities some consumers may have to some of the substances.

Abstract: This final rule will amend the Federal meat inspection regulations to specify safety and sanitation requirements for electrical stimulating (EST) equipment. Federally inspected establishments may use EST equipment to accelerate rigor mortis in slaughtered meat animals (cattle, sheep, swine, goats, horses, mules, or other equines). The safety requirements would protect inspection personnel working near that equipment from the hazard of potentially lethal electric shock or other injury. The sanitation requirements would prevent adulteration of the carcasses.

Abstract: Forest Service rules at 36 CFR 211.18 establish the process and procedures by which the public may appeal a National Forest System management decision. The regulation is being reviewed as required by EO 12291. The Forest Service recognizes the administrative appeal process as useful and worthwhile, and considers it to be a valuable tool in conducting business. However, there are opportunities to make the process more efficient and less burdensome on the public while maintaining a useful forum within which to administratively resolve conflict.

Abstract: Since 1905 the Forest Service emblem, a fir-like tree in the center of a shield has served to identify the Federal Agency responsible for protecting, managing, and developing the National Forests. Forest users and the public recognize it as a symbol of the organization. The Chief may authorize other uses of the insignia, i.e., public service, educational, and commercial purposes through the issuance of licenses. Rules governing the external use of the official insignia are set forth at 36 CFR Part 264. The rule authorizes commercial use for which a royalty is paid and for public use for which no royalty is paid. Review of the existing regulation will determine the need for licensed royalty payment and the need for changing reporting requirements from quarterly to annually. Abstract: Woodsy Owl was originated in the early 1970s by the Forest Service, the Federal Agency responsible for protecting, managing, and developing the National Forest. The symbol represents a fanciful owl who wears forest green colored slacks, a brown colored belt, a Robin Hood style forest green colored hat with a red colored feather and furthers the slogan "Give a Hoot, Don't Pollute." The Chief of the Forest Service may authorize the use of Woodsy Owl through the issuance of licenses for commercial use, under certain specified conditions, and for non-commercial educational purposes, at no charge, when use is public service and will contribute to public information and education concerning wise use of the environment and programs which foster maintenance and improvement of environmental quality. Rules concerning the external use of the Woodsy Owl symbol are set forth at 36 CFR Part 272. The rule authorizes commercial use for which a royalty is paid and for public use for which no royalty is paid. Legal Authority: 16 USC 472a; 16 USC 618

Abstract: The Federal Timber Sale Contract Payment Modification Act directs the Forest Service to require purchasers to make periodic payments on timber sales. As established by the act, the objective of periodic payments is to discourage speculative bidding on National Forest timber sales. A rule published 10/11/85 at 50 FR 41498 requires cash down payments and a periodic payment. However, to fully comply with the act, additional rules are required. This rule will be based on an evaluation of the effects of requiring annual payments, on consideration of procedures that would permit the pooling of payments, and on consideration of market-related contract adjustments. There are no alternatives to issuing this rule; it is required by the Federal Timber Sale Contract Payment Modification Act. (FS 85-014)

159. MODIFY THE GENERAL PROHIBITION AGAINST USE OF VEHICLES IN EXCESS OF 40 INCHES IN WIDTH ON TRAILS

Legal Authority: 16 USC 551

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 261.12(e)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The objective of this action is to permit forest officers more discretion for controlling off-road vehicle use. Three factors have created the need to modify this regulation: (1) the general prohibition at 36 CFR 261.12(e) controls trail use by width of vehicle. Originally developed to control four wheel-drive vehicles on trails, this method uses a fairly arbitrary device (width) to control use; (2) off-road vehicle plans (36 CFR 295) use vehicle types to prescribe the vehicles that are permitted to use forest trails; (3) some recent models of trail vehicles (all terrain vehicles and snowmobiles) exceed the forty inch rule by one to five inches. The combination of the two methods of control with the larger model sizes has created confusion among users about ORV plan direction and created law enforcement difficulties. The proposed action would clarify the regulations and still maintain the tools necessary to control off-road vehicle use. (FS 86-007)

Legal Authority: PL 96-487, Title V

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: December 2, 1980, the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act was signed into Law. Section 501 (b) of the law requires that the Secretary of Agriculture promulgate regulations for the conservation of fish and wildlife and their habitats on the Chugach National Forest. The general National Forest System regulations and other existing laws governing management of National Forest System lands are applicable except as supplemental by these regulations or amended by the ANILCA, August 17, 1984. The new Chugach National Forest land management plan was appealed by 17 appellants. The settlement agreement specifies that subject to valid existing rights, the Forest Service will not allow timber harvest, road construction, surface occupancy for mineral leasing prior to publication of final regulations or completion of management area analysis for the Copper River Management Area. There are no alternatives to development of these regulations.

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 228, Subpart C

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Whether a mineral deposit is a "common variety" determines whether or not it can be disposed of or sold by the Government under the 1947 Mineral Materials Act. Judicial and administrative interpretations defining common variety characterization determinations can only be made in court. Rulings in common variety cases are generally unpredictable, and the costs to both the Government and miner are high.

After a review of the legislative history of the 1955 surface Resources Act, which defined common varieties, we believe that Congress did not intend for certain minerals to be locatable under the Mining Laws; however, a failure to explicitly define the "common variety" term has led to misinterpretation and actions contrary to the original intent of the law. It is proposed that 36 CFR 228 Subpart C be amended to clarify this confusing classification situation. We believe PL 167 expressly provides for this action as it allows the Secretary of Agriculture to dispose of mineral materials "under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe."

Abstract: The present timber sale contract Form FS-2400-6 was developed in September 1973, and the Form FS-2400-6T was developed in October 1973. Since these dates several Acts, Laws, and policy changes have necessitated deletion of existing provisions and inserting supplemental provisions. The need to revise these documents has been recognized since the late 1970's. The revision will provide for clarification of provisions to reduce the potential for disputes between purchasers and the Forest Service. There will be no changes in the basic contract concepts except those dictated by law, regulation, and related policy. Comments from interested individuals and organizations will be utilized, as appropriate, in the formulation of the provision language.

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 228, Subpart E to H

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This subpart will set forth the rules by which the Forest Service will process and respond to proposal received from the Department of the Interior (DOI) for the issuance of mineral licenses, prospecting permits and leases, and for the approval of operating plans. The Forest Service has no regulations at this time which has resulted in inconsistent and untimely responses to the DOI. The only other alternative considered is not to promulgate regulations. Public costs are insignificant but public benefits could be substantial in that proposals should be processed more efficiently.

167. APPLICATION PROCEDURES AND FEES FOR HYDROELECTRIC USES ON NATIONAL FOREST SYSTEM LANDS

Legal Authority: 16 USC 551; 43 USC 1761

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 251.54; 36 CFR 251.57

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Regulations are needed to reduce confusion regarding the role of the Forest Service and its special-use authorization in permitting hydroelectric uses on National Forest System lands. The regulations objective will be to establish procedures, compatible with the procedures of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) for obtaining various approvals and involvement of the Forest Service in a timely manner.

Title V, Section 501 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (FLPMA) requires that fees be paid for the use of NFS land; regulations have not yet been established to put these fees in effect. The objective is to establish a fee system for hydroelectric uses. A Notice of Proposed Policy was published 6/8/84 and comments were received. The proposed rule would take those comments into account.

Significance: Agency Priority

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 228, Subpart A

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: To facilitate the orderly development of locatable minerals on the National Forest System public domain in an environmentally sound manner. Since the regulations were promulgated in 1974, certain legal requirements have changed due to the provisions of the Wilderness Act and recent court decisions; some sections of the regulations no longer apply and revisions and updating are necessary. Major changes proposed will specifically address the requirements for wilderness operations and, secondly, will clarify the mechanism for administering locatable mineral activities not conducted on mining claims but which are nevertheless authorized by the 1872 mining law.

Legal Authority: 5 USC 301

Abstract: Objectives of this action are:

1. To establish a procedure for establishing official trail symbols for designated National Scenic and Historic Trails administered by the Forest Service.

2. To prescribe the conditions and terms for use of the symbols, including commercial use.

3. To establish the authorities to prosecute and revoke unauthorized use, and

4. To establish official symbols for several of the existing National Scenic and Historic Trails as required by law.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 16 USC 551; 31 USC 483a; 43 USC 1901

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 222.53

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Different grazing fee systems are used in the Eastern and Southern Regions of the Forest Service. The current system in the Eastern Region is market driven. The system in the Southern Region is based on a cost of livestock production/ability to pay methodology which currently results in below market fees. Two alternatives are being considered. The first would continue the two different fee systems in the eastern U.S. The second alternative would implement a uniform market driven fee system in both Regions. The advantages of this alternative over the first are:

(1) Competitive bidding with a minimum bid price would be fair and equitable to all parties, the livestock owners and the government.

(2) The fee system would be cost effective and economic to administer.

(3) The fee system would provide for investments in cost effective range improvements on National Forest System lands in the eastern states.

171. SKI AREA TERM PERMITS

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: PL 99-522, Sec 3(c)

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 251.50, (Revision)

Legal Deadline: Statutory, October 22, 1987. A one-year deadline is specified in the law.

Abstract: P.L. 99-522 provides new authority and direction for granting permits authorizing ski development and operation. It requires promulgation of rules within one year of enactment. Current direction for issuing special use permits including ski areas is contained in 36 CFR 251.50 through 251.64. While most of the current direction will continue to apply, revisions will be necessary to respond to the special provisions of the law relating to permit duration and acreage to be authorized.

The law has the effect of eliminating the current need and practice to issue two permits to authorize a single resort to use more than 80 acres. Further, it authorizes the issuance of 40 year permits instead of 30 which has been the maximum in the past.

Abstract: The Forest Service tries to provide free use timber to persons in Alaska with few restrictions. Legal Authority: 16 USC 472a

CFR Citation: 00 CFR None

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Minimum rates charged for timber have not been changed since 1979. The increased costs of preparing timber sales and the general increases in costs of logging and the price of timber have resulted in minimum rates that are disproportionately low. The action being considered is to increase minimum rates to account for inflationary increases since the rates were last changed.

Abstract: The Forest Service has been developing an accounting system to accurately track the total public benefits and total cost of the timber sale program on each national forest. The new system is to be installed on all forests before the start of FY 1989. The data generated by this effort will provide a basis for monitoring the implementation of Forest Plans. This proposal would establish additional procedures for evaluation of the accounting data when projected costs appear to exceed the total public benefits of the program. Under the proposal, unless there are other overriding public values, the timber sale program would be adjusted to a point where the total public benefits equal the total cost of the sales program.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 16 USC 551; 31 USC 1901; EO 12548

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 222.50 to .51

Legal Deadline: Judicial, October 7, 1987. Eastern District of California directed deadline for "Final Rulemaking" by beginning of 1988 grazing fee year (03/01/88). Final rulemaking must be published 01/20/88 to meet this Court Order. To meet date, proposed rule should be published 10/07/87.

Abstract: Grazing fees are charged for all livestock grazing on National Forest System lands. This proposed rule outlines the methodology for charging grazing fees in accordance with the formula prescribed in Executive Order 12548, February 14, 1986, for National Forests in the 16 Western States. This formula is basically the same formula enacted by Congress in 1978 under the Public Rangelands Improvement Act. The grazing fee is the $1.23 base value multiplied by the result of the Forage Value Index added to the Beef Cattle Price Index minus the Prices Paid Index, divided by 100. Fees may not raise or lower more than 25 percent of the previous year's fee and may never go below $1.35 per head month or head of livestock.

Additional Information: Since publishing the proposed debarment and suspension rules in January, 1986, the agency has determined that it may also be desirable for the debarring official to have authority to cancel a purchaser's existing contracts at the time of debarment. The agency is also considering whether there is a need to expand or clarify the list of causes for debarment. Since the need for these revisions was not known at the time the proposed rule was published, the final rule shown in the timetable will not address these new issues. CFR Citation: 36 CFR 254, Subpart D (new)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Objectives are to set forth Forest Service procedures and role in the regulation of Indian allotments on National Forest System land. The Indian Allotment Act of 2/8/87, as by Section 31, Act of 6/25/10 authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to make allotments of National Forest System Lands to Indians for homesteading and agricultural and grazing purposes. The Forest Service has relied upon USDI rules and procedures at 43 CFR 2533 to govern its involvement in Indian allotment cases. Recent litigation and a decision by the Interior Board of Land Appeals indicate the need for the Forest Service to set forth its own regulations when the Forest Service determines that lands are not chiefly valuable for agricultural and grazing purposes. The only alternative is not to issue regulations. This is unacceptable since it leaves the Agency vulnerable to future IBLA appeals cases as well as future litigation.

Abstract: In response to comments from the scientific and academic communities and in keeping with the recommendations of the National Academy of Sciences "Report on Guidelines for Paleontological Collecting," the Forest Service is clarifying its regulations concerning fossil collecting on National Forest System lands. The language on "paleontological resources" is being moved to a separate paragraph and the requirement for permits is being limited specifically to quarrying for fossils and for commercial activities. The no-action alternative would be to leave the regulation of paleontological resources the same as for archeological resources, with permits needed for all activities. Since there is no evidence of widespread problems, the permit process imposes unnecessary burdens on the casual collector and creates added paperwork for the Forest officer to manage.

Abstract: Existing regulations allow noncompetitive sale of mineral materials not in excess of 100,000 cubic yards in any individual sale or 200,000 cubic yards in any one State for the benefit of any entity in any period of twelve consecutive calendar months. The proposal would give the Forest Service flexibility in meeting requests for noncompetitive sales of large amounts of mineral materials when public property, health, and safety are threatened or when competition is impractical. The proposal is similar to rules governing mineral material sales by the Bureau of Land Management. Interim rulemaking is sought to resolve a situation in California where the volume restriction for noncompetitive sales may interfere with a mining claimant's statutory rights regarding locatable minerals.

182. ● REVIEW OF DECISIONS TO TERMINATE RECREATION RESIDENCE PERMITS

Legal Authority: 16 USC 551

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 211.18(b)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Certain recreation residence permits on National Forest land will terminate by 12/31/88. The decision to terminate was made 10 or more years ago. The Forest Service has agreed to review those decisions to determine if they are still valid. The rule will facilitate conducting these reviews by excluding their outcome from the Agency's administrative appeal process. Since most of the earlier decisions were appealed, this action will prevent duplicative appeals that would delay needed land management activities.

Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, Commerce.

ACTION: October 1987 regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: In compliance with Executive Order (E.O.) 12291, entitled "Federal Regulation," and the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), the Department of Commerce (DOC) in April and October of each year publishes in the Federal Register an agenda of the rulemaking actions covered by section 1 of E.O. 12291 that the Department plans to conduct or review over the next twelve months. Rulemaking actions are grouped according to prerulemaking, proposed rules, final rules, and rulemaking actions completed since the April 1987 agenda. The purpose of the agenda is to provide information to the public on regulations currently under review, being proposed, or issued by the Department. The agenda is intended to facilitate comments and views by interested members of the public.

DOC's October 1987 regulatory agenda includes regulatory activities that are expected to be conducted during the period October 1, 1987 through September 30, 1988.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Specific: For additional information about a specific regulatory action listed in the agenda, contact the individual identified as the contact person.

General: Comments or inquiries of a general nature about the agenda should be directed to Michael A. Levitt, Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, DC 20230, Telephone: (202) 377-3151.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On February 17, 1981, President Reagan signed Executive Order 12291. The E.O. requires all executive agencies to publish semiannually an agenda of those regulations that are under consideration pursuant to this Order. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Bulletin No. 87-16, issued June 25, 1987 establishes guidelines and procedures for the preparation and publication of the October 1987 Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations for all Federal departments and agencies. E.O. 12291 and the OMB Bulletin require that each agenda report the following information on non-exempt regulatory activities being conducted or planned to be conducted by the agency during the twelve-month period succeeding publication: the title of the regulation; the name, title, address and phone number of an agency person who is knowledgeable about the regulation; whether the regulation has or is expected to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities; the section(s) of the Code of Federal Regulations which will affect or be affected by the action; the section of the United States Code, Public Law or Executive Order that authorizes the action; an indication of whether or not the entry is a significant regulatory action included in the Administration's Regulatory Program and if the agency considers it a priority action; an abstract describing the problem the regulation addresses, alternatives to the regulation being considered, and potential costs and benefits of the action; legal deadline, if any; and a timetable of dates and, if available, Federal Register citations for past stages of the action.

The Regulatory Flexibility Act requires agencies to prepare a regulatory flexibility analysis where there is a positive finding that a rule will have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. E.O. 12291 requires agencies to prepare a regulatory impact analysis for any regulation considered to be a "major rule" as defined in the Order.

Explanation of Information Contained in the Agenda

Within the Department, the Office of the Secretary and various operating units may issue regulations. Operating units such as the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), the Economic Development Administration, the International Trade Administration, the National Bureau of Standards, and the Patent and Trademark Office issue the greatest share of the Department's regulations.

A large number of regulatory actions reported in the agenda are proposed or final Federal Information Processing Standards (FIPS), issued by the National Bureau of Standards (NBS) under Pub. L. 89-306. FIPS consist of standards and guidelines to improve Federal Government use and management of computers and information technology. The standards, while often of great use to industry and the public, apply only to the Federal Government. In developing the standards and guidelines, and in providing technical guidance and coordination to Federal agencies, NBS works closely with private industry standard-setting organizations.

Another large number of regulatory actions reported in the agenda deal with fishery management programs of NOAA's National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS). To avoid repetition of programs and definitions, as well as to provide some understanding of the technical and institutional elements of the NMFS programs, a section on "Explanation of Information Contained in NMFS Regulatory Entries" is provided below.

Explanation of Information Contained in NMFS Regulatory Entries

The Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976 (16 U.S.C. 1801 et seq.) (Act) governs the management of fisheries within the Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ). The EEZ refers to those waters from the outer edge of the United States territorial sea to a distance of 200 miles. Fishery Management Plans (FMPs) are to be prepared for fisheries which require conservation and management measures. These FMPs regulate domestic and foreign fishing where permitted. Foreign fishing can be conducted in a fishery for which there is no FMP only if a preliminary fishing management plan has been issued to govern that foreign fishing. Under the Act, eight Regional Fishery Management Councils (Councils) prepare FMPs, or amendments to FMPs, for fisheries within their respective areas. In the development of such plans or amendments and their implementing regulations, the Councils are required by law to conduct public hearings on the draft plans and to consider the use of alternative means of regulating.

The Council process for developing FMPs and amendments makes it difficult for NMFS to determine the significance of some regulatory actions under consideration at the time the semiannual regulatory agenda is published. Frequently NMFS does not have specific plan objectives or alternatives for management since the Councils may not have approved or submitted plans to the Secretary of Commerce for review, adoption, and implementation.

The DOC October 1987 regulatory agenda follows.

Legal Authority: 41 USC 251 et seq; PL 98-369; PL 98-577

CFR Citation: 48 CFR 1 to 53

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The Department of Commerce is currently reviewing standardized contract clauses and solicitation provisions for inclusion in a planned Department wide automated solicitation system. A proposed amendment to the Commerce Acquisition Regulation (CAR) would illustrate and incorporate these standardized clauses and provisions. This should ultimately be less burdensome to Department contractors and potential contractors, since the clauses and provisions would be used uniformly throughout the Department.

Abstract: This action will amend 15 CFR 801 to bring three existing BEA services surveys into conformance with the new BE-20 Benchmark Survey of Selected Services Transactions with Unaffiliated Foreign Persons -- 1986 and with its anticipated annual follow-on survey. Specifically, it will: (1) change the titles of the three surveys to clarify coverage. The title of the BE-47 survey will change to "Annual Survey of Construction, Engineering, Architectural, and Mining Services Provided by U.S. Firms to Unaffiliated Foreign Persons." The title of the BE-48 survey will change to "Annual Survey of Reinsurance and Other Insurance Transactions by U.S. Insurance Companies With Foreign Persons." The title of the BE-93 survey will change to "Annual Survey of Royalties, License Fees, and Other Receipts and Payments for Intangible Rights Between U.S. and Unaffiliated Foreign Persons." (2) Amend 15 CFR 801.9(b) (4) to expand coverage of the BE-48 survey to include direct insurance as well as reinsurance transactions. In designing the BE-20 survey, it was decided to include direct insurance on the existing BE-48 survey rather than on the BE-20. (CONT.)

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 22 USC 3101 to 3108 Int'l Investment & Trade in Svcs Survey Act

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 801

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This action will amend 15 CFR 801 by adding rules to implement a new annual follow-on survey to the BE-20 Benchmark Survey of Selected Services Transactions with Unaffiliated Foreign Persons--1986. The scope and coverage of the annual survey are expected to be more limited than that of the benchmark survey, with exact scope and coverage to be determined after analysis of preliminary results of the 1986 BE-20. Data from the annual survey will be used to derive universe estimates of covered services transactions in nonbenchmark years, thus updating the data collected in the benchmark survey. The first year of coverage will be 1987; the survey will not be taken for a year covered by the benchmark survey.

201. RULE TO CHANGE REPORTING CRITERIA FOR MINORITY-OWNED FOREIGN AFFILIATES ON FORM BE-11C OF THE ANNUAL SURVEY OF U.S. DIRECT INVESTMENT ABROAD

Legal Authority: 22 USC 3101 to 3108 Int'l Investment & Trade in Svcs Survey Act

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 806.14(f)(3)(iii), (Revision)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This action will revise 15 CFR 806.14(f) (3) (iii) by lowering the percentage of ownership above which a minority-owned foreign affiliate must be reported on Form BE-11C of BEA's Annual Survey of U.S. Direct Investment Abroad. The ownership cutoff now used on the BE-11c is 25 percent. However, foreign business enterprises owned between 10 and 25 percent by a U.S. person are, by definition, also considered foreign affiliates and are thus part of the universe of U.S. direct investment abroad. Experience has shown that some of these affiliates with low ownership interests are, nevertheless, very large. Without the type of information collected on the form, data for such affiliates and, thus, for the universe as a whole, cannot be accurately estimated. For affiliates owned between 10 and 25 percent, only those with assets, sales, or net income greater than $100 million will be required to report. About 50 existing U.S. reporters would be required to file for about 100 additional foreign affiliates. The increase in burden would average about 3 hours per affiliate because only 7 data items (assets, sales, net income (cont)

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 806

Abstract: This action will raise the exemption levels for quarterly report Forms BE-605 (Transactions of U.S. Affiliates, Except on Unincorporated Bank, with Foreign Parent) and BE-606B (Transactions of U.S. Banking Branch or Agency with Foreign Parent) from $15 million to $20 million. It will also raise the exemption level for Form BE-15 (Annual Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in the United States) from $10 million to $20 million. The purpose of the action is to bring the exemption levels into conformance with those for Form BE-12 (LF) of the Benchmark Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in the United States -- 1987. As a result of the action, the number of reports filed by U.S. companies will be significantly reduced, thereby reducing both reporting and processing burden.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 22 USC 3101 to 3108 Int'l Investment & Trade in Svcs Survey Act

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 801

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This action will provide for the conduct of a mandatory BE-20, Benchmark Survey of U.S. Services Transactions with Unaffiliated Foreign Persons, covering 1986, as required by the International Investment and Trade in Services Survey Act. The action will fill major gaps in data on international services transactions so the U.S. Government can better assess the size and impact of those transactions, more effectively formulate international economic policies and conduct negotiations to reduce the barriers to service trade, improve the recording of services transactions in the U.S. balance of payments accounts, and assist U.S. services businesses in identifying and evaluating market opportunities. It is anticipated that the benchmark survey will be followed by an abbreviated annual sample survey that will update the data from the benchmark survey. The annual costs to BEA of conducting the benchmark survey and the follow-up annual sample survey will be about $500,000. The cost to respondents of the benchmark survey will be about 100,000 manhours, or $3.0 million, and the cost of the annual sample survey will be about 55,000 manhours, or $1.6 million a year. Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: barriers to services trade, increased sales of services, and improved balance of payments statistics will far exceed costs. A notice of proposed rulemaking to bring existing BEA surveys of U.S. services transactions under 22 USC 3101 to 3108, as amended, and to conduct a BE-20 Benchmark Survey of U.S. Services Transactions With Unaffiliated Foreign Persons was submitted to OMB in August 1985, along with an information collection request for the benchmark survey. On 10/21/85, OMB disapproved the information request for the benchmark survey, largely because of respondent burden and the need to seek greater input from the business community in designing the survey. Subsequently, final rules -- 15 CFR Part 801 -- were approved covering the other existing surveys on U.S. services transactions. BEA has conducted a public outreach program to revise the BE-20 benchmark survey to meet OMB requirements. The action described herein will amend 15 CFR Part 801 to cover the revised BE-20 survey.

The amendment will narrow the unfair competition requirements for a "702 Study" by raising the threshold amount of projects from $10,000 to $25,000. Also, the unfair competition exceptions have been expanded to apply to all EDA financial assistance programs. Certain projects are exempt from "702 Study" requirements and the definition of retention of capacity and employment has been changed by deleting the word "existing."

Abstract: Revision of the regulation is needed to administer the Foreign-Trade Zones Act of 1934, as amended, to provide for the establishment, operation, and maintenance of foreign-trade zones in ports of entry of the United States. CFR Citation: 15 CFR 371; 15 CFR 377; 15 CFR 399

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: On July 12, 1985, the Export Administration Amendments Act of 1985 (PL 99-64) extended and amended the Export Administration Act of 1979 (50 USC app 2401, et seq.)(EAA). Certain changes were made to the Short Supply provisions of Section 7 of the EAA. Accordingly, revision of the Short Supply provisions (15 CFR 377) and related licensing requirements (15 CFR 371 and 399) of the Export Administration Regulations (15 CFR 368-399) is necessary. An interim final rule was issued which included (1) elimination of the validated licensing requirement for exports of refined petroleum products so as to permit their export with certain restrictions under a general license; (2) a new definition of "crude oil" for purposes of the regulation; and (3) certain technical and housekeeping changes. There are no costs associated with this action which would promote the export of decontrolled products.

Legal Authority: 40 USC 759(f); EO 11717

CFR Citation: 00 CFR None

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This standard will provide the specifications for network interconnection via procedures for the connectionless transmission of data and control information from one network entity to another. It is based on the work of the International Organization for Standardization and is one of a family of computer network protocol standards which will make possible computer-to-computer communications of Federal ADP systems. It will enable organizations to select equipment based on cost and performance considerations and to interconnect equipment of different manufacturers.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: Not Yet Determined

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: A marine fishery user fee system will provide a substantial and stable source of revenue to partially offset Federal fishery expenditures and information needed for effective fishery management. Fees would be collected from the sale of marine fish conservation permits and stamps, and from an assessment on landing or delivery of fish for commercial purposes. Revenues would be shared with the states for marine fishery conservation activities. Administration costs are estimated to be $7,500,000 annually, with net Federal revenues of approximately $40 million.

267. PERFORMANCE STANDARDS FOR TUNA SKIPPERS

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1361 to 1407 Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 216.24

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: During 1986 the overall annual quota for allowable incidental mortality of porpoise in the eastern tropical Pacific was reached in October and the U.S. tuna purse seine fleet was prohibited from fishing for tuna associated with porpoise. Industry representatives asserted that the quota was reached because a small fraction of vessel operators had exceptionally high kills. The industry representatives requested NMFS to develop sanctions to use against the certificates held by the offending operators to prevent their actions from penalizing the entire industry.

The NMFS does not now have porpoise mortality standards to serve as the basis for any permit action. The purpose of the proposed rule will be to establish appropriate standards which will improve the U.S. fleet's overall porpoise safety performance and identify individual poor performers for remedial action or, if necessary, elimination from the fishery.

Abstract: Based on a request from the Department of the Navy, NMFS is considering regulations that would allow a small number of harbor seals and California sea lions to be taken incidental to underwater explosive tests in San Francisco Bay. Section 101(a)(5) of the Marine Mammal Protection Act allows the taking of small numbers of Marine mammals incidental to specified activities provided that certain findings can be made and regulations are established that set forth permissible methods of taking and requirements for monitoring and reporting.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq Magnuson Fishery Conser and Management Act

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 653, (Reserved)

Legal Deadline: Statutory. 110 days after the amendment is submitted by the Fishery Management Council.

Abstract: Summer flounder is seasonably vulnerable to very large and varied commercial and recreational fisheries. Landings have declined in recent years and there is concern that overfishing may occur. The summer flounder crosses Council and Regional boundaries necessitating close coordination between the constituent agencies. The long-term benefits of higher production and revenue to the fishermen and processors are expected to outweigh any short-term limitations on catches in order to rebuild the stocks. Rebuilding the stocks to the maximum level, the efficiency of the fleet will improve as catches per unit of effort will correspondingly rise.

Abstract: The proposed regulations implement Section 10(a)(1)(B) of the Endangered Species Act, as amended (ESA). The proposal provides, under limited circumstances, for issuance of permits allowing the incidental taking of endangered species. The proposal applies to certain Federal permit or license holders and to private entities or State local governments whose actions are not otherwise subject to Federal involvement or control. Prior to the 1982 amendments to the ESA, the taking of endangered species was prohibited except for scientific research or to enhance the propagation or survival of the species. Permits issued under the proposed regulations would allow permit holders to conduct their activities without risk of prosecution for the incidental take of species authorized by such permits.

279. SAFETY OF UNITED STATES OBSERVERS ABOARD FOREIGN FISHING VESSELS

Legal Authority: PL 99-659

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: United States observers are required aboard foreign vessels permitted to fish in the U.S. Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ). Conditions aboard these vessels can be hazardous to the safety of observers. To prevent injury to observers, the Department of Commerce intends to publish minimum safety standards that must be maintained aboard foreign fishing vessels before they will be permitted to fish in the U.S. EEZ.

The alternative to establishing U.S. standards is to accept flag-state standards as adequate. This solution will probably not be feasible because there is a wide variation in foreign safety standards and differing degrees of compliance with standards. In some cases, foreign fishing vessels meeting existing flag-state standards would not be suitable for U.S. observers.

Costs of this action will be borne by the owners of foreign fishing vessels. This action is beneficial in that it may prevent serious injury, including death, to observers during the performance of their duty.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 30 USC 1401 et seq Deep Seabed Hard Mineral Resources Act

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 970, (Exploration Regulations); 15 CFR 971

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Under 15 CFR 970, prospective deep seabed miners may apply to NOAA for the exploration license needed to explore the deep seabed for manganese nodules. Under the new regulations (15 CFR 971), prospective miners will be able to apply to NOAA for a permit to commercially recover and process nodules to obtain strategic metals (nickel, copper, cobalt, manganese). These permits would provide security of tenure for applicants with respect to other U.S. citizens and other nations' permittees in accordance with applicable international agreements. Fees for securing and maintaining a permit will be based on the Government's processing costs. These fees would be an inconsequential portion of the cost of a commercial recovery operation. The cost of a commercial recovery operation is expected to exceed one billion dollars. Alternatives to the regulation would require amending the Deep Seabed Hard Mineral Resources Act, which would be considered in the context of the U.S. law of the sea policy.

It is expected that small entities will not be permittees. Rather some small entities are expected to be contractors or subcontractors to permittees. The preliminary RIA and RFA are available as is the programmatic environmental impact statement and the supplemental environmental assessment. After considering public comments on the proposed major rule, NOAA determined that certain issues were significantly different than the proposed rules. These limited issues are being reproposed for further public comment prior to NOAA's issuing the final regulations.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1621 to 1630 Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 265A

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The final rule will establish general quality grading standards for all non-breaded forms of fresh or frozen shrimp. These grading standards will provide for the systematic differentiation of the quality of shrimp into four categories -- U.S. Grades A, B, C and Substandard. The proposed standards will be applied to all commercial species of fresh or frozen shrimp in raw or cooked states in all non-breaded market forms. The adoption of grading standards is expected to facilitate trade in shrimp of all commercial species, as consumers will be able to select shrimp on the basis of identified quality. Industry has shown great interest in and support for the standards. Timetable for next action is very tentative. Public comments received indicate a need for further research before the rule is published.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1361 et seq Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 216.24

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: U.S. tuna purse seine fishermen operating in the eastern tropical Pacific have been subject to certain restrictions relating to the take of marine mammals, whereas other nations fishing in a similar manner that export tuna to the U.S. often do not impose similar constraints on their own industry. Therefore, the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 was amended to require all such nations, prior to being allowed to import tuna, to provide documentary evidence that they have adopted a program governing the incidental taking of marine mammals that is comparable to that of the U.S. and that the average rate of incidental take in the fishery is comparable to the U.S. These regulations will implement this requirement.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1382(a); 16 USC 1540(f)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This rule will establish as regulation a previously published Notice of Interpretation regarding minimum distances that should be maintained in the presence of humpback whales in Hawaii. Establishing a 100 yard perimeter around any of the whales while in the Hawaiian Exclusive Zone as a regulation is considered necessary given a large increase in vessel traffic and other water use activities in areas where this species historically occurs. In response to comments received in the public record, NOAA is defining two specific sites as cow/calf areas in which an approach closer than 300 yds is prohibited. This addition creates a new subsection to the rule.

Abstract: This revised rule will expand the coverage of established voluntary standards for grades of fish fillets to include a new market form or style of fillet whereby the pin-bones, the bones radiating laterally from the spinal column, are not removed. This style of fillet has become more familiar in the marketplace, resulting in the industry requesting the amendment. Responses to a previous request for comments indicate a national interest in this style of presentation. Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1456 Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 930

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: On January 11, 1984, the U.S. Supreme Court issued its decision in Secretary of the Interior et al. v. California et al. No. 82-1326. The Court held that the sale of Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) oil and gas leases is not an activity "directly affecting" the Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972, as amended (CZMA), and therefore, that a consistency determination is not required under that section before such sales may be made. Section 307 (c)(1) required that Federal agencies conducting or supporting activities "directly affecting the coastal zone" must conduct or support those activities in a manner which is consistent to the maximum extent practicable with federally-approved state coastal zone management programs. NOAA engaged in rulemaking to revise certain CZMA regulations as a result of the Supreme Court decision. NOAA removed those references which identify OCS lease sales as activities covered by the Section 307(c)(1) requirements.

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 641, (Revision)

Legal Deadline: Statutory. 110 days after the amendment is submitted by the Fishery Management Council.

Abstract: There is a high mortality of undersized lobsters used as live bait in traps, an increasing number of traps in the fishery, incompatible State and Federal regulations, and an excessive number of abandoned traps. New management measures include: a Federal permit to fish, commercial lobster season from April 1 to August 5th, minimum tail length of 5 inches, required onboard live well for carrying lobsters used as bait, a Federal permit to fish, modify the sportfishing possession limit, request modification of the State reporting requirements, require release of all egg-bearing lobsters, require a permit to separate lobsters at sea, limit possession of undersize lobster on board to 100, and require identification of gear and vessels. Estimated benefits are an increase in annual yield of 1.5 million pounds and an increase of $3.3 million to fishermen by 1987. The benefits will exceed the costs.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1531 et seq Endangered Species Act of 1973

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 222.41; 50 CFR 227.72(e)(3)

Abstract: The NMFS is mandated by the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (ESA) to conserve and protect endangered and threatened species. Six species of marine turtles are listed as endangered or threatened under the ESA. Significant numbers of listed turtles are caught and drowned incidental to shrimp fishing operations in the Gulf of Mexico and the U.S. South Atlantic. To address this problem, NMFS developed the Trawling Efficiency Device (TED). When attached to a shrimp trawl, this excluder gear reduces the incidental capture of sea turtles by 97 percent in addition to reducing other unwanted by-catch associated with shrimp trawling. NMFS is now considering promulgating regulations that would require the use of TEDs in several significant geographical areas of the Gulf of Mexico and the U.S. South Atlantic.

327. SECRETARIAL AMENDMENT OF THE FISHERY MANAGEMENT PLAN FOR THE COMMERCIAL TANNER CRAB FISHERY OFF THE COAST OF ALASKA

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq Magnuson Fishery Conservation & Mgmt Act

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 671

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This Secretarial Amendment to the Fishery Management Plan for the Commercial Tanner Crab Fishery off the Coast of Alaska (FMP) repealed the FMP and its implementing regulations. The North Pacific Fishery Management Council is preparing a new FMP; however, during a two-year interim period following repeal of the current FMP, and before implementation of a new FMP, the Tanner crab fishery is being managed to the extent that vessels are registered in the State of Alaska by the state. Repeal of the current FMP was necessary because it fails to provide for timely coordination with the State of Alaska's inseason management actions and may result in violation of National Standards 1, 2, 5, 6, and 7 of the Magnuson Act. While the FMP allowed for inseason actions to protect stocks of Tanner crab, it did not permit inseason actions based solely on socioeconomic reasons. The new FMP in draft will contain Tanner crabs and King crabs and better defined frameworking mechanisms.

Legal Authority: 47 USC 390 to 394; 47 USC 397 to 399b

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: NTIA has administered the Public Telecommunications Facilities Program (PTFP) for two years under an interim revision of rules. These final rules are designed to reduce applicant burdens and simplify applications requirements. Deletions from prior rules include: local public notice and submission of site leases with initial applications. Grant recipients within the past ten years need not submit full eligibility documentation. Equipment inventories need only include the type(s) of equipment requested. NTIA seeks information on applicants' non-Federal financial support and capital replacement policies, and encourages applicants with the ability to increase their share of project costs. NTIA states its policy to prefer applicants requesting 50% or less PTFP funding for broadcast equipment replacements.

331. ● ADMINISTRATION OF A UNIFORM PATENT POLICY WITH RESPECT TO DOMESTIC RIGHTS IN INVENTIONS MADE BY GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: EO 10096; EO 10930; 35 USC 207 to 208; 15 USC 3701 et seq

CFR Citation: 37 CFR 100

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: PL 99-502 amended the Stevenson-Wydler Innovation Act of 1980 by establishing a number of procedures to encourage the development of technologies by laboratories owned or operated by the Federal government, to facilitate the transfer of such technologies to the public, and to promote cooperation between these laboratories and the private sector.

Executive Order 10096 would be amended with regard to the government's rights to ownership of inventions created in laboratories owned or operated by the Federal government. A revised version of the executive order might be prepared and regulations would be developed to implement the amendments effected by P.L. 99-502.

This action will not increase Federal costs. In the short run it will encourage private sector collaboration to assist work done in Federal laboratories by appropriated funds, and in the long run increased commercialization of patents and inventions will increase tax revenues.

Abstract: This action will revise 37 CFR 404 to simplify the process by which US industry can obtain license to patented inventions owned by the Government. P.L. 99-502 is expected to increase industry interest in licensing inventions from Federal laboratories. The existing regulation was written by GSA on the basis of 1980 legislation. 333. RIGHTS TO INVENTIONS MADE BY NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS AND SMALL BUSINESS FIRMS

CFR Citation: 37 CFR 401

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: 35 USC 206 as amended by PL 98-620, requires the Secretary to issue regulations implementing 35 USC 202-204 which deals with the rights in inventions to be provided to nonprofit organizations and small businesses that perform Government supported research and development. Previously this was the responsibility of OFPP which issued OMB Cir. A-124. The regulation is based on Cir. A-124 with such substantive changes as are necessary because of various amendments made by PL 98-620. No alternative is available since a major thrust of the statute was the development of a single regulation to replace the numerous regulations that were in effect prior to 1981. The statute and regulations will benefit contractors and the public by creating the certainty necessary for the early commercialization of inventions by the private sector. Compared to the pre-1981 situation this reduces administrative costs of both the Government and contractors.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

32 CFR Chs. I, V, VI, and VII

36 CFR Ch. III

Improving Government Regulations; Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, DoD.

SUMMARY: The Department of Defense is publishing this consolidated semiannual agenda of regulatory documents for public information and comments under E.O. 12291, "Federal Regulation." This agenda incorporates the objective and criteria, when applicable, of the regulatory reform program under E.O. 12291, and other regulatory programs. It contains DoD issuances initiated by DoD Components that may have economic and environmental impact on state, local, public or private interests under the criteria of E.O. 12291. Although most DoD issuances listed in the agenda are of negligible public impact, their nature may be of public interest and therefore are published to provide notice of rulemaking and an opportunity for public participation in the internal DoD rulemaking process.

This agenda updates the report published on April 27, 1987, and includes regulations expected to be issued and under review over the next 12 months. The next agenda is scheduled to be published in April 1988. In addition to this agenda, DoD Components also publish rulemaking notices pertaining to their specific statutory administration requirements as required.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For information concerning the overall DoD regulatory improvement program and for general semiannual agenda information, contact Ms. Anne M. Jeffery, telephone 202-746-0664 or write to Directorate for Information Operations and Reports, Washington Headquarters Services, 1215 Jefferson Davis Highway, Suite 1204, Arlington, Virginia 22202-4302.

For questions of a legal nature concerning the agenda and its statutory requirements or obligations, contact the Office of the General Counsel, DoD, Washington, DC 20301, or call 202-697-2714.

For specific agenda items, contact the appropriate individual indicated in each DoD Component report.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This consolidated agenda is composed of the regulatory status reports from the Office of the Secretary of Defense and the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force. Included also in this agenda is the regulatory report from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, whose civil works functions fall under the reporting requirements of E.O. 12291. Their agenda will reflect these requirements, with follow-on reporting actions taken, as necessary.

DoD issuances range from DoD Directives (reflecting departmental policy) to implementing instructions and regulations (largely internal and used to implement Directives). The OSD agenda section contains the primary Directives under which DoD Components promulgate their implementing regulations.

To ease identification and to clarify the differences among the variety of issuances reported, they are identified by their DoD internal numbering system, which denotes Component level of authority and type of issuance in addition to the required CFR number.

In addition, this agenda, although published under the reporting requirements of E.O. 12291, will continue to be the DoD single source reporting vehicle which will identify issuances that are currently applicable under the various regulatory reform programs in progress. Therefore, when applicable, DoD Components will identify those rules which come under the criteria of the:

a. Regulatory Flexibility Act;

b. Paperwork Reduction Act; and

c. GATT International Trade Agreement.

These DoD issuances which are directly applicable under these statutes will be identified in the agenda and their action status indicated. Generally, the reports in this agenda will contain three sections: (1) Current and projected rulemaking; (2) review of existing regulations; and (3) completed actions.

Although not a regulatory agency, the Department of Defense will continue to participate in regulatory initiatives designed to reduce the economic costs and unnecessary environmental burdens upon the public. Comments and recommendations are invited on the rules reported and should be addressed to the DoD Component representatives identified in each section.

Although sensitive to the needs of the public and regulatory reform, the Department of Defense reserves the right to exercise the exemptions and flexibility permitted in its rulemaking process in order to proceed with its overall defense-oriented mission.

Note: The publishing of this agenda does not waive the applicability of the military affairs exemption in title 5, section 553 and section 1 of E.O. 12291.

D. O. Cooke,

Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Administration).

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, DoD.

ACTION: This agenda updates the report published on April 27, 1987 and includes regulations expected to be issued and under review over the next 12 months.

SUMMARY: The regulatory material listed below is in 3 parts: (1) Current and projected rulemaking; (2) review of existing regulations; and (3) completed actions.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: The Agency contact names and telephone numbers appear after each agenda entry. For other information on the agenda, contact Mrs. Patricia H. Means, Directives Division, Correspondence and Directives Directorate, Washington Headquarters Services, telephone 202-697-4111.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

E.O. 12291: None of the regulatory documents listed below is a "major rule" and no major rules are presently under development.

Regulatory Flexibility Action, section 610: The Office of the Secretary of Defense has screened its existing regulatory documents and has concluded that none of its regulatory documents cause significant impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Paperwork Reduction Act, Pub. L. 96-511: None of the DoD regulatory documents listed in the agenda require information collection reports affecting the public sector under the criteria of Pub. L. 96-511.

GATT Agreement: None of the DoD regulatory documents listed in this agenda impact upon foreign trade under the GATT Agreement.

The OSD agenda follows.

The Corps is now developing counterpart regulations with the Department of Interior. The regulations will basically bring together various guidance used in the past by both the Corps and DOI. The regulations will include guidance on how the ESA Amendments impact applicants for Federal permits.

AGENCY: Department of the Air Force, DoD.

ACTION: This agenda updates the report published on April 27, 1987, and includes regulations expected to be issued and under review over the next 12 months.

SUMMARY: The regulations listed on the agenda are existing or proposed regulations under internal review for revision or development and only apply to those regulations affecting the public. These rules do not contain reporting or recordkeeping requirements under the criteria of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (Pub. L. 96-511). These rules do not have an impact on international trade and therefore the provisions of the GATT Agreement do not apply.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION (ED)

34 CFR Subtitles A and B

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: Department of Education.

ACTION: Publication of the semiannual agenda of Federal regulations.

SUMMARY: The Secretary of Education publishes a Semiannual Agenda of Federal Regulations as required by Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Bulletin 87-16 issued under the authority of section 6(b) of Executive Order 12291 (Federal Regulations). The purpose of the agenda is to encourage more effective public participation in the regulatory process by giving the public early information about pending regulatory activities.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Questions or comments related to specific regulations listed in this agenda should be directed to the contact person listed for that set of regulations. Questions or comments on the overall agenda should be directed to A. Neal Shedd, Director, Division of Regulations Management, Office of the General Counsel, Department of Education, Room 2131, FOB-6, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20202. Telephone: (202) 732-2887.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Executive Order 12291, dated February 17, 1981, and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354, enacted September 19, 1980, require the Department of Education to publish, in October and April of each year, (1) an agenda of regulations that the Department expects to issue, and (2) currently effective regulations that are under review. The agenda includes both notices of proposed rulemaking (NPRMs) currently being drafted and pending final regulations.

Under the authority of Executive Order 12291, the Director of OMB has issued OMB Bulletin No. 87-16, dated June 25, 1987, prescribing the content and structure of the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations. The Unified Agenda will be issued semiannually and will cover the succeeding 12 months from the date of publication.

For each set of regulations listed, the Agenda provides the title of the document, the type of document, a citation of any rulemaking or other action taken since publication of the most recent Agenda, and planned dates of future rulemaking. In addition, the Agenda provides the following information:

- An abstract, which includes a description of the problem to be addressed, any principal alternatives being considered, and potential costs and benefits of the action.
- An indication of whether the planned action is likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities as defined by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601(b)).
- A reference to where a reader can find the current regulations in the Code of Federal Regulations.
- A citation of legal authority.
- The name, address, and telephone number of the contact person at the Department from whom a reader can obtain additional information regarding the planned action.
- An indication if the action is priority and the criteria used in determining the priority status.

If the "Abstract" section of an entry refers readers to the preamble, it means that amendments to those particular regulations would be designed (1) to effect regulatory relief, including reducing paperwork and compliance burdens, improving cost effectiveness and, to the extent possible, vesting greater discretion in State and local agencies, and (2) if necessary, to clarify and simplify requirements governing that program.

This publication in the Federal Register does not impose any binding obligation on the Department with regard to any specific item on the agenda. Regulatory action in addition to the items listed is not precluded. Dates of future regulatory action are subject to revision in subsequent agendas.

Dated: September 15, 1987.

Charles E. M. Kolb,

Acting General Counsel.

Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Department of Energy.

ACTION: October 1987 regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: In furtherance of this Administration's commitment to make government more responsive to the citizens of the United States and to assist in fulfilling the President's mandate to lessen regulatory burdens, the Department of Energy (DOE) is publishing this agenda of regulatory activities that DOE has in progress, as well as proposed rulemakings that DOE foreseeably may issue in the next year. This agenda provides the Administration with an effective tool for monitoring and controlling the promulgation of regulations. It includes (1) all rules expected to be issued as proposed or final rules before October 1988, (2) all rules being reviewed within the Department to determine whether to propose modifications through rulemaking, and (3) all rulemakings and rule reviews for which action has been completed since the April 1987 Regulatory Agenda. In addition, the agenda meets requirements under the Regulatory Flexibility Act for information on any rulemakings which are "likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities." The agenda may not include all routine regulations or those that relate to internal agency management.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

General: For further information on the agenda in general, contact: Robert E. Morey, Department of Energy, Room 6B-144, Forrestal Building, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585, (202) 586-9507.

Specific: For further information about any particular item on the agenda, contact the individual listed under that item.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Under Executive Order 12291, 46 FR 13193, February 19, 1981, each covered agency publishes, in April and October of each year, an agenda of all rulemakings in progress or expected to be commenced within the next year, and currently effective rules that are under agency review. The Executive Order authorizes the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to set forth standards and procedures for the preparation of these agendas. The October 1987 Regulatory Agenda has been prepared in accordance with OMB Bulletin No. 87-16.

There are important reasons for preparing this agenda. It is vital in this Administration's efforts to reduce the burdens of existing and future regulations, to increase agency accountability for regulatory actions, to provide for Presidential oversight of the regulatory process, to minimize duplication and conflict of regulations, and to insure well-reasoned regulations. This Administration has made considerable progress in these efforts.

For example, the Department, excluding the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), has in each of fiscal years 1986 and 1987 achieved its reduction target of five percent in the paperwork burden imposed by its information collections on the public. For fiscal year 1988, the Department is again committed to a five percent reduction in the remaining paperwork burden imposed by its information collections on the public. This commitment is responsive to the October 1990 goal for Federal agencies, as set forth in the Paperwork Reduction Reauthorization Act of 1986, Pub. L. 99-591. It responds to the request of the Presidential Task Force on Regulatory Relief that the Department review all paperwork burdens imposed on the public including those embedded in Departmental regulations and related statutes. The commitment again excludes the FERC, but includes the ongoing efforts of the Energy Information Administration to reduce the burden of its energy information collections on the public. As in the previous fiscal year, special attention will continue to be given to the paperwork burden of the Department's information collections imposed on its management and operating contractors, offsite contractors and grant recipients inasmuch as this remains the largest element of the Department's overall paperwork burden placed on the public.

Executive Order 12291 also provides that the regulatory agenda may be incorporated with the "regulatory flexibility agenda" required under the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 602 et seq. The regulatory flexibility agenda must contain: (1) A brief description of the subject area and a summary of the nature of any rule which the agency expects to propose or promulgate which is "likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities;" (2) the objectives and legal basis for the issuance of the rule and an approximate schedule for completing action on any rule for which the agency has issued a general notice of proposed rulemaking; and (3) the name and telephone number of an agency official knowledgeable about each rule. The regulatory flexibility agenda required under 5 U.S.C. 602(a) is incorporated in today's notice.

Entries appended to this notice reflect the status of regulatory activities as of approximately August 15, 1987. Regulatory activities have been divided among categories according to their next stage: prerulemaking action, proposed rule, final rule, or completed action.

Regulations designated as "significant" are those which are also included in the Regulatory Program of the United States Government, prepared pursuant to Executive Order 12498, 50 FR 1036, January 8, 1985. Significant regulations also include those which, while not of Government-wide interest or importance, nevertheless are priorities of the Department.

Each item contains the following information: (1) DOE office or administration (that is, the DOE organizational unit responsible for the regulation); (2) RIN number (that is, the Regulation Identifier Number assigned by OMB/OIRA); (3) title; (4) significance; (5) agency contact (that is, the name, title, address and telephone number of a person who is knowledgeable about the regulation); (6) effects on small businesses and other entities (that is, whether the action is likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of "small entities" as defined by the Regulatory Flexibility Act); (7) CFR citation (that is, the section of the Code of Federal Regulations that will be affected); (8) legal authority (that is, a citation to the section of the United States Code (U.S.C.), Public Law (P.L.) or the Executive Order (E.O.) that authorizes the regulatory action); (9) abstract (that is, a description of the problem the regulation will address, the regulatory approach under consideration, the alternatives being considered for addressing the problem, and the potential costs and benefits of the action); (10) legal deadline (that is, the statutory or judicial deadline, if any); and (11) timetable (that is, the dates, and citations if applicable, for all past stages and at least the next stage of the rulemaking). In addition, each item regarding completed actions (that is, regulations completed or withdrawn and reviews completed since the preceding agenda) states the date and citation, if appropriate.

A draft of this agenda has been transmitted to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the Small Business Administration for comment, if any, to fulfill the requirements of 5 U.S.C. 602(b).

DOE's next agenda will be published in April 1988.

Issued in Washington, DC on August 27, 1987.

Eric J. Fygi,

Acting General Counsel.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6295

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 430.32

Legal Deadline: Statutory. The NAECA requires DOE determinations on need to amend Federal appliance standards in a period from 7/1/89 to 1/1/94. The Statute requires completion of a second reanalysis of all then-extant standards in a period from 7/1/94 to 12/31/2006. Also statutory deadlines for a proposal on standards for (cont)

Abstract: The National Appliance Energy Conservation Act of 1987 (NAECA) was enacted March 17, 1987. The NAECA extensively amends the Department's statutory authorities and responsibilities regarding energy efficiency standards for major household appliances. The NAECA establishes initial statutory energy-efficiency standard levels for most types of major appliances and generally requires the Department to undergo two subsequent rulemakings, at specified times, to determine whether the extant standard for a covered product should be amended. These products are: refrigerators, refrigerator-freezers, and freezers; room air conditioners; central air conditioners and central air conditioning heat pumps; water heaters; pool heaters; direct heating equipment; furnaces; dishwashers; clothes washers; clothes dryers; and kitchen ranges and ovens. Other appliances, including television sets, may be regulated by the Department essentially as provided for in prior law. CFR Citation: 10 CFR 436

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Under the National Energy Conservation Policy Act, DOE has promulgated regulations establishing a methodology for estimating and comparing the life cycle costs of Federal buildings and for determining life cycle cost effectiveness. The Energy Security Act required that the regulations provide for the use of marginal energy costs in the life cycle cost analyses. DOE sought legislative revisions to authorize use of average energy costs rather than marginal costs. Appropriate legislative relief came with the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986. The current rulemaking would incorporate a method for determining average energy costs into the life cycle costing analyses.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6321 to 6327

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This rulemaking would modify the prohibition in the State Energy Conservation Program (SECP) regulations on most purchases or installation of equipment and materials for energy conservation building retrofits and weatherization. The prohibition would be relaxed only with respect to whatever so-called eligible petroleum violation escrow (PVE) funds the State elects to spend through the SECP. These PVE funds redress injuries which States' citizens suffered from violations of former Federal petroleum price and allocation regulations. As with all State SECP activities, PVE-funded building retrofits and weatherization would have to be included in an approved program plan.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6293

Abstract: Final test procedures for 13 types of appliances were established during 1978. The test procedures form the basis of manufacturers' representations on the Federal Trade Commission's EnergyGuide label. In February 1984, DOE proposed to establish test procedures for heat pump water heaters and to eliminate the need for the test procedure waiver granted to A.O. Smith for its water heater with a thermal compensatory dip tube. Based on the comments received pursuant to the February 8, 1984 NPRM, the Department prepared a new NPRM published March 13, 1987. This NPRM proposed a single test procedure to cover gas, oil and electric water heaters as well as heat pump water heaters, and extended the test procedures to cover instantaneous type water heaters. In addition to the A.O. Smith matter, the rulemaking would eliminate the need for the test procedure waivers granted Bock Corp., Ford Products and Lockinvar Corp. for their high mass oil-fired water heaters.

Additional Information: A Notice of Inquiry was published in the Federal Register on April 2, 1985 to request comments on a rating procedure to determine the energy performance of a central air conditioner combination (condensing unit and indoor coil) without conducting the full laboratory procedure prescribed by the DOE test procedures. DOE proposed such a rating method in the proposed rulemaking.

Abstract: Title III of the Energy Conservation and Production Act, as amended, requires the development and promulgation of energy performance standards for new buildings. In order to comply with this requirement, DOE currently is developing voluntary guidelines for the private sector and mandatory standards for the federal government.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 8211 et seq; 42 USC 8281 et seq; PL 99-412 Conservation Service Reform Act of 1986

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 456, (Revision); 10 CFR 458, (Deletion)

Legal Deadline: Statutory, August 28, 1986. Rules promulgated under section 212 of the National Energy Conservation Policy Act must be amended within the one hundred and eighty day period after the August 28, 1986, enactment of the Conservation Service Reform Act.

Abstract: The Conservation Service Reform Act of 1986 (Act) Requires changes to the Residential Conservation Service (RCS) and repeals the Commercial and Apartment Conservation Service (CACS) except for CACS plans approved before August 1, 1984. RCS and CACS required large electric and natural gas utilities to perform energy audits of their eligible customers upon request, and to provide other services. Required changes in the RCS program include deletion of some required services, program termination on June 30, 1989, provisions for alternative State plans, and for utilities to obtain waiver of plan requirements. Except for alternative State plans, these changes were made in a notice of interim final rulemaking because the rule reflects non-discretionary requirements which are explicitly set forth in the Act. Procedures for processing complaints about adequacy of implementation of alternative State plans, and for annual reports on any CACS State plan excepted from the general repeal of CACS involve discretion and were published in a notice of proposed rulemaking. Consistent with departmental policy, these procedures are designed to minimize the expense or other burdens of (CONT)

550. ● ENERGY CONSERVATION PROGRAM FOR CONSUMER PRODUCTS; TEST PROCEDURES FOR DISHWASHERS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6293

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 430.23

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The ANDI-CO Appliances Inc., an agent for a foreign appliance manufacturer, received a temporary waiver to exclude a foreign appliance manufacturer's dishwasher from the prescribed DOE test procedures. The waiver was granted because DOE's test procedure requirements for measurement of energy consumption do not apply to dishwashers designed to operate with cold inlet water. Consistent with program rules, this rulemaking would examine changes to the dishwasher test procedures which would make this waiver no longer necessary.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2014aa Atomic Energy Act of 1954, Sec. 11aa; 42 USC 2201 Atomic Energy Act of 1954, Sec. 161; 10 CFR 710

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 710

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The Department of Energy, because of its mission involving nuclear weapons and special nuclear materials, requires a reliable and drug-free work-force. At present, thousands of people within the DOE-contractor work-force are in daily close proximity to nuclear weapons, weapons components, or special nuclear material without the benefit of a human reliability program (HRP). This action would establish a Q(R) access authorization for individuals applying for or currently holding a position identified as an HRP position. The security clearance determination would integrate management and medical screening information into the existing access authorization investigation and adjudication process.

Abstract: Regulation would enhance security at DOE nuclear sites by restricting unofficial aircraft landing and unofficial air delivery of persons or cargo. Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 10222

Abstract: On April 18, 1983, the Department of Energy (DOE) published a rule which established the Standard Contract for Disposal of Spent Nuclear Fuel and/or High-Level Radioactive Waste (standard disposal contract) to be used by the DOE in furnishing disposal services to the owners or generators of spent nuclear fuel and/or high-level radioactive waste (48 FR 16590). On December 6, 1985, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit ruled that the ongoing 1.0 mill per kilowatt hour (1M/KWH) fee in DOE's standard disposal contract should be based on net generation of electricity rather than gross generation of electricity as adopted in the final rule (Wisconsin Electric Power Co. et al. v. Hodel, Nos. 83-1066 and 84-8571). This rule would amend the standard disposal contract to be consistent with the court's ruling. This amendment is expected to reduce revenues from the ongoing fee by about 5 to 5%.

Abstract: This rule would set forth the Secretary's authority to levy administrative sanctions against hospital providers who engage in fraudulent and abusive practices intended to circumvent the Medicare PPS. The purpose of this rule is to clarify and strengthen OIG's existing authority to protect Medicare from abuse by terminating any hospital who fails to correct abusive practices under PPS when directed to do so by the appropriate PRO. These regulations also revise and clarify HCFA's authority with respect to corrective action procedures and procedures for program payments denial against those hospital providers who circumvent PPS. Additional, this rule would propose improvements to the process of public notification of an OIG decision to exclude a physician from Medicare.

Abstract: This will be the first complete update since August 1974 of the Department's Public Information Regulation implementing the Freedom of Information Act. CFR Citation: 45 CFR 96

Abstract: In a prior session of Congress, four of the Department's block grants were reauthorized and certain requirements imposed on the States and other recipients were changed. The block grants include those for Alcohol and Drug Abuse and Mental Health Services; Preventive Health and Health Services; Low-Income Energy Assistance and Community Services. In addition, Congress enacted the Single Audit Act of 1984 which substantially changes the Federal audit requirements imposed upon State and local governments and modifies Federal agency responsibility for oversight of those audits. These legislative changes necessitate changes in the Department's block grant regulation issued July 6, 1982. Alternative measures for addressing the problem are not being considered. None of the proposed legislative changes will involve substantial cost.

programs which may be consolidated by the insular areas was published March 25, 1987 with a 60 day comment period. The rule deletes the Primary Care Block Grant as it has been repealed by Congress. It adds four new HDS formula grant programs recently enacted: (1) Dependent Care Planning and Development State Grants; (2) the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act; (3) the Children's Justice Act; and (4) the Child Development Associate Scholarship Assistance Act. A final Notice will be published after review of public comments.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 5 USC 552; 5 USC 552a; 5 USC 1306; 26 USC 6103

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 401.315

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Under present rules, disclosure to a law enforcement agency is allowed only when a violent crime has been committed and the subject of the information has been either indicted or convicted of that crime, or when relevant to the investigation or prosecution of criminal activity involving a social security program or other governmental health or income maintenance program. These rules severely restrict permissible disclosures. In view of the public interest in law enforcement SSA is considering a change in policy that will expand the circumstances in which information can be disclosed.Neither the current rule nor the change being considered allows disclosure of tax return information covered by 26 U.S.C. 6103.

617. OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND DISABILITY INSURANCE, BLACK LUNG, AND SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME PROGRAMS; APPOINTING ALJ'S TO HEAR AND DECIDE CASES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 405; 42 USC 1302; 42 USC 1383; 30 USC 923; 30 USC 936; 42 USC 401; 42 USC 421

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 404.929; 20 CFR 416.1429; 20 CFR 410.630; 20 CFR 410.634

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The current regulations on assigning ALJ's to hear and decide cases do not discuss (1) the assignment of ALJ's in rotation to hear and decide cases; or (2) the exceptions to assigning ALJ's in rotation. In addition, the current regulations provide that once an ALJ has been assigned to conduct a hearing, the case may be reassigned to another ALJ "if circumstances warrant." The regulations do not discuss the circumstances which would warrant (1) assigning another ALJ to conduct the hearing; or (2) assigning another ALJ to decide a case after the original ALJ has conducted the hearing. The regulatory changes would clarify these matters by explaining the rotation system of assignment and the exceptions to assigning ALJ's to cases in rotation, and by explaining the circumstances which warrant reassignment of a case to a different ALJ from the one to whom the case was initially assigned.

Abstract: Under current policy, payments received by a person as a result of a Home Equity Conversion (HEC) (e.g., reverse mortgage, sale lease back, etc.) are not considered income. The change in regulations would result in these payments being considered income. This change is being made in the realization that HEC's generate cash available for food, clothing, or shelter and meet the definition of income in 20 CFR 416.1102. Program costs and savings are considered insignificant

Abstract: The proposed regulation would revise the method for setting fees for representation. The current procedure has been criticized as too subjective and as resulting in excessively high fees. The proposed regulations would also discuss entities as representatives and payment of fees by a third party, and would revise existing regulations regarding the suspension, discipline, and disqualification of representatives. The regulations will result in a negligible administrative savings to SSA.

620. OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND DISABILITY INSURANCE PROGRAM; TREATMENT OF OASDI LUMP SUM AND MONTHLY PAYMENTS IN THE AID TO FAMILIES WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN PROGRAM

Significance: Regulatory Program

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 404, Subpart U; 20 CFR 416, Subpart F

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: These proposed rules would revise 20 CFR 404.2040, which stipulates the use of benefit payments by a representative payee, explaining that retroactive and monthly title II benefits received by a representative payee who lives in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) Assistance Home, on behalf of a child who is a member of the AFDC Unit are income available to the AFDC Unit and may be used for other members of the Unit. If the representative payee does not live in the AFDC Home title II benefits are considered income for AFDC purposes and may be used for the unit only to the extent that the payee provides these funds to the AFDC household for the beneficiary's maintenance. Potential costs and benefits are not available at this time. We are also proposing direct payment to a beneficiary under age 18 if the beneficiary is within 7 months of attaining age 18 and is initially filing an application for benefits. This proposed revision represents a policy change and is an extension of the 4-month period in our current regulations.

Abstract: Section 4.00 of Appendix 1 of the Disability regulations (404.1501 through 404.1599) describes cardiovascular impairments considered severe enough to prevent an individual from doing any gainful activity. We are reviewing this section of the Listing of Impairments and are anticipating the need for revising the criteria to bring them more up to date with current medical technologies and practice in this area of medicine which is advancing rapidly. The Supplemental Security Income program incorporates by reference and uses the same medical criteria as the Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance program.

Abstract: Section 3.00 of Appendix 1 to the Disability Regulations (404.1501 through 404.1599) describes those respiratory impairments which are considered severe enough to prevent a person from engaging in any gainful activity. We are proposing comprehensive revision to that section to require consideration of the nature and clinical manifestations of respiratory disorders, as well as consideration of the degree of limitations such disorders may impose on an individual's ability to work. 624. SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME PROGRAM; WHAT IS NOT INCOME

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1382a

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 416.1103(g); 20 CFR 416.1103(a) to (b)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Federally funded needs based payments are counted dollar for dollar as income for SSI purposes regardless of the manner in which they are paid (e.g., directly to a vendor). Bills paid by "someone else" (e.g., a relative or friend) are not income if not paid with money due the recipient. Regulations need clarification that "someone else" does not mean another federally funded needs-based program. Also, cash provided by a governmental medical or social services agency is not income if it is either repayment for, or designated for the future payment of, a program-approved service.

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Sec. 2615 of Pub. L. 98-369 amended sec. 1127 of the Social Security Act to eliminate loopholes that permitted some people who were paid Old-Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance (OASDI) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits retroactively to receive more in total benefits for the same period than if they had been paid the benefits when regularly due. The two main changes are: (1) SSI benefits will be reduced where retroactive OASDI benefits have been paid before the SSI benefits. Under prior law, reductions could be made only in retroactive OASDI benefits and only when the retroactive SSI had been paid first. (2) OASDI or SSI benefits payable upon reinstatement following a period of suspension or termination will be reduced by the amount of SSI benefits that would not have been paid if the OASDI benefits had been paid when regularly due. We will amend our regulations to conform to the statutory changes. The program savings to SSA are estimated as $5 million a year.

Abstract: These proposed rules which implement section 2612 of Pub. They will apply the 10 percent requirement only to recipients in current payment status. The 10 percent limit will not apply in situations involving conditional disposition of resources agreements, misuse of burial funds, recovery by refund, cross program adjustment for individuals not in SSI current pay or where it is determined that the overpayment occurred because of recipient fraud, willful misrepresentation, or concealment. They will, in negotiated cases, set a rate of withholding that is appropriate for the financial condition of the overpaid person after (continued)

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: PL 98-460, Sec 10

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 404; 20 CFR 416

Abstract: Section 10, Uniform Standards, of Public Law 98-460 requires the Secretary to establish in regulations uniform standards for the determination of disability at all levels of adjudication under titles II and XVI of the Social Security Act and issue such regulations under the rulemaking provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act. These proposed changes will comply with section 10 by incorporating into regulations of the Social Security Administration a number of policies relating to the evaluation of a person's work activity that are now in Social Security Rulings published in 1983 and 1984. Although the rulings are available to the public we believe that section 10 requires that the policy reflected in these rulings be incorporated into the regulations.

Abstract: These proposed rules implement section 12113 of Pub. L. 99-272 (Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985) enacted April 7, 1986. That legislation establishes liability for recovery of a Social Security benefit overpayment in certain cases when the beneficiary is deceased. Also, we propose to amend the definition of Social Security benefit overpayment and underpayment to provide for direct deposit of benefits and for garnished amounts that are paid under section 459(a) of the Social Security Act. Abstract: This proposed regulation provides that assets held in any revocable or irrevocable trust or any other similar legal device including but not limited to gifts made in accordance with the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act, if available for the beneficiary's support and maintenance, will be a countable resource. It would include as a resource trust assets that could be but are not disbursed to the beneficiary either at the discretion of the trustees or at the direction of the trustor because such disbursement would adversely affect the beneficiary's eligibility for Supplemental Security Income benefits.

Abstract: Section 202(k)(4) of the Social Security Act discusses simultaneous entitlement to retirement and disability insurance benefits (RIB/DIB) and provides that SSA will pay the higher benefit unless the claimant elects to be paid the lower. Section 223(a)(1) explains that an application for DIB may be filed by someone other than the number holder (NH) within 3 months after the month of the NH's death. Strict interpretation had been made of section 202(k)(4) so that no one other than the NH (or proper applicant on behalf of a living NH) could make the election described in section 202(k)(4). In section 404.612(d) of the CFR, the explanation of section 223(a)(1) is given. We have recently published new operating policy which explains that the same person who files an application pursuant to CFR section 404.612(d) may make the election described in CFR 404.407(c). We are proposing to change CFR 404.407(c) to clarify that the person described in section 404.612(d) may make the election discussed in section 202(k)(4).

Additional Information: We foresee minimal costs from this change since the number of potentially affected beneficiaries is small and the period of time during which they will receive the higher family maximum amount (based on the RIB) will only be for the months during which the deceased NH is simultaneously entitled to DIB. Also, this cost will be offset by administrative savings since overpayments will not be created and have to be recovered in situations where individuals are able to elect the lower family maximum (based on DIB) on behalf of the deceased NH.

Abstract: The regulations that we are proposing provide the guidelines for the disability determination services concerning referral of individuals with mental impairments for a work evaluation. Work evaluations are useful in certain disability cases (both title II and title XVI) when it is necessary to evaluate the individual's ability to carry out the mental requirements of past work or other work available in the economy.

Abstract: Section 112.00 of Appendix 1 to the Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance Disability Regulations 404.1501 through 404.1599 describe the medical criteria that apply only to the evaluation of mental impairments of persons under age 18. We are proposing comprehensive revisions to that section to ensure that the medical criteria are up to date and consistent with the latest advances in medicine. The Supplemental Security Income program incorporates by reference and uses the same medical criteria as the Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance program. Additional program costs of $3 million are expected in the first year and $8 million in the second year. There will be negligible administrative savings.

Abstract: Section 10.00 of Appendix 1 to the Disability Regulations (404.1501 through 404.1599) describes multiple body system impairments which are severe enough to prevent a person from doing any gainful activity. We are proposing to add the criteria for evaluation of AIDS to this section. The Supplemental Security Income program incorporates by reference and uses the same medical criteria as the Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance program. Abstract: If the court remands a case and the SSA Appeals Council remands it to an administrative law judge (ALJ), under current regulations the ALJ returns the case to the Appeals Council with a recommended decision, and the Appeals Council must review that decision and take further action in every case before the decision becomes final. This can involve delay. The proposed regulation would permit the ALJ to make a decision which would become final unless, within 30 days after the decision is received, the claimant files exceptions or within that period requests an extension of time to file exceptions, or within 60 days after the date of the decision the Appeals Council decides to review the decision on its own. The change will permit prompter final decisions and some administrative savings. It will not affect program cost.

Abstract: We may pay benefits to a person applying for supplemental security income benefits on the basis of disability or blindness before making a formal medical determination when available information indicates a high probability that disability or blindness exists. These findings of presumptive disability and blindness may be made at the Social Security district offices only for specified impairment categories; at the State agencies, they may be made for any impairment category. We are proposing to add renal disease requiring dialysis on a regularly scheduled basis to these categories in view of the predictability that the disease will result in a finding of disability. We are also proposing a restructuring of our regulations to show more clearly that two of these impairment categories require confirming contacts before findings of presumptive disability may be made by district office.

Abstract: The proposed revision would provide that, for one calendar month following receipt, money paid by a medical or social services program to enable someone to pay for an approved service would not be a resource. If still unexpended after a month, the money would be considered available for basic living expenses and so would be a resource. This will allow people a reasonable time in which to pay for services without affecting their supplemental security income eligibility. (The change would not apply to money which simply reimburses a person for a service payment already made.)

Abstract: These regulations clarify the authority of the Appeals Council, an adjudicatory body within the Social Security Administration, to review an administrative law judge decision or dismissal for any reason within 60 days after the date of a hearing decision or dismissal. The current regulations have been misinterpreted as limiting the scope of the Appeals Council review authority. The regulations make it clear that where the Appeals Council grants a claimant's request to review an ALJ's decision, the Appeals Council reviews the entire record and may change the decision in its entirety, including those portions which were decided favorably to the claimant. Finally, these regulations make it clear that the Appeal's Council authority to reopen and revise an administrative law judge's decision is separate from and in addition to the Appeals's Council authority to review an administrative law judge's decision.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 402(x)(1); 42 USC 405

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 404

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Existing regulations at 20 CFR 404.468(d) provide a vocational rehabilitation exception to the nonpayment of benefits to prisoners provision described at 20 CFR 404.468(a). Under the exception, the nonpayment provision does not apply if a prisoner who is entitled to benefits on the basis of disability is actively and satisfactorily participating in a rehabilitation program which has been specifically approved for the individual by court of law. In addition, the Secretary must determine that the program is expected to result in the individual being able to do substantial gainful activity upon release and within a reasonable time. No benefits will be paid to the prisoner for any month prior to the approval of the program. The proposed regulations would set out more definitive criteria for applying the exception and would define terms, such as "rehabilitation program", "court of law", and "reasonable time", for purposes of applying the exception.

Abstract: P. L. 98-21, the Social Security Amendments of 1983, changed the timing of crediting deferred compensation for Social Security purposes. It also changed the treatment of retirement pay depending upon whether it is paid under a qualified deferred compensation plan. Further, it excluded from coverage various fringe benefits and payments under a Simplified Employee Pension Plan (SEP). Finally, the amendments codify certain provisions pertaining to meals and lodging and tax-sheltered annuities. P.L. 98-369 amended the wage exclusion for qualified bond purchase plans. P.L. 99-514 excluded from coverage payments under a cafeteria plan as described in section 125 of the Internal Revenue Code and employee achievement awards for Social Security purposes. It extended the exclusions of Educational Assistance Programs and Group Legal Service Plans and removed the exclusion of SEP payments. The regulations will be updated to reflect and implement these statutory provisions.

Abstract: These rules reflect the following changes in the law: after the 12-month period ending 6/82, States could switch from the "maintaining of total expenditures" method of compliance with mandatory passthrough provisions to the "maintaining of payment levels" method without first having to pass through to all current SSI recipients all the Federal cost-of-living benefit increases which have occurred since 12/76, by maintaining the payment levels in effect in December of the latest preceding total expenditures period. This option is applicable only to the period from July 1, 1982 through March 31, 1983, and the only December payment levels a State could use were those in effect in December 1981. For months after March 1983, the measure for determining passalong compliance has been changed from the concept of "State supplementary payment levels to the concept of combined supplementary and SSI payment levels and the March 1983 combined level has been established as the base for compliance for months after March 1983. Abstract: This proposed regulation reflects policies and procedures concerning agreements between States and the Secretary for Social Security coverage of State and local employees, payment of Social Security contributions, filing of wage reports by States, charging interest for late payments, etc. The current rules need to be organized into a logical sequence and to be updated to reflect many policies which SSA has followed for many years. In preparing this regulation, we reviewed all policies to assess their impact on the trust funds and to reduce recordkeeping burdens. We also added the provisions of sections 103 and 342 of Pub. L. 98-21. Sec. 103 prohibits termination of existing coverage under the States' agreements. Sec. 342 changes payment of Social Security contributions from once a month to twice a month. When the regulations are published in final form, we will also add language to implement Pub. L. 99-272 sec. 12110, which provides a uniform effective date for coverage agreements and modifications of agreements, and a provision of sec. 9002 of the Omnibus Budget (cont)

These regulations include changes in the present rules that are required by recent statutory enactments and, additionally, make the rules easier to read and understand. This regulation will have no impact on SSA programs and administrative costs.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 405; 42 USC 1302; 30 USC 923

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 404, Subpart H

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: These final regulations clarify our regulations to explain that a claimant, in order to collect the lump-sum death payment or survivors benefits under the Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (OASDI) program, is at all times responsible for furnishing evidence proving the insured person's death. The regulations are also revised to state that we do not infer the death of a missing person if there are known circumstances that could reasonably explain the absence, even without direct evidence that such circumstances actually were the reasons for absence.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1302; 42 USC 1383; 42 USC 1383b

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The proposed rules provide for the reopening and revising of Supplemental Security Income determinations within four years of the notice of the initial determination if we discover an error affecting a claimant's eligibility or benefit amount during this period through the use of information exchange and data gathering involving either our records or our records and those of other Federal or State agencies. This rule is being proposed because the two-year period in which we may reopen and revise a determination based on new and material evidence we acquire through data and exchange is often too short and often expires before the determination to correct errors revealed by the data can be made. The budgetary impact has not yet been determined.

Abstract: The provision of section 113 of Pub. L. 98-21 (the Social Security Amendments of 1983) eliminates the windfall that occurs when the heavy weighting in the benefit formula that is intended for workers with low wages goes instead to workers who spent many years in noncovered employment and worked only a few years in covered employment. This will be accomplished by modifying the benefit computation formula to consider a worker's pension from noncovered employment. This provision will decrease program costs by $1 million for 1983-89.

Abstract: Current regulations for the Supplemental Security Income program provide that if countable liquid resources and total countable resources (liquid and nonliquid) do not exceed certain limits, conditional payment is possible while disposing of excess nonliquid resources. This regulation will eliminate the limit on total countable resources and also eliminate an operating assumption that property has no value at all because it did not sell during a conditional payment period.

Abstract: The proposed regulations would codify section 101 of Pub. L. 98-21, as amended by sec. 4 of Pub. L. 98-118, which generally provides Social Security coverage for certain Federal employees and covers certain payments to retired Federal judges after 1985. Estimated increased revenues (resulting from this legislation) for 1984-1989 are $9.4 billion. Long-range savings are estimated at .28 percent of taxable payroll. Also, the proposed regulations would codify section 12112 of Pub. L. 99-272 which provides exemption from Social Security coverage for retired Federal judges on active duty. In addition, the proposed regulations would provide: 1) that Federal employees not otherwise subject to the Social Security tax are nevertheless subject to the Health Insurance portion of the tax under Pub. L. 97-248, and 2) that individuals covered by the Civil Service Retirement System may elect during a limited time to be covered under the Federal Employees Retirement System, which includes Social Security coverage.

Abstract: The proposed regulations include standards for obtaining consultative examinations, the types of consultative examination referrals to be made, and monitoring procedures for consultative examinations and the referral process. The proposed regulations also provide for evaluating all medical evidence of record and developing a 12-month medical history. References to "medical assessments" will be replaced by references to medical source statements as to what a person can still do despite his or her impairment(s). The regulations also set forth the standards to be used in evaluating the medical opinions of treating and other medical sources. The changes will not have any significant impact on either administrative or program costs.

Abstract: Our current regulations implementing section 1634 of the Social Security Act provide that SSA will make determinations for the State on whether aged, blind, or disabled people are eligible for Medicaid if the State's Medicaid requirements for these people are the same as SSI eligibility requirements. Sec. 2367 of Pub. L. 98-369 mandates that States require, as a condition of Medicaid eligibility, that a person assign to the State his or her rights (as well as the rights of any other Medicaid eligible person on whose behalf he or she has the legal authority to execute such an assignment of rights) to any medical care and support available under an order of a court or an administrative agency and any third-party payments for medical care (except Medicare). This is a Medicaid requirement that is different from SSI requirements. We plan to amend our regulations to provide that in making the Medicaid eligibility determination under a section 1634 agreement, SSA will also determine that the new assignment requirement has been met. The regulations will similarly allow for any other non-SSI Medicaid requirement mandated by Federal law, such as that added by sec. (cont.)

L. 98-460 provide the following groups with the option to elect to continue receiving disability/blindness benefits and/or Medicare coverage pending reconsideration and/or a hearing before an administrative law judge on a medical cessation determination; recipients of disability insurance; adult child's, disabled widow's, disabled widower's, mother's and father's, or spouse's benefits based on having in care a disabled adult child; recipients of benefits based on having in care, a child under age 18 but over age 15, who is disabled and receiving child's benefits; recipients of SSI benefits based on disability or blindness. Any continued payments are subject to recovery as overpayments, subject to the same waiver provisions now in current law and regulations where the medical cessation decision is upheld on appeal.

Abstract: The proposed regulations reflect the provisions of section 8 of PL 98-460 by requiring that we make every reasonable effort to have a qualified psychiatrist or psychologist to complete the medical portion of the case review and any residual functional capacity assessment in unfavorable determinations in mental impairment cases. We are also explaining the qualifications necessary to be considered a qualified psychologist and what we will consider as reasonable effort to obtain the services of a qualified psychiatrist or psychologist. State agencies must make every reasonable effort to see that the services of qualified psychiatrists and psychologists are obtained, for instance, by raising State fee schedules to provide compensation at the prevailing rates in the community. SSA may also use Federal resources, including contracting directly for these services when the State is unable to provide them due to inadequate compensation or other impediments at the State level. Costs will increase by less than $5 million in the first year that the regulations are effective. These figures were derived from the number of additional physician hours needed for State (cont.)

Abstract: The regulations deal with the operation of State agencies which make disability determinations for the Social Security Disability program and the Supplemental Security Income for the Aged, Blind, and Disabled program under regulations and other written SSA guidelines. The regulations implement a provision of P.L. 98-460 which requires the Secretary to take definitive steps within specific time frames to assure the compliance of State agencies with SSA regulations and other written guidelines or proceed to terminate their participation in the SSA administered programs. The regulations also make other changes to improve the disability determination process and to clarify and update other administrative requirements. Costs/savings cannot be estimated at this time.

Abstract: Public Law 98-460 created 2 new provisions under which SSA will pay vocational rehabilitation (VR) agencies for the costs of services provided to disabled or blind social security beneficiaries or SSI recipients. Under the first new provision, SSA will allow payment to VRA's for the costs of VR services provided to individuals continuing to receive payment because they are participating in a VR program after their period of disability has ceased due to their medical recovery. The second new provision allows payment to VRA's for the costs of VR services provided to beneficiaries/recipients who refuse without good cause to continue or to cooperate in a VR program in such a way as to preclude their successful rehabilitation with such refusal resulting in the nonpayment of their disability or blindness payments. It is estimated that the first year costs of this program will be less than 1 million dollars.

Abstract: This provision of the law requires us to consider the combined effect of all of a person's impairments in determining disability regardless of whether any single impairment, if considered separately, would be of sufficient severity. If we do find a medically severe combination of impairments, the combined impact of the impairments must be considered throughout the disability determination process. We are revising regulations to reflect that we will now consider the combined effect of impairments to determine severity. When the combined effect is found to be severe, the person's impairments are evaluated throughout the full sequential evaluation process.

Abstract: These regulations implement sections 12101 and 12104 of Pub. L. 99-272 (the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985). Section 12101 of Pub. L. 99-272 extends the Secretary's waiver authority on demonstration projects in the title II disability insurance program which was originally provided for by section 505(a)(3) of the Social Security Disability Amendments of 1980 (Pub. L. 96-265). Section 12101 also effectively makes the waiver authority for title XVI demonstration projects permanent. Section 12104 of Pub. L. 99-272 amends section 202(d)(8)(D)(ii) (III) of the Social Security Act to provide that great-grandchildren of the insured individual may be entitled to child's insurance benefits as grandchildren currently are, applying the dependency test for legally adopted children.

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 422B

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The proposed regulations will allow the Social Security Administration (SSA) to test procedures that will provide exceptions to the current requirements that SSA interview an applicant for a new Social Security number and that an applicant for a duplicate card submit evidence of identity. This will enable us to test procedures that would allow us to conduct much of our business in processing applications for original or duplicate Social Security number cards by telephone.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1302; 42 USC 1382b; 42 USC 1383(d)

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 416.1201

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: We propose to amend 20 CFR 416.1201 to specify that, when a promissory note, contract, or agreement calls for installment payments against the principal, its CMV would be no less than the monthly proportion of any installment amount due against the principal. This proposal recognizes that, although the entire promissory note, property contract, or agreement may have no market, it has a minimum value in the amount of the installment amount due periodically against the principal, since that is what the market has agreed to pay. This proposal does not affect the treatment of any interest portion of an installment payment which continues to be income when received. Also, the proposal has minimal impact on the SSI program as it applies only to resources which have proceeds due. Further, it has limited effect on recipients since it does not affect payment amount, although it may affect eligibility. The cost/savings impact for this proposal is estimated to be insignificant.

Abstract: Regulations are required by Department policy for this project grant program administered by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) under an intra-agency agreement with the Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR). The project grants are awarded to State and local health agencies to assist them in providing initial health assessments to arriving refugees. These health assessments specifically address conditions of public health concerns, like tuberculosis, and also identify personal health problems that could impair the effective resettlement of the refugee. CDC has established the program requirements, guidelines, and standards for evaluation.

697. IMPROVE STANDARDS FOR RESPIRATOR DEVICES

Legal Authority: 30 USC 801

CFR Citation: 30 CFR 11

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: There are three major problems that the proposed regulatory action is intended to solve. First, the current regulatory provisions in 30 CFR 11 in some instances date back almost fifty years. As a result the provisions are not current with many of the extensive changes in respirator technology. Second, the current regulations do not provide for testing of respirators under either actual or simulated use conditions prior to certification. Third, the resources required to conduct routine respirator certification testing has made it difficult for NIOSH to keep respirator performance standards current with advances in respirator technology and with new knowledge on respirator performance characteristics. Alternatives considered: (1) the Federal government could relinquish the field entirely to the private sector. (2) The Federal government could promulgate performance standards but not be involved in assuring compliance with those standards. (3) The Federal government could continue to be the certifier of respirators but have manufacturers conduct testing. (4) The Federal government could continue its present role of total operation of the respirator system. NIOSH (cont)

701. DRUG EXPORTS

Legal Authority: PL 99-660 Drug Export Amendment Act of 1986

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The Drug Export Amendment Act of 1986 authorizes the export for commercial marketing abroad of veterinary and human drugs not approved for marketing in the United States. Under previous law, the export of new human and animal drugs for marketing was confined to drugs that were approved by FDA for domestic use. The law establishes three separate pathways for the export of unapproved products. Under each pathway, FDA approval is required before export is permitted. As a prerulemaking activity, FDA is developing guidance material for manufacturers instructing them as to what information must be submitted to the agency to obtain approval for the export of unapproved products. The guidance material will also identify FDA sources of information on agency practices and policies concerning the implementation of the Drug Export Amendment Act of 1986. The agency will then decide what, if any, regulations are necessary for the efficient implementation of the amendment, and establish timeframes for the development of those regulations.

Abstract: FDA is responsible for issuing regulatory standards for blood and blood components to ensure the continued safety, purity, and potency of such products. Since 1975, CGMP regulations have been in effect that provide standards for facilities, personnel, and manufacturing procedures for blood and blood components. In accordance with the Regulatory Flexibility Act, FDA has conducted a retrospective review of its CGMP regulations for blood and blood components, to determine how the regulations may be revised to relieve regulatory burdens and increase flexibility without adversely affecting the public health. Part of the retrospective review of the CGMP will be completed through FDA's implementation of an efficacy review of blood and blood derivatives which responds to recommendations of a Committee of scientific experts--the Panel on Review of Blood and Blood Derivatives. To complete the remainder of the retrospective review program regarding the CGMP, FDA will issue a proposed rule to revise the CGMP regulations.

Abstract: Based upon an evaluation of an action issues report, the agency has concluded that it will recommend that the Secretary propose revision of the existing regulations in a manner consistent with the current procedural regulations for human drugs where appropriate. The New Animal Drug Application (NADA) revisions would articulate general requirements in regulations containing performance standards and would complement them through detailed guidelines on, among other matters, appropriate ways of meeting requirements for submission of chemistry, pharmacology, and statistical data that would better address the intricate scientific issues involved. Although the guidelines would not establish regulatory requirements, persons would be able to rely on them with confidence that action taken under a guideline would be acceptable to the agency. The proposed rule would also provide for reporting requirements for marketed animal drugs.

Abstract: Acceptable evidence and information exists to show that a subgroup of asthmatics is at moderate to severe risk for a severe reaction upon exposure to sulfites. The agency's primary tool for handling a situation where population subgroups may be at increased risk from a food ingredient that is safe for most people is to use labeling to inform those persons who need or want to avoid the ingredient. The agency issued a final rule, effective January 7, 1987, that requires that when a sulfiting agent is present to a finished food at 10 parts per million or greater, the sulfiting agent must be declared on the label. In addition, FDA issued a final rule, effective August 8, 1986, prohibiting the use of sulfiting agents on raw fruits and vegetables intended to be served or sold raw to consumers (e.g., in salad bars). The agency is now considering what it options are with regard to the GRAS status of 1) sulfiting agents used on "fresh" potatoes and 2) other food uses of sulfiting agents. Options being considered are: 1) affirming all uses of sulfiting agents as GRAS with specific limitation; 2) affirming most uses of (cont)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This regulatory action is being taken to improve the safety of marketed drug products by a reporting scheme that will require serious adverse reactions associated with licensed biological products to be reported to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

The purpose of the regulatory action is to require prompt reporting to the agency of serious adverse experiences for all licensed biological products.

The regulatory action being considered by FDA would be consistent with the agency's requirements regarding adverse reactions reporting for approved new drugs under 21 CFR 314.80 (see February 22, 1985; 50 FR 7452). These regulations require all "serious and unexpected" adverse drug experiences and any "significant increase in frequency" of a serious expected event to be reported to the agency within 15 working days. Known and nonserious adverse drug experiences are required to be reported to the agency at quarterly or annual intervals, depending on the length of marketing experience with the drug product. This information permits the agency to monitor effectively (cont)

708. PROPOSED RULE TO IMPLEMENT THE ORPHAN DRUG AMENDMENTS TO THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT

Legal Authority: PL 97-414 Orphan Drug Act

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: The Orphan Drug Act is intended to provide incentives for drug companies to invest in the development of drugs for rare diseases or conditions. Certain incentives are necessary because "orphan drugs" are unlikely to be profitable. The agency is required to carry out provisions of the Orphan Drug Act, e.g., by designating a drug as an orphan drug, by providing protocol assistance, and by granting seven years of exclusive approval status. The proposed rule would establish procedures whereby drug sponsors can take advantage of the incentives to encourage development of orphan drugs. While several provisions of the Orphan Drug Act call for promulgation of regulations, the agency is considering the extent to which regulations will be needed to provide the framework and guidance for implementing a program of incentives to drug sponsors and manufacturers.

709. IMPLEMENTATION OF TITLE I OF THE "DRUG PRICE COMPETITION AND PATENT TERM RESTORATION ACT OF 1984" (TITLE I)

Legal Authority: PL 98-417, (Title I)

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Until the passage of Title I of the "Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984," abbreviated new drug application (ANDA) procedures were only available for generic products equivalent to pioneer drugs approved before 1962. Title I opened up the ANDA policy to generic copies of products approved after 1962. This rulemaking is intended to establish clear and uniform procedures for the review and timely approval of ANDAs. This should assist the generic drug industry by ending considerable confusion about the procedures governing review of ANDAs. In turn, with the availability of lower-cost generic products, it is estimated that consumers may save millions of dollars. The statute calls for promulgation of implementing regulations, however, the agency also expects to develop guidelines and other policy statements to assist in developing approvable applications. Revised target dates for this regulatory action are appropriate because many new issues have been identified in petitions and letters to the agency from trade associations and attorneys representing individual manufacturers concerning exclusivity, patent coverage, (cont)

CFR Citation: 21 CFR 101

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: In the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 4, 1986, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) discussed a new and innovative initiative concerning the placing of health-related claims or information on food labeling and the criteria it will apply in evaluating the propriety of such labeling. Consistent with this new initiative, FDA proposed to amend certain regulations on food labeling to codify and to clarify its policy on the appropriate use of health-related messages. The agency also announced its intention to form a Public Health Service (PHS) committee that will attempt to develop "health messages" appropriate for use on food labeling.

FDA recognizes that this new initiative represents a substantive change in past agency policy, and because of the complexity of the matter and the broad public interest, wishes to proceed cautiously and deliberately in its regulatory approach.

Pending this rulemaking proceeding, the agency will employ the criteria discussed in the preamble to the notice in evaluating the propriety of bringing enforcement action against products bearing health messages on food labeling.

Significance: Regulatory Program

CFR Citation: 21 CFR 514.1; 21 CFR 514.2; 21 CFR 514.3; 21 CFR 514.11

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This proposed rule would permit applicants to file abbreviated new animal drug applications (ANADAs) for products identical to approved post-1962 drugs and to omit certain reports that are required in full NADAs to show safety and effectiveness of the product. It would apply only to certain drug products specified by FDA. If adopted, the proposed rule would reduce duplicative testing of drugs and also reduce the cost to the manufacturer of getting the affected drugs on the market. Abstract: The agency is preparing three proposals which will implement the Infant Formula Act of 1986. The first proposal will amend FDA's Infant Formula Recall regulations. These amended regulations will mandate the recall of infant formulas that are in violation of the Act and which have been determined by the Secretary to pose a health hazard. CFR Citation: 21 CFR 102.33

Abstract: In 1980, FDA published a regulation (21 CFR 102.33) to require the declaration of the percent of juice contained in all diluted juice beverages. This regulation was published to extend the percent juice declaration required for diluted orange juice beverages (21 CFR 102.32) to all other diluted juice beverages. These two regulations were developed to provide consumers with information as to the various amounts of juice in the diluted juice beverages offered for sale. The regulation regarding percentage juice declaration for diluted orange juice beverages had been in effect for several years and functioning well before the regulation addressing all other diluted juice beverages was published. With publication of 21 CFR 102.33, a controversy developed over the applicability of the regulation to diluted cranberry juice beverages. The controversy centered around the fact that cranberry juice is a high acid juice and is not normally consumed as a single strength juice. Due to this unresolved controversy, 21 CFR 102.33 has not been made effective. In the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 16, 1987 (52 FR 26690), the agency proposed to revoke the common or usual (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: name regulation (21 CFR 102.33) for diluted fruit or vegetable juice beverages other than diluted orange juice beverages. The revocation of this regulation will allow voluntary percentage labeling of these diluted juice beverages at the discretion of the manufacturer and according to the demands of the marketplace. Diluted orange juice beverages would continue to be subject to the percentage labeling requirement that has been in effect for diluted orange juice beverages since 1973. This proposed action also withdraws the proposed rule published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 1, 1984 (49 FR 22831), which, among other things, exempted cranberry juice products from percentage ingredient labeling requirements.

Abstract: In the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 3, 1986 (51 FR 20204), the Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP) issued for public comment a proposed Model Federal Policy for the Protection of Human Research Subjects. This Model Policy is to enhance uniformity in the implementation of a common core of regulations governing research with human subjects. FDA has concurred in the proposed Model Policy to the extent permitted by law. FDA will propose to amend its regulations to eliminate certain inconsistencies with the proposed Model Policy. OSTP has advised the Agency that concurrent publication of the final Model Policy and FDA's proposed rule is needed.

Abstract: FDA is considering a proposal to require tampon manufacturers to include on the package label ranges representing tampon absorbency. These ranges could be used with, and would correspond to, currently used absorbency terms. The labeling would be required to include a description of absorbency terms and ranges, and their use for inter-brand comparisons, to educate consumers about the ranges and their relationship to the absorbency terms that have been used in the past and that may continue to be used. Such a proposed rule would also require that tampon absorbency, as expressed by ranges, be determined in accordance with a specific test method for absorbency. The ranges would represent the range of grams of fluid absorbed by that particular style of tampon. Although sufficient data are available for FDA to conclude that there is a significant association between the level of absorbency of tampons and the risk of toxic shock syndrome (TSS) (i.e., the greater the absorbency the greater the risk), FDA cannot know about the extent to which consumers would change their purchasing patterns of tampons if the agency were to require tampon package labels to include a description of (cont)

Abstract: This proposed rule would permit veterinarians to obtain bulk new animal drug substances for compounding products for use in their own practice. A number of veterinarians have requested that the regulations be revised in order that bulk new animal drug substances may be legally obtained by them for use in their practices. Seventeen comments were received in response to the proposed rule, five from pharmaceutical companies, six from trade/professional associations, three from consultants, two from veterinary practitioners, and one from a Federal agency. Only three of those commenting supported the proposal. The remaining 14 comments opposed the proposal. The agency is reevaluating the proposal in light of the comments received.

Abstract: The proposed rule would initiate a program that would require drug manufacturers (as beneficiaries of special services that the agency provides) to bear the costs that the agency incurs in reviewing and approving new drug and antibiotic applications, abbreviated new drug applications, new device applications, and certain supplemental applications. The agency would set fees for different types of applications. The benefit accruing to an applicant under the agency's new drug and antibiotic application review and approval activity is that the applicant may lawfully market its new drug or antibiotic upon gaining agency approval. Review by the agency also benefits applicants by helping ensure that they will market only safe and effective drug products. This, in turn, enhances public confidence in applicant's drug products. Congress has prohibited FDA from implementing user charges. Legislation has been submitted to Congress to implement user charges for both drugs and devices. The future of this proposed rule is dependent on the outcome of Congressional action.

Abstract: Substantial progress has been made in reducing the number of provisionally listed additives and only 3 color additives remain on the provisional list. The agency is presently reviewing petitions to list these color additives permanently. Because FD&C Red No. 3 animal feed studies have shown a treatment-related increased incidence of tumor bearing animals, the agency considered the use of quantitative risk assessment as a basis for assessing the safety of this color additive in external drugs and cosmetics. As a preliminary step in its consideration of this approach, the agency formed a scientific peer review panel of government scientists to consider whether it is possible to quantify the risk presented by the use of FD&C Red No. 3 based on the scientific data available to the agency and, if so, what level of risk is presented by the use of this color additive. The agency has received the report from the scientific review panel in which the panel estimates the risk of cancer from use of FD&C Red No. 3 in external drugs and cosmetics. Furthermore, for FD&C Red No. 3 the industry has postulated a secondary mechanism for the observed (cont)

Abstract: On February 21, 1986, the agency proposed to require that each unit of blood and blood components be tested and found nonreactive by a licensed serologic test for antibody to human T-lymphotropic virus type III (HTLV-III). HTLV-III is believed to be the causative agent of acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS). The agency believes that the routine testing of blood by an approved serologic test for antibody to HTLV-III should decrease the risk of transmitting AIDS by the transfusion of blood and blood components and by the parenteral use of certain plasma derivatives.

Abstract: In the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 25, 1986, the agency published a proposed rule that would provide a mechanism to allow relevant, truthful, and nonmisleading claims about cholesterol and fatty acid on product labeling for consumers. This proposed rule resulted from the medical and consumer interest in the association between dietary fat and cholesterol and the occurrence of coronary heart disease, the leading cause of death and disability in the United States today. The proposed rule would allow industry voluntarily to provide consumers with cholesterol and fatty acid information currently prohibited by regulations by permitting the use of meaningful descriptors of the cholesterol content of foods as established by regulation (e.g., "cholesterol free," "low cholesterol," and "reduced cholesterol"). Additionally, the proposal would allow the use of comparative claims (e.g., 50 percent less cholesterol than our original product), provided quantitative cholesterol content information is supplied. Public comments submitted in response to the proposed rule are being reviewed.

Abstract: Methylene chloride is used as a flame suppressant in aerosol cosmetic products (hair sprays). Recent carcinogenicity bioassay studies, however, have shown that methylene chloride is an animal carcinogen. These studies indicate that the continued use of methylene chloride, in functional amounts, in such cosmetic products may pose a significant risk to the public health, especially in specific segments of the population that are continually exposed to aerosol cosmetics containing methylene chloride. Methylene is also used as a solvent to extract caffeine from green coffee beans. However, all but a very small portion of the methylene is removed during processing. The agency has been informed of voluntary efforts by the cosmetic industry to replace methylene chloride but believes that prohibiting its use in cosmetics is the only approach that will assure that the public health will be fully safeguarded from all such products, both foreign and domestic.

Abstract: The Indian Self-Determination Act, Public Law 93-638 Regulations published November 1975 need to be revised and updated in light of 10 years of experience. Some provisions are now obsolete and others may impose unnecessary burden, restrictions, and require clarification. The proposed revision in effect would streamline the contract process, delete obsolete provisions, reduce unnecessary paperwork, strengthen accountability requirements and provide opportunities to strengthen autonomy and provide greater flexibility to Public Law 93-638 contractors.

760. MISCONDUCT IN SCIENCE

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 241; 42 USC 289b

CFR Citation: 42 CFR 50

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Recipients of Public Health Service research and research training funds do not presently have sufficient guidance regarding their responsibility to investigate and report possible misconduct in PHS-funded research or research training. While many institutions have voluntarily established procedures for dealing with misconduct in science, they are not required to do so and in many recent instances the lack of defined procedures has delayed or compromised awardees' investigations. Institutional policies regarding reports to funding agencies vary considerably. The proposed regulation will define the point at which funding agencies are notified and will require awardees to develop procedures for dealing with misconduct in science. Section 493 of the PHS Act requires that the HHS Secretary issue regulations.

Abstract: These regulations would implement provisions of section 948 of P.L. 96-499 and section 2307 of P.L. 98-369. This legislation deals with certain problems that have arisen in the Medicare program with respect to payment for physicians in the teaching setting. Specifically addressed by Congress is the problem of distinguishing between the services a physician furnishes to individual patients as a teaching provider and services furnished to the provider, as well as the method of reimbursement for these services. This proposed rule sets forth the conditions under which physicians in teaching settings would be reimbursed on a reasonable cost basis or, alternatively, on a reasonable charge basis. Abstract: Currently, hospital-based and independent laboratories are subject to varying State Licensure requirements and to Medicare regulations that vary from requirements of private accreditation entities and from regulations governing laboratories performing tests under interstate commerce. The result is that many laboratories may be required to submit to surveys by more than one authority and be adjudged in compliance with different standards. Inconsistent standards create confusion regarding necessary credentials and performance levels. This proposed rule would identify common standards and propose other revisions to rules aimed at reducing direct and indirect costs of clinical laboratories and at increasing quality of output.

Abstract: These proposed regulations would make explicit in the regulations HCFA's policy on the relationship between State Medicaid eligibility determinations based on disability and disability determinations by SSA under the Supplemental Security Income Program. The regulations would incorporate the conditions under which the State agency must make independent determinations of disability and the effect of only SSA determination on Medicaid eligibility. The proposed regulations would also conform the Medicaid provisions on composition of medical review teams, required information, and the time limit for making determinations more closely to those used by SSA in making SSI determinations. Because of numerous questions raised and litigation, it is necessary to clarify our policy on the controlling nature of SSI disability determinations on Medicaid eligibility.

Abstract: This proposed rule would implement sections 9121 and 9122 of PL 99-272. Specifically, under section 9121, Medicare participating hospitals with emergency departments would be required to provide upon request medical examinations and treatments for individuals with emergency medical conditions and women in active labor. Hospitals failing to meet those requirements may have their Medicare provider agreements suspended or terminated. In addition, the hospital and the responsible physician may each be subject to a civil money penalty for each such violation. Under section 9122, Medicare participating hospitals would be required to accept CHAMPUS and CHAMPVA payment as payment in full for services provided to CHAMPUS and CHAMPVA beneficiaries. These regulations would also implement section 233 of PL 99-576, which requires Medicare hospitals to admit veterans. They would also implement section 9305(b)(1) of PL 99-509, which requires Medicare hospitals to give patients a notice of their discharge rights.

It also specifies how stated electing the option under Section 1902 to provide Medicaid under criteria more restrictive than SSI, will treat the "1619" individuals. It also would specify how SSI payments made to certain institutionalized individuals are to be disregarded as income under Medicaid for up to two months. Abstract: These regulations specify the requirements and procedures under which States are allowed 60 days following the date of discovery of an overpayment to a Medicaid provider to recover or attempt to recover the overpayment before the Federal share must be credited to HCFA. The Federal Government will share in any overpayments that the State documents it is unable to recover because the debts of the provider have been discharged in bankruptcy or the provider is out-of-business. Abstract: This rule proposes changes to the Medicare regulations to provide for the following: (1) elimination of the requirement that investment income of both nonprofit and proprietary hospitals from gifts, grants, and endowments be held separately and that if not held separately, it be offset against allowable interest expenses; (2) extension of the list of exceptions to the interest expense reduction provision; and (3) elimination of the requirement that prior to suspension of payment, carriers or intermediaries make determinations that suspension of payments to providers is needed to protect the program against financial loss. This proposed rule is intended to conform the regulations with the law, to provide necessary clarification, and to promote economy and efficiency in the Administration of the Medicare program.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1395x(v)

Abstract: This rule proposes to revise the Medicare regulations to clarify the definition of "accrual basis of accounting" to indicate that expenses must be incurred by provider of health care services before Medicare will pay its share of those expenses. This change is intended to conform the regulations with the law and to promote economy and efficiency in the administration of the Medicare program.

804. OPTIONAL PAYMENT SYSTEM FOR LOW MEDICARE VOLUME SKILLED NURSING FACILITIES

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1395yy(d)

CFR Citation: 42 CFR 413.30

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This rule proposes to establish optional prospective payment rates for routine services furnished by certain skilled nursing facilities. The prospective rate would be on a per diem basis and would include payment for the cost of furnishing general inpatient routine services and associated capital-related costs. As specified in the Conference Committee Report accompanying PL 99-272, the rates paid to proprietary SNFs would include a component for the routine service portion of the return on equity capital. As specified in section 1861(v)(1)(B) of the Act, the return on equity component would only be included in the rate paid to proprietary SNFs. This rule would propose instructions for determining eligibility for payment under this system, and the methodology for calculating the prospective payment rates.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1395y

Abstract: The proposed rule would establish in regulations generally applicable standards and procedures for HCFA determinations as to whether and under what circumstances specific medical items and services should be paid for under Medicare. It establishes and explains the criteria relied upon for determining whether an item or service is "reasonable and necessary." The objective of the criteria and procedures set forth in this proposed rule is to assure that Federal funds are expended only for medical services that are appropriate to meet an individual's medical needs.

Abstract: This proposed rule would implement section 9335(c) of Pub.L. 99-509 which authorizes Medicare coverage of immunosuppressive drugs for a period of 1-year following a Medicare-covered organ transplant. Abstract: These conditions would replace the existing separate conditions for SNFs participating in the Medicare program, and SNFs and ICFs participating in the Medicaid program. Although some essential distinctions imposed by the statute remain, these new conditions reflect common needs in SNFs and ICFs. The purpose of these revisions is to focus on actual facility performance in meeting residents' needs in a safe and healthful environment, rather than on the capacity of a facility to provide appropriate services. The result of this change in focus will be to enforce requirements from the perspective of quality of care and life for long term care patients, not only under Medicare and Medicaid, but generally since most of these requirements pertain to all patients of a SNF or ICF. These revisions are also expected to simplify Federal enforcement by using a single set of conditions, which apply to activities common to all facilities.

Abstract: Under this proposed notice, hospital-based home health agencies accredited by the Joint Commission for Accreditation of Hospitals and home health agencies accredited by the National League for Nursing would be considered or "deemed" to meet the Medicare conditions of participation. Abstract: The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986 (P.L. 99-509) amends Title XI of the Social Security Act by inserting a new Section 1138, "Hospital Protocols for Organ Procurement and Standards for Organ Procurement Agencies (OPAs)." Section 1138(a) of the Act requires all hospitals participating in Medicare and Medicaid to have protocols for the identification of potential organ donors and requires all such hospitals which perform transplants to belong to the Network, discussed below. Section 1138(b) specifies that Medicaid or Medicare payments may not be made for organ procurement costs attributable to an OPA unless the OPA has been certified or recertified within the previous two years by the Secretary as conforming to the standards described in Section 371(b) of the PHS Act. A certified OPA must be a member of and abide by the rules of the Organ Procurement and Transplantation Network, must allocate organs according to medical criteria and Network policy, and must meet the performance standards prescribed by the Secretary.

The payment amount would be equal to the lower of 80 percent of a fee schedule established by the Secretary (and adjusted annually by the change in the Medicare economic index) or 80 percent of the actual charge. CRNAs would be required to accept assignment for all Medicare services and civil monetary penalties could be imposed for violations of this requirement. Abstract: This proposed rule, issued jointly by HCFA and OIG, would prohibit Medicare payment for nonphysician services furnished to a hospital outpatient by a provider or supplier other than the hospital, unless the services are furnished under an arrangement with the hospital. The hospital would be obligated by its provider agreement to furnish the services directly or under an arrangement. These regulations would also authorize OIG to impose a civil money penalty, not to exceed $2,000, against any individual who knowingly and willfully presents, or causes to be presented, a bill or request for payment for a hospital outpatient service under Part B of Medicare in violation of an arrangement. These regulations would implement sections 9343(c)(1), (c)(2), and (c)(3) of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986.

Abstract: These regulations respond to a U.S. District Court decision, which declared a previous rule affecting long term care surveys published in the Federal Register on June 13, 1986, to be procedurally invalid. The Court ordered that, by July 1, 1987, we publish a new proposed rule to correct the inadequacies identified by the Court.

Accordingly, the proposed regulations described in detail HCFA's survey methodology, guidelines, and forms used in surveys, and the duties of the State survey agency. HCFA also solicited comments on the guidelines and forms that constitute the survey system, set forth in appendices to the proposed rule.

The purpose of these proposed regulations is to clarify and strengthen the OIG's existing authority to protect the Medicare program from abuse by terminating any hospital who fails to correct abusive practices under PPS when directed to do so by the appropriate utilization and quality control Peer Review Organization (PRO). These regulations also revise and clarify HCFA's authority with respect to corrective action procedures and procedures for program payment denial against those hospital providers who circumvent PPS.

Abstract: This regulation eliminates application of the lesser of costs or charges aggregation method for determining payment for services furnished under Part A or Part B of Medicare effective with cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1984 (section 2308(a) of Pub.L. 98-369). We also eliminate the accumulation and carryover of unreimbursed costs to subsequent cost reporting periods applicable with cost reporting periods beginning on or after the effective date of the final rule. It revises the nominal charge provisions for providers that furnish services either free of charge or at a nominal charge in accordance with section 2308(b) of Pub.L. 98-369. It also revises the payment provisions for durable medical equipment furnished by home health agencies effective on or after July 18, 1984.

Abstract: This rule revises the format and content of the standards for intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded and persons with related conditions (ICFs/MR). The new format will be that of "conditions of participation" and will make the regulations for ICFs/MR consistent with the organization of the Medicare and Medicaid regulations for skilled nursing facilities. Revisions to the content of the regulations are intended to shift the focus away from facility-oriented requirements to client-oriented requirements. Thus, the rule is designed to increase the focus on the provision of active treatment services for clients, clarify Federal requirements, and maintain essential client protection.

Abstract: This final rule revises the regulations governing the Medicaid eligibility quality control (MEQC) program to include more specified program requirements and to establish new time frames for completing and reporting MEQC case findings to HCFA. The final rule also establishes a performance-based threshold for States to meet before HCFA will consider good faith waiver requests of disallowance of Federal financial participation in erroneous Medicaid payments and provides more definitive criteria for evaluating States good faith efforts to meet the national standard error rate. In addition, the rule makes several technical changes and specifies that States may rebut their quarterly projected error rates when they can present evidence that the projected rates were based on erroneous data. The revisions will strengthen the MEQC program and provide flexibility and incentives to States to produce more accurate Medicaid eligibility determinations.

843. ASSIGNMENT AND REASSIGNMENT OF PROVIDER-BASED HOME HEALTH AGENCIES AND HOSPICES TO DESIGNATED REGIONAL INTERMEDIARIES

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1395h(e)

CFR Citation: 42 CFR 421.3; 42 CFR 421.117; 42 CFR 421.128

Abstract: This regulation requires all home health agencies and hospices to be served by designated regional intermediaries, instead of permitting provider-based HHAs and hospices to use the intermediaries their parent providers use. This reduces the number of intermediaries serving the HHAs and hospices, thus resulting in more consistent payment determinations and more effective and efficient administration.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1395g

CFR Citation: 42 CFR 413.60

Legal Deadline: Statutory, July 1, 1987.

Abstract: These regulations would implement provisions of section 9311 of PL. 99-509, which deals with payment of periodic interim payments (PIPs) to providers. This legislation eliminates PIP for prospective payment hospitals except for certain hospitals that serve a disproportionate share of low-income patients and hospitals with 100 or fewer beds that are located in a rural area. Hospitals that are excluded from the prospective payment system, hospitals receiving payment under a State reimbursement control system that incorporates payment on a PIP-basis and all other providers may continue to elect PIP payments. In addition, the legislation provides that a prospective payment hospital may continue to receive PIP payments until its fiscal intermediary demonstrates that it has complied with prompt payment requirements for at least three consecutive months. If at any time the intermediary fails to meet these requirements for three consecutive months, the hospital may again request PIP.

Abstract: Sec 204 of the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 (PL 99-603), enacted on November 6, 1986, establishes State Legalization Impact Assistance Grants (SLIAG) for States for fiscal year 1988 and for each of the three succeeding fiscal years.The purpose of SLIAG is to provide interim funding to State and local governments for certain costs that may result from the adjustment of immigration status under the Act of certain groups of aliens residing in the States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam. SLIAG is not a new program in the usual sense. Rather, it is primarily a mechanism for providing funds for State and local activities. SLIAG funds may be applied by States with approved applications to certain costs resulting from the legalization program that are associated with providing public assistance, public health assistance, and educational services to eligible legalized aliens.

Additional Information: The conditions set forth in this provision, in part, are already covered under our current regulations at 45 CFR 205 and/or the Automated Application Processing and Information Retrieval System (AAPIRS) Guide. The AAPIRS guide requires that a State provide as part of its APD a proposed activity schedule which describes the major project milestones and target dates for phase and task completion. Additionally, our regulations state that FSA will suspend approval of the APD if the State fails to comply with the conditions and criteria set forth in this document. Suspension of approval will result in the disallowance of incentive funds invested to date towards development of the system that exceed the normal administrative FFP.

Abstract: IRCA imposes new procedures on the AFDC, Adult Assistance Programs and Medicaid to verify immigration status of aliens applying for benefits under these programs with the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Under the law, States must be reimbursed at 100% for costs of their implementation and operation to access the alien status verification system. This regulation will specify what costs incurred by states will be subject to 100% reimbursement. To provide uniformity and consistency between the AFDC and Medicaid programs with respect to reimbursement, the proposed rule will be issued jointly with a common preamble.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT (HUD)

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

24 CFR Subtitles A and B

Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: Department of Housing and Urban Development.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda, under Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, of regulations expected to be issued and under review.

SUMMARY: In accordance with section 5 of Executive Order 12291, "Federal Regulation," the Department is publishing its agenda of proposed regulations already issued or expected to be issued, and of currently effective rules that are under review. Also, under section 602 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, the Department has prepared a regulatory flexibility agenda of regulations expected to be proposed or promulgated which are likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. As permitted by Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, the two agendas are combined for publication.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Grady J. Norris, Assistant General Counsel for Regulations, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Room 10276, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410, (202) 755-7055. (This is not a toll-free number.)

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Executive Order 12291, "Federal Regulation," issued on February 17, 1981 (46 FR 13193), requires each agency to publish semiannually an agenda of regulations that the agency has issued or expects to issue and of currently effective regulations that are under agency review.

The Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601-612, requires each agency to publish semiannually a regulatory flexibility agenda of rules expected to be proposed or promulgated which are likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of "small entities," meaning small businesses, small organizations, or small governmental jurisdictions.

Executive Order 12291 and section 605 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act each permit incorporation of the agenda it requires with any other prescribed agenda. Accordingly, the agenda set out below combines the information required by the Executive Order and by the Regulatory Flexibility Act. In addition, the agenda contains certain information not required by either the Executive Order or by the Act which the Department considers useful, both better to inform the public and to enhance the Department's own inventory control over its body of regulations.

For purposes of Executive Order 12291, "regulation" or "rule" is defined as "an agency statement of general applicability and future effect designed to implement, interpret, or prescribe law or policy or describing the procedure or practice requirements of an agency," subject to certain exceptions. The agenda published below concentrates upon regulatory material contained, or expected to be contained, in the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) (or incorporated therein by reference) following publication in the Federal Register. As appropriate, however, issuances in the nature of general statements of policy may be published in the Federal Register but not for codification in the CFR.

The Department also is subject to certain requirements involving congressional review of rulemaking actions, including publication of an agenda. Section 7(o) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (42 U.S.C. 3535(o)) requires that the Secretary transmit to the congressional committees having jurisdictional oversight (the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs and the House Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs) a semiannual agenda of all rules or regulations which are under development or review by the Department. A rule appearing on the agenda cannot be published for comment before or during the first 15 calendar days of continuous session of Congress after transmittal of the agenda. If, within such period, either Committee notifies the Secretary that it intends to review any rule or regulation or portion thereof which appears on the agenda, the Secretary must submit to both Committees a copy of the rule or regulation, in the form it is intended to be proposed, at least 15 calendar days of continuous session before it is published for comment. The Semiannual Agenda appearing hereinafter is the agenda transmitted to the Committees in compliance with the foregoing requirement.

The agenda items are divided first by program office. Within each program office, the agenda items are divided into four groups: (i) Prerulemaking actions, (ii) publications or other implementations of notices of proposed rulemaking, (iii) publications or other implementations of final rules, and (iv) completed actions. Within each grouping, rules are listed in chronological order by the Part number of the CFR affected. Where a rule affects multiple parts of the CFR, the rule is listed by the first affected Part number. Priority rules include all regulations designated for priority development by the Department.

Items listed in this agenda are from the following Offices within the Department: Office of the Secretary; Office of Housing; Office of Public and Indian Housing; Office of Community Planning and Development; Office of Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity; Office of Administration; and Government National Mortgage Association.

Dated: September 2, 1987.

J. Michael Dorsey,

General Counsel.

Abstract: This rule proposes revisions in the regulations governing HUD's consideration of environmental factors in decision-making under HUD programs other than the Community Development Block Grant, Urban Development Action Grant, Rental Rehabilitation, and Housing Development Grant Programs. The rule is intended to reduce regulatory burdens and procedural details based on experience under the existing regulations; reflect field office reorganization; and implement sec. 535 of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended.

Prerule Stage

Abstract: This rule is related to RIN: 2501-AA25 (S-6-84; FR-1965). It proposes revisions in the regulations governing environmental review, decisionmaking and other actions by recipients of HUD assistance under the CDBG, Rental Rehabilitation and Housing Development grant programs that are not appropriate for final rulemaking. The proposed rulemaking is intended to solicit comments from the public on revisions to environmental policy that program experience has indicated may enhance compliance with NEPA, other environmental authorities and HUD legislation under the affected assistance programs.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 3535(d)

CFR Citation: 24 CFR 46

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: In response to a Presidential Commission, an Interagency Task Force on the Protection of Human Subjects in Research has proposed that all Federal agencies adopt a common policy and uniform regulations for the protection of human subjects in research.

HUD has agreed to adopt the policy and to issue a regulation based on a model to be promulgated by the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

Timetable:

Action	Date	FR Cite
Next Action Undetermined

Small Entity: No

Additional Information: Compliance costs for HUD's adoption of the model regulation will be minimal, because almost all research conducted by HUD falls within categories exempted from the requirements of the model regulation. The infrequent projects that may not be exempt (perhaps one every two years) have in the past been proposed by organizations already subject to the Department of Health and Human Services regulation, and thus would not have any incremental compliance costs for the organization, other than the actual project requirements.

Costs would be slight.

Affected Sectors: Profit and Non-profit Research Organizations.

Levels of Government Affected: only HUD itself.

Abstract: This proposed rule will implement section 214 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1980, as amended in 1981 and 1986. That Act prohibits the Secretary from providing financial assistance to substantially all illegal aliens as well as to most classes of aliens admitted for temporary purposes. The restriction applies to the Public and Indian Housing programs, the Section 8 Housing Assistance Payments programs, the Rent Supplement program, the Section 236 program, and the Section 235 homeownership assistance program.

This rule will replace the rule published on April 1, 1986, which was not made effective, but is being withdrawn. Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 3535(d)

Abstract: This proposed rule would make additional conforming changes to Part 24 based on the OMB final Guidelines for Nonprocurement Debarment and Suspension. The most substantive of these changes would (1) provide for government-wide effect of sanctions to all tiers of nonprocurement participants; and (2) implement a participant certification requirement that would require certain participants to verify that they have not, in the preceding three years, been subjected to, or been proposed for, sanctions or otherwise been indicted, convicted or had a civil judgment rendered against them for specified offenses.

Abstract: This agenda item makes final two outstanding interim rules. These

They also streamline and reduce environmental requirements. They include: (1) an expanded listing of block grant activities and projects exempt or categorically excluded from the NEPA requirements; (2) a definitive list of related statutes and authorities that must be observed by grant recipients for the release of block grant funds as required by HUD legislation; and (3) additional provisions needed to conform with and implement innovative measures included in the HUD Amendments of 1981, such as the State-administered block grant program for small cities and the assumption of the environmental oversight responsibilities by States; and (4) (CONT)

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: Section 214 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1980, as amended by section 329 of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1981 and by the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, prohibits the Secretary from making financial assistance available under certain HUD programs for the benefit of any alien who is not a lawful resident of the United States under the Immigration and Nationality Act. The programs affected are public and Indian housing, the Section 8 Housing Assistance Payments programs, the Housing Voucher program, the Rent Supplement program, the section 235 assisted homeownership program, and the section 236 rental housing program.

These laws require that an applicant or participant in the programs declare whether he or she is a citizen or alien, and if an alien, the person must submit documents to show eligible status. Alien status will be verified with the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Now that there is a new law to be implemented, the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, and the Department has been prohibited from spending appropriated funds to enforce the April 1986 rule in fiscal year 1987, it has been decided that (1) a final rule withdrawing the April 1, 1986 rule will be published closing out this item; and (2) a new proposed rule will be published to implement the 1980 Act as amended in 1981 and 1986 (and possibly in 1987)--see new agenda entry for S-7-87, FR-2383.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 3535(d)

CFR Citation: 24 CFR 203

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: FHA single-family mortgage insurance premiums would be set at levels comparable to those charged by the highest rated private mortgage insurers. Specifically, the mortgage insurance premium (MIP) will be calculated as if HUD were a AAA Moody's-rated private mortgage insurer. Such an MIP calculation would assume that FHA were required to maintain sufficient reserves to withstand Moody's 10-year depression stress test, earn a market return on an imputed tax rate on its "earnings", etc. Pending approval of a legislative amendment removing the present cap on FHA premiums, this regulation will be deferred.

939. REV. OF UMB 44D TO ALLOW THE USE OF CARPET IN BATHROOMS & KITCHENS OVER A CONCRETE-MASONRY FLOORING SYSTEM AND A NEW CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM FOR CARPET (H-20-87; FR 2402)

Legal Authority: Technical Suitability of Products Program of the Nat'l Hsg Act

CFR Citation: 24 CFR 200.935

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: A revised standard for carpet was issued on June 23, 1986 as Use of Materials Bulletin No. 44d to recognize the use of wall-to- wall carpet as a technically suitable material for finished flooring. The value of carpet is included in HUD mortgage insurance programs. A typical life for carpet of 8 years was used to compare the replacement cost of carpet versus other materials used as flooring such as ceramic tile, or vinyl tile or sheet flooring. Any reduction in the life expectancy that would increase the replacement cost of carpet also would not be a reasonable economic justification for including the cost of carpet under HUD's mortgage insurance program. The American Textile Manufacturers Institute has recommended the use of carpet in bathrooms and kitchens provided that they are composed of nylon of textures A,B, or C Type I Class 2 or polypropylene of textures A or B Type I Class 2, and is maintained properly. Legal Authority: 42 USC 5401

CFR Citation: 24 CFR 3280.504

Abstract: This interpretative bulletin will propose to interpret 24 CFR 3280.504, a provision of the Federal Manufactured Home Construction and Safety Standards, as prohibiting the use of ventilation systems using ceiling vents that discharge inside conditioned air into the attic/ceiling cavity. Section 3280.504 (a) currently requires ceilings to have a vapor barrier having a permeance not greater than 1 perm (dry cup method) installed on the lining side of the roof cavity. This proposed interpretation will clarify that ceiling-vent systems as described above violate section 3280.504(a) by intentionally allowing air migration into the ceiling cavity.

Abstract: In the Notice, HUD requested a private standards organization to develop and maintain the Federal Manufactured Home Construction Construction and Safety Standards (FMHCSS) (24 CFR Part 3280). HUD published a Notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER of February 13, 1987 (52 FR 4663 that announced HUD's interest in having a nationally recognized building code or model industry standards redraft all of the HUD standards now in the FMHCSS. HUD would retain the responsibility and authority to promulgate and enforce revisions to the FMHCSS, after formal notice and comment rulemaking. Model standards developed under this process would then become preemptive and be enforced as HUD standards.

Abstract: Medium density fiberboard is not currently covered by the standards but is a major emitter of formaldehyde. It is used extensively in cabinet construction and can cause problems similar to particleboard or plywood, materials already regulated by the standards.

Second, the Department has received a number of complaints concerning the language and posting requirements of the health notice. Consideration will be given to different notice requirements if the manufactured home meets more than the minimum standard of formaldehyde levels.

Third, the current rule requires recertification of plywood and particleboard following treatment with a product containing formaldehyde.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1709, Sec 203, 211; 12 USC 1715b; 42 USC 3535(d)

CFR Citation: 24 CFR 203

Legal Deadline: None.

Abstract: This proposed rule would revise the existing administrative criteria for acceptability of insured 10-year protection Plans (Plans). The Department began this proceeding by publishing a Notice informing the public that HUD intended to revise the criteria. This rule describes, among other things, criteria related to Plan acceptability, insurance and financial backing, Plan coverage, and methods for determining Plan obligations.

HUD acceptance of these Plans is a prerequisite to reduced inspection requirements on a property accepted for mortgage insurance before the commencement of construction. It is also a prerequisite to high loan-to-value insured financing for existing one-to-four family dwellings that are less than one year old and that were not approved and inspected by HUD or the Veterans Administration before the start of construction.

Abstract: The Sec. 8 Mod Rehab Assistance Program for Single Room Occupancy Dwellings, authorized in Sec. 441 of the McKinney Homeless Assistance Act provides for assistance in the mod rehab of single room occupancy units for occupancy by homeless single individuals. The assistance will be in the form of compensation for mod rehab under an annual contributions contract entered into with a PHA. HUD will make the assistance available for 10 years, and has the option to renew the contract for an additional 10 years. The Notice of Fund Availability is intended to inform the public of the requirements that will govern the use of the $35 million appropriated for the program.
